Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Mercy.
Business at the Police Court was lively during last week, and so far this week there has been no falling off. This forenoon the court did not sit long, the five cases which came up for hearing being quickly decided, but the fines and costs amounted to sixteen dollars, which was paid at once.

Church Opening.
A large number of persons went from here to attend the tea meeting on Monday night in connection with the opening of the new Methodist Church in Millbrook. The train consisted of five coaches, which were all filled with passengers. The meeting was a success.

The Eastland Property.
The Eastland property will be offered for sale to-morrow, Wednesday, on the ground, at 2 p. m. The lots are one-third of an acre each. This is fine property, dry, good soil, and well situated. As there is considerable demand for building lots, it is likely the sale will be a lively one.

The Weather.
The sky this afternoon is unclouded and the weather is warm. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, continued fine, warm weather.

Shipping.
Two cars of flour were loaded to-day for the Montreal market, from the mill of Messrs. Dene & Sperry. They are shipping flour steadily to that market, and have bought so far this season 9,000 bushels of wheat. Their position for carrying on an export trade will be improved when the railway link is supplied which will put Peterborough on the through line.

Journalists.
The Orillia Packet has donned a new dress, and its typographic appearance now harmonizes with the excellence of its matter, for it holds a place in the very first rank of the county journals of Ontario, alike in its editorials, its local news and its judicious selections. We are glad to see this evidence of its well merited success. The Packet is the staunchest advocate of temperance, and therefore is consistently opposed to the Mowat system of political license officials with its attendant abuses.

Sport in the Woods.
A party returned to town on Monday night from a hunting excursion to the north, where they enjoyed the sport of pursuing the deer, and killing six of them. The party consisted of Messrs. George Fitzgerald, J. A. Sherlock, John Montgomery, A. Blad, and W. Kennedy. The scene of their operations was around Buckner and Beaver Lakes, north of Eagle Lake, Barre. Two especially fine deer which they brought with them weighed, when dressed, 22 1/2 and 21 1/2 pounds, respectively. They report that the weather was delightful, there being no snow and but little rain.

ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY.

The Railway Act provides that the railway company may apply to the county judge for a warrant to give them immediate possession of lands required for their railway where immediate possession is required, pending arbitration proceedings to settle the price of the land, and the judge may grant the order, first directing the company to pay into a bank to the credit of the company and the owner of the land a sum of money at least twice as great as the sum tendered by the company.

On Monday a number of applications were made to the county judge for warrants for immediate possession, with the following results: COMPANY vs. DOBBIN.—Park lot, order granted, Company to pay $500 into bank. Beck for Company; Dumble for Dobbin.

COMPANY vs. DOBBIN.—Fifty acres in Monaghan; order granted, Company to pay $400 into bank. Beck for Company; Dumble for Dobbin.

COMPANY vs. BURNHAM.—Land in Ashburnham known as Burnham's Point, and a number of village lots; order granted, subject to rights of tenants, Company to pay $14,000 into bank. Beck for Company; Dumble for Burnham.

COMPANY vs. LEONARD.—Private residence and vacant lot adjoining; order granted, Company to pay $3,500 into bank. Beck for Company; Dumble for Leonard.

A splendid range of Cardigan Jackets at "Habiliment Hall."

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Oct. 24.—Mr. T. Menzies, J. P., presided at the Court again this morning.

DRUNK.
Patrick Cory was first brought up, charged with having been found drunk. He was fined $2 and costs or ten days in gaol.

Edward Maherty was also charged with the same offence, and acknowledged it, saying only that he was doing no harm. He was fined the same as the former prisoner—$2 or ten days in gaol.

BREACH OF THE PEACE.
Louis Drake was charged with having committed a breach of the peace by fighting on the public streets, and pleaded not guilty.

P. C. PIERCE testified that he saw Drake and George Dainty make at each other, and Drake knocked Dainty down, and kicked him.

The MAGISTRATE remarked that Drake had been convicted in Court before, and fined him $5 without costs, or twenty days.

George Dainty was also charged with the same offence, the charge having arisen out of the same disturbance as the one against Drake.

The PRISONER could hardly say he was guilty; he defended himself a little, but it was almost a necessity.

The MAGISTRATE appeared to think that "almost a necessity" was not sufficient to justify him in committing a breach of the peace, and fined him $2 without costs.

INSULTING LANGUAGE.

Edward Maherty was charged by Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw with having used grossly insulting language towards her. He admitted that he did, but said the complainant commenced to "jaw" first. Fine—$2 and costs or twenty days.

ALONE.

The London Lancet relates a distressing case of suicide of a boy ten years old, who had been shut up in his bedroom as a punishment. The editor comments adversely on leaving children or young persons and the weakly or troubled in mind alone:

"The solitary state is abhorrent to the nature and mind of man. Whether the brain be immature in its development or morbid in its state, it is wrong in a scientific sense—that is, opposed to the laws and teachings of physiological science—to leave it alone. The possibility—we will even concede the probability—of a subsidence of excitement is not a sufficient set-off against the dangers of a self-destructive intellectual activity. The mind always works to its own injury when it works alone. Reflection, retrospection, and self-examination are essentially abnormal processes. The proper action of mind is on the outer world, or on such conceptions of fact and objects as may be readily corrected by present observation or experience. Abstract processes of thought are never safe for the young or the weakly and troubled in mind. Healthy activity, so far as these two conditions of mind are concerned, is directly relative. It is not good for man to be alone in any sense. We would therefore again protest against the recourse to solitary confinement as a punishment for children, and against 'seclusion' in any form for the unsound of mind. The two methods of treatment stand on the same footing, and they are both equally bad."

Gunpowder Explosion.

ROUSSEAU, Oct. 23.—Early this morning a serious gunpowder explosion took place in a shooting tent occupied by five men from Colchester, Essex County, on the Rondeau Point. Those inside the tent were John Treacher, Ed. Currie and Robert Poole. The other two were outside. Poole was putting a cartridge in his gun, standing by a keg of powder containing twenty-four pounds. As the chamber of the gun closed the lead unaccountably discharged, and at the same time the keg, said to be securely plugged, exploded, though the muzzle of the gun was outside. The tent with its contents and the inmates were thrown in every direction. Poole was thrown many feet in the air, and came to the ground with many severe wounds and badly burned. The others found themselves at some distance on the ground, their faces and hands badly burned, and were all quite unconscious. They were brought across the recognizable bay without delay and medical aid summoned, and were soon made comfortable enough to undertake the journey home on the evening train. It seems marvellous that they escaped with their lives. Fragments of boots and pieces of shattered pots were found two hundred yards from the tent.

Fight with a Bear.

On Tuesday evening last when Mr. George Treavor, who had been working in the steamship cabin, then lying at Mr. Sargeant's mill wharf, Nelson, was done his day's work, he had occasion to go up to the store of Mr. Daniel Baldwin to purchase a few articles. It was then dark and when he started for his home in the Douglasfield he took the short cut across the woods. He had gone about half a mile and a half when he was attacked by a very large bear. Being unarmed, and having no other weapon than a bottle of paraffin oil, he struck the bear and broke the bottle of oil over him. The bear then sprang on him and commenced hugging him, when George had the presence of mind to light a match and set fire to him. In an instant old bruin was all in a blaze and let go of him, and in less than five minutes he was all consumed but the head and shoulders. George then commenced to carry water in his hat to quench the fire to save the snout, so as to get the bounty.—Chatham (N. B.) World.

A session of the Voters' List Court was held on Tuesday. Some further business was done and the Court was again adjourned until Tuesday, the 31st of October.

A Break.
Mr. Lush's bread delivery wagon came to grief on Tuesday. While driving along the street something gave way, the axle came to the ground and the wagon upset. Mr. Lush, who was in the vehicle, jumped and escaped unhurt.

The Market.
There was about the usual attendance on the market this morning, and the prices of produce remained at about the same figures. Butter was selling at from 25 to 26 cents, eggs 20 to 21, potatoes 75, apples 50 to 80, turkeys 60 to 70, geese 50, ducks 50, and chickens 40 to 50. The grain market is firm. Wheat (fall) 95 to 96, wheat (spring) 95 to 96, barley 50 to 70, oats 34, rye 56 and peas 70. Hay $10 to $11 per ton.

A New Road.
A road is being constructed across Spaulding's Bay, near the south side of it. The Street Inspector has two gangs of men at work at it, one on the west side removing the bank there and building the road through the Bay with the earth, and the other on the east side, filling in the Bay and working across to meet the other gang. Earth is being taken from the knoll on George street, south of the Bay.

Water Works.
The Belleville Ontario says:—
"Last Wednesday evening the council of Brockville decided to have waterworks erected in that town at once, the same to be completed in two years. There will be eighty hydrants, and the yearly cost to the ratepayers will be $2,000. There is another example for Belleville to follow. Peterborough and Brockville, towns with a population of not more than half that of this city, have undertaken to give the residents an abundant supply of wholesome water for all purposes. The city of Belleville is content to depend upon filthy wells, and uncertain reservoirs for their water supply. Mark the contrast."

The Weather.
Last night the air was chilly but the moon was bright, and this forenoon the sun shone brightly and warmly. This afternoon the weather is cooler and cloudy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Increasing southeasterly to southerly winds; increasing cloudiness, followed by some rain to-night in the western portion; rising temperature.

A Remarkable Kind of Revenge.
A singular enemy of Prince Bismarck is a man in Potsdam, who lost his only son in the war of 1870, which he attributes to the agency of the prince, and whom he regards as his son's murderer. Taking a hint from the caricaturists, who have made the three single hairs of the chancellor's bald head famous, he wreaks his vengeance in an original manner. He is the owner of a lot in the cemetery of Potsdam, where, since the interment of his son, he has erected a fine mausoleum, on the top of which is placed an artistically sculptured owl, the head and features of which bear a striking resemblance to those of Prince Bismarck, the "three single hairs" included. A few years ago the man built a house, over the cornice of every window in which is carved a Bismarck head, the historical three hairs being represented in the shape of as many cannon. Quite recently he built another house with the same decorations, this time however, having three serpents to take the place of the cannon in the prince's capillary ornament.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

THE GALE.
LONDON, Oct. 24.—The gale to-day did vast damage throughout the country. Many districts are flooded, and the shipping along the coast suffered severely. A steamer was sunk in the Channel by a collision, and nine persons drowned. At Sheerness the gale has not been equalled in thirty years.

THE GRAVE ROBBERY.
LONDON, Oct. 24.—Soutar, who was convicted of stealing the body of the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, has been sentenced to five years' penal servitude.

REVOLT AT CABUL.
LONDON, Oct. 24.—Another revolt is reported in the vicinity of Cabul, including the city itself. The Governor of Cabul was killed.

KING MILAN'S ASSAILANT.
BELGRADE, Oct. 24.—The widow who fired on King Milan is now pronounced insane. The King and Queen attended services at the Cathedral to-day. The city was illuminated to-night. Some persons have been arrested on suspicion of complicity in the attempt on the King's life, among them the editor of a Socialist paper.

CALIPH AND KHEVIE.
CAIRO, Oct. 24.—The Khedive has sent a telegram to the Sultan congratulating him on the occasion of the festival of Bairam, begging continuance of the Sultan's favour and protection, and expressing unaltered devotion and fidelity.

ARABI SPEAKS.
CAIRO, Oct. 24.—Arabi says events have proved to him the folly of hoping in any further national movement, or of trusting the Sultan, and that the happiness of Egypt necessitates the virtual government of the country by the English. It is rumoured that the proceedings against the Arabs awaiting trial may be stopped by a decree of exile against the ring-leaders, and of amnesty to the others.

THE CYCLONE.
MANILA, Oct. 24.—The typhoon destroyed all the wooden and thatched houses, and carried away the iron and tiled roofs of others. Sixty thousand families are homeless. The barracks, hospitals, Government offices, and factories are destroyed. The loss of life, however, is relatively small. Malacan and Boucan were also devastated. Communication is interrupted between Manila and other towns on the island of Luzon.

THE FRENCH ANARCHISTS.
PARIS, Oct. 24.—All the Anarchists arrested recently have been released on their own recognizance. The trial of the rioters at Monceau les Mines has been postponed, owing to numerous attempts to intimidate the jury. It is reported that the police have discovered proofs of the existence of an International Association, having for its object the destruction of property. Its headquarters are supposed to be in Geneva, and the directing committee in Switzerland comprises several prominent Russian nihilists.

IN PARLIAMENT.
LONDON, Oct. 24.—Lord Randolph Churchill made a long historical review. He declared, amidst loud cheers from the Tories, that the House of Commons had ever been jealous against monarchical or Ministerial tyranny. Mr. Gladstone contended that the precedents quoted by Lord Randolph Churchill were inapplicable, as the House had full power to take its present course. Randolph Churchill had small knowledge of Parliament if he thought the Government could be upset by a vote of want of confidence on the appropriation. The House, by 308 to 142, defeated Lord Randolph Churchill's motion. Mr. Gladstone then moved a resolution giving precedence to the rules of procedure whenever set down. Mr. Gladstone's motion for precedence was carried by 98 to 47. The Farnellites voted with the minority in favour of Lord Randolph Churchill's motion. Sir Wilfrid Lawson (Radical) gave notice that he would oppose the vote of thanks to the army in Egypt.

THAT CORRESPONDENCE.
CAIRO, Oct. 24.—Arabi's correspondence was not seized, but delivered to his counsel by his son. A servant had concealed the documents. Many persons of the highest rank here and in Turkey are deeply compromised by Arabi's correspondence.

THE DELAY.
CAIRO, Oct. 24.—It is understood that much of the delay connected with the trial of Arabi is due to the fact that the Egyptian Government is becoming more and more disposed to abandon the prosecution.

AMERICAN.

CHINESE RIGHTS.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The acting Secretary of the Treasury to-day decided that a Chinaman having a through ticket from New York to any place in the United States, on the Grand Trunk railway, is entitled to admission into the United States without further evidence of his right than such ticket.

YOUNG'S POINT.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Mr. Jas. E. Kearney, of the Lakeview House, has added a large addition to the rear of his hotel; it was very much required. Mr. W. Leonard, of Lakeside, is the builder.

SCENIC SPORTSMEN.—Your correspondent wishes to caution those who are getting into the habit of shooting game around here and indulging in other sports on Sundays, that they are breaking the law, and will have to be on their guard in the future or they will find themselves called upon to pay a fine before a magistrate. It looks very bad, and must be stopped at once.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN.—Two of our local sportsmen went hunting last week. Mr. Robert Young has gone to the head of Stony Lake; he killed a very large buck on Friday last. Bob says it was good, but your correspondent did not taste any. The other sportsman is Mr. J. E. Kearney; he has gone to Eagle Lake along with an American from Rochester. No doubt James will have a good time of it, and also remember his friends at the Point.

HOUSEBUILDING.—Mr. McFarlane is now ready with all his stuff on the ground for the builder to commence operations on the building of his new hotel here.

THE STEAMER TIGER.—This little steamer has again changed hands. A party has bought her from Mr. Geo. Chalmers to ply on Pigeon Lake. She left on Tuesday last.

For a serviceable set of Winter Underclothing, try "Habillment Hall."

WAR IN THE TRANSVAAL.

NEWMARKET RACES.
LONDON, Oct. 25.—In the race for the Cambridgehire at Newmarket, Houghton meeting, Hackness won, with Shrewsbury 2nd and Venus 3rd. The race for the Criterion nursery stakes handicap, two year olds, was won by Corunna, Fleur D'Orange 2nd and Blue Rock 3rd. Eight ran. The betting against Corunna at the start was six to one. He won by a neck. There were three lengths between the second and third horses.

ALEXANDRIA, Oct. 25.—Many arrests were made last evening of Arabs who were creating disturbances.

THE CLOTURE.
LONDON, Oct. 25.—In the House of Commons the debate on the cloture question was resumed. Mr. Wolff (Conservative) moved an amendment providing for the exclusion of the Chairman when the House is in Committee, from using the power which the rule proposes to confer on the Speaker. Mr. Gladstone opposed the amendment.

A DOCTOR'S CLAIM.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Dr. Hamilton states that in presenting a bill for $25,000 for attendance on General Garfield, he only intended to indicate what he would regard as a minimum compensation for similar services in the case for private citizens peculiarly responsible, and who would not be embarrassed by such payment. He declares his claim reasonable and just.

JURY BRIBER ARRESTED.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Arthur Paine, one of the four men for whom warrants were issued yesterday in connection with the attempt to bribe Brown, of the Star Route jury, has been arrested.

NEW YORK MAYORALTY.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—L. M. Bates, mentioned as a straight Republican candidate for Mayor, announces that he will support the citizens' ticket.

ABSCONDED.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The case of Richard Cornwall, indicted for embezzling seventy thousand dollars from the Fourth National Bank, was called yesterday before Judge Benedict. The prisoner failed to respond, and the bonds for $10,000 were forfeited. It is said that Cornwall has fled to Europe. It is understood that his friends advised him not to stand his trial, and agreed to make good the loss to bondsmen.

THE ARMY.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The annual report of the Judge Advocate General of the army, states that there were nine thousand trials of enlisted men by inferior courts. The subject of desertion is considered at length. The report argues that there must be grave defects in the Army management to account for it, and he regards the inadequate pay, and the dissatisfaction with the real nature of the service required, as the chief causes of desertion.

THE WALKING MATCH.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—At noon the score in the walking match stood—Hughes, 301; Hazael, 300; and Rowell, 292.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1882.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Conservatives of Manitoba do not believe that local self-government by means of the municipalities is of slight importance. One of the planks of their platform as laid down at their recent Convention is as follows:—

"The policy of local self-government, by means of municipal incorporation, is one which should be promoted by every assistance which is within the power and wisdom of the legislature to grant."

We believe this view is more in accordance with public opinion in Canada than that of Mr. Mowat and his colleagues.

The Bobcaygeon Independent, in its editorial columns, says:—

"When our farming friends go to the store and buy a pound of sugar, they should remember that they are paying an additional tax in support of the N. P."

Does our contemporary mean that in Bobcaygeon the grocers charge more for sugar than before the N. P.? If so, we would advise the housewives of that flourishing village to procure their supplies of sugar from Peterborough, where the grocers charge less than in the times before the N. P., instead of more.

The Ottawa Citizen gives the following instance of the benefits of the N. P.:—

"Mr. W. B. McDougall, publisher of 'The Illustrated Guide for Manitoba and the Northwest,' says that during a recent visit to Montreal he learned that an order had been received there by a wholesale house for seven thousand blankets to be forwarded at once by express to Winnipeg. The manufacture of blankets in Canada is becoming a large industry. If we had no National Policy, the order referred to would have been sent to the United States. In accordance with Mr. Blake's anti-interprovincial trade doctrine, that the United States is the natural market of the outlying provinces."

The Belleville Ontario has a triumphant article on South Bruce and the increased Reform majority there, in the course of which it charges the Review with still announcing that the Reformers only succeeded by very small or greatly reduced majorities. The Ontario is anxious to censure us, and for want of a cause has to invent one. We made no such general assertion, and did not even refer to the figures in South Bruce, for the very sufficient reason that they were not known when we wrote.

The Globe in reference to the "Marmion" question says:—

"That the action was of a Liberal and not a Conservative Administration has not affected our position or our arguments, that has been taken, and these have been urged simply and solely on the merits of the case."

The Globe protests too much. From our experience of it we are convinced that if it had been a question of a Conservative like Mr. Meredith, or even of a Liberal like Mr. Handfield Macdonald, the Globe would have said that a Minister should be dismissed as incapable who insulted a large section of our fellow citizens by calling upon them to study in our High Schools a work so offensive to them that it had to be withdrawn.

ENGLAND.

VISIT OF THE BISHOP OF PETERBOROUGH.—The Most Reverend the Bishop of Peterborough has just held his Episcopal visitation in the parish of Ennismore. He was accompanied by Fathers Casey, Connolly, and Kelly. His reception was most enthusiastic. On entering and leaving the parish his Lordship was escorted by a mile of carriages. On Sunday the Bishop administered the Holy Communion to 200 of his people. He also confirmed 117 candidates, and preached a lengthy sermon, morning and afternoon. Beside the above mentioned clergymen, there were in the sanctuary on Sunday afternoon, Father Stafford, of Lindsay, and the Rev. Mr. Britherton, his Lordship's private Secretary.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY.

Mr. F. A. Cochran, of Indianapolis, is now in the city, waiting upon capitalists for a special purpose. He is desirous of obtaining capital to start a saw-mill in Peterborough. The machine that he recommended is improved and has a large sale in the States. The paid up capital required would be about $50,000. Of this amount $30,000 would be utilized in the building and machinery, and the remainder in stock etc. He says that he could supply a better saw-mill than is sold here at a much less price. Mr. Cochran is well known in Kingston, having lived here some years ago, and was in the employ of Mr. W. Nickle. He is a practical man, and has good sound judgment. It is to be hoped that he will succeed in his mission, and that such a factory as he speaks of will be located in Kingston.—News

WRECK OF THE BENDIGO.

Terrible sufferings of a Boat's crew in the Atlantic.

Twenty-two of the crew of the steamer Bendigo have arrived in Liverpool, and gave particulars of the disaster to their steamer and the subsequent terrible adventures they went through. From the statement of the men it seems that the Bendigo left the Mersey on the 29th ult., for Demerara, and she had not got beyond Holyhead when the wind began to freshen. It steadily increased in severity until it blew a perfect hurricane. Several seas dashed over the vessel on Saturday, and did not cease until the vessel went down. Every movable thing was washed overboard, and a number of the vessel's fittings were carried into the sea. On Sunday morning matters were fearful, gigantic seas breaking over the vessel, rendering it impossible, with safety, to go to the forward part of the vessel. One sea smashed the main bunker hatch and part of the wheelhouse, and the vessel was completely at the mercy of the sea. One boat was stove and washed away, containing some little provisions the men had accumulated, knowing well that their only chance of safety lay in the boats. A second boat was being got ready, but before it could be launched a sea came over and washed it between the bulkheads and the bridge stanchions, where it remained jammed. There was now but the port lifeboat, and this was successfully lowered, twenty-four hands getting into her. It was then seen that the vessel would founder in a few minutes, and this surmise unfortunately proved correct, as the vessel disappeared with a slight explosion. The shipwrecked men, in their small boat, made for the Irish coast—140 miles distant. They soon found that their tiny craft was an excellent sea boat, and by keeping her head to the sea she behaved well. The men had neither bit nor sup. They threw the most or least of what they could get on board, and took spoils of about two hours each in peeling and watching. As night drew on a barque was sighted, and the men gave a loud shout. The topsails of the barque were hoisted, but the shipwrecked men saw a rescue could not have been effected even if the barque had been near, as the sea was fearfully rough. The vessel was lost sight of in the darkness, but was seen again the next morning at a great distance. It was believed that she had lain to all night with the hope of reaching the land in the morning. She was now too far off to do anything. Day succeeded night and returned again without bringing any change to the men, except that they were rapidly approaching a fatal state of weakness. On the Monday one of the fiercest commotions to drink the salt water, and, as a consequence, became delirious. On Tuesday night, notwithstanding the watch kept over him, he jumped into the sea. He was caught by the hair by one of the sailors, and hauled into the boat again. The men had to be strapped down in the boat. All the men were now getting terribly exhausted, but on Wednesday they were fallen in with by the Richard Cobden. Several of the men were too much exhausted to help themselves, and had to be hauled on board the rescuing vessel. No sooner had the shipwrecked men gained the deck of the Richard Cobden than those who were able made a rush for the water casks, one of which was very soon emptied. The captain and crew of the rescuing vessel treated the shipwrecked men with the utmost kindness and attention, landing them at Swansea, where the fireman who jumped overboard had to be left.

ARTHUR'S PRESENTMENT.

The President believes he will not live until his term expires.

A gentleman who is an intimate friend of personal friendship with President Arthur, who was the bosom friend of his law partner, the late Benjamin K. Phelps, was speaking of the accident to the United States steamer Despatch, a few days since, when she ran upon the rocks of Newport Harbor, and says that he was terribly distressed over it, trifling as it was. "As for the President," he remarked "I do not wonder over the telegram which says that he was very much depressed by the casualty. He has not had a really happy day since he was inaugurated President. I do not think him any more superstitious than the average of men, but I know that he is harassed by a presentment that he will not live out his term. He has no fear of assassination, but the imagination (for it is nothing but imagination) leads towards death by sickness or accident, and this makes his life a very sad one." Probably the thousands of men who envy President Arthur his wonderful good luck, and think that he must necessarily die, are the same as the United States, will be surprised to learn that the President carries his own load of sorrow and finds that the highest office is not without its thorns. It was this that made him weary of the ceaseless round of gaiety at Newport, and led him to turn his back upon the smiles of a shoddy at a time when the aristocracy of fashion's city by the sea took their flattering attention had raised him to the pinnacle of a self-satisfaction. N. Y. Cor. Philadelphia Record.

A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly two years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, 'The Doctor.' It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it takes the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally, who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver and Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Impurities of the blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters."

Before taking your 'Favorite Prescription' I could hardly stand on my feet, but, by following your advice, I am perfectly cured. The 'Favorite Prescription' is a wonderful medicine for debilitated and nervous females. I cannot express how thankful I am to you for your advice. Yours truly, Mrs. Carnelia Allison Peria, 1c.

MACFARLANE WILSON.

Enough Work.
It is rough work that polishes. Look at the pebbles on the shore! Far inland, where some arm of the sea thrusts itself deep into the bosom of the land and expanding into a salt loch, lies grided by the mountains, sheltered from the storms that agitate the deep, the pebbles on the beach are rough, not beautiful; angular, not rounded. It is where long white lines of breakers roar, and the rattling shingles are rolled about the strand, that the pebbles are rounded and polished. As in nature, so in art, so in genius; it is rough treatment that gives soul as well as shape, their luster. The more the diamond is cut the brighter it sparkles; and in what seems hard dealing, there God has no end in view but to perfect his people.

Things Worth Knowing.
That boiling water will remove tea stains, and many fruit stains; pour the water through the stain, and thus prevent it from spreading over the fabric.

That ripe tomatoes will remove ink and other stains from white cloth, and also from the hands.

That a teaspoonful of turpentine, boiled with white clothes, will aid the whitening process.

That boiled starch is much improved by the addition of a little spermaceti, or a little gum arabic, dissolved.

That beer and salt will make flat irons as smooth and as clean as glass; tie the lumps of wax in a rag, and keep it for that purpose; and when the irons are hot, rub them with a rag, and then scour with a paper or rag, sprinkled with salt.

That kerosene will soften boots and shoes which have been hardened by water, and render them as pliable as when new.

Factory Bell Ringing.
It appeared on a recent trial before the Supreme Court of Massachusetts that the factory proprietors placed a large steel bell on the mill, which they caused to be rung at five o'clock on the morning of every working day in winter, and again at various hours during the day.

Two persons who occupied houses near the mill, on three hundred feet and the other a thousand feet away, complained that the ringing disturbed the quiet and comfort of their homes, and represented that the bell was unnecessarily large, that it was of no use for any purpose of trade or manufacture, and that it was rung at unreasonable hours and unnecessarily long, and was therefore a nuisance. The mill proprietors replied that it was necessary to employ some means for calling the operatives to their work, and that the bell was of suitable size, and was rung at suitable hours for the purpose and in a proper manner. The court granted that the ringing was a nuisance, and decreed an injunction.

Moderate Drinking.

The Lord Bishop of Rochester, Eng., and Mr. Graham, agent of England, are in Chicago serving the cause of temperance on a very different platform from the ordinary temperance meeting that fanatically assumes that all drinking, no matter how moderate or occasional it may be, is morally wrong, and classes the man who takes a glass of beer once in a while with the habitual drunkard. The basis of the Episcopal Church Temperance Society, which they represent, is this: "Recognizing temperance as the law of the Gospel, and total abstinence as a rule of expediency in certain cases, and fully and freely acknowledging to every man the right to decide in the exercise of his Christian liberty whether or not he will adopt said rules, this society lays down as the basis on which it rests, and from which its work shall be conducted, a union and co-operation on equal terms between those who use moderately and those who entirely abstain from intoxicating drinks or beverages." This is a broad platform.

The Iron Horse in War.

Railroading played a not unimportant part in the late Egyptian campaign. The ironclad train employed by the British in the operations around Alexandria, following the bombardment, proved a puzzling antagonist to Arab's gunners as it dashed in and out of the British lines with reconnaissance parties, and during the concentration of the English forces at Ismailia, and the subsequent advance to Cairo, the single track road, which follows the bank of the great water canal from Ismailia to the capital, proved of the greatest service to the invading force. Provision for the railway transport service had been made in good time by the authorities in England. As early as July 6th negotiations had been completed under the direction of Sir Andrew Clarke, the Inspector-General of Railways, for the purchase of four engines and five miles of "permanent way" material; and a company of the Royal Engineers were daily instructed and practised in railway working, on the London, Chatham, and Dover Railway under experienced officers. —The Railway Age.

The Cost of Bombardment.

Speaking of the monetary cost of bombardment the Alexandria forts the London daily News says that every round fired from the four 90-ton guns of the Infexible cost the nation £25 10s. (about $125) per gun. The 25-ton guns, of which the Alexandria carries two, the Monarch four, and the Terrence four, cost £7 per round per gun. The 18-ton guns, of which the Alexandria carries ten, the Sultan eight, the Superb sixteen, and the Terrence four, cost £5 10s. per round per gun. The 12-ton guns, of which the Invincible carries ten, the Monarch two, and the Sultan four, cost £3 12s. per round per gun. The Penelope, which alone carries 9-ton guns, has eight of them, which were discharged at a cost of £2 15s. per round per gun. The Monarch and the Bittern each fired a 5-ton gun, the cost being £1 15s. per round per gun. The Beacon and the Cygnet have two 64-pounders each, the cost of discharging which is 15s. per round per gun. The Penelope carries three 40-pounders, the Beacon two 40-pounders, and the Bittern two 40-pounders, the cost of discharging which was just 12s. per round per gun.

Leaves for Bedding.

In the scarcity of straw, and the absence of saw-dust, and other material for bedding cattle, we have been forced to use forest leaves to keep the horse and cow in cleanly condition, and on the whole are much pleased with them. The gathering was from the road side, and along the walls, where brush and leaves had accumulated for years. A few basketfuls were kept under the animals every morning, and kept there until they were well saturated with the urine, and then thrown out into the manure heap. With a plenty of this material, kept dry under a shed, and used abundantly, there is very little loss of liquid manure. As an absorbent, it is much more effective than we expected to find it. Leaves have a high reputation as a material for the hot-bed and the compost heap, and are worth the labor of gathering, in most cases for their fertilizing properties. Cords of them are going to decay in the sight of almost every rural home, and it is the rare exception that they are utilized. Meanwhile the fields and garden are denied for want of manure, or supplied with concentrated fertilizers at forty dollars a ton. —Wm. Clift, in American Agriculturist.

FROM ALL OVER.

THERE were 37 new cases of yellow fever and one death at Pensacola yesterday.

THE Khedive has appointed Baker Pasha a general of division, the highest military honour in his gift.

LEW, the Naples murderer, will undergo a medical examination by order of the Government to determine the question of his present sanity or otherwise.

It is said Brady, the star route defendant, sunk $75,000 in unprofitable lumbering operations in Montreal.

THE best evidence of the superior merit and virtues of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for the cure of summer complaints, is that its popularity and demand is greatest where it has been longest known.

THE Globe, in its Friday's issue, speaks of Belleville as a "township," but then the Globe never was famed for its knowledge of Canadian geography. —Intelligencer.

IT HAS STOOD THE TEST OF TIME.—For twenty-five years has Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry been before the people, and its popularity to-day is greater than ever, because it has proved reliable in the treatment of all forms of bowel complaint incident to the summer season.

THE Board of Audit on the claims growing out of the illness of President Garfield, has received Dr. Burton's application for $4,500, being $5,000 less than any claims for professional services yet received.

ANDREW TAPPAN, a prominent citizen of Jericho, L. I., recovered from a serious illness five months ago, and has not slept since. He appears in good condition, and says he does not suffer, but is obliged to rest frequently while doing manual labor.

"It came to me like oil upon the troubled waters," said the Rev. Theodore David, Carr street, Cincinnati, Ohio, in speaking of his experience with St. Jacobs Oil. "I was cured by the Great German Remedy of a case of rheumatism of years' standing, in less than two months' time. I will always bless the day I found it."

THE Ontario Government has decided not to proceed with the prosecution of the students charged with the theft of examination papers at Barrie, inasmuch as of the principal offenders two have turned Queen's evidence, and the third has left the country.

N. C. POLSON & CO., druggists, &c., Kingston, express themselves as surprised at the sale of Burdock Blood Bitters in that locality, where patent medicines are hard to introduce, but, say they, "the gross lot ordered a few days since, will convince you that the demand is good, and that it is giving satisfaction to our customers."

FATKICK CONNORS, a brakeman, was killed on the Canada Southern R.R. a few days ago by striking an overhead bridge. He was a brother of young Connors, who was killed at Amherstburg in February by striking his foot in a frog. During last summer another brother was killed on the Great Western Railway.

In the present month of October Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters should be taken to purify the blood and fortify the system against the severe change of our Canadian winter. It improves the circulation and cures Dyspepsia, Biliousness, and Sick Headache. In large bottles at 50 cents. Sold at I. D. Tuily, druggists.

THEIR OCCUPATION GOSE.—R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.: "I was attacked with congestion of the lungs, soreness over the liver, severe pain in the joints, and burning fever, and general giving away of the whole system. Failing to find relief in remedies prescribed, I tried your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' It effected my entire cure. Your extraordinary remedy has only to be used to be appreciated. If every family would give them a trial, nine-tenths of the doctors would, like myself, find their occupation gone. Yours truly, L. B. McMillan, M. D., Breesport, N. Y."

IN GOD'S ACRES.

A Visit to the Little Lake Cemetery—The Improvements this Year.

The cemetery on the shore of the Little Lake is one of which the citizens of Peterborough can feel proud with reason, for it is not going too far to say that it cannot be surpassed in the Dominion. It has been said that the care taken of the graves of the dead is a good criterion of the state of civilization and culture of the people, and this rule has been found to be correct. The care taken of the graves of those who rest in the Little Lake Cemetery, and the taste displayed in the decoration of their last resting place, reflect great credit on the people of this town, and on the superintendent who is in charge of the grounds.

A visit was paid to the cemetery in order to notice its appearance and to note some of the improvements.

THE IMPROVEMENTS which have been made this year, as Mr. Kelly, the superintendent, is continually adding to the neatness and beauty of the cemetery by steadily making improvements on the walks and grounds and adding new ornaments. A few trees planted with good judgment as to position, and with taste, add materially to the appearance of grounds such as those in the cemetery, and not only is this done, but work of a more laborious character has effected great improvements.

Entering the large gate, which stood open, we found Mr. Kelly and for a while kept him from pursuing his work while a walk was taken through the cemetery, and he pointed out the improvements which have been made this season, referring modestly to those which had been done by himself. At the entrance, near the gate, TREES HAVE BEEN PLANTED.

They are of the weeping mountain ash species, a tree which shows that there has been good judgment in making the selection, and between these it is the superintendent's intention to put up a summer house at some future time. Around the grounds, at the borders of the main driveway, rows of horse chestnut and other trees have been planted, and as they grow larger the improvement they will make will be marked. One of the improvements on the largest scale which have been made is on the descent of the hill east of the Mortuary Chapel. This was formerly a very rough spot, on which were trees and stones, and in removing the latter dynamite was freely used. But the appearance of this part is wonderfully changed. Not only have the trees, stumps and stones been removed, but the ground

HAS BEEN TERRACED and seeded, and already the grass is showing itself above the earth. The terraces are from the superintendent's own designs, and it would be difficult to improve on them. North of these terraces a large plot of ground has been added, which in itself must have caused considerable work.

The northern part of the cemetery, which has been formerly called "the flat," and which was rough and contained on its surface a large amount of stone, has been levelled and the stones removed, and it now presents more of the appearance of

A WELL KEPT LAWN, and next year this will be one of the best parts of the grounds. The stones which were removed from here were thrown over the bank of the river, and some of them were, of large dimensions, as was shown by the fact that it took four charges of dynamite to break one into pieces small enough to be removed. A large knoll near the river's edge has been levelled, and along here, too, we noticed more trees which have been planted this year. At the foot of the hill, on the east side,

A DRAIN has been opened, ready to put in the tile, which is intended to carry off the surplus water. It runs from north to south.

The extreme northern part of the cemetery, which was formerly a knoll and in a very rough condition, has been cleared and levelled. It would be a good idea to put up at this point a wind mill, which could be used in watering the grounds, and

A FEW FOUNTAINS could also be erected which could be supplied with water by the windmill. This suggestion, made by the superintendent, is worthy of attention.

That portion of the grounds in the northern part which was cleared and seeded last year has now a good firm sod on it, and adds much to the appearance of the cemetery.

As we passed THE VAULT, we noticed that there was a change in its appearance. The door has been re-painted black and some painting has been done on the inside of the vault. Some of the driveways were gravelled late last fall, and this season the superintendent gathered the larger stones into the centre of the roads and broke them up, thus improving these driveways greatly, and they will be one of the best parts of the cemetery.

THE HEDGES which surround several of the lots are worthy of mention, as they are a good and lasting ornament to the grounds, being trimmed with symmetrical exactness and exceedingly well-kept in all respects. In fact

ALL THE LOTS are well cared for and from their appearance one would think that the superintendent had given all his attention to looking after the lots were not the other large improvements visible to show that such has not been the case. Certain it is that each lot must have received the closest attention, and it is evident that the friends of those who are buried there have not forgotten them, but take pleasure in ornamenting the graves of their departed friends. There were several that particularly attracted our attention. The lot owned by Mr. John Whyte was one of them, and also the Lundy lot, which, although the frost has affected the flowers, still looks well. The Hall Bros. lot has been improved by the addition of an unique and tasteful ornament, consisting of an arch made of bronzed iron and wire, with two baskets of flowers on each corner and surmounted by a third flower basket. A rose bush which was planted on the lot last year attracted much attention this year by the beauty of its flowers. To Mr. Peter Hamilton's lot, in which Mr. Milne was recently interred, additional ornaments have been added, large rustic flower pots having been placed at the corners of the lot. On the lot of the late Mr. John Reid improvements have also been made, the graves having been sodded and the headstones cleaned. The lot where rests the late Mrs. Stephen Wood has been one of the prettiest lots this season, having been covered with bright flowers, some of which still give evidence of their loveliness, although the frosts have affected them. Other lots have been attended to and adorned in such a manner as to attract attention—among which might be mentioned the Dickson lot—but we have not space to enumerate all. Several

NEW MONUMENTS have been added this season. One has been put up in the Whittle lot, from Mr. J. Byrne's marble factory, and it is a handsome one. A monument to the memory of the late Mr. Fred. T. Fortye has been erected by his sons. It is a large one and after a good model, and was furnished from Mr. T. Moore's marble factory. Two other tasteful smaller monuments have been erected to the memory of Mr. Theodore Clementi and Mr. George Barlee, which were also from Mr. Moore's factory. These monuments, with other smaller head stones, which have been added this season, make a vast improvement in the appearance of the cemetery.

This spring additional notices were put up in conspicuous places warning persons from trespassing on the lots and grass, from plucking flowers, discharging firearms or in any way injuring the shrubs or trees. These notices assist the superintendent on days when there are a large number of visitors at the cemetery, as it lets each one know what he is not wanted to do.

THE EXTENSION which was made to the grounds a few years ago looks well, having been well attended to. The willows planted along the water's edge are growing nicely, and the town would do well to continue this crib work and willow planting around on the shore at least as far as Romayne street, in order to prevent the road to the cemetery being washed away by degrees, and a sidewalk to the cemetery on the same road would be appreciated. It should be mentioned, too, that the fence around the western side of the cemetery needs immediate attention. If it is not decided to extend the grounds in this direction at once, the fence should be replaced by a better one.

THE AUTUMN FRONTS have not passed over the cemetery without leaving tokens of their presence. The leaves on the trees are coloured and falling, and are being gathered up to be removed. The flowers which have bloomed all summer have lost their brightness, and the changing season, as well as the monuments and headstones, remind one that our stay on earth is but transient, and that all must finally die and return to dust.

A Central Prison Bird Escapes. At eleven o'clock on Monday morning a convict named Doran succeeded in effecting his escape from the Central Prison. He was one of the "farm gang," and was engaged in the "back" field digging carrots and carrying them to the pile previous to casting them to the prison. While doing so the guard was called away to another part of the field, and during his absence Doran slipped away. A few minutes later the guard returned to find that the bird had flown. An alarm was at once raised, and two or three of the officers started in pursuit, but the prisoner had evidently made the most of his time, and was nowhere to be seen. It was learned subsequently that he paid a visit to Abell's new buildings, west of the asylum, where he borrowed a coat belonging to one of the workmen, without, of course, saying anything to the owner about it. During the afternoon the guards scoured every spot in the vicinity likely to afford concealment to the prisoner, but without success. Doran, who was serving a three months' term for larceny, was sentenced in September. He is well known to the police, and there is every chance of his being recaptured.—Mail.

A VILE SLANDERER.

THE Examiner has just given another proof that it has not the slightest regard for truth or honesty when they would stand in the way of injuring an opponent by false representations. In some remarks on a letter of the Bishop of Peterborough in regard to the "Marmion" question it says:—

"It is a scathing rebuke to the Mail, as well as to the Review and other Opposition organs, who, for political purposes have not hesitated to not only attack Mr. Crooks for recognizing the right of conscience of our Roman Catholic fellow citizens, but have derided the conscientious scruples of the latter, and apparently rejoiced in an opportunity of showing towards them the latent hostility of their hearts under the cloak of political zeal."

This, as the Examiner well knows, is a wilful and wicked calumny as far as the Review is concerned. We defy the Examiner or any one else to find in the Review in reference to the "Marmion" question one word which derides the conscientious scruples of Roman Catholics, attacks Mr. Crooks for recognizing them, or shows any approbation of the abusive language of the Mail.

What we have held and still hold is that Mr. Crooks has given another proof for his unfitness for his office by prescribing a work for study in our High Schools and then having to withdraw it after it had been largely purchased and studied. If the work is unfit for the purpose he should not have put it on the examination list. If it should not have been withdrawn it. He may take his choice, for either way his incompetence is manifest. He does not improve his position by the plea that he insulted a large portion of the community by forcing upon them for study a work so offensive to them that he has been compelled to abandon it, especially when it is considered that he is still forcing the study of the same work upon them in other institutions over which he has control. We have been no party to his insult, nor to the abusive language of the Mail.

The Examiner publishes its dastardly falsehood in the hope that those who read it and do not see the Review may believe its calumnies to be true. If it had any reputation for truth, honesty or decency it would forfeit it by this malicious misrepresentation, which it perpetrates in the hope of stirring up religious enmity against us in the minds of those who may be deceived by its slanders.

MILLBROOK

FAREWELL SUPPER.—A farewell supper was tendered to Mr. W. Breakey, Captain of the Millbrook Lacrosse Club, who is about to depart for the Northwest, by the members of the club on Tuesday evening in the Victoria Hotel. The spread was all that could be desired, and after the company had partaken of the good things, the cloth was removed and Mr. Hepburn took the chair. The usual loyal toasts were duly honoured, and Mr. Breakey responded to the toast of "Our Guest" in a few well chosen remarks. Mr. W. A. Jameson, of Peterborough, and Mr. Harris, of Balliduff, replied to the toast of "Our Invited Guests." Other toasts were honoured, and a very pleasant evening was brought to a close by "God Save the Queen" and cheers for Mr. Breakey and the Chairman. The toasts were drunk in pure water, and everything passed off in a manner which reflects credit on the Millbrook Lacrosse Club.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1882.

LIQUOR LICENSE FINANCES.

After an interval of more than two weeks the Globe ventures to deal with our statement of the financial results of the Crock's Act in this country. It cannot find any inaccuracy in our figures as it is driven to the expedient of terming them "misleading," and then giving a grossly dishonest calculation of its own. We stated from the official records that in 1879-80 there was paid for licenses and fines in the County of Peterborough, $6,275, which was apportioned as follows:

To the Municipalities	$ 4292.63
To the Province	943.78
Expenses	1048.59
	$6275.00

According to the Act of 1868-9 this $6,275 would have been divided as follows:

To the Municipalities	$ 3611
	$4565

This shows plainly that the operation of the law has decreased the municipal share by $1226.37, and increased the Provincial share by $279.78.

The Globe dares not directly dispute our figures, for they are in accordance with the official returns, and with the provisions of the Statute, so it substitutes a table of figures as more correct, in which it states that the municipal share has been increased by $2,498.63, when it has really been decreased by $1,326.37.

The absurdity of this calculation may be shown from the fact that the Globe in its pretended apportionment of the $6275 that was admittedly received, has two items:

Payable to municipalities under old act	$1,784.00
Payable to Province under old act	964.00

Thus it has an obvious error of $3,527, only accounting for $2,448 out of a total receipt of $6275.

This dishonest piece of jugglery is performed as follows. The Globe gives the true figures as received and distributed in 1879-80 under the Crock's Act, but it compares them, not with the actual sum received, but with the lowest possible amount that could have been received under the act of 1868-9.

Having impressed these dishonest figures upon the minds of its readers, who it hopes will not examine them critically, the Globe subsequently, with a monetary relapse into honesty, admits that "the municipalities had the same power under the old act to add to the statutory fees that they now have, and any excesses so imposed should therefore be deducted from the above $2,498.63." Then it proceeds to neutralize this confession by asserting that these excesses are not very large, and would be more than offset by the expenses formerly payable by the municipalities. Would the municipalities of this county think $3,527 an insignificant sum, and can we fancy that they would need to expend that amount and more to enforce the law, when for a fraction of that sum they could do so far more efficiently than in the case under the present system?

The plain truth, however the Globe may strive to muddle it, is that the municipalities had precisely the same powers of increasing the amount for licenses under the old act, as under that now in force, and there is no reason why they would not exercise it. The receipts would be the same, namely $6,275, but the share of the municipalities would be greater by $1,326.37.

As to blunders made by the Mail in the same article in which it quoted our figures, we must decline to share the responsibility for mistakes apparently arising from want of knowledge of the statute under discussion. We might as well be held responsible for the Globe's wilful perversion of the truth.

Our own figures are accurate, being taken carefully from the official documents, except the expenditure under the Mowat management, which in the absence of a detailed statement which the authorities neglect to give, we have been obliged to compute from the data given. If this is not the true cost it must be because the Administration has taken from us sums in defiance of the law in addition to the large amount of which we are mulcted under this very unfair law.

THE LOST "AMIA"

Return of the Search Party—Wrecks of the Coast.

OVER HOUND, Oct. 24.—The party sent for the body of Mrs. Woods and to search for other bodies of victims of the Asia disaster arrived here early this morning by steamer Northern Belle, of the Great Northern Transit Company's line. The party left here on Sunday, the 15th October, by steamer Emerald, and arrived at Killarney the following day. Their intention was to proceed from Killarney to Lonely Island for the body of Mrs. Woods, and make a thorough search of the islands around there before returning. The weather proved so rough that they were unable to reach Lonely Island until yesterday morning. In the meantime they visited Hog Island, Wilkington Manitowaning, and Cape Smith. At Hog Island they found the body of Miss McNabb, of Sullivan township. It had been covered with gravel and boards, but no real attempt at burial had been made. The party had a burial case with them which they used to encase the body, and brought it to this place. While at Manitowaning they were informed that the bodies of a man and woman had been found at Cape Smith to which place they proceeded and examined them. The woman proved to be Mrs. Walters, who was lady's maid on the ill-fated steamer.

The man could not be identified. At Killarney, Hog Island, and Cape Smith they exhumed the bodies of those that were buried, and found that in every case, excepting those exhumed at Killarney, the victims had their pockets cut and everything of value extracted, and in some cases even the shoes and stockings had been stolen off their feet. The Asia disaster appears to have been a harvest to the Indians of Manitowaning Island and in that neighborhood, and not only the Indians, but white people seem to be reaping an indirect gain from the sad affair, as the Indians are spending money rather lavishly at some of the villages on the island. One Indian is known to have paid out $50 in gold for a wagon, another $35 for live stock, while some have offered silver spoons, knives, and forks for sale. The body of Mrs. Woods will be sent by an early train to-morrow to her friends in Cincinnati. The Indian light-house-keeper at Lonely Island has given up the watch, chain, and lock that he stole from the body of Mrs. Woods, and it is now in the possession of Mr. Bladock. The watch is in good condition, and stopped at twenty minutes past one. The light-house-keeper now admits that the watch was in his possession when he gave up the other articles, which speaks poorly of his honor. Mr. Evans, undertaker of this place, and Mr. Kirkpatrick, of Linehouse, were along with the search party, and they have a very delicate opinion of the pleasure of navigation, and could not easily be induced to undertake the dangers and exposure of another trip like the one they have just encountered.

OBITUARY.

In the Pickering News we notice the following obituary notice of Mr. S. P. Davis, M. A., who has relatives in this vicinity:—

"On Wednesday morning last Mr. S. P. Davis, Principal of Pickering College, passed to his rest after an illness of nearly seven weeks. It is difficult to estimate the loss that has come, in his death, to the community at large and to Pickering College in particular. Only 31 years of age at the time of his decease, he gave promise of a long and useful life, and to all appearance it seemed that his work amongst us was to be continued for many years. These hopes have not been realized, and we are again reminded of the uncertainty of this life.

"Though young, yet in his prime, the deceased had lived a life full of good deeds. In everything to which he put his hand he succeeded: as a student he was noted for his success, and when he rose to teach, first in a public school and afterwards in Whitby Collegiate Institute, his course still continued to be characterized by the same brilliancy and thoroughness that had marked his school-boy days. After a brief sojourn at Whitby, in which place he endeared himself to the hearts of the people, he began his studies at Toronto University. Here he, in competition with the best ability in the country, won the very first position, succeeding in obtaining scholarships in each year, and awarded the Gold Medal in the department of natural science, after one of the closest contests that have ever taken place in that department. Upon leaving the University he was engaged as a teacher in the Stratford High School.

"Three years ago he was, without solicitation, offered the position of Head-Master in Pickering College. During two years he filled this position, and by his firmness and upright character he won the respect and admiration of the students, and contributed very materially to maintain and increase the reputation of the College. So thoroughly was his work done, and so highly did the College authorities appreciate him, that when the position of Principal became vacant through the retirement of his old friend and fellow-student, Mr. Bryant, he was unanimously chosen by the managing College Committee to take that gentleman's place. This position he retained till his death. That his success was as substantial in this as in his previous fields of labour is evident, when it is considered that last year was the most successful in the history of the College, and it was the expectation of its friends that still brighter future was in store for the College under his management for many years to come.

"As in life, so in death, he left a noble example of calm Christian fortitude and resignation."

Canadian Centinel.

Mr. W. J. Chamberlain, of Columbus, Ohio, has communicated to the Country Gentleman his impression of a visit to Canada. He candidly admits that he did not find the people of this country so slow as he was led to expect. At the exhibitions he found stock, grain, fruit and vegetables that Ohio could not equal much less surpass. The city of Toronto especially impressed him as a lively business centre and an exceedingly well built place. He thinks the only city in Ohio that equals Toronto in the volume of trade done is Cincinnati. In conclusion Mr. Chamberlain says:—"It diminishes our conceit, too, to find the Canadians more courteous, polite, than we are on this side. This appears in many ways, for example, in forms of expression. If a Yankee does not understand your question, he says 'What?' or 'Hear?' or (at the West) 'Which?' or 'Him?' or (if he can spare time) 'What d'ye say?' But the Canadian says, 'I beg pardon.' And the courtesy of the expression lies in the ellipsis, and its generous assumption of all blame for not understanding the question on its first utterance.

Morseford's Acid Phosphate.

A VERACITY.

Dr. C. O. Files, Portland, Me., says: "Of all the samples of medicine sent me during the past dozen years it is the only one I have ever found which has become a necessity in my own household."

A Warning.

A very significant utterance was that made by Jas. Tracy, who was executed for murder at Chicago last Friday, just before he was hanged. He had all along protested his innocence, and in a communication which he wrote out for a reporter he said: "I feel satisfied that if my past record had been spoken I could never have been convicted. I do not believe any man who has known the life of virtue can ever be contented with a life of vice. The farmer who has spent his life on his farm, never seeing more of the world than the road to market or more of society than the village congregation, is happier than the 'sport' who seeks his money easily but questionably and sees society in its wildest dissipation. The hardest of work, if honest, is not as tiresome as the idleness of an outlaw. The laborer never feels his work as does the man who makes his living by the 'simple turn of the wrist.' I sincerely hope that my fate and these words may prove a warning to young men who are cheating themselves with the idea that there can be any peace, happiness or prosperity in a crooked life."

A Horse in Spectacles.

In a paper on nearsightedness lately read before the New York County Medical Society, Dr. W. F. Mitterdorf told of a fine horse in Berlin that became intractable, and on examination proved to be suffering from myopia. The owner had a pair of glasses made for it, and it became as tractable as ever. American students, Dr. Mitterdorf said, are not so subject to nearsightedness as German students. Sedentary occupations and want of exercise develop myopia, and women, therefore, are likelier than men to contract it. It generally sets in in childhood; rarely appears after 21 years of age. Blindness often follows neglect of it. Glasses should be worn early in life to prevent its progress. They should be rather weak than strong and a slight blue tint is desirable.

News of Murder.

Mr. Thibado, who has returned from Manitowaning, brings details of the murder of a son of Voeburg, a Kingstonian. It occurred some four weeks ago, on the line of the Atchewon, Topoka & Santa Fe Railway. In a discussion at a hotel Voeburg said something that annoyed the landlord, who attacked him, and in the scuffle a revolver went off, fatally wounding the young man, who is a grandson of Dr. Barker, the founder of the British Whig.

Wool White Escaping.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 24.—Chas. Perry, eighteen years of age, serving a seven years' term in the Dorchester penitentiary for highway robbery, was shot and instantly killed yesterday while endeavoring to escape. A companion named Rogers surrendered. At an inquest on the body of young Perry the jury returned a verdict completely absolving the penitentiary officer, he having first fired two warning shots.

A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters:—"I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly two years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, 'The Doctor.' It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally, who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver and Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Impurities of the Blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters." (Signed) JAS. WHITE, Sold in large bottles at 50 cents at J. D. Tully, druggist.

Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy is Nature's great system renovator and cleanser; and its effects are as certain as they are salutary, scratching out and removing all impurities; and not a cure, but as a prime curative, but as a thorough preventive.

One dose of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters will relieve Sick Headache. One bottle effects a cure. Price 25c. per bottle.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The T. V. C.

The Hastings Star says that a party of Engineers on the Trent Valley Canal Survey are camped down the river a short distance from the village.

Rifle Matches at Keene.

We are requested to state that several Rifle matches will be held at Keene, on Thanksgiving Day, under the auspices of the Keene company of the 57th Bat., and that there will be an all comers match, at which crack shots from all parts of the country will be welcome.

A Valuable Station.

There is a very neat station at Bird'sall's, on the G. J. R., to look at, but its usefulness is reduced to a minimum by the fact, that it is placed some distance from the road, where a vehicle of any kind cannot be got to it, and that the only approach to it for those on foot, is along the railway track and across a cattle guard.

Church Dedication.

The new Baptist Church at Reboro was dedicated on Sunday, Oct. 15th, when the Rev. Mr. Stobo took part in the services, preaching to large congregations both in the morning and evening. On Monday evening there was a tea-meeting in celebration of the event, when Mr. Stobo, among others, addressed those assembled.

The following lots were sold at the auction yesterday:
Lot 24, Thomas McGeech $140
Lot 25, Thomas McGeech 115
Lot 26, Honanna Brien 115
Lot 27, Honanna Brien 115
Lots 28 and 29, to George Edmison, $100 each.
Mr. Brien was subsequently offered $150 for one of his lots.

Midland Railway Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending Oct. 21st, 1882, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $6,666.15; freight, $21,613.86, total, $28,280.01; as compared with $25,355.47 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $2,924.54; and the aggregate traffic to date is $860,384.93, being an increase of $171,319.04 over 1881.

A Valuable.

The firm of W. Fairweather & Co. are never behind in their line of goods. They keep to the front both as to the extent and the quality of their stock. They have made an extensive purchase of new fall clothing, consisting of men's and boys' clothing, overcoats, ulsters, &c., which they will sell at 25 per cent. under regular prices. They also offer a large lot of furs, including mink, seal, ermine, otter, beaver, sable, and astrachan fur. See a sample of their prices in their advertisement. They have also a large stock of ladies' astrachan and German lamb jackets, seal sets, robes, fur coats and rugs, and an assortment of elegant fur caps for gentlemen, all of which will be sold cheap.

New Church.

The new Methodist Church at Millbrook, which was opened this week, is a very handsome one, and is said by many who saw it to be one of the finest village churches in the Province. It is built of white brick, with galleries, and has a seating capacity for 400 persons, in addition to which there is a capacious lecture room and several class rooms in the basement. Mr. John E. Belcher, of Peterborough, was the architect. The Rev. John Shaw, of Peterborough, preached the dedicatory sermon and conducted the dedication services. At the tea meeting in connection with the opening of the church on Monday evening, Mr. Geo. A. Cox, President of the Midland Railway, occupied the chair.

Hymeneal.

On Wednesday afternoon His Lordship Bishop Jamot performed the ceremony of marriage for the first time since he has been installed into the See of Peterborough. The contracting parties were Mr. W. J. Devlin, one of Peterborough's well known young business men, and Miss Ellen Halpin, also of this town. The ceremony took place in St. Peter's Cathedral, and was witnessed by a large number of friends of the couple, many of whom accompanied them to their home, where they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Devlin. The bride's presents were numerous and handsome. We join with the friends of the happy couple in wishing them a long and happy life, and congratulating them on the honor of being the first couple married by the Bishop of Peterborough.

THE COUNTY PLOUGHING MATCH.

A Successful Gathering—24 Ploughmen Compete for Eighteen Prizes.

The county ploughing match announced to be held under the auspices of the County Council and the East and West Riding Agricultural Societies came off according to announcement, on Wednesday last, on the farm of John Breakenridge, Esq., Westwood. The weather was all that could be desired so far as the day was concerned, but unfortunately the ground was very dry, owing to the unusually little rain which has fallen this fall, and as a consequence the work done was not as pleasing to the eye as it otherwise would have been. The work done was, however, notwithstanding the unfavorable circumstances under which it was performed, generally conceded to be the best ever seen at a ploughing match in this county. The onerous duty of awarding the prizes was performed by Messrs. Isaac Garbutt, Mr. Stephen Benson, Wm. Rutherford and Joshua Smithson, who are well known to be thoroughly up in the ploughman's art.

The following is the prize list:—
CLASS 1.—Open to all comers with any plough.—11 entries.1st prize, Fred Waldon $25 00
2nd do D. D. Henderson 20 00
3rd do John Henderson 15 00
4th do George McPhee 10 00
5th do George Lancaster 5 00
6th do Gavine Brown 3 00

CLASS 2.—Open to boys under 18 years of age with any plough.—5 entries.

1st prize, W. A. Payne $25 00
2nd do John McFarlane 20 00
3rd do Otis Kidd 15 00
4th do Walter McKee 10 00
5th do Hugh Cameron 5 00

CLASS 3.—Open to ploughmen with a No. 40 or similar plough.—4 entries.

1st prize, T. S. Breakenridge $15 00
2nd do Fred Webdale 10 00
3rd do Daniel Henney 5 00

CLASS 4.—Open to boys under 10 years of age with a No. 40 or similar plough, in stubble.—4 entries.

1st prize, George Humphries $15 00
2nd do John Blake 10 00
3rd do And. Brown 5 00

The judges recommended that the unawarded prizes in class 2 be given to the fourth competitor in class three.

We need scarcely say that the judges, committee, and ploughmen were provided for during the day in the most hospitable manner by Mr. and Mrs. Breakenridge. In fact, they threw their house open and made all thoroughly welcome who chose to partake of the hospitality for which they are noted wherever known.

The Toronto and Ottawa.

The laying of the rails on the Toronto and Ottawa Railway was begun at Madoc on Monday, and the rails are being laid on the line near Perth. Mr. Bremer, who has the contract of building the road, has 680 men engaged in the construction of the line, which is proceeding rapidly, steam drills being used in the work.

The Ontario and Quebec.

Messrs. Hendrie & McDermid, the contractors, will place a force of fifty men at work to-morrow on the construction of the Ontario and Quebec line through the cut on Barnham's Point, in Ashburnham. Work will be commenced in the town, near the Roman Catholic Cemetery, on Monday, when about 100 men and 25 teams will be employed at these two points. They have now 400 men and 100 teams employed on their contract. They are now hiring men for the work in the town.

Hiring Men.

Mr. T. Cavanagh this morning despatched sixteen men to Mr. Hazlett's shanty in Stanhope. The wages to be paid will average $20 per month. Mr. Cavanagh has been engaged all summer in procuring men for the railroads and shanties, and has found employment for over 500 men. Among these were six-seventeen men which he brought from Sandy Bay, 250 miles below Quebec, for Mr. R. C. Strickland, of Lakeside, who is operating eight shanties this winter, and 115 men for the Ontario and Quebec Railway and 200 for the Midland Railway, all of whom were brought from a distance and are first class men.

The Harmonic Questions.

The following letter from the Bishop of Peterborough to the Archbishop of Toronto has been made public:—

To His Grace the Most Rev. J. J. Lynch, D. D. Archbishop of Toronto.

Your Grace,—Allow me to congratulate you on the well merited recognition you have so successfully administered to the patrons of the occult literature, who in their blind zeal for party or political purposes are ready to sacrifice conscience, Christianity, and reason itself to uphold a doctrine which they know well is wrong. I am really surprised to notice that the Mail newspaper has become the champion of that sort of morality as is contained in "Marmion." A work so brilliantly written, it is true, but all the more offensive to Christian morality, and principally so to Catholic feelings. And this at the work which, according to the Mail, should be imposed on the boys and girls and the young men and young women attending our schools, to be studied, analysed, and admired by them, and to be proposed to them as a model in any sense of the word, not to speak of the teachers and of the members of our religious communities who would be expected to explain it. But every weapon is available at the time of an election contest, should it even raise religious prejudices. The Mail and all those concerned should know that we have always considered, and consider now more than ever, that Your Grace is the able defender and advocate of Catholic rights and sound Christian morality, and that if until now very few have come forward to help you, (it is not correct to say that nobody else has upheld you, for amongst others, Father Stafford, of Lindsay, has written able articles in condemnation of the morality of Marmion) it is because we know well that Your Grace is quite competent for the task. No; Your Grace is not alone. You have with you the Bishops, the clergy of the Catholic Church, you have the faithful laity, all those really worthy of the name of Catholics, and who prefer conscience to party; you have with you all those outside of the Catholic Church, who want only books of sound morality to be placed in the hands of their sons and daughters, and also who object to religious prejudices being kept alive between the members of the community and inhibiting these prejudices even in the school room.

As for some of the other effusions of that paper, so coarse and so offensive to Your Grace's dignity and personal worth, I believe that it means to be witty. Let some think so. A just and unprejudiced public of a different opinion.

I have the honour to be,
My dear Lord Archbishop,
Very respectfully yours,
JOHN FRANCIS JAMOT,
Peterboro', Oct. 10, 1882. Bishop of Peterborough.A splendid range of Cardigan Jackets at "Habiliment Hall."

A CHALLENGE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As I hear that Mr. Wm. Smith, painter of this town, wants to run me a race of one hundred and twenty yards, I take this opportunity of accommodating him, and will run a race of three beats for from $10 to $30 a side, the race to take place within two weeks from date.

Yours truly,
M. BIRD.

Peterborough, Oct. 28, 1882.

Personal.

Mr. D. G. Hatton, Police Magistrate, has been in poor health for some time, and has been unable for the past few days to occupy his place on the bench. He is at present confined to his home.

Sad News.

Mrs. James Armstrong, who resided on Simcoe street, died very suddenly on Tuesday. She was about as usual, when she suddenly fell down and expired in a short time after. Her death is attributed to heart disease.

The Weather.

To-day is partly cloudy and cool. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh westerly to northerly winds, fine weather and slightly lower temperature.

Lost His Eye.

We regret to learn that Mr. Joseph White-man, whose eye was pierced by a piece of a bullet at the rifle match on the tenth of October, has lost his eye. The accident occurred through proper care not having been taken by another marker to shut the door to protect the markers, and the accident at the time was not thought to be serious, but it was afterwards found that to save the other eye the injured one would have to be removed, and this was done by Dr. Bell and Dr. Byerson. The Rifle Association was not to blame for the accident, and Dr. Bell, who is Secretary of the Association, kindly gave his medical services gratis.

Personal To Men Only!

The Volant Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Volant Belts and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

Mothers! Mothers!

Are you disturbed at night or broke of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians, and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. d1879

For Football Stockings, Kid, Antelope, Buck and Wool Mitts and Gloves, try "Habiliment Hall."

NOW!

Now is the time to make changes in your UNDERWEAR! Don't put it off until you get chilled, but do it right NOW, thereby saving your health, and maybe your life. It is a mistaken idea that some people have to put off as long as possible or just, when the thermometer goes down below zero to put on their underwear. Be prepared in time, and when the chilled northern blast comes you are safe. Another word of advice, if you have not yet laid in your stock of underwear, half-hose, gloves, mitts and everything needed in your wardrobe, go to T. DOLAN & CO. at once, where you will be served right.

RAILWAY CHANGES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The control of the stock of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railway, the nickel plate line was bought yesterday by J. H. Devereux and Stevenson Burke Cleveland, who acted for a syndicate of Railway men interested largely in the Columbus, Hocking Valley and Toledo, and the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis Railways. The whole capital is fifty millions, of which twenty-two millions is preferred. The syndicate agreed to be paid $30 for preferred, and $17 for common stock. Vanderbilt denies the report that he is interested in the purchase. It is generally believed that the Sency pool has made from seven to ten million by building and selling the road.

THE SIX DAYS' WALK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—All interest in the walking match seems to have died out. Hughes retired from the race at 12.20 p.m. At 9 a.m. the score stood:—Fitzgerald, 468; Noremack, 453; Hughes, 439; Hervey, 434; Hart, 427; Vint, 398.

Forests and Streams.

A French writer tells of two exactly similar pieces of land, one cleared and the other wooded, where the wooded piece yielded ten times as much water as the open, and besides that the open piece had a very irregular flow, while the woodland yielded an even regular supply. Still another fact is given, this time relating to America. A stream, which for years and years without failing, had supplied several mills with power, finally gave out. It not only failed to fill the ponds but it actually dried up. An investigation showed that the woods through which its course flowed had been cut down. Subsequently these woods were allowed to grow up again, and for the past ten years in spite of droughts and other troubles, the stream has flowed without any interruption.

Souville, of Montreal International Throat and Lung Institute, and ex-Aide Surgeon of the French Army, was visited by over 1,000 Physicians and sufferers using his wonderful invention, the Spirometer, for the treatment of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung diseases. Parties unable to visit his office can be successfully treated by letter addressed Dr. M. Souville, ex Aide Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Phillips Square, Montreal, or 173 Church Street, Toronto, offices for Canada, where French and English specialists are always in charge. Full particulars free on receipt of stamp. Physicians and sufferers can try it free at the offices.

IT HAS STOOD THE TEST OF TIME.—For twenty-five years has Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry been before the people, and its popularity to-day is greater than ever, because it has proved reliable in the treatment of all forms of bowel complaint incident to the summer season.

EARTHQUAKE IN PANAMA.

ASPINWALL, Oct. 26.—The damage done the Panama Railway by the several earthquakes beginning to show itself. Several accidents have occurred. Fortunately there has been no loss of life so far. The Isthmus has felt several small shocks of earthquake waves, but no damage has been done. The great shock took place on September 7th. An earthquake of the same intensity has not visited Columbia for thirty years.

SMALLPOX AT BOGOTA.

PANAMA, Oct. 26.—Her Majesty's steamship Rocket arrived here on the 22nd inst. from Acapulco. The Star and Herald publishes news from Bogota that on the 6th inst. there were 500 cases of smallpox in the hospital, and the disease was prevalent throughout the Atlantic States of Columbia. Vaccination is not being generally resorted to.

MINISTERIAL EXPLANATION.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—In the House of Commons Sir Charles Dilke said no convention had been concluded with Egypt for charging the cost of the army of occupation to the Egyptians. The Sudan and Upper Egypt were undoubtedly disturbed, but the newspaper reports were exaggerated. Great Britain had not been consulted in regard to the appointment of Baker Pasha, but the Government did not object to his appointment.

GERMAN ELECTIONS.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—The elections to-day voted for members of the Diet. The returns indicate 130 Conservatives; 42 Free Conservatives; 79 of the Centre party; 53 National Liberals; 17 Socialists; 22 Progressists; 11 Poles; and 5 Independent Liberals were elected. The Ministers of War, Public Works, and Agriculture were returned. With the exception of a speedily suppressed anti-Jewish demonstration the elections in Berlin were quiet. The Liberals are greatly disappointed, having suffered several unexpected losses.

THE HUNGARIAN CHAMBERS.

VIENNA, Oct. 26.—The Hungarian delegation met to-day. The Emperor, in receiving the members, said the moderation of all the Cabinets was a valuable guarantee for a satisfactory and final settlement of the Egyptian question. There was no necessity for increasing the ordinary army expenditure, but a small sum would be required for the further development of the organization and placing the army in a more prepared condition for war.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE.

CAIRO, Oct. 26.—The Prosecution Committee has examined Ali Bey Rashedi, who during the bombardment of Alexandria commanded the guard stationed at the law courts. He states that he was ordered by Suliman and Daud Pasha to fire the building, but followed Arabi to Kafir-el-Dwar without executing the order. He was taken before Arabi, who asked whether he obeyed the order. Rashedi replied, "Yes," through fear, and Arabi thereupon exclaimed, "Thank God, we have annihilated the greater part of the Christians and their principal buildings."

FRENCH ANARCHISTS.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—The member of the anarchist federation in Paris and suburbs alone number 1,225. The Syndic of Lyons has received a letter threatening that the Bourne will be blown up.

SEZ, Oct. 26.—The corpse of Lieutenant (Claretton) and Captain Gill, of Professor Palmer's party, have been found. Nothing certain is known of the fate of Prof. Palmer.

REBELS AWAITING TRIAL.

CAIRO, Oct. 26.—The English consul decline to defend Mahmoud, Barodi and Touba Pasha, but will defend Arabi, Ali Fahmy, Abdallah and Osman Fanni, the latter of whom is charged with intriguing in favour of Halim Pasha. They will be tried separately. It is asserted that there are only 120 prisoners at Cairo and very few in the interior.

THANKS TO THE ARMY.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Mr. Gladstone moved a vote of thanks to the British army in Egypt. Sir Wilfrid Lawson moved the previous question, but this was rejected by a vote of 354 to 17.

AMERICAN.

THE CHICAGO MYSTERY.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Much interest still attaches to Mary Winchester's mysterious disappearance at Chicago, and the lake shore will be thoroughly searched. Her parents believe she drowned herself, but her lady friends think she fled to New York with an unknown lover. Mr. Church, foreman in the office where she was employed, denies ever making love to her or taking her to the theatre, as stated by her before her disappearance.

THE BI-CENTENNIAL.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—To-day is festival day in the bi-centennial celebration. Seven thousand Knights Templar paraded. The review and archery contests were held in Fair mount Park, and the Welsh musical festival was attended by 10,000 people.

TURNING BLACK WHITE.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 26.—There is much excitement here over the alleged discovery by Dr. Gregory of a lotion which is claimed to turn the skin of negroes white. A man who it is alleged was bleached is now being examined by physicians.

THE OLD STORY.

DETROIT, Oct. 26.—Archie McLeod stopped off in Detroit while on his way from Colorado to his home at Cape Breton, Nova Scotia. He strolled around the city during the day, and about 7 p.m. was accosted by a middle-aged man who made some enquiry about the train. A conversation followed, in which McLeod told him who he was and where he was going. The man said he also lived in Cape Breton, and was much pleased at meeting a fellow-countryman. They were soon joined by another man who was acquainted with Leod's friend, who unfolded the familiar details of the venerable "freight bill game," by which McLeod was shortly victimised out of $555 in cash. McLeod now wants the police to help him catch the rascal and get back his money.

SAILORS MASSACRED.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 26.—A letter from Captain Crapo, of the schooner Surprise, lost off Basket Island, near Punta Arenas, states that a boat's crew he left at the island were massacred by the natives, with the exception of a boy. A boat's crew belonging to the foundered British barque Roseneath, containing the mate and four men, were also murdered by the natives, except the mate, who was rescued by friendly Indians and sent to Valparaiso. A third boat's crew were also massacred by the natives.

"A FAMOUS VICTORY."

The Globe is very jubilant over the fact that the Mowat candidate in South Bruce was returned last week by a majority of 506, as compared with a majority of 68 in 1879, but when we come to examine the figures as published by itself and compare them with the vote recorded in 1879, this "famous victory" turns out to be the result of a large number of the electors staying at home and not recording their votes. The total vote polled by Mr. O'Connor on the present occasion was only 2,416 as compared with Mr. Wall's 2,835 in 1879—a falling off of 449 votes on the government side. On the other hand Mr. Eckford, the opposition candidate, on the present occasion only polled 1,912 votes as compared with Mr. Baird's 2,789, in 1879,—or a falling off of 884 votes, and making a total unpolled vote on the present occasion as compared with 1879 of no less than 1,333 votes. Why these votes were not polled on the present occasion we cannot of course say with positiveness, but the probability is that the chief reason was that the electors knew perfectly well that the result could not affect the government at the present time. While the fact that the vote on the government side came out much better than that on the opposition is easily accounted for by the fact that the government were certain to remain in power for another year, and for that time at least will be in a position to reward those "who did their duty" on the 18th out of the public chest. So far as we have been able to judge from the vote polled, in only one instance can the contest of the 18th be accepted as any indication of the feeling of the country, and that was in East Simcoe, where the figures show, on a full vote, a decided opposition gain. In all the other constituencies the vote did not come out, and even on the government side, with all the influence which they possess and know so well how to use, their officials forming a permanent organization for electioneering, the vote was very much smaller than in 1879. Remembering this fact and also that no less than twenty of the seats now held by government supporters were carried in 1879 by majorities of 75 and under—many of them by much under—the opposition have no reason to be discouraged at the prospect before them at the general election when a full vote is certain to be polled.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In its last issue the Examiner repeats its old falsehood that the N. P. has largely increased the cost of everything the farmers have to buy. Will the Examiner mention even two or three things that the farmers have to buy that have increased in price since the National Policy has come into operation? But as of old, our contemporary will shuffle with the question instead of answering it, for it knows that its statement is untrue, and that there are no such instances for it to give.

The Mail devotes nearly two columns to the letter on the Marmon question by the Bishop of Peterborough, which the Globe has published without authority. We cannot sympathize with our contemporary, which is suffering under a rebuke that it provoked.

The Reform gain at the recent bye elections for the Ontario Legislature, unfortunate though it was for the Province, was not sufficient to warrant the excessive boasting of the Examiner, so it proceeds to manufacture "facts." It says:—

"WEST HASTINGS.—Ross, Conservative, elected by 260 majority. Last election the Conservatives had a majority of 327. A loss of 67." This is simply false. According to the official returns the majority at the last election was 149, making a Conservative gain of 111, instead of a loss of 67, as is pretended. Again our contemporary says:—

"North Renfrew may be fairly counted another gain, for the compromise candidate, Mr. W. B. McAllister, who was elected by acclamation, on the understanding that he would give the Government an independent support, replaces a Meredith man."

This is another falsehood. The asserted "Meredith man" was a supporter of Mr. Mowat, being Mr. T. Murray, of colonization road notoriety, so that even classing the Conservative Mr. W. B. McAllister as an "independent," his replacing a supporter of the Mowat administration is a Reform loss, not a gain. Is it impossible for the Examiner to tell the truth?

A Mystery Solved.
On the 2nd of October the barn of Malcolm Campbell, Dunwich, was destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $3,000. How the fire originated was unknown, but the mystery has now been solved in a manner little dreamed of. Quite a sensation was caused in Wallacetown on Monday by the report that the bones of an unknown man were found in the ruins of the barn. The skull, with the femur and other bones, were found, together with a short pipe, which must have been used by the victim. A strange dog remains at Mr. Campbell's house and will not be driven away, but no one can identify him.

The Jury Law.
At the opening of the trial of the boy Smith, at Orangeville for murder, a point raised by Mr. McCarthy during the selection of the jury is of some importance and interest to the profession. He contended that the Crown had no right to preemptorily challenge jurors, but only for cause, because the right to challenge preemptorily existed under a statute of the Dominion passed in 1869, and that after, if the Dominion Parliament had no power to regulate the jury law, there was no right to challenge, there being none in existence up to that time. This objection was noted, but overruled.

Gold for the Governor-General.
As the Governor-General and party were at the reception platform on Monday afternoon, Mr. Stout, who is well known as having lived in the mining district opposite Yale for a few seasons past with his little girl, whose mother died some years since, placed his Maggie and Nellie, aged 7 and 9, upon the platform, when they handed a note to be given to his Excellency. It stated that they were the youngest miners in British Columbia, and wanted to present a couple of specimens of gold to the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. His Excellency invited the little girls into the car, and spoke to them words of kindness, assuring them that he would have two pins made, and the gold presented would be the headings, one for the Princess, the other he would keep. The cars about to leave, he pressed these little hands and said, Farewell for the present.—Yale (B.C.) Sentinel.

Unprovoked Murder.
WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—An unprovoked murder took place in the Caledonia House, Main street, about half-past eight o'clock. Archie McDonald, who has been working at Rat Portage and has been working at Nova Scotia, was standing with Robert R. Garvin, locomotive engineer, who formerly ran engine 405 on the Louisvill and Nashville road. McDonald slapped Garvin on the face, and Garvin drew a revolver and shot him through the heart. McDonald said, "I am weak," walked four or five steps, and dropped dead. Corner Benson has charge of the body. An inquest will be held in the morning. As soon as the report reached the Police Station the police ran for the bridges and stopped all passengers, Garvin having jumped out of the Caledonia Hotel. P. C. Faulkner arrested the murderer stepping out of the Tecumseh House. A large crowd surrounded the constable and prisoner, but did not offer violence. To guard against possible violence he was placed in the Provincial jail. Garvin and McDonald were both under the influence of liquor. Garvin's revolver was loaded in all chambers when found. McDonald at the time worked in Termination Bar. He was a short, chunky man. Prisoner cannot be arraigned at the present session, the Grand Jury having been released from duty for two weeks, owing to pressure of business.

Corner Lots.
Corner lots in Toronto, Chicago, and other great Western cities are built upon and made useful. In Montreal they are an abomination. It is true that the civic ordinances insist upon their being fenced in, but that is not much, for the fences are at once seized upon by bill-stickers, who cover them with obnoxious placards, where a glaring announcement of a minstrel show or circus, and a warning to the unconverted in all stages of dilapidation, offend the eye of visitors and citizens alike. Just look at the lots on St. Catharine street, and the vacant lot opposite our palatial Windsor. Not quite vacant, however, for there is a strange abomination there in the shape of a Crystal Palace, the said Crystal being composed of a mound of carpenter work covered with strips of felt, and a coating of pitch. Not so much as a skylight is visible to break the gloom from the outside. Doubtless the crystal is all inside; but outside it has no form or comeliness, or glass, let alone crystal. Seriously speaking, do the owners of these lots pay any taxes? A corner lot is valuable in proportion to the capital expended on the other lots in the neighborhood. This should be taken into account in the assessments, and the owners of vacant lots made to pay, not only in strict proportion to the rest of the ratepayers but a good round sum in addition, to compensate for positive injury inflicted on the city by their usual disgraceful condition and hindrance to progress.—Montreal Standard.

A Reliable Witness.
Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion House, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly two years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, 'The Doctor.' It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally, who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver and Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Impurities of the blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters." (Sg.) JAS. WHITE.

Old Timber.
The so-called submarine forest at Hastings is a portion of the wood that once surrounded the Priory of Holy Trinity, founded in the time of Richard I. The Priory, being built on the low ground, was exposed to those inundations of the sea which have so ravaged the coast Eusea, and which eventually drove the monks to establish themselves at a new Priory further inland. The wood surrounding the Priory was part of the vast forest of Anderida, which must in Richard's day have come close up to Hastings. At low water, when the "forest" is left dry, and exposed to view, it is found to consist of a black looking deposit in which timber of a large size is found embedded. Through this the course of a thick hedge has been distinctly traced, and hazel nuts are occasionally found there, with their shells in a most perfect state. This subterranean timber is sound enough to be capable of being worked up into tinkets, which form ready articles of sale.—The Oracle.

NORWOOD.
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—The Rev. Mr. Carmichael, M. A., has been inducted to the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church of this village, to succeed the Rev. Mr. Fotheringham, M. A. The Rev. E. Torrance, of Peterborough, preached an eloquent and impressive sermon, and, together with the Rev. J. B. Ross, of Harwood, the Rev. F. Andrews, of Keene, and the Rev. J. Cameron, of Millbrook, took part in the induction services. A dinner was held in the basement of the church, and a tea in the evening, both of which were very successful.

Ready Wit.
History is full of examples of the success attained by quick-witted men. De Grammont, when a young man, waited on Cardinal Richelieu and surprised the great Minister in the somewhat undignified amusement of leaping on a wall. The Cardinal looked annoyed, a less ready-witted man would have apologized and retired. But De Grammont was wiser, and exclaimed, "I will wager that I can leap higher than your Eminence." The challenge was accepted. De Grammont was courtier enough to allow himself to be surprised, and the Cardinal was his friend for life. This readiness is confined to no rank of life. Horace Walpole gives an instance of it in a Paris fish-woman. The Dauphin having recovered from a serious illness, the "dames de la Halle" waited on the king (Louis XV.) to offer their congratulations. "What would have become of us had our Dauphin died?" said the spokeswoman, "we should have lost our all." "Yes," put in the second woman, who observed the king's brow darkened at this somewhat equivocal compliment to himself, "we should, indeed, have lost our all, for our king would never have survived his son's death." It was ready wit that enabled William the Conqueror to persuade his followers that his fall, on stepping ashore in England, was an omen of good instead of evil fortune. "I have taken 'selain' of this land," he exclaimed, rising with his hands full of earth, and the ready wit dispelled the superstitious fears which the accident had occasioned. The lower orders often possess a great readiness at repartee. Few retorts are better than that of the pavior to Hydenham, the great seventeenth century physician. The doctor was complaining of the manner in which the pavement was laid in front of his house. "And now you throw down earth to hide your bad work." "Well, doctor," replied the man, quietly, "mine is not the only bad work that the earth hides." Old biographers are fond of including a ready wit "among the virtues of the subject of their memoirs, indeed, folk, appear to have been looked upon in former days with a certain contempt. Dr. Johnson was very outspoken in his opinions regarding stupid people. Invading against a worthy but extremely foolish female acquaintance, a lady present retorted that she was a very good woman, adding, "And I trust we shall meet her in Paradise." "Madam," roared the exasperated doctor, "I never desire to meet fools anywhere."

Scorching a Skull.
There resides in this country, between Dubuque and Rockdale, a girl about seventeen years of age, who has no hair on the top of her head, and never will have. The cause of this is worth relating. About seventeen years ago a well-known physician of this city was called upon by a woman with an infant in her arms, and asked that the babe be treated for a peculiar ailment. The top of the child's head seemed to be coming off; in fact, the skull had already parted at the sutures, and was liable in a short time to be entirely loose. The physician made some inquiries, and learned the following facts: The father and mother had gone home from Dubuque one night with a bottle of liquor, and after drinking until they were stupid from the effects of fluid, laid down in front of the fireplace and went to sleep. The fire was burning brightly, and threw out a steady heat. The infant became restless during the night, but its movements did not arouse the mother. Finally the little one crept from its mother's arms and laid down near the hearth, with its head close to the fire. In this position it remained until morning, when the parents, having slept off the effects of their debauch, awoke, and picked up the infant, which was in a stupor, and so remained all that day and the next then only rallying a little and for a few moments. After a while the skin on the head began to peel off, and at length the entire upper portion of the cranium seemed to be loose. Then it was that the mother brought the child to Dubuque, and consulted a physician. After hearing her story the physician came to the conclusion that the child's head had been literally baked by the fire, before which it had slept that eventful night. He also discovered that the child's life was in danger, and that it would be impossible to prevent the upper portion of the skull from coming off. He took the child under treatment, and in a short time he removed a piece of skull three or four inches long and over two inches wide. This operation was very delicately performed, and in a few weeks a thin membrane formed, which protected the brain. The child lived and thrived, and to-day a young woman, although she will always be compelled to wear a wig. The parents feel under lasting obligations to the physician for saving their child, and to this day show their appreciation. The story seems almost incredible, but is entirely true.—Dubuque Herald.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.
The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,
Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.
Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very successful indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.
Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Stoughton, Mass., March 16th, 1880.
B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have earned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no lameness is seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.
Respectfully, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man or beast, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.
Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for least as well as man.
Price: Five bottles, or six bottles for $5. All drug stores have it, or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Ennsburgh Falls, Vt.

Lyman Sons & Co., Montreal, P. Q., Wholesale Agents.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine." In a few days, the most deeply seated eruptions, such as scurfs, roughness, and all blemishes, disappear, and the skin is left soft, smooth, and healthy. It is a most valuable remedy for all skin diseases, and is the most potent enemy to all skin diseases. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.
Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Starlin, and every year it is used more and more favorably to its widely increasing reputation. Any person, however deeply and long afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent, and in a short time the eruption will be entirely removed, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—The Rev. Mr. Carmichael, M. A., has been inducted to the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church of this village, to succeed the Rev. Mr. Fotheringham, M. A. The Rev. E. Torrance, of Peterborough, preached an eloquent and impressive sermon and, together with the Rev. J. S. Ross, of Han-wood, the Rev. F. Andrews, of Keene, and the Rev. J. Cameron, of Millbrook, took part in the induction services. A dinner was held in the basement of the church, and a tea in the evening, both of which were very successful.

Ready Wits.

History is full of examples of the success attained by quick-witted men. De Grammont, when a young man, waited on Cardinal Richelieu and surprised the great Minister in the somewhat undignified amusement of leaping on a wall. The Cardinal looked annoyed, a less ready-witted man would have apologized and retired. But De Grammont was wiser, and exclaimed, "I will wager that I can leap higher than your Eminence." The challenge was accepted. De Grammont was courtier enough to allow himself to be surprised, and the Cardinal was his friend for life. This readiness is confined to no rank of life. Horace Walpole gives an instance of it in a Paris fish-woman. The Dauphin having recovered from a serious illness, the "dames de la Halle" waited on the king (Louis XV.) to offer their congratulations. "What would have become of us had our Dauphin died?" said the spokeswoman, "we should have lost our all." "Yes," put in the second fish-woman, who observed the king's brow darkened at this somewhat equivocal compliment to himself, "we should, indeed, have lost our all, for our good king would never have survived his son's death." It was ready wit that enabled William the Conqueror to persuade his followers that his fall, on stepping ashore in England, was an omen of good instead of evil fortune. "I have taken 'selain' of this land," he exclaimed, rising with his hands full of earth, and the ready wit dispelled the superstitious fears which the accident had occasioned. The lower orders often possess a great readiness at rapier. Few reports are better than that of the pavior to Rydenham, the great seventeenth century physician. The doctor was complaining of the bad manner in which the pavement was laid in front of his house, adding, "And now you throw down earth to hide your bad work."

"Well, doctor," replied the man, quietly, "mine is not the only bad work that the earth hides." Old biographers are fond of including "a ready wit" among the virtues of the subject of their memoir, indeed, old folks, appear to have been looked upon in former days with extreme contempt. Dr. Johnson was very outspoken in his opinions regarding stupid people. Inveighing against a worthy but extremely foolish female acquaintance, a lady present reminded him that she was a very good woman, adding, "And I trust we shall meet her in Paradise." "Madam!" roared the exasperated doctor, "I never desire to meet fools anywhere."

Searching a Skull.

There resides in this country, between Dubuque and Rockdale, a girl about seventeen years of age, who has no hair on the top of her head, and never will have. The cause of this is worth relating. About seventeen years ago a well-known physician of this city was called upon by a woman with an infant in her arms, and asked that the babe be treated for a peculiar ailment. The top of the child's head seemed to be coming off; in fact, the skull had already parted at the sutures, and was liable in a short time to be entirely loose. The physician made some inquiries, and learned the following facts: The father and mother had gone home from Dubuque one night with a bottle of liquor, and after drinking until they were stupid from the effects of fluid, laid down in front of the fireplace and went to sleep. The fire was burning brightly, and threw out a steady heat. The infant became restless during the night, but its movements did not arouse the mother. Finally the little one crept from its mother's arms and laid down near the hearth, with its head close to the fire. In this position it remained until morning, when the parents, having slept off the effects of their debauch, awoke, and picked up the infant, which was in a stupor, and so remained all that day and the next then only rallying a little and for a few moments. After a while the skin on the head began to peel off, and at length the entire upper portion of the cranium seemed to be loose. Then it was that the mother brought the child to Dubuque, and consulted a physician. After hearing her story the physician came to the conclusion that the child's head had been literally baked by the fire, before which it had slept that eventful night. He also discovered that the child's life was in danger, and that it would be impossible to prevent the upper portion of the skull from coming off. He took the child under treatment, and in a short time he removed a piece of skull three or four inches long and over two inches wide. This operation was very delicately performed, and in a few weeks a thin membrane formed, which protected the brain. The child lived and thrived, and to-day a young woman, although she will always be compelled to wear a wig. The parents feel under lasting obligations to the physician for saving their child, and to this day show their appreciation. The story seems almost incredible, but is entirely true.—Dubuque Herald.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not bilter. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse,
when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bump be found.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Stoughton, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin
has been there, I cannot remember the exact month.
It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bump to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not irritate, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any long growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unequalled success to our knowledge, for best as well as man.

Prior to your bottle, or six bottles for $6. All drugs-gists have it for you, or we will send it to you free of charge. Prepared by the proprietors,

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL
MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine"
in a few days, and it comes to the surface, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, endured skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, are removed by the use of "Sulpholine". It seems to attack them, it destroys the animalcules which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—A FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor will there be anything else in the least degree comparable to its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Starlin, and every year it is used adds more and more favorably to its widely increasing reputation.
Anybody afflicted with skin diseases, and especially with Eczema, Scabies, and all kinds of eruptions, and Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the unsightly growth, and in a few days, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CON-TAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Another Blank.

The cells were empty last night, and there was no business in the Police Court this morning.

Water Lowered.

The water in the river has lowered about eighteen inches this morning, the stop logs at the locks having been taken out in order to facilitate the working of the drag in the harbour.

Charlotte Street Church.

The contract for the alterations and extension in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church having been given to Mr. J. W. Alford, the work has been begun, and the wall in the north end of the building, to which the addition is to be made, is now being taken out. The congregation will meet in the Sunday school room in the rear of the church until that edifice is ready to be occupied again.

Almost a Fire.

On Thursday afternoon an incipient fire in Messrs. Hall, Innes & Co.'s store was nipped in the bud. A lamp had been left in the basement, and it ignited some matting above it. The fire had been communicated to the floor before it was discovered. The smoke raising into the store above, and the odor from the burning matting, led to the discovery of the fire.

Pedestrianism.

The following letter appears in the Toronto Mail:

"Sir,—I hear that there are some parties in Port Hope willing to walk a race against Mr. Tom McNaughton, of Peterborough. If so, I will back him against any resident of that town in a race of from one to five miles, for $50 or $100 a side. If two of the parties who walked against him a short time since in said town, Edmunds and Piercy, would like to respond, I will bet an additional $70 that he can beat either one 25 yards in a mile, or will beat both in a five-mile walk, each man to walk 7½ miles on end, challenge to remain open one week.

Yours, &c.,
J. PRINGLE.

The Drag at Work.

The Government drag has been at work fourteen days in the harbour, and it has accomplished a great deal in that time. On the bottom of the river, where there was a large accumulation of slabs, &c., the gravel can now be seen, these obstructions to navigation having been removed. The large drag, which is a simple contrivance and works on the same principle as a common rake, weighs two tons and a half, and each trip it carries away with it wagon loads of slabs, sticks and all kinds of material, which is deposited near the Government boom in the lake, where the water is twenty-five or thirty feet deep. The work in the harbour is almost completed, and similar work will be done at the Ashburnham wharf and the Cemetery point. "It is a simple machine," said Mr. Stenden, who has charge of the work, "but there is nothing that would do the work better or even as well," and judging from what it has done there seems to be truth in the remark. There will be four or five feet of water in the harbour up the channel past the Golden Eye wharf, and she can now, even while the water is low, go where before she would have stuck fast.

Resolution of Condolence.

A resolution of condolence with the family of the late Mr. Samuel White, in their bereavement consequent upon his death, which was passed by Peterborough Lodge No. 111 I. O. O. F., of which he was a member, has been forwarded to them in the following letter:—

Peterborough, Oct. 17th, 1882.

Mrs. Samuel White.

DEAR MADAM, At the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O. O. F., on Sept. 26th, the following resolution was passed unanimously: Moved by Bro. J. H. Moore, sec. by Bro. R. Nisbet, That whereas it has pleased the Almighty in the exercise of his unerring wisdom, to remove from amongst us by the hand of death our late brother Samuel White, we the brethren of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, desire to place on record our feelings of regret at the demise of a brother who has been so long one of our number. How greatly we shall miss him in the councils of our gatherings, words are weak to express. He always was an earnest co-worker with his fellow members in all that pertained to the promotion of the prosperity of our Lodge and Order, and that we most respectfully desire to extend to his bereaved widow and family, our condolence in the loss by them of a faithful and affectionate husband, and a fond father, coupled with the hope that the great Comforter will bestow the only consolation possible under so imparible a loss, and that the Secretary be instructed to forward a copy of the above resolution to his widow and family.

J. R. SMITH,

Sec. Rec., Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I. O. O. F.

Another Failure.

Mr. Henry G. Vennor has been unfortunate in his weather predictions this season, and he has met with another failure. He predicted tempestuous weather for three days this week, and to-day is one of them—but there is no tempest, and the sky is free from clouds.

The Weather.

Last night the weather was clear and beautiful, and to-day it is superior. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate winds, fair to cloudy weather, and no decided change of temperature.

A Suspicious Circumstance.

The Chief Constable was informed this forenoon that an outfit of male apparel had been found on the bank of the river at the end of Wolf street. Proceeding to the place indicated near Mr. Matthews' pork packing establishment, the Chief found and took possession of a complete outfit, with the exception of the trousers. There were two coats, one of a dark drab, two shirts, one of them blue, a vest, a pair of socks and a coloured cotton handkerchief. One of the coats was daubed with paint, and had evidently been worn by a painter. The men working on the Golden Eye, which is employed on the river with the Government drag, saw a medium sized man come down to the river's edge at this spot on Thursday afternoon about three o'clock and commence to take off his clothing. The boat passed on, and when it returned, in about ten minutes after, the man had disappeared and the clothes were lying on the bank. One of the men says he had a bag with him in which he carried something, but this bag has not been seen. The clothes left on the shore are much worn and were the property of a labouring man. The question is, why were the clothes left there? There are two answers given. One is that the man left them on the bank and went into the river where he still remains, and the other is that he only changed his clothes there and left the old ones behind. The boat hands, who watched his actions, incline to the former explanation. A gentleman says that he saw a man on Wednesday looking for one of the railway offices, who was under the influence of liquor and somewhat delirious, and he recognizes the clothes found as those worn by this man.

Giving Medicines to Animals.

Prof. D. D. Slade presents some valuable rules for administering medicines to animals, in the November American Agriculturist.

In giving a drench to a horse, a horn should be used in preference to a bottle, for fear of breakage. Standing at the right shoulder, raise the head with the left hand under the jaw, and with the right hand pass the lip of the horn into the side of the mouth, and empty its contents, the head being kept up until they are swallowed. If the animal is violent, place a twitch upon the nose, to be held by an assistant; or if he refuses to open the mouth, the tongue may be gently held to one side, the horn introduced, quickly emptied, and the tongue liberated at once. Under all circumstances the greatest gentleness must be exercised. Nothing can be gained by impatience or by harsh treatment.

For the ox or cow, liquid medicine is preferable, given from the bottle rather than the horn. The bottle is more manageable, and one is less tempted to use it to pry open the jaws, and perhaps thus lacerate the tongue also. Elevate the head only enough to prevent the liquid running from the mouth. The bottle should not be pushed back far into the throat. The tongue should be left free. The following is a very neat and efficient method: If standing, place the left side of the animal against a wall, and standing on the right side, seize hold of the upper jaw by passing the left arm over the head and bending the latter far round to the right, slightly elevating it. With the right hand, pour the contents of the bottle into the mouth at its angle, using the least possible force.

Medicinal substances can be readily given to the cat, after properly securing the animal. An efficient method is as follows: Grasp the hind legs above the hocks, between the little and ring fingers of each hand, the fore extremities above the elbow, between the other two fingers, and place the thumbs against the posterior-lateral parts of the head at the base of the ears. Being thus firmly held, the medicine, either solid or liquid, may be given from a common spoon.

There have been a large number of visitors at the Corn Exchange during the past couple of days to examine specimens of cereal and mineral wealth from the vicinity of Edmonton. The articles include several varieties of wheat, both in the ear and separate, and compare favorably with anything grown in Ontario. A sample of winter wheat is particularly good. It was sown early in September of last year, and did not germinate until the spring of '82. On the 1st of May it appeared above ground, and was ripe for the sickle on the 14th of August. There is a specimen of winter bearded harvested on the 29th of August. It has a fine stalk, and the heads are well filled. A sample of six-rowed barley is also very fine. A head of oats measuring fifteen inches in length, and containing 54½ grains, is also shown, besides vetches, potatoes, etc. Amongst the mineral specimens is an iron boulder taken from the Turner farm, near Edmonton. A sample of soft coal, mined near the same place, attracted probably more attention than anything else. It will, no doubt, make an excellent fuel, and there appears no reason why it should not be used for smelting the iron found in the vicinity. The specimens of soil contain the elements of fertility, and are capable of producing a luxuriant vegetable growth. The specimens were collected by Mr. Turner, of Hamilton, during his visit to the North-West. It is the intention to forward the exhibit to Montreal shortly, to give the citizens there an opportunity of seeing what can be done in the way of raising grain the North-West.—Mt.

N. C. POLSON & Co., druggists, &c., Kingston, express themselves as surprised at the sale of Burdock Blood Bitters in that locality, where patent medicines are hard to introduce, but, say they, "the gross has ordered a few days since, will convince you that the demand is good, and that it is giving satisfaction to our customers."

CHURCH.

KINCALD'S MILL BURNED.—On Thursday morning about 2.30 Mr. John Kincald's steam saw and shingle mills were discovered to be on fire. The flames were fanned by a strong north west wind, so that nothing could be done towards saving the buildings, which, with all their contents, were completely destroyed in a very short time. Mr. Kincald's loss is about $6,500, which is only partly covered by $1,400 insurance. A number of men are thrown out of employment. It is supposed the fire was the work of an incendiary, as when first seen it was at the north end of the buildings, that is, the opposite end to where the engine-room was situated. Two or three buildings were set on fire by the falling embers, but fortunately were noticed in time and no damage ensued.

NOW!

Now is the time to make changes in your UNDERWEAR! Don't put it off until you get chilled, but do it right NOW, thereby saving your health, and maybe your life. It is a mistaken idea that some people have to put off as long as possible or just, when the thermometer goes down below zero to put on their underwear. Be prepared in time, and when the chilled northern blast comes you are safe. Another word of advice, if you have not yet laid in your stock of underwear, half-hose, gloves, mitts and everything needed in your wardrobe, go to T. DOLAN & CO. at once, where you will be served right.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

LINDSAY.

THE TOWN HALL.—The Post says that on Wednesday Mr. Bradburn commenced work at the town hall to put up the proposed addition. Mr. McMaster, of Peterborough, will have charge of the work. A number of workmen will be put on at once, and the building pushed up speedily.

THE GAS WORKS.—The greatest activity is seen around the gas works in the hurry to have the work advanced before the cold weather sets in. A force of twelve men are now erecting the iron gas-holder, and tier after tier of plates are rapidly rivetted together. The brick work of the generating house and offices is going up quickly and a large quantity of the manufacturing plant, purifiers, etc., has been delivered at the works. Everything is being put together solidly, and when finished Lindsay will have the newest as well as the best constituted gas works in the province.

THE PAPER MILL MACHINERY.—During last week the machinery for the paper mill which has been for some time expected arrived by a special freight train. Nine carloads carrying a weight of 80 tons came in over the Midland and by the kindness of the railway authorities was allowed to be unloaded on the track opposite the mill. The machinery received includes the four best engines, and the paper machine proper, besides an additional 20-horse power engine, the latter from Peterborough. The freight on the plant was nearly $2000, and a duty of $2700 was extracted upon crossing the line. The machines were built at Brattleboro, Vermont, by Bartlett & Co., and are said to be the finest yet turned out of the works. Things at the mill are rather brisk, the work of fitting up the plant being superintended by Mr. McKay, although the labour is much lessened by everything having been prepared for the reception of the machines beforehand. A few weeks will now see the mill in operation, and the machines in working order will be well worth looking at.

CAMPBELLFORD.

THE WOOLLEN MILL.—The Herald says that new machinery has arrived for the woollen mill, and the fifth and top story of the mammoth establishment is now being stocked. In a short time the whole building from top to bottom will be a busy scene of moving machinery.

FIRE IN SEYMOUR.—By an oversight a notice of the fire, which destroyed Mr. John Morrison's property, near Burnside, Seymour, on Saturday, the 14th inst., was omitted in our columns. In some unfortunate way fire got into his barn and stables about half-past four in the afternoon, and destroyed the buildings and their contents. The contents included between 600 and 700 bushels of grain, some hay and straw, two sleighs, a cutter, a cart, the harness, a number of poultry, and the tools and many small articles generally found about a farmer's premises.

BERMONT.

A VETERAN DEAD.—The veterans of the war of 1812-15 are passing away, and another, Mr. Conrad Dufosse, of this township, has departed from this life, having died on the 26th of October, aged 85 years, 10 months, and 28 days. Mr. Dufosse took part in repelling the invasion at the period, and has for the past few years received a pension from the Dominion Government.

The Recent Swimming Match.

Captain W. Andrews, writing to his father in this city concerning his recent contest with the Maltese swimmer, says they started from the wharf at the word "go." The captain took the lead at once, making one of his very best dives. He was able to maintain the lead all the way out, and at the turning point was fully 25 feet ahead. On the return, however, his want of proper training began to tell against him, and with the waves dashing in his face he was obliged to swallow mouthful after mouthful and soon he became waterlogged. This, together with the coldness of the water, caused him to succumb, and he hailed the boat. When taken up he was over 20 feet ahead. This is the first time that Captain Andrews was ever defeated, and it is not to be wondered at when it is known that he arose from a sick bed to compete in the race. He intends to go into training, and if the Maltese swimmer is at Toronto he will no doubt have to compete with Captain Andrews again. —Kingston News.

THE PRUSSIAN ELECTION.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—The result of the elections for the Prussian Diet is that the Conservatives and Free-Conservatives have gained twelve seats, principally at the expense of the National Liberals. The representation of other parties is the same as at last session.

FRENCH ANARCHISTS.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—A semi-official note referring to the events at Monceau-le-Mines and Lyons says the Government is watching the proceedings of an organized association, whose head chiefs remain abroad. There is now good ground for undue alarm, as the authorities are firmly resolved to repress energetically illegal acts, and everywhere to maintain public order. The Government has means at its disposal to do this.

LAND LEAGUE FUNDS.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Lady Florence Dixie publishes a pamphlet seeking to prove that there is a large discrepancy and balance unaccounted for in the total of the Land League funds. She adjusts the victims of this great modern swindle to raise a protesting voice and to loudly demand where the money has gone. She calls upon all true Irishmen in Ireland and America to unite to give their country glory, prosperity and greatness, and no longer to assist in dragging her down to the chasm of degradation and ruin. She urges Irishmen to drive from their midst self-seeking adventurers and upstarts.

PALMER'S BODY FOUND.

SUEZ, Oct. 27.—The remains of a human body found near the bodies of Captain Gill and Lieutenant Channing, are believed to be those of Prof. Palmer.

THE ARREARS BILL.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Irish Parliamentary party to-day passed a resolution in favor of amending the Arrears of Rent bill.

EVIDENCE AGAINST ARABI.

CAIRO, Oct. 27.—Borelli Bey, the public prosecutor, states that the massacres at Tantah began the moment Abdallah Pasha's aide-de-camp appeared and declared that the annihilation of the Christians was in accordance with Arabi's wishes. This assertion was made on evidence.

SUBMARINE CABLES.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The conference sitting in Paris will submit to the governments represented a draft of an international treaty for the protection of submarine cables.

CABINET MEETING MINUTES.

CAIRO, Oct. 27.—The minutes of a Cabinet meeting held before the war, found among Arabi's papers, show that when Colonel Derwish Pasha, the Turkish Commissioner, was present, decided to meet the British with armed resistance.

FATAL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

DETROIT, Oct. 27.—About 12:30 o'clock this morning a fatal accident occurred on the Canada Southern Railway near here. A party of young men belonging to this city, who had been attending the Wyandotte meeting, started back home on a hand-car, and were run into by a train going at full speed. The car was thrown from the track and the occupants were instantly killed. The bodies were severely injured. The bodies were picked up and taken to Trenton.

THE SCOVILLE CASE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—In the case of Mrs. Scoville to-day, her son testified that he believed his mother was insane because she persisted in notions that she could write books and lecture successfully, and that she ran a boarding house where she was losing money. Mr. Harper testified that her mother told her that Dr. Amnerman was the most lovable man that ever lived, and died for love of her. Witness' husband, who was apparently under the influence of liquor, made a disturbance in Court, saying that he was there to protect his wife. The jury on Mrs. Scoville's insanity trial returned a sealed verdict to-night.

THE SCOVILLE CASE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—In the case of Mrs. Scoville to-day, her son testified that he believed his mother was insane because she persisted in notions that she could write books and lecture successfully, and that she ran a boarding house where she was losing money. Mr. Harper testified that her mother told her that Dr. Amnerman was the most lovable man that ever lived, and died for love of her. Witness' husband, who was apparently under the influence of liquor, made a disturbance in Court, saying that he was there to protect his wife. The jury on Mrs. Scoville's insanity trial returned a sealed verdict to-night.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1882.

AN IMPORTANT (?) DISCOVERY.

Mr. MOWAT affects to have great confidence in the Privy Council, and ventures to "think" that a judgment from that source on the boundary question would be accepted as final. We have no proof whatever of this. The Privy Council have no authority to decide the question, and in submitting it to them we should have no guarantee that Quebec would abide by the decision, if favourable to Ontario, any more than in the case of the arbitrators. (Globe, Oct. 26th.)

The Privy Council have no authority to decide the question. Indeed? When did the Globe make this important discovery? It must have been very recently, because this is the first, or nearly the first, we have heard of it. Mr. Mowat apparently knew nothing of it when he prepared his wonderful memorandum of November 1st, 1881, and the despatches of the Lieut. Governor of the 31st December and 18th of February last. While taking objection therein to being compelled to go before the Privy Council, we defy the closest reader thereof to find a single sentence which can by any possibility be construed as questioning the authority of the Privy Council. Nay, more, Mr. Mowat, in the correspondence to which we are referring, admits by implication that the Privy Council has the necessary authority. In paragraph 16 of his despatch of the 27th January, 1882, to the Lieut. Governor, the Secretary of State said: "As in 1872 the Government of the day was anxious to submit the question to the then highest tribunal, so now His Excellency's present advisers would readily consent to use the influence of the Dominion Government with that of Manitoba to obtain a submission of the whole question as to the boundary to the Supreme Court of Canada under the 2nd section of the Act of 1875, establishing the court. Now what does Mr. Mowat say to this? He says, in the Lieut. Governor's despatch of the 19th February: "Your despatch proposes that Ontario should abandon the award, and submit the question now to the Supreme Court of Canada for adjudication."

A great and obvious difference between a submission to the Supreme Court now, and a direct and immediate reference to the judicial committee of the Privy Council is, that the former course would create years of further delay and involve great additional labour and expense, and without any advantage, as the final decision would be by the Privy Council. That was the position of Mr. Mowat last February a position which means that were the case taken before the Supreme Court it would be certain to be carried to the Privy Council by one of the parties, no matter what the decision might be, and therefore it would be better to go direct to the Privy Council, who alone could give a final decision, but not one word, direct or indirect, about the Privy Council having "no authority" or that legislation would be required to give it authority.

But that is not all. By reference to Mr. Mowat's previous despatch, we learn that his Government would be willing, with the concurrence of the Legislature, to submit the matter to the Privy Council upon certain conditions. Now what were these conditions? Were they that the Legislature interested should take such steps as would render the decision of the Privy Council legal and binding when given? NO! Not a whisper about its having "no authority." The conditions were of a very different kind, and were such and such only as would increase the patronage of the Ontario Government, as is amply proved by the fact that Mr. Mowat was willing to go to the Privy Council "on condition of consent being given by the Dominion Government and that of Manitoba, and by the Parliament of Canada and the Legislature of Manitoba, to just arrangement for the governments of the territory in the meantime," which "just arrangements" we are told in a resolution subsequently moved in the Legislature by Mr. Mowat, meant "that pending the reference, the territory, its population and lands shall be subject in all respects to the laws of this Province, including the jurisdiction of its Legislature and Government."

Clearly, if the Privy Council, as the Globe now alleges, has no authority, Mr. Mowat was ignorant of it last March, and as ignorant of the law on this question as Mr. Crooke evidently is as to what is going on in his own department. If the Globe had taken a contract to prove the Ontario Government ast of "incompetent," it could not fulfil its contract better than it is doing by the way in which it is coming to the rescue of its members. Then the Globe says it has "no proof" that Mr. Mowat is right when he thinks that a judgment from that source "would be accepted as final." Has the Globe forgotten the following resolution which was passed by the House of Commons last session?

"That in the opinion of this House it is expedient that the western and northern boundaries of the Province of Ontario should be finally settled by a reference to, and an authoritative decision by either the Supreme Court of Canada, or the judicial committee of the Privy Council in Great Britain, or by the Supreme Court in the first place, subject to a final submission to the judicial committee of the Privy Council of Ontario may choose, that such decision should be obtained either on appeal in a friendly action brought for the purpose, or by reference to the said courts, or either, or both of them, by Her Majesty, under the powers conferred upon her by the Imperial and Canadian Parliaments, as the Government of Ontario may prefer, and that the said reference be based on the evidence collected and printed with any additional documentary evidence—if such there is—and that pending the reference, the administration of the lands shall be entrusted to a joint commission appointed by the Governments of Canada and Ontario."

Has it forgotten that this resolution was passed by the House of Commons by a vote of 116 to 44, among the majority being every member of the present Government and every supporter of the present Government then in the House, several of Mr. Blake's own followers, and every one of the representatives of Quebec present, except five, and that at the general election which has intervened, the party which passed this resolution has been sustained by no doubtful majority? Surely with this record before him Mr. Mowat has good reason for "thinking" that a decision by the Privy Council would be accepted as final, and the public for "thinking" that the real cause of opposition to its immediate reference to the Privy Council is the fact that the Dominion proposes managing the territory until a final decision is obtained, by a joint commission instead of handing the "patronage" involved over to Mowat & Co. Patronage killed Garfield, and for patronage Mr. Mowat threatens war upon the Dominion. Is it not about time that the electors act upon patronage—the curse of American politics both south and north of the lakes?

THE EAST SIMCOE VICTORY.

The following extracts from the Orillia Packet and the Evening Canadian (the daily edition of the Irish Canadian) throw some light upon the way a "famous victory" for the Mowat government was obtained in East Simcoe. The Packet says:—

"On the eve of the election, emissaries were sent up and down every concession line where Catholic voters were to be found, with a letter purporting to come from Archbishop Lynch, saying that the Mowat Government must be supported. At the same time Mr. Blaven was denounced to his constituents as a tool of the Orangemen, pledged to support the Orange Bill, and a renegade deserving their severest condemnation. Near home, where Mr. Blaven is well known and where there was opportunity to counteract these slanders, little harm was done, as was manifest by the splendid majority he polled in Orillia and Matchedash; but in Mowat and the farther portions of the Riding there was no time to apply the antidote, and the poison did its work."

And the Canadian:—
"The position of Catholics in politics, then, is this: One party will not nominate them where they have a chance of success, and when the other party does so to nominate them, letters of marque are obtainable, and privateers fitted out on behalf of a man like Mr. Drury, who denounced and opposed a proposal to aid the starving Catholics of Ireland during the famine. Therefore it follows that, no matter how bigoted and unworthy a Grit Covenanter may be, he may expect high Catholic influence as against a Catholic opponent. Vanity in high places, political ignorance, which is not blarney, are arrayed against the latter, with Protestant bigotry thrown in as a make-weight. It thus becomes a question whether Catholic representation is worth struggling for or not. When the sheep dog turns wolf it is better for the sheep to retire to the master's fold. We at least say plainly: for it is a time for plain speech—that, unless circumstances improve, we would advise no more Catholic candidates to run a gauntlet between the devil of Protestant intolerance, and the deep sea of Catholic intolerance."

It made her sick at first, but it began to show its effect in a marked improvement, and two bottles cured her. Yours, etc., A. J. Huyck, Deposit, N. Y.

TIGER KILLED IN JAVA.

The following is a translation of an extraordinary report, published in the Jawa Rada, the chief paper of Batavia:—"Yesterday (July 2), so says the Mutaram, a newspaper at Djodjakarta, there took place here the announced clearance among the tigers belonging to His Highness the Sultan in order to make room for a fresh supply when the new tiger pens will be built. At about ten a. m. the Sultan, the Resident Military Commander, Assistant Resident and other spectators appeared behind the Kraton and seated themselves in a grand stand constructed for the purpose. Thousands of Javanese flocked to the spot to see the combats. Soon a fight between a royal tiger and a buffalo together in a pen was commenced. The tiger was several times tossed into the air and then gored to death by the buffalo, which had been made as furious as possible by peppered water, burning nettles and red-hot iron bars. The combat lasted fully two hours. Afterwards began the rampoken or tiger fight. On the plain alongside the Kraton stood Javanese armed with stout spears fifteen to eighteen feet long, drawn up in rows one behind the other, forming altogether an extraordinary large square. The two foremost rows lay kneeling, the two hindmost stood erect. In the centre of this open space were thirteen straw-roofed wooden pens, in each of which was a tiger. At a given signal a musical instrument called bes gamelan began playing a martial air to slow measure. Three tiger keepers then step out of the ranks and approach the cage. Two of them bear each a burning torch, with which they set fire to the straw. The tiger, frightened by the shower of sparks, is then forced out into the open space, but knows not whither to turn. It moves around and seeks whether it can find an outlet, until it endeavors either by a desperate spring to get away over the human wall which keeps it enclosed or tries to creep through underneath. But it falls pierced by the many spears which have struck it. It utters a savage cry, which is taken up by the spectators and shouts of the multitude. In silent agony it strikes around furiously with its mighty paws. The shafts of the spears often break like glass. In such cases a single blow might cost the life of any unfortunate within reach of its claws. It is afterwards killed in due form. This scene took place in the same way thirteen times successively with as many tigers, the festivity closing at two p. m. Only a few accidents occurred. One soldier, by ill-luck, received a spear thrust when combating with a tiger, and was severely wounded in the leg. A native resident of the place, one of the tigers broke through the square and was killed outside it, after causing great commotion among the spectators. An affecting scene presented was that of a large tigeress bringing forth a cub while she was being slain."

It is wonderful the tricks to which men will resort in order to impose upon unsuspecting mortals. The latest scheme to rob and defraud has been successfully developed in Prince Edward County. Some time ago a band of Evangelists arrived there and proceeded to Christianize the community. They seemed to be devout earnest men, and won the esteem of the people. They lived with parties who had comfortable homes, and prayed in true revival style. They addressed each other as "Brother So-and-so," and were constantly in visitation among the wealthy, and soon became conversant with all the inside of the place. One of the converts, a man of 35 to 40, being "a little short, you know," they worked upon the consciences of their admirers by saying, "When you give to the poor you lend to the Lord." They suddenly disappeared, however, with well filled wallets, and about the same time the carriage of an influential gentleman was missing. The clerical fellows were confidence men and frauds. People should be very chary about receiving itinerant who come to them under the guise of Christianity.—Kingston Whig.

A FIRST ABSENCE.

Oh, where is the wee bit lassie gone
That sat on her mother's knee,
And talked with the quaver and earnest voice,
Of her golden summers three;
The wee bit lassie with the dimpled cheek,
And the love glint in her eye?

She's away to the shores of the summer sea
Where the "wee-wee" breeze blows,
Where the morning light shines soft and bright,
And the purple sunsets glow,
And over the sand the waves dance
To an ocean's sob and low.

I hear not the merry sound of her feet
As she romps here and there—
No childish prattle gleams my heart
In the morning air;
And drowsy I sit in a silent room
And gaze on an empty chair.

And the glances come with the saddened note
Of the low-toned village bell,
But now we have come into my arms,
Where a wee lassie long to dwell—
With an eager look, and a fearless tongue,
And an eager tale to tell.

There's mirth in the golden folds to-day
As the reaper blades his sheaves;
There's joyance borne on the balmy breeze
That whistles among the leaves;
And the swallows twitter at evening
Love's message under the eaves.

But I cannot join the laugh that rings
Over the fragrant clover leas,
And heedless I hear the whistling notes
That answer from tree to tree;
For my heart is away to my wee lassie
By the shores of the summer sea.

But she'll come again to her bonnie home,
Where the roses scent the air,
She'll climb again on her mother's knee
For kisses, a score and more;
And she'll fill my heart with a greater love,
My life with a fonder care.

And day by day, as we hasten on
To the shores of life's decline,
The bloom shall ripen upon her cheek,
Her eyes shall brighten shine;
And our joy shall live for ever in her love,
Her father's darling and mine.

NATIVE FORESTS.

While there is much said and written in regard to forest tree cultivation, we find very little attention paid to the preservation of native forests. In the timber sections we have been too busy trying to get rid of the timber to think of any method of preservation. Yet in some sections that were formerly timbered there is now left to be a scarcity of timber, particularly of that kind which is useful in manufacture. The only remedy mentioned is the planting of forest trees for this purpose, but this is a work that we are hardly prepared for in this state, and it is probable that only necessity will compel artificial planting. The time seems too long to wait for an investment of this kind to begin to pay, and there are very few who will undertake the work. At least very little as yet has been done in this line. At the Agricultural college an experimental arboretum of four acres has been growing a few years; and a farmer in Monroe county has this year set 1,500 black-walnut trees with a view to grow them for timber.

Would it not be well to study more closely the possibility of improving the timber lands that still remain. The woods still standing contain a vast amount of material which is susceptible of development in far less time than would be required for the planting and growth of new forests, the neglect of which furnishes a striking proof of the general ignorance of forest culture. The timber is ruthlessly cut from many places that are nearly useless for cultivation after and would be worth far more for growing timber than for any other purpose, more beautiful to the eye and more profitable. In many instances the native woods have been so much neglected or so much injured as to be just redemption, yet there are still large areas of forests and smaller groves and wood-lots now yielding no revenue which might be developed into timber forests of very great value and at the same time yield an annual crop of firewood in the process.

Out on the dead and leafy timber for firewood, preserve the small growing trees that are of the best varieties for timber. It will be necessary for the best care of the forest to keep stock from running in it, as they will totally destroy all small growth. In almost every tract of woodland may be found more or less of trees of the best varieties for timber mingled with a great variety that are worthless or only fit for fuel. In many cases they have been neglected and cannot be improved, but in most cases intelligent work in thinning and pruning will be followed by profitable result.—Detroit Post.

An Irish Cabin.

A correspondent writes to a contemporary:—"Pat's habitation cannot be strictly termed palatial, but he always has a full house, as his family resembles one of the ten tribes. How they are stowed away when the curfew tolls is a mystery; the old saying, 'herring in a barrel,' is, however, the solution. The cabin, well termed, consists of walls of rock, with a rush or straw roofing, and wooden rafters. Outside, as well as inside, is heaped up peat—Providence's great boon—which is cut from the neighbouring bog with a spade which has a rectangular foot to it. Entering Pat's domicile, you see the seven ages of man; the olive branches teasing the pig, the king of the cabin, which lies stretched out before the peat fire—ambition of shot duration. The girls, bright, witty, and what the wise man says is 'more precious than rubies,' virtuous, with complexions many a countess would envy, are busily engaged in domestic affairs; the father, sitting on a stool in the chimney-corner, clothed not like 'Dives,' smokes his pipe, and, after a little awakening, will interest you the livelong day. Close by is the mother with the spinning wheel—ages, it will be seen, has soon marked her—(the beauty of the Irish girl is proverbial; but when illness attacks them, on account of poor living when young, the sore and yellow leaf soon arrives). In one corner of the cabin is placed the bed, over which hangs the crucifix, and in another corner is placed Ireland's wealth—the potato; on the rafters the cock's shrill clarion awakens one as to the whereabouts of the farmyard. To say that the Irish nation is naturally idle is to show one's ignorance; but when, unlike other portions of the United Kingdom, there are no manufactures, or next door to it, what must be the consequence? In a race between representatives of the three kingdoms, I would venture to remark that the Irish would be far off the winning post. To be just, the Irish can work as well as anybody, are talented beyond the average, and kind to a fault."

New Forests.

Several small prairies, which were common in the Wabash Basin at the time of its first settlement, have been transformed into woodland, and the area of the forest has increased of late years. Extensive woods of oak and hickory, more than 80 ft. high, and with trunks nearly 2 ft. through, are now growing upon what was once prairie within the memory of some of the present owners of the land.

THE Montreal Guardian states that the Burrard Inlet Fishing Co. made a shipment of salted herrings to Australia, as per permit, and the herrings turned out splendidly, and the result was an excellent profit. How Many Tons has a Cat?

This was one of the questions asked a certain class in school No. 3 during examination week and as simple as the question appears to be none could answer it. In the emergency the principal, Mr. Branda, was applied for a solution, and he also, with a good-natured smile, gave it up, when one of the teachers, determined not to be beaten on so simple a question, hit on the idea of sending out a delegation of boys to scour the neighborhood for a cat. When this idea was announced the whole class wanted to join in the hunt. Several boys went out, and having been successful soon returned with a Thomas. A returning board was at once appointed and the vote counted, when to the relief of all it was learned that a cat possesses eighteen tons, ten on the front feet and eight on the hind feet. The board of education should feel proud at having in their employ so determined and practical a teacher. After the question was solved Thomas was allowed to depart, much to his satisfaction.—Peterborough Press.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanity and it by magic; while old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them, and destroy the animalcules which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—A FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent remedy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Starlin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

EUREKA, Nevada, Oct. 30.—An accumulation of gas in the Eureka consolidated shaft exploded yesterday with a tremendous noise, which was heard miles away. The shaft was shattered to the bottom, 75 feet. The explosion tore away the eastern side of the works, hurling hundreds of fragments a quarter of a mile away. They fell like hail on the roofs of houses. The eastern portion of the Company's new large works were demolished, and an immense roof crashed in. There was intense excitement until it was ascertained that no lives were lost. Nobody was injured. Damage, $25,000.

FLOODS IN THE TYROL.
LONDON, Oct. 28.—There are serious floods again in the Tyrol, and traffic on several of the railways is suspended. All the streams in the district are alarmingly increasing in volume, the dykes are giving way in several villages, and it is feared a catastrophe more terrible than that which lately visited the Tyrol is impending. The commissioners who are enquiring into the damage done by the last floods are imprisoned by the floods at Kirchbach. The distress in the flooded districts is beyond description; people are taking to flight destitute of everything. The inhabitants of some of the smaller towns are talking of emigrating to America.

How he Lost his Nose.

James Rodgers is an express carter, and while standing near his horse and wagon yesterday, in front of the Notre Dame Hospital, he met with rather a strange, and at the same time uncommon, accident. Rodgers was watching the intelligent face of his horse, and the latter was also gazing intently on the beaming countenance of his master, and being hungry, imagined that he saw a tempting morsel in the shape of his master's nose, and at once made a grab for that organ and succeeded in biting it completely off. Rodgers recovered it from the over sensible animal, and taking it into the Hospital, it was soon replaced by means of stitches and sticking plaster. The carter says that horse is now for sale.—Montreal Post.

Disease in the School-Room.

It is a sorrowful fact, and shameful to the management, that our public schools are frequently the chief agencies for the spread of epidemic and contagious disease, and thus is planted the seeds of disease while cultivating the intellectual faculties. In many country districts the school-room is used every Sabbath for public worship, and on revival occasions every night during the week. Immediately after such services the doors and windows are closed and the confined bad air shut in to poison the children and their teachers the next morning. Hence the number of pale faces and the frequency of headaches in school children. Even in the best regulated schools the great fault, in spite of all protests and warnings, is the crowding of pupils in rooms where ventilation is a mockery.—Dr. J. C. Reeves, Pres. of the W. Va. Med. Soc.

We pride ourselves in having the nobbiest range of Fall Suitings and Overcoatings in Town. Inspection invited, at Andrew McNeil's, opposite Geo. Stethem's Hardware Store.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND POLITICS.

Mr. G. W. Ross, of Middlesex, was here last week inspecting our Model School. Mr. Ross is a first-class inspector, being a man of education, and one no doubt who does his best to bring these schools, instituted for the training of teachers, up to the highest possible standard. We have no fault to find with him on this score. But we remember the last time Mr. Ross was in this Riding, he was stumping it in the interest of the Reform candidate, and during his perambulation through the country, he had one opposed to him whose ability he acknowledged, and one who made a sad havoc with the Model School inspector's nicely arranged figures. Mr. Ross did not like this very well, and took special pains to impress upon his auditors the impropriety of a government official taking an active part in elections. Grasping their cure from this, the local Reform speakers enlarged upon the theme to an unlimited extent, making out its subject an awful crime, our M. P. P. being particularly horrified at the bare thought of such impropriety. Mr. Ross was not a government official. Oh no. When taxed with being a Model School Inspector, he stated he had resigned, and when he himself was not present at a meeting to deny that he held a position under the Ontario Government, his friends most emphatically did the denying for him. Perhaps Mr. Ross had resigned; but it is only about eight months since he was here on the stump, and if he resigned last December, how is it that he is on a tour of inspection now? The answer must place Mr. Mowat in a rather peculiar position.—the gentleman who did not believe in the Ontario government getting mixed up with Dominion politics. It places him and his government in the position of receiving the resignation of an official—for we are not so uncharitable as to think Mr. Ross and his political friends here were not telling the truth when they said he did not hold the position he was charged with holding,—we say, it places the Mowat government in the position of accepting the resignation of an official who has some ability as a platform speaker, in order that he may stump a constituency where an election is pending, in the interests of the Reform candidate, with the assurance that his situation will be kept warm for him until his duties in this respect are done, and handed back to him,—who knows but with an increased salary,—as a reward for his faithful services. Truly the ways of the Mowat government are wonderful, and their ideas and those of Reformers generally, of official improprieties, most extraordinary! It is a gross crime for a Conservative official to open his mouth, for the purpose of saying a word in favor, or to cast a vote in defence of his principles, but it is a very right and proper thing for a Reformer to do. And in the latter case, especially while a Grit government is in power in Ontario, if it should become necessary to hoodwink his opponents, said Reformer can be permitted to resign his position, with the full assurance that it will be ready for him when he again wishes to take it up.—Cobourg Sentinel Star.

OTTAWA.

The New Dominion of Canada $4 notes will soon be put into circulation. The centre bears a vignette of the Governor-General.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD has purchased the handsome residence of the late Mr. Thos. Reynolds, known as Earncliffe. It is beautifully situated on the banks of the Ottawa River, halfway between the centre of the city and New Edinburgh.

A PETITION is in circulation, and being numerously signed, requesting that the sentence against young Moreland, a lad who was recently convicted of assaulting a young school-girl on the Richmond Road, be commuted. The boy in question belongs to a very respectable family, and according to the evidence does not seem to have been more to blame than his companion, a much older boy, who escaped sentence.

A SAMPLE of a new implement, which it is said will shortly be adopted for use in the British army, has just been received by the Department of Militia in the city. It consists of an implement about two feet in length, which comprises a strong steel spade, a hammer, a claw and an axe, all of the best quality of steel.

SIR ALEXANDER CAMPBELL is building a $12,000 private residence on the corner of Metcalfe and Lisgar streets.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER estimates that this season there will be a surplus of 2,000,000 bushels of grain for exportation in Europe, and that next year that quantity will be quadrupled.

DROWNS.—Mr. William Holt, senior member of the firm of Holt, Son & Co., private bankers of this town, was found drowned on Saturday morning in Kempenfelt Bay. It has been his practice for years to take a bath every morning until the ice forms, but as he was fully dressed when discovered and was only three feet from the shore in two feet of water it is assumed that he fell in in a fit of some kind. A post-mortem will likely be held.

Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1882.

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE

No. 12. As set forth in fact No. 1, the expenditure for Agricultural and Mechanical Institutes increased from $74,927 in 1871 to $105,387 in 1881,—or an increase of over forty per cent. In order that the reader may understand where this increased expenditure has gone, we place before them the following details:

	1871.	1881.
Agricultural Societies	$53,721	$69,402
2 Dairy Associations	3,000	3,000
Provincial Association	10,000	10,000
Entomological Society	500	1,000
Fruit Growers' Association	500	1,800
Poultry Association	700	700

Society of Artists	500	500
School of Art & Design, Ontario	1,100	1,100
School of Art & Design, London	400	400
Miscellaneous	3,432	3,432

While no one will question the value of the objects for which nearly all of the foregoing expenditure is made, a difference of opinion unquestionably exists as to the wisdom of the several modes by which the objects are sought to be attained, and all will agree that a hundred odd thousand dollars is a sum which should not be expended for any purpose without commensurate results.

No. 13. We now pass on to those items of expenditure to be found under the heading of "open accounts," and which are generally for works of a permanent character, which cannot be fairly charged to the ordinary expenditures of any one year, but vary from year to year as the circumstances and interests of the Province may seem to require:—

	1871.	1881.
Toronto Asylum	$30,431	$3,908

Don Joachim Rapids	4,000	1,013
Huntville Lock-up	1,013	960
Muskoka Gaol &c.	960	37
Algoma Court House	37	37

Total $430,620 $196,974
Showing a decrease on accounts of this class of expenditures in 1881, as compared with 1871, of $244,642, or considerably over fifty per cent. In looking through the list of open accounts we cannot but be struck with the fact, that nearly all of the public institutions and works in operation to-day, were devised and undertaken during the four years of the Sandfield Macdonald government—not during the eleven years of Mr. Mowat's reign.

No 14. Coming to matters nearer home, we find that the expenditure charged to capital on account of the Seagov River works, has been as follows:

	1870.	1871.
	$19,040.61	8,869.73
	1872.	5,601.08
	1873.	6,463.52
	1874.	5,317.33
	1875.	5,820.52
	1876.	5,040.31
	1877.	1,490.92
	1878.	704.10
	1879.	674.00
	1880.	747.28
	1881.	5,533.48

Of this sum, however, it is only right to state that $5,829, was paid to the lock masters and assistants, the expenditure for this purpose alone during the last four years being, in 1878, $704; in 1879, $674; in 1880, $747, and in 1881, $716, making it a rather expensive lock to open and shut for navigation, seeing that the lockages through it in 1881 were only 639, against 796, at Youngs Point, where the annual expenditure is but $240. Of course the fact that the Lindsay lock is in the Provincial Treasurer's constituency, has nothing to do with the apparently large amount of money required annually for this purpose.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Toronto Evening Canadian devotes nearly a column to a detailed report of the manner in which certain tobacco stores in that city are systematically dealing in intoxicating liquors without a license. Of course Mr. Mowat's officials have not brought them to account, being probably too busy with their political duties, like their brethren elsewhere, to attend to the business for which the municipalities are compelled to pay them.

The Owen Sound Times says:—"The Peterborough Review is doing good service in publishing 'Facts for the People' taken from the official records of the Province. As we have before stated, if our facts and figures are inaccurate, our columns are open for their correction, but no one has ventured to impugn them."

The Toronto World in an article on the effect of the Marmion controversy on the recent elections says:—

"Through this Marmion controversy the Mail, we venture to say, has alienated some thousands of Catholic votes, and has gained a hundred Protestant ones. But the gage was thrown fairly down; the archbishop as frankly took it up. He has denounced the paper and its editor from the pulpit, and uttered the war cry to his flock. The Mail people sought the issue; now they have it. They want only insulted the archbishop and defied him; now, like the ghost of Caesar at Philippi, they will find him before them at the hustings."

Without discussing at present the wider question of the propriety of an ecclesiastical dignitary uttering a political "war cry to his flock," we must protest against this assumption of the World that "the gage was thrown fairly down." We dispute altogether the right of the Mail to throw down the gage for the Conservative party, or the justice of visiting the sins of a single journalist upon the Conservatives of Ontario as a body. In what sense for example could Mr. Slaven, himself an Irish Roman Catholic, or the Conservative electors of West Simcoe be held responsible because a writer over whom they had no control "wantonly insulted the archbishop and defied him" so that they "found him before them at the hustings?"

COLONIZATION ROAD EXPENDITURE

The following extract from the Muskoka Herald shows how the money voted for colonization roads is being used by Mr. Mowat and his colleagues to corrupt the electorate. The Conservatives are falsely accused of being opposed to expenditure on Colonization roads; we wish the grant to be devoted to the construction of more roadway, and not to the purchase of the votes of "hoppers" and those they may employ.

"Our particular friend, Mr. Spencer, of Monck, has been a Government road boss only a short while, but during that time has made most satisfactory progress in the practice of a service following of the masters who, figuratively, have thrown the dog a bone. Some few weeks ago Mr. Spencer was a supporter of Mr. Prowse. Now, however, he is unblushingly telling all and sundry that he will support the party from which he receives the greatest pecuniary benefit. This being the case, we are safe in affirming that Mr. Spencer will give Mr. Bettles support to the value of all that can be made out of a six hundred dollar road job. But what will honest men think of a man who thus sells his vote and influence for thirty lucres?"

NOTICE.

To All Whom it May Concern!

WHILE RECOGNISING fully, with thanks, the favours as shown by the public in patronising my endeavours in manufacturing Furs, trying to the utmost to give a good article for the lowest possible price, I have always been seriously hemmed in by a portion of the public who make it exclusively a point to always buy wholesale made up goods of dealers in Furs, and as I have been for the last 21 years, and am yet the ONLY Fur Manufacturer in Peterborough, such furs are brought, as a rule, to me for repairs. This has seriously interfered with and injured the business in executing orders for New Goods, and therefore I have to DISCONTINUE SUCH CUSTOM for the future, exempting only such parties who have of late taken up their residence in Peterborough.

THE DEAD LETTER OFFICE.

Increasing Statistics—Some Curious Things That Pass Through the Mail.

The number of ordinary letters, post-cards, circulars, etc., sent to the Canadian Dead Letter Office last year was 534,575; and 83,137 were sent for improper address or insufficient postage, making in all 617,712, against 592,368 in the previous year. Last year's returns include 10,216 registered letters; 436,155 were received from postoffices in Canada, 7,081 from the United Kingdom, 91,546 from the United States and 660 from British Colonies and foreign countries. Of the registered letters 9,570 were returned to the writers or to the postoffice administration of the country of their origin, 541 failed of delivery, and 96 remained in the office at the close of the year. The total value of contents of dead letters received last year was $371,236 18, including cash, $25,994 30; bills of exchange, $17,467 08; cheques and drafts, $104,030 25; money orders, $9,810; promissory notes, $102,194; stock and other certificates, $32,400. The carelessness of some letter writers is astonishing. Some will inclose money or other valuables in letters and drop them in the postoffice without stamp or address. Even registered letters are sometimes found addressed in such a way that it is impossible to forward them from the place where they are received. Scarcely a day passes that some new curiosity does not turn up among the mail matter sent to the Dead Letter Office. One day the chief clerk found a fifty-dollar bill in an old newspaper that had been lying on the floor for several days unopened.

Jewellery and photographs are found in many letters and parcels, and among the other articles last year were certificates of marriage, baptism, death, and church membership; boots and shoes, galvanic batteries, clothing, cigars, patent medicine, watches, insurance policies, shawls, railway checks, spoons, toys and articles of almost every conceivable description. Queen bees are frequently sent through the mails enclosed in small wooden cases. Not long ago a gold nugget worth $300 was taken from an unstamped letter and returned to the sender, and on another occasion a revolver loaded and cocked fell out of a small bag, to the astonishment and fright of the clerks. Explosives are also discovered sometimes, and once the Superintendent's hand was badly torn by what seemed to be dynamite, made up in the form of a cartridge. One individual insisted upon sending four sharp axes through the mails, and before they reached their destination it was found that the mail bags and some of the mail matter had been cut through. Southerners and live mice are frequently found. The chief clerk of Branch has preserved a few curiosities, among which are Confederate notes of various denominations, beautiful samples of photographs, valentines, and wedding cards. Also a letter written in 1876, signed "Justice," and addressed to His Britannic Majesty's Privy Council of Hades, requesting that the Government should consider a comfortable position at His Majesty's hands. Many curious epistles, written by cranks, and addressed to persons in high position, are also preserved. Dozens of enquiries after missing letters and packages are received daily, and the work is growing so rapidly that soon the Dead Letter Office may have to be placed under an official with the rank of Commissioner.—Globe.

A FACT.—If you suffer from chronic disease, and have little faith in advertised remedies, and have sought vainly for a cure, consult your druggist, or write to T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, for proof positive regarding the merits of Burdock Blood Bitters, the great regulating blood purifying tonic, that acts on the liver, kidneys, stomach, bowels and skin.

RHEUMATISM.—This painful disease that so often cripples for life, arises from poison circulating in the blood, and often from an excess of acid. Inflammation is developed in the muscles, ligaments and joints, by cold, damp clothing, &c. Liniments are serviceable to relieve; and among many, Haggard's Yellow Oil is preferable. To eradicate the rheumatic poison from the system, nothing can surpass Burdock Blood Bitters.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a spavin was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

BROOKTON, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

R. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callosities, sprains, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for best as well as man.

Price per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to you on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Ensbrough Falls, Vt.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL

MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption that will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it is a severe case. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the alkaline scale which causes these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotions is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of late Dr. Starin, and every year it is used more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY

CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

A CASE OF ARSON.

Burns Burned in Otonabee—Robert A. Wood Committed for Trial.

In the Police Court room, at eleven o'clock this morning, a Magistrate's Court was held, Mr. T. Menzies, J. P., and Mr. A. Rutherford, J. P., presiding on the Bench.

Robert Anson Wood was charged by Robert Robinson with having maliciously set fire to his barn, in Otonabee, on the night of Saturday, the 7th October.

THOMAS COLLINS was the first witness called, and on being sworn said that Wood was in his company at about 9 o'clock on the evening of the fire; Wood was not at the fire; was into town with the prisoner that day and he made a little threat against Mr. Robinson; he said that if Mr. Robinson didn't let him alone he would put a tin ear on him; he was sober when he made the threat; the night before the Coroner's inquest Wood was in his place and said he had a subpoena to attend the inquest to be held at Mr. Robinson's, and that he was not guilty of the charge, for he knew the opinion of the people was that he was accused of setting fire to the barn.

TO THE PRISONER—You left me on the night of the fire to go home, couldn't say whether you went home or not; saw a light in your house about fifteen minutes after you left me.

ROBERT HULL was sworn and said—Heard Wood make threats against Mr. Robinson; he said he would be up to Robinson some time and would have revenge upon him; he said a good deal and appeared angry; that was about the 18th of September, and the fire was on the 7th of October; witness warned Mr. Robinson that he had better watch his buildings as he thought Wood would do some harm; never heard him say he would set the buildings on fire.

TO THE PRISONER—Think there is a good deal of enmity between you and Mr. Robinson, enough to make you do him harm.

RE-EXAMINED—Heard some person go into Wood's house and shut the door while the fire was burning; there was no light in the house.

THOMAS WEAVER, sworn, said—Heard Wood say that he would surprise the neighbours on that corner before he left it. Wood was not at the fire; the barns are about the distance of twenty acres from Wood's house; thought it strange; Wood was not at the fire when he lived so close; saw a man around his place on two nights at about one or two o'clock a. m., and thought from his clothes and walk that he was Wood; on one night he was walking in a stooped position along the garden fence; walked away and went in the direction of Mr. Collins', which would be on Wood's way to go home, if it were he.

TO THE PRISONER—Didn't hear you say that you would be there when others were gone and surprise the neighbours that in way.

ROBERT ORR, sworn, said that Wood worked for him on the week of the fire three days; heard Wood threaten Mr. Robinson; Wood was living in a house of Robinson's and Wood said Robinson wasn't man enough to put him out; on the Sunday before the fire heard Wood on the road talking about Robinson; heard him say he would "burn the — out," meaning Robinson; did not see him but knew his voice.

TO THE PRISONER—Do not know who was with you that Sunday but fancied it was your son.

THE PRISONER—I think I can prove that I wasn't on that road that Sunday.

ROBERT ENGLISH, sworn, said that Wood threatened to burn him out about a year and a half ago; he did not burn him out.

TO THE PRISONER—You wanted goods on credit and when you were refused you made the threat, and I felt uneasy for some time.

ROBERT ROBINSON, sworn, said that he was not at home when the fire started; have been acquainted with Wood since last May; early in May he asked leave to put a horse in an old stable belonging to the witness; gave him leave, and he slept there himself with the horse; afterwards Wood asked to be allowed to sleep in a small house near the stable until the weather was warm enough for him to sleep in the woods; said he would not want it more than a month, and would leave it in that time; told Wood he could have the house for a month for $1.50; asked him to go out when he had been in two or three months; he refused to go out, and said the witness couldn't put him out; he lived in the house alone; he said he was a veterinary surgeon; he worked a little piece of ground; had different disputes with Wood; on the occasion of the last dispute Wood said, "I'll be even with you—creepers yet." There was no fire near the barn from which it could have caught. To the PRISONER—Have not got all the rest; can't tell how much it is behind without the book the account is in.

The prisoner made a long cross-examination about the cause of their disputes, in which he tried to show that he was in the right in them. This concluded the evidence, and the prisoner was committed for trial.

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

MONDAY, Oct. 30.—Mr. Menzies, J. P., gave his decision in the case of D. Shanahan, who was charged with assaulting T. Collins, and fined the defendant 50 cents, and $4.35 costs.

DUNK.

Jon. Taylor was charged with imbibing too freely, and was fined $1, which he paid.

Michael Hargrout was charged with the same offence, and was also fined $1 or seven days in gaol. He had not a sufficient amount of lucre to pay the fine, and was committed.

Peterborough Club.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Peterborough Club this evening to receive the report of the Committee appointed last Monday.

Dangerous Play.

A child was playing to-day about noon at the bridge across the creek near Whyte's foundry, and lit a fire there, which came near burning the bridge, as the fire would have been in the bridge in a few minutes had it not been discovered and extinguished.

Railway Notes.

The Otonabee Herald says that the work on the Big Bridge is being pushed forward with all possible speed. Quite a stretch of it is up full height, which is tremendous to look at from the ground. When complete and the train running over it will be a magnificent sight. As it is, scores of villagers and visitors from other parts drive down every few days.

The Bus Pole Breaks.

At the railway station this morning the horses attached to the Oriental bus became frightened at a locomotive which passed in front of them, and began plunging, breaking the pole of the bus. They continued plunging, and were in danger of being injured by being pierced by the broken pole, but the porter of the hotel caught them and others assisting him they quieted the horses before they were much injured, only being scratched a little.

The Weather.

Saturday night brought a heavy rain, and on Sunday there was a strong breeze and a cloudy sky, but to-day is warmer, although partly cloudy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh south-west to south winds, and fair weather to-day. East-erly winds and probably some rain on Tuesday. No decided change in temperature.

Church Opening.

The renovation of St. John's church being almost finished, it will be opened for Divine service on All Saints Day, Wednesday next, when there will be a large gathering of clergy-men. On Tuesday evening, which is the vigil of the Saints, there will be prayers in the chapel. On Wednesday morning there will be an early celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 o'clock and another at the 11 o'clock service, when the Bishop will administer the sacrament and preach. In the evening, at 7 o'clock, there will be full evening service, when the Rev. Mr. Burke, from Belleville, will preach.

Having.

A saving woman at the head of a family is the very best savings bank established. The idea of saving is a pleasant one; and if the women imbibed it at once, they would cultivate it and adhere to it; and thus, when they are not aware of it they would be laying the foundation of a competent security in a stormy time, and shelter in a rainy day. The best way to comprehend it is to keep an account of all current expense. Whether five hundred or five thousand dollars are expended annually, there is a chance to save something if the effort is made. Let the housewife take the idea, act upon it perseveringly, and she will save something where before she thought it impossible. This is a duty, yet not a arid duty, but a mere obligation that rests upon women as well as men.—Home Journal.

A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters:—"I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly two years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, 'The Doctor.' It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally, who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver and Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Costiveness, Impurities of the blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters."

Sold in large bottles at 50 cents at J. D. Tully, druggist.

BEST OF ALL.—Our rigorous and changeable climate and our mode of life induces frequent colds that often lead to severe coughs, bronchitis and other lung troubles that are liable to end in consumption. The best and most pleasant remedy for these difficulties is Hargrout's Pectoral Balm, to be obtained of any druggist.

NOW!

Now is the time to make changes in your UNDERWEAR! Don't put it off until you get chilled, but do it right NOW, thereby saving your health, and may be your life. It is a mistaken idea that some people have to put off as long as possible or just when the thermometer goes down below zero to put on their underwear. Be prepared in time, and when the chilled northern blast comes you are safe. Another word of advice, if you have not yet laid in your stock of underwear, half hose, gloves, mitts and everything needed in your wardrobe, go to T. DOLAN & CO. at once, where you will be served right.

END OF THE ASIA ENQUIRY.

A Verdict of Manlaughter Against These Responsible for the Boat's Safety.

PARRY SOUND, Oct. 28.—The Coroner's Inquest into the loss of the Asia resumed last night. No further evidence being forthcoming, the coroner recapitulated what had been alleged and laid before the court, and then charged the jury, laying before them the fact that the evidence before them showed an insufficient equipment of the boats, and that had those boats been properly supplied with oars and other portions of boats' equipments they might have weathered the storm, the boats' head might have been kept to the wind, the frequent capsizing might not have resulted, and the fatal strain on the men's powers of endurance might have been avoided. The jury in forty minutes returned the following verdict: "That John Savage, John McDonald, John M. Calpin, and two others, names unknown, came to their death through the wreck of the steamer Asia and undue exposure in open boats; that the exposure was caused by an insufficient equipment of those boats, inasmuch as there were only three oars in the three boats, and nothing with which to bail out the boats; that the aforesaid insufficient equipment was the result of gross and culpable negligence on the part of some person or persons unknown to the jury and that those persons are therefore guilty of manslaughter."

An International Question as to their Exportation—Are Frogs Fish?

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 29.—A Washington correspondent writes:—"An important omission has been discovered in the famous treaty of Washington which threatens to effect seriously an important American industry by leaving it unprotected, and may cause our Government to lose thousands of dollars on duties which would otherwise have been collected. The demand for frogs as an article of food to cities has increased so largely of late that the domestic supply has been found insufficient. A brisk trade in the amphibious animals has sprung up with Canada, and large numbers are being shipped across the border to American dealers. The action of certain Customs collectors, however, threatens to put an end to this traffic if their rulings are sustained by the Treasury Department. Under the provisions of the Treaty of Washington fish caught in Canadian waters have been admitted to the United States free of duty. The Canadian dealers insist that frogs are fish and therefore exempt; the American Customs officers object to this classification, and hold that fish were never known to have feet, while the subject of dispute has four. To this the Canadians reply that if frogs are not fish they are certainly not animals nor birds, and cannot be subjected to classification for duty. The matter has been referred to the Treasury Department for a decision, but it is not expected that Secretary Folger will attempt to give an opinion until after the election, probably not then, for fear of foreign complications—and the matter will probably be referred to the State Department."

A Little Mistake.

A good thing happened in Halifax over this business. The Reformers got up a long list of non-resident voters, many of whom, it was thought, would let the matter go by default, and be struck off, and they got a good-natured man named Smith to sign the protest en bloc. The joke was that by accident they included the name of a substantial old farmer who had not only paid taxes but voted the straight Reform ticket for fifty years. It was no wonder Judge Sinclair told their attorney he did not understand his business.—Hamilton Spectator.

While the theatre was burning yesterday, two thieves seized a valuable diamond brooch in Mrs. Lynch's store, near the theatre, and tried to make away with it. Judge Abraham Lawrence, of the Supreme Court, and Judge Stephen Hyatt, of the Marine Court, who were standing in the doorway each laid hold of one of the men. Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1882.

A DISGRACEFUL PROCEEDING.

A STATEMENT is going the rounds of the press, and, so far as we have observed, its truthfulness has not been contradicted, that the Mowat government, contrary to all principles of common honesty and fair dealing between man and man, have undertaken, of their own mere will, to insert the following new and additional conditions in the patents to which settlers on free grants have lately become entitled, viz:—

"And, also, excepting and reserving unto us, our heirs and successors, for the benefit and use of all persons requiring to use the same, the free use and navigation of all creeks and streams running through or upon any part of the said parcel of land hereby granted, and not embraced in the reservation heretofore contained, for the purpose of running and floating down saw logs, timber, lumber, rafts, and crafts, at all times and seasons, and excepting and reserving also for the use and benefit of all persons requiring to use the same for the purpose of running and floating down upon any creek, stream, or navigable water upon the said parcel or tract of land the right to enter in and upon the said parcel or tract of land, and to occupy and use so much of the banks of the said creeks or streams and of the said navigable water as may be necessary for the purpose of such running and floating, and for the further purpose of erecting and constructing and repairing such dams, slides and works as may be required for the purposes aforesaid, doing no unnecessary damage thereby. And it is hereby declared that the grant aforesaid is made on the express condition that the grantees, for himself, his heirs, and assigns, consent and agree that all persons desiring to use the same shall have the right to enjoy the easements heretofore reserved."

Now we wish the reader to distinctly understand that we do not, on the present occasion, propose to discuss the merits or demerits of these provisions, but simply and solely the breach of faith involved therein on the part of the Crown in carrying out the contract deliberately entered into with the settler in any case in which deeds containing this clause had been tendered to them.

Most, if not all of our readers are aware that the Ontario government has been doing its best to induce people to settle in the Free Grant Townships, and especially in the Muskoka Territory; that large sums are annually spent upon colonization roads and otherwise for the same purpose, and that those who have settled on these lands were promised that they should, after making certain improvements and residing thereon for five years, receive patents conveying the lots upon which they settled, to them upon the same conditions as those upon which the people in the older sections of the Province, held theirs, with the exception of any minerals which they might contain and of the pine during the currency of the license in force at the time of the issuing of the patent—an exemption which at most could not extend beyond twelve months, inasmuch as timber licenses are only issued from year to year. Under these circumstances it is therefore obvious that the insertion of the conditions we have quoted in any patent which could be issued during 1882 is a direct breach of contract on the part of the Crown. The settler was asked, nay, we may say assured into these settlements upon certain conditions, and when he has fulfilled his part of the contract, and demands his patent in accordance therewith, lo and behold, the high minded, the pure, the honest, and shall we say the Christian Government of Ontario, without so much as saying by your leave to the unfortunate settler, and without consulting their nominal master, but subservient servant the Legislature of Ontario, undertake to insert new conditions in these patents. Whether the Court of Chancery has the power to interfere in cases of this kind we know not, but this we do know that were any private individual to attempt to do what Mr. Mowat's government has attempted to do, it would soon set the matter right, and make the perpetrator of such a piece of dishonesty pay the costs. Certainly if any government, whether the premier be Mr. Mowat, Mr. Meredith, or any other man, can thus trample with impunity upon private rights—upon rights which are held sacred in every civilized country—and which the constitution of the United States guarantees to the meanness of its citizens—the sooner a remedy is applied the better.

In the present instance the clause we have quoted is no doubt being inserted in the interest of the lumbermen, and may accomplish no more than it is desirable to accomplish in the interest of that important trade if gone about in a proper manner, but accomplishing such a purpose in the way it is being done is simply a disgrace to the man who proposed, and to the government which has sanctioned it. Why, let those in whose interests this fraud is perpetrated consider for a moment: The title by which they hold their limits is only an annual one, in which, if we are not mistaken, there is no provision for renewal, so that they are in law simply holders of licenses for a single twelve months, although in equity and justice they are entitled to renewals ad libitum. That being the case their titles to their limits stand upon a much more precarious footing than the settler's title to the lot upon which he has settled, and they can advance no reason why the terms of their licenses should not be varied, that the settler cannot advance against the insertion of the clause mentioned in his patent—unless it be that in the settler's case the amount of property involved is probably fewer dollars than the other would be thousands. But has it come to this, that in this Province of Ontario, in this nineteenth century, under the regime of an ex-Vice-Chancellor, the test of what constitutes a fraud depends upon the amount involved? Are we to be told that the lumberman is safe simply because such a breach of faith with regard to a license to cut timber would alarm a trade that has a good many votes at its back, while the settler may be done to and done out of their hard-earned property, just as Mr. Parnes pleases, simply because their losses, taken individually, can at most only amount to a few paltry dollars? Has it indeed come to this under the Mowat government, that might makes right, and that the only man or class of men who are safe in either person or estate are those who cast in their political lot with Mowat & Co? It certainly looks very much like it!

THE SYNDICATE'S UPPER LAKE LINE.

The Pacific syndicate have appointed Henry Beatty, late of the Barns line, manager of a line of steamers that they will put on the route between Algoma Mills and Prince Arthur's Landing, to form the connection between the Thunder Bay and Nipissing sections of the Canada Pacific railway, pending the construction of the section north of Lake Superior, so that by the opening of the season of 1884, the C. P. R. company may be ready to transport emigrants and freight by their own line through Canadian territory from tide water to the foot of the Rocky Mountains.

The vessels of the new line are to be built next season, probably on the Clyde, according to plans furnished by Mr. Beatty, and under his supervision, and their construction is expected to mark a new era in lake navigation. They are to be of steel, swift enough to make the run of three hundred and sixty miles from Algoma Mills to Prince Arthur's Landing in a twenty-four hours, and powerful enough to face any gale which may blow on the lake. In construction they will closely resemble ocean steamers, the hulls of the vessels forming the railings of the cabin deck, sitting low in the water, with two, or perhaps three masts, and without the high pilot-house and turrets of the usual lake pattern. They will be constructed especially with reference to passenger traffic, but each will have capacity for about one thousand tons of freight, on a draught of thirteen feet. The intention is to construct them so that they shall run like Atlantic steamers, by time table, regardless of the weather, and a boat will be despatched each way per day, making a daily line east and west between Algoma Mills and Prince Arthur's Landing. —Toronto World.

CONCERT.—The concert given by the Omemee orchestra at the boarding house near Duobe's bridge on the missing link, on Wednesday evening last, was a very enjoyable affair, the men entering the sport with a right good will. The playing of the orchestra was very fine. It would be almost impossible to find a better patterned gang of men than those employed on the steam shovel and dump, several of whom rendered songs in a very creditable manner, and created much amusement by dancing clogs.

RESINA NO MORE.

Wascana the New Name for Assiniboia's Capital—Facts About the City.

A reporter of the Times was shown this morning, at Mr. W. B. Scarth's office, plans of the capital of Assiniboia. From the position which the site occupies, and the beauty of its natural surroundings, the proprietors have been enabled to lay it out in a manner that will give the place every advantage that a capital city should enjoy. The name of the capital site has been changed from Regina to Wascana, which is the Indian name for Pile of Bones. Not many blocks distant north of the railway track there is a big basin in the Wascana river. Across the mouth of this a dam has been placed, thus making a large and natural reservoir, from which the whole place could be supplied with water if necessary. On the south and west sides of this, plots have been allotted for public parks. Mr. Scarth has chosen a site for a large brick building, which he will commence to erect at once. On the south portion of the same square, the Ontario Bank has picked upon a site, as also has the Merchants' Bank, lower down on the same street. The market square and Government reserve for public buildings are also north of the track. The Government have reserved three or four plots of ground for public purposes, all of which are contained in blocks 30, 19, 18. Parts of blocks 1, 314, 413, 424, 410, 428, 407 and 430 have been selected by the six leading churches for building sites. A scale of prices is now being arranged for the property, and as soon as that has been decided upon it will be placed on the market for sale. It is probable people may have an opportunity of investigating their money in the new capital before the end of this week. —Winnipeg Times, Oct. 23.

Foreign Capitalists Coming.

We understand that a reliable and extensive iron manufacturing company in Kentucky, is ready to come to Canada and invest a half million of dollars in a rolling mill and smelting works, providing that a similar amount of capital can be secured by Canadians for this purpose. In getting this there should be no great difficulty, since investors here would share the benefit of the long experience of the gentlemen in question. Besides, there ought to be a good margin of profit when the business is properly conducted. The new concern, if started on the scale projected, would be in a condition to control this market to some extent; and as iron is a staple article all its product ought to be in good demand. The manufacturing of charcoal iron certainly ought to be a successful venture, as the timber and the ore are in close proximity. The locations of the works, we are told, will be considered entirely from a business standpoint. No doubt the greatest competition to secure them will be between this city, Kingston and Belleville. Toronto, as a distributing point, possesses advantages over any city in this province, and if a proper site is secured with a liberal bonus there would be no difficulty in getting the works established here. The company is now paying over $30,000 a month for wages at a much smaller mill than it proposes to erect in Canada. —Monetary Times.

A Romantic Story.

The Montreal Star gives an interesting love sketch from life. Thirty-six years ago there lived in that pleasant little town down the river called Sorel (very little it was then) a youth and a maiden. The name of the youth was George Beaupre, the name of the maiden Mary Ann Pearce. They belonged to families of moderate circumstances. He, with a strength and devotion of honest young manhood, loved this maiden and wooed her with that earnestness which only such a lover can. He was given every encouragement, was, some say, actually accepted, was congratulating himself, at least, on the smooth courting of true love, when suddenly a rival appeared, and everything for him turned black. The rival was one Jacob Savage, of the same town. Pretty soon she and Savage were married and settled down in the place, and then young Beaupre's hope died out. He tried to work on as before, but could not. He closed up his business, and settled up his affairs, and started to the far West, towards which so many spirits were about that time shaping their course. From that day to within a few weeks ago he had not set foot in this part of Canada. He had not set foot, saved carefully, prospered, and laid up property worth up to $200,000. He had never married. He was getting upwards of sixty years of age. Several weeks ago he took an idea to come back once more to see his friends, and he started east. He searched out relatives in Sorel and Montreal, but found few that he remembered. He enquired for the woman who, as a girl, had so many years before thrown him overboard for a rival. They told him she was widowed, her husband had been dead many years, she had been living several years in Montreal, went to call upon her, met her, and then—she found her getting old, in poor circumstances with several children, but that made no difference; he saw only the girl of thirty-six years before. On Saturday they were married by his Lordship Bishop Fabre, the wealthy bridegroom being content with no other dignity than the highest in that part of the country. He had bestowed all the happiness that wealth and affection can upon his bride and her children, and in a short time they will go to his house in the Black Hills.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

THE nutritive value of beans is very great—greater than almost any other article of food in common use.

A YOUNG fowl may be known before plucking by the largeness of the feet and leg-joints; after plucking, a thin neck and violent thighs may be taken as invariable signs of age and toughness, especially in turkeys and fowls. The age of ducks and geese is tested by their beaks, the lower part of which breaks away quite easily when they are young.

To render pencil drawings or writing as permanent as India ink is impossible, from the superficial nature of the markings made with the pencil. They may, however, be made so permanent that they will not rub out, by simply washing the pencil marks with well skimmed milk that has been diluted with an equal bulk of water. Apply the liquid to the markings with a soft camel-hair brush, and avoid rubbing. When gone over, place on a flat board to dry.

"TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' EXPERIENCE," says an eminent Physician, convinces me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness of the generative organs is to repair the waste by giving Brain and Nerve Food, and of all the remedies I have used Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly two years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, 'The Doctor.' It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally, who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver and Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Impurities of the blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters."

Sold in large bottles at 50 cents at J. D. Tully, druggist.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with it, cured him. I am sure that no other horse owner can but be benefited by this cure.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Stoughton, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure. One very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the smaller one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no hunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but it is done for all what it has done for me, it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callosities, sprains, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purposes for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which will give you full particulars of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price 50c. per bottle, or six bottles for $3. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Newburgh Falls, Vt.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An INTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption that will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and continue to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, curable skin diseases, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the miasmatic which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—A FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all skin diseases. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Starlin, and every year it is used more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with skin diseases, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES COM- TAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

Meeting of Delegates for West Peterborough—The Candidate Chosen.

This afternoon there was a meeting of delegates from the different polling divisions of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough for the purpose of choosing a candidate to carry the standard at the approaching election for the Legislative Assembly of Ontario.

Mr. John Carnegie was nominated by Mr. JAR. STEVENSON, seconded by Mr. EDWARD PHELAN, and was adopted as the candidate of party without a dissenting voice.

Mr. CARNEGIE in a brief speech placed himself at the service of the party and accepted the nomination.

A Raffle.

A raffle will be raffled at the drill shed on Friday evening, for the benefit of Mr. Whitman, who lost his eye by that unfortunate accident at the rifle range on the occasion of the annual matches.

Railway Notes.

Twenty more men arrived on the noon train to-day, and went out to work on the construction of the line of the "Missing Link," making forty who have been brought from the Province of Quebec for this purpose in two days.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is cool but the sun is shining, and light clouds are visible. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh westerly to northerly winds, fair cooler weather.

Rifle Match.

A friendly challenge was sent on Monday by Mr. A. Wadde, on behalf of the civilian members of the Rifle Association, to the Cavalry Troop to shoot a match on Thursday, the range to be 400 and 500 yards, seven shots at each range. On Tuesday Col. H. C. Rogers replied, accepting the challenge on behalf of the troop, and the match will take place on the rifle range at one o'clock to-morrow.

The Market.

There was not a large attendance on the market this morning, and prices were not materially changed. Eggs were selling at 21 cts., butter 22 to 23 for roll, and 15 to 18 for prime packed, apples 50 to 75, goose 50 and turkeys 60. Hay was offered at $10 per ton. The prices on the grain market were very little changed, but wheat was a little lower at 90 to 95, barley 50 to 72, oats 38, peas 70 and rye 56. Dressed hogs $7.50 to $8.

Properties for Sale.

THE CHAMBER PROPERTY on McDonnell street, divided into lots, is to be offered for sale on Friday night at Choute's hotel. There are two houses on the property.

THE PROPERTY on AYLMER STREET, opposite the station, formerly owned by Dr. Harvey, is to be offered for sale by auction at Choute's hotel on Friday night, at 8 p. m.

THE REMAINDER OF THE EASTLAND PARK LOT will be offered for sale by auction on Friday night, at Choute's hotel.

TWENTY LOTS ON PARK LOT 13 ELM STREET will be offered for sale at Choute's hotel on Friday night.

Hallowe'en.

Hallowe'en was not allowed to pass without many of the townspeople being made aware of the fact, but we have not heard of any serious damage being done, although many mischievous pranks were indulged in. Although eggs are not cheap, they seemed plentiful. Two youths, who were bespattering a house with them, were considerably surprised to find themselves in the clutches of Constable Pigeon, and were very much frightened when they were lodged in the dark police cells. However, they were liberated after having their ardent for fun checked by three hours' confinement. The constables kept an eye on the movements of the boys, and altogether the celebration was comparatively a quiet one.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

A RADICAL ELECTED.
ROME, Oct. 31.—The election of Cocapiller, a violent Radical, to the Chamber of Deputies has created a great sensation. A portion of the press express disgust at his election and consider it a disgrace to the parliamentary institution. Four months ago he was not known publicly and was recently imprisoned for wounding Angelo Tognetti. Cocapiller attacked the Democratic Republicans, and was subsequently prosecuted for libel. His fame was increased by an alleged attempt to kill him and by the Government imprisoning him a long time without trial. He was lately employed as a circus rider. He was released from prison on Monday, and received an ovation from the crowd. Although the Government has a large majority, the Republican contingent is considerably increased. The Radicals were victorious at Bologna, Mantua, Alexandria, Forti, Ferrara, Modena, Mondovi, Lodi, Cremona, Piacenza, Cosale, Parma, and Treviso. At Venice Menghetti and three other government candidates were defeated. Cavallotti, one of the most ardent promoters of electoral reform, was defeated.

NO IMMINENT DANGER.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—In the House of commons to-day Lord Dufferin, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said there was no wide distress nor imminent danger of famine in Western Ireland.

LORD DUFFERIN TO ASSIST.

CAIRO, Oct. 31.—The British Consul-General, Sir Edward Malet, has communicated to the Khedive a telegram from Earl Granville stating that as the settlement of the affairs of Egypt involves most complicated questions, it would be unfair to Sir Edward Malet to leave to him the entire responsibility, and that therefore Earl Dufferin will be sent to Egypt.

THE PORTE EXCITED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 31.—It is officially denied that the captured papers and correspondence of Arabi contain any matters compromising the Sultan. The announcement is made that the Sultan desires Arabi to have an open trial, but will not interfere with the judgement of the court. On learning that Lord Dufferin had been ordered to proceed to Cairo for the purpose of directing the negotiations for a settlement of the Egyptian question, the Sultan summoned a council of Ministers, which met all night. To-day the Grand Vizier said the Porte had asked Lord Dufferin for an explanation. It is reported that Lord Dufferin assured it that England desired to maintain the suzerainty of the Sultan.

NO-RENT TENANTS.

DUBLIN, Oct. 31.—At the Wicklow sessions to-day an ejectment writ was granted at the suit of Mr. Parnell against three of his tenants, Ebbs, Cavanagh, and Brennan. The farms the three occupy are on Mr. Parnell's Avondale estate, and they owe four years' rent, amounting to £179. A decree for the amount was granted.

AUSTRO-ITALIAN COURTESIES.
VIENNA, Oct. 31.—In the Hungarian Diet to-day the Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs said he could not advise the Emperor to return the visit of King Humbert at Rome. An exceptional condition of affairs in Rome had to be considered. Moreover the sovereigns might be made the object of a political demonstration. The visit of the Queen has also been deferred.

NIBBLISTS AGAIN ACTIVE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 31.—A considerable revival of Nihilist activity is observable. The Nihilist organ declares that a revolution is imminent. Increased precautions have been taken to ensure the safety of the Czar. His future movements will be kept secret.

A REPLY.

DUBLIN, Oct. 31.—Patrick Egan, late Treasurer of the Land League, replying to Lady Florence Dixie's pamphlet, alleging large discrepancies in the finances of the League, reasserts the accuracy of the League accounts, and charges her with being "intimidated by Richard Pigott."

TO FIGHT THE CLOTURE.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—At a meeting of the Conservative party to-day, Sir Stafford Northcote advised the party to fight the cloture resolutions of the bitter end. His suggestion was unanimously supported. It was resolved to support Sir Stafford Northcote's amendment in favour of omitting the first cloture resolution altogether.

A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly two years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters 'The Doctor.' It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally, who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver and Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Impurities of the blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters."

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

SHOT AND KILLED.

PARIS, Kentucky, Nov. 1.—Burt Scully, a well-known horse trainer, was shot and killed here last evening by Hooker Shivers. The parties lived on adjoining farms, and the women quarrelled about turkeys. Sherman Shivers, a brother of Hooker, shot some turkeys claimed by Scully's housekeeper. Scully afterwards boxed Sherman's ears, and Hooker subsequently came to the town with a shot gun and met Scully, who started towards him, when Scully was within a few feet off, Shivers fired. His nephew says Scully was unarmed. Shivers was arrested.

HENDRICKS' DISEASE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—Hendricks' disease (dry gangrene), has made slow progress during the last four days. The third toe has sloughed off somewhat and turned black. The disease has spread to the joint of the fourth toe, and an inch up the metatarsal bone.

A FALL.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 1.—John Lesautnier, a wealthy and hitherto respected citizen, was yesterday discharged from the position of manager of the exchange department of the Merchants Exchange Bank, and sued for twenty-five thousand dollars damages for the seduction of Miss Sylvia Seiser. NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The Committee on the pedestal for Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty enlightening the world, met last evening. It was stated that the statue will be completed on first May next. The pedestal will cost two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

REPORTER ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Three reporters who were taking notes at a serenade last night were ordered away by a policeman. They remonstrated, and the officer struck one reporter with his club and seized him by the throat. Tynes said the officer would have to answer for the assault. The latter then arrested Tynes on a charge of disorderly conduct. The police captain at the station house refused to accept bail from the reporter offering it, and Tynes was locked in the cell all night. The case will come up for hearing this morning.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FREIGHT.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—All the steamers here, as well as those coming hither, have been engaged to carry full cargoes to Liverpool, and the continent. The vessels that leave here for the latter port in November are already contracted for. All the said room now in port for Liverpool, and Havre, is engaged. The rate to Liverpool, by steam is nine pence, and to Havre, one cent. It is many years since there has been such a demand for, and scarcity of freighters.

A FALSE REGISTRATION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The Herald says that the district attorney proved that colonization and false registration had been going on to an alarming extent in some districts of the city, principally in the eighth, seventh and sixteenth assembly districts. It is estimated that fifteen hundred illegal votes have been registered in the eighth district alone. The district attorney has already sent the names of several leading colonists before the Grand Jury.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The Herald's Washington despatch says that it is reported that the Western Press Association has severed its connection with the New York Associated Press, and will to-day begin a service at Washington, under the management of Walter H. Phillips. Independent services are to be established at once in all parts of the country, and a force equal to that employed by the New York Associated Press will be engaged to compete with that organization. It is said that the cable service has already been arranged for.

North West Land Company.

It is announced that the Duke of Manchester has resigned the presidency of the North-West Land Company, and that Lord Elphinstone has been selected in his stead. The stock became stronger when this was known, for it was considered that the new president was a more likely man than the old. Lord Elphinstone is a brother-in-law of the Earl of Dunmore. He is a retired captain in the Royal Navy, and has, we understand, a rent roll of about $50,000 a year.

THE GLOBE'S DEFIANCE ACCEPTED

The Globe of the 30th October "defies" the REVIEW, in the following editorial note:—

"The Peterborough REVIEW again denies the correctness of our figures as to the apportionment of the license moneys for that county between the Government and the municipalities. It states 'from the official records' that the license funds of 1879-80, amounting to $6,275, would have been divided as follows according to the Act of 1868-9:—

To the Municipalities	$5,611
Province	664

We do not know by what process of calculation, other than mere guess work, the REVIEW obtains any such result. We defy it to produce any 'official records' containing figures which, applied to the license fund of 1879-80, will show a distribution in this proportion."

Indeed! Well, we shall try and gratify the Globe's desire for more light on this subject.

Now for the official records: If the Globe will turn to the Provincial Secretary's License Report for the year 1880—Sessional Papers No. 11—pages 26 and 37 (we hope we are explicit enough to enable the Globe to find them) it will find thereon, opposite the names of the several municipalities forming East and West Peterborough, and included within the County of Peterborough, the Provincial Secretary's statement of the number of tavern and shop licenses issued for the year 1879-80, and which, when added together, make 42 tavern licenses (14 in the town, and 28 in the country) and 13 shop licenses. Then having done that, if it will turn to the Statutes of 1868-9, Chapter 22, Section 3, it will find it therein declared that there shall be paid to Her Majesty, in towns, a duty of seventeen dollars, and in townships and incorporated villages a duty of ten dollars for each tavern license, and for each shop license the sum of twelve dollars. Now, then, with these "official records" before us, we come to the conclusion that had that section of the act of 1868-9 been in force in 1879-80, the Government's share of the moneys accruing from licenses would have been as follows:—

14 Tavern Licenses in the town of Peterborough at $17	$238.00
28 Tavern Licenses in townships and villages at $10	280.00
13 Shop Licenses at $12	156.00

Making the total due the Gov. $674.00

This, it will be observed, is ten dollars more than the Globe correctly says in its paragraph we made it, and we have to admit, and readily do so, that we were wrong to that extent, the error arising in this way: of the shop licenses, eight were in the town, and five in the villages and townships, and these last were by an oversight counted as taverns, thereby reducing the amount payable to Government therefor under the act of 1868-9 by the sum of two dollars each, or ten dollars in all.

Of course with this correction the figures quoted by the Globe will stand:—

To the Municipalities	$5,601

under the act of 1868-9.

Is this "mere guess work?"

THE SPECULATIVE SQUATTER

The Globe's friend, the speculative squatter does not seem to be much more popular South than North of the international line, and it even seems that he is to be punished for fraud instead of being allowed to carry out the Globe's programme of shooting honest settlers who interfere with him. The Duluth Tribune says:—

"As long as public lands are accessible it is likely that the laws and restrictions governing their entry and occupation will be evaded and violated under transparent pretenses by parties who are reckless enough to dare attempt it. It is an easy thing for a few men with money to band together and send irresponsible squatters by the dozen to take up and hold land for them, or for one rich man to do it, and it would be a difficult thing to prevent it under the existing laws, but the Government is fully cognizant of all such trickery and fraud. We trust all fraudulent dealings will be exposed and punished."

Fortunes for Farmers and Mechanics.

Thousands of dollars can be saved by using proper judgment in taking care of the health of yourself and family. If you are Bilious, have a hollow complexion, poor appetite, low and depressed spirits, and generally debilitated, do not delay a moment, but go at once and procure a bottle of those wonderful Electric Bitters, which never fail to cure, and that for a trifling sum of fifty cents.—Tribune. Sold by Taylor & Macdonald.—1.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We can hardly suppose that Reformers would murder Sir John Macdonald as Guitau did President Garfield, but it seems as if some of them are quite ready to pray for his early death. The Moncton Times says:—

"The end of the Macdonald reign of iniquity approaches. It may be by the revelation of a new and worse political scandal. It may be by the hand of Heaven. But come it must and will. To believe otherwise would be to lose faith in the future of the world."

The modesty of this assumption of a partnership with Providence, is only equalled by the generosity of the despairing cry for the death of Canada's greatest statesman.

The Orillia Packet remarks as follows:—

"Give us the truth, shouts the Peterborough Examiner. Truth is a commodity that our contemporary is remarkably economical of, especially in discussing the N. P., and it is hard to understand how it has exhausted its supply."

The Evening (Irish) Canadian says:—

"Mr. D. D. Hay, M. P. P., has organized at Listowel a so-called 'Liberal Club,' the ostensible object of which is 'the diffusion of sound Liberal principles,' the real purpose being the manipulation of assessment rolls. The Club should take for its motto a corkscaw rampant."

The following is the result of the Judge's final revision of the Voters' List of the Town of Peterborough for the present year:—

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH OPEN

RESTORATION AND RE-OPENING OF THE CHURCH OF ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST.The Bishop of Toronto takes part in the service—A Fine Place of Worship—The old fabric with new improvements.

The congregation of St. John's Church, Peterborough, finding that the edifice needed extensive repairs, and that the accommodation it afforded was insufficient, resolved last year to make extensive alterations and in fact to renovate the structure. Plans that would better fit the building for its sacred purpose, give greater seating accommodation and render it a credit to our town, were prepared by the architect, Mr. John E. Belcher. Liberal subscriptions were at once forthcoming and the work was commenced, but owing to the nature of the undertaking, further alterations being found necessary as it proceeded, and from other causes, the progress was slow. At length, however, the restoration is now happily completed, and the congregation of St. John's have a church of which they may well be proud.

THE BUILDING.

The exterior of the edifice as it stands on its commanding site is now very striking. The old tower, which its massive, solid appearance always made imposing, has been heightened, and the summit is appropriately finished with embattlements of cut stone. Its lower portion is now opened as a porch making the principal entrance, and looks handsome with its cut stonework. Larger windows have also been placed in the tower, the stonework of which has been repointed.

A new roof has been placed on the nave and the buttresses have been rebuilt, the old stonework being fresh pointed so as to harmonize with the newer work. The old window panes have also been replaced by others of more appropriate design. At the north end of the nave the wall has been removed and a handsome chancel has been added, with an organ chamber on the west side and vestry on the east, where an additional entrance has been constructed. The whole exterior now presents a very appropriate and handsome appearance.

THE INTERIOR.

The view of the interior as one enters by the porch under the tower, is very striking in the great improvement that is manifested. The ceilings of the nave and the aisles are designed in the late Gothic style to harmonize with the windows, and are of oiled pine in panels, the Gothic ribs of which and the girding are of the same material, stained of a darker color. The removal of the organ loft and gallery is a very great improvement. The walls have been repointed, and a dado has been painted of a rich maroon tint. The old box pews have been removed, and in their place are more appropriate seats of a good but simple design. The enlarged windows, with their handsome tracery of perpendicular Gothic, are filled with stained glass of rich but not too gorgeous coloring. The window over the entrance is a memorial one, bearing the inscription:

"Erected by the ladies of the congregation to the memory of Arthur Romyen Beck, lieutenant in the Royal Navy, lost with the crew of H.M.S. Atalanta, in February, 1880."

In the east aisle are three other handsome memorial windows, dedicated respectively by Catherine Beck to the memory of her father and mother; by his widow and children to the memory of George Edward Shaw; and by Charlotte Pelham Roche to the memory of her parents.

The new chancel is the most impressive feature of the improvements. It opens from the nave with a bold Gothic moulded arch, supported by dwarfed columns in their turn carried by corbels from the lower panels of the opening. It is roofed in the same manner as the nave and aisle, though more brightly ornamented. The stained window is a triple light, that in the centre having a well designed figure of St. John the Evangelist, and those on each side bearing the words: "The Lord shall be thine everlasting light," and "The Lord is King forever and ever." The windows on the side walls of the chancel are decorated with representations of the baptismal font and the communion cup. The communion table is raised upon three steps and is covered with a handsome cloth, and is separated from the body of the chancel by a newly designed Gothic chancel rail; the pulpit, lectern and choir benches are designed to harmonize.

THE ORGAN.

The new organ is a first class instrument, far surpassing anything that we have had in Peterborough, and has not many rivals in the Province. Some of the stops possess great sweetness and purity of tone, and the effect of the full power of the instrument reminds one of the magnificent organs in the grand old cathedrals of Europe. The acoustic property of the church seems to be unusually good, and in this respect full justice will be done to the music, both of the organ and the choir.

This fine instrument has 19 sounding stops with the usual accessory movement, and over a thousand pipes. These are arranged as follows:—

GRAND ORGAN.
Stops.	Feet.
1 Bourdon.....	16
2 Open Diapason.....	8
3 Mellow.....	8
4 Mellow Bass.....	8
5 Dulciana.....	8
6 Principal.....	4
7 Twelfth.....	4
8 Fifteenth.....	4
9 Trumpet.....	8
10 Mixture.....	3 ranks.

SMALL ORGAN.
1 Organ Principal.....	8
2 Stopped diapason, treble.....	8
3 Stopped diapason, bass.....	8
4 Viol di Gamba.....	8
5 Octave.....	4
6 Horn flue.....	4
7 Oboe.....	4

PEDAL ORGAN.
1 Bourdon.....	16
2 Open Diapason.....	16

ACCESSORIES.
1 Pedal to great.....
2 Pedal to swell.....
3 Great to swell.....
4 Pedal check.....
5 Forte piano and tremolo.....

It is a 2 manual and pedal organ; manual compass, C to A 3. Pedal compass, C to D.

The organ chamber is to the western side of the chancel, and opens into the nave and chancel. That in the chancel contains the elegant front of the instrument. The exposed part of the pipes is richly illuminated in blue and gold, and the woodwork is of white oak handsomely carved.

The organ was manufactured by Messrs. S. R. Warren & Son, of Toronto, and does great credit to those celebrated makers. Its cost was $2,750. It is proposed to have it blown by an hydraulic engine as soon as the waterworks are running.

The heating, lighting, and ventilation have been well arranged and amply provided for. Altogether the new church as now renovated and re-opened for divine service must give full satisfaction to the congregation. It does great credit to the architect, Mr. John E. Belcher, whose designs were efficiently carried out by the late Mr. David Carlisle and Mr. A. Rutherford. Nor must we omit to do justice to the unwavering zeal and energy of Mr. A. P. Poussette, upon whom, as the people's churchwarden, most of the responsibility has fallen.

THE OPENING SERVICES.

To-day services were held to celebrate the re-opening of the church. At eight o'clock there was an early celebration of the Communion. At eleven the church was crowded by the congregation assembled to join in the services in which the Bishop of the diocese with a large number of the clergy were to take part.

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Swetnam, Bishop of Toronto, entered the church, being preceded by the choir in surplices, and by the clergyman present, a procession of hymn being sung. The following were among the clergy in attendance:—The Ven. J. Wilson, Archdeacon of Peterborough; the Rev. Dr. Smith, of Oshawa; the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, Rector of Peterborough and Rural Dean; the Rev. Messrs. V. Clement, Rector of Lindsay; J. W. Burke, Rector of Belleville; W. C. Bradshaw, Ashburnham, P. Harding, Apsey, J. W. Foster, Millbrook, W. Jupp, Penetanguishene, E. Soward, Minden, J. W. McLeary, Norwood, J. McCleary, Hastings, O. P. Ford, Woodbridge, A. Macnab, D. D. Bowmanville, J. Carry, Port Perry, J. E. Cooper, Cambridge, and H. C. Avant, Hulsburg.

The service commenced by matins which were said by the Rev. Mr. Avant.

The Rev. Dr. McNabb and the Rev. J. Carry read the lesson.

The anti-Communion service was read by the Bishop of Toronto, the epistle and gospel being read by the Rev. J. W. Burke, and the Ven. Archdeacon Wilson.

His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto then preached a sermon on the text:—
"The glory of this latter house shall be greater than the former, saith the Lord of Hosts."
—ZACHARIAH II, v.

After a description of the events connected with the rebuilding of the Temple at Jerusalem, and its completion at length after great difficulties and obstacles had been overcome, the preacher considered in what the greater glory of the latter house consisted, since it was not so magnificent and sumptuous. It consisted in the greater spiritual blessings. He then called upon the congregation to rejoice, and he congratulated them on the external glory of their house of prayer brought about by the renovation by which it has been so greatly improved. It was now fitted by its solemnities and accessories for holy worship, for which it was consecrated. He hoped that rich spiritual benefits would result to the worshippers there from the services and the Holy Sacraments. He rejoiced that these great improvements had been effected without a heavy burden of debt being placed upon the congregation, which had carried it out by their free gifts. One of the greatest glories of the Anglican Church was its stately cathedrals with their time honoured, grand services. Though in a young country like ours, we could not expect this, we should try to imitate the example thus set to us, and we should exult in such instances as this of an improvement, but we must never forget that the greater glory was in spiritual blessings, the worship in spirit and in truth. He drew a contrast between the Jewish dispensation with its gorgeous ceremonial, and the Christian dispensation with its greater spiritual privileges. Then he proceeded to dwell upon the Christian's future in the next world.

The Rector then read the offertory sentences, the collection being appropriated toward the cost of the new organ.

Then followed the Holy Communion, the Bishop being the celebrant, assisted by the Rev. V. Clement.

The Bishop, preceded by the clergy and choir, then left the church in procession.

Throughout the services the music added greatly to their devotional character. The new organ gave forth peals of melody, under the skilful hands, guided by a cultivated taste, of the organist, Mr. C. W. Ewing, (late of London, England,) who in his capacity of choir-master has also ably turned to account the excellent material at his command, the choir consisting of Messrs. A. P. Poussette, N. D. Beck, Choate, A. Macdonald, A. Elliott, C. Shaw, G. Brown, A. D. Browne, Eustace, Butcher, Mrs. Seymour, Misses Clara Clouston, Minnie Errett, Addie Errett, Cottingham, Choate, Addie Choate, Walton, Ida Walton, and Isabella Shaw.

The Venite, Benedictus, and Nunc Dimittis, were sung to Gregorian tones. The Te Deum was composed by Mr. Ewing, the organist of the church, especially for the occasion, and was modelled on Gregorian tones. The hymns sung were selected from Hymns Ancient and Modern.

The Rector and the congregation are to be alike congratulated on the re-opening of this fine church, so completely renovated as to have all the advantages of a new building, fitly designed and adorned for its sacred object, yet being still the old fabric endeared by tender associations to so many of the worshippers within its walls. Both within and without its appearance testifies to a belief that no niggard hand should be employed in providing a place wherein to worship the Giver of all good gifts.

The ceremonies connected with the re-opening of the church have also been fitly performed and in such a manner as to do justice to an occasion of so much importance.

BISHOP JAMOT'S LETTER.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR, It is but a short time since the citizens of Peterborough, many Protestants as well as Romanists, assembled to welcome Monsignor Jamot to his new See, and at a banquet given in his honour Protestants as well as Romanists drank to the toast of His Holiness the Pope, implicitly wishing him long life and prosperity in the cause which the former are supposed to protest against. What, then, do these Protestants now think of themselves when they find that the "Most Reverend" the Bishop of Peterborough writes to "His Grace" the Archbishop that Protestants are "the patrons of immoral literature" and "are ready to sacrifice conscience, Christianity and reason itself to uphold a doctrine which they know well is wrong." Does this latter sentence specially refer to the Peterborough Protestants who drank to His Holiness the Pope, thereby assisting to uphold or countenancing "a doctrine they knew to be wrong"? Surely the "Most Reverend" might have dealt more tenderly with the Protestants after their treatment of him at the aforesaid banquet, where, by-the-by, he made such profession of good will towards them.

Yours, etc.

SPECTATOR.

Oct. 24th, 1882.
[Though we regret that the letter of the Bishop of Peterborough to the Archbishop of Toronto was written and published, and cannot agree with His Lordship, believing as we do that the Archbishop was not justified by the circumstances in intervening in a political contest or visiting upon a party his indignation against an individual, yet we think our correspondent misinterprets the censure of Bishop Jamot. It appears to us that the Bishop especially addresses his rebukes, not to Protestants, but to the editor of the Mail, who is a Roman Catholic, a fact that has been so widely proclaimed of late, that it would be a mere affectation of regard for the principle of journalistic anonymity to ignore it. The tone of the Bishop's letter is, it seems to us, as of one hurt by the unexpected antagonism of a friend. If we are right, His Lordship is not open to censure for an attack upon Protestants, whatever other objection may be taken to his letter. —

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 1.—Mr. T. Menzies, J.P., presided on the bench.

Owen Baker was charged with having been drunk and disorderly on Tuesday. He admitted the charge, said he was very sorry for it, and pleaded that this was his first appearance in court. He was fined $1, which he paid.

The American Sports.

The American gentlemen who have been hunting in the north, and in whose honour the ball at Purser's Hotel, Lakeside, was got up, departed on the early train this morning, taking with them a large number of fine deer, the reward of their marksmanship.

Drowned.

It is reported that Mr. Robert Young, son of Mr. P. Young, ex., was drowned in Honey Lake on Tuesday, while on a hunting expedition. His brother in Ashburnham received a telegram to-day summoning him to Lakeside, and conveying to him the sad intelligence.

A Runaway.

A team of horses attached to a wagon containing shingle blocks, belonging to Mr. Hazlett, became frightened near the mill this morning and ran away. They ran to the corner of Water street, where the blocks were thrown out, and proceeded down the street to Brock street, where they were caught. The wagon was little damaged and the horses were uninjured.

In Toronto.

Since the removal of Dr. M. Souville's Throat and Lung Institute to his new quarters, 173 Church street, hundreds suffering from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and many diseases of the throat and lungs have received treatment by his new and wonderful instrument, the spirometer, which conveys medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased. Physicians and sufferers can try it free. Poor people bearing certificate will be furnished with spirometer free. Write enclosing stamp for pamphlet giving full particulars, to Dr. M. Souville, ex-aid surgeon of the French army, 173 Church street Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

NEVER NEGLECT IT.—If you suffer from a cough, never neglect it: it is no trifling matter, and might lead to a speedily fatal disease of the lungs. Hayward's Pectoral Balsam will allay all irritation of the mucous membrane by its soothing, healing power: it cures bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung complaints.

SYSTEM OF WATERWORKS.

The Kingston British Whig under the heading "Cheap System" gives the following account of the arrangements of the Corporation of Brockville with the contractors of the Waterworks:—

"Messrs. Berger & Beique, Montreal proprietors of the St. Henri and Ste. Conception Waterworks, have received the contract from the Corporation of Brockville to place eighty-five hydrants in the streets of that city immediately—the number to be afterwards increased to one hundred. The witness says the agreement is that the Corporation pays the contractors a rent of $50 a year for fifty years for each hydrant, with a right to purchase the whole at the end of ten years, at a price to be fixed by arbitration. The contractors intend to erect two brick buildings, measuring 35 feet by 40 and 35 feet by 60 respectively, besides a coal shed 70 feet by 140. The engine will be capable of pumping up three million gallons of water from the St. Lawrence every twenty-four hours. The same waterworks will supply the Grand Trunk—who now pay nearly $4,000 a year for water—at $3,000 a year and the Canadian Pacific at $1,000. Any of the citizens who wish it may also arrange to connect with the system. The Chairman of the Kingston Waterworks Committee, Ald. McIntyre, was shown the newspaper extract, and believed that the system described by it would be adaptable to Kingston. Messrs. Berger & Beique will probably be invited to enter into correspondence with those acting on behalf of this city in a new water scheme."

TORONTO.

At the meeting on Saturday of the Toronto Teachers' Association, the question of the introduction of the Bible into the public schools was discussed. Inspector Hughes stated that some time ago he had communicated with the city clergymen, including Archbishop Lynch, with a view to gathering their opinions as to the suitability of making a series of extracts for reading in the schools. All the clergy favorably entertained the plan. When the inspector came to examine the extracts sent in, he found that in nearly all cases the same passages were chosen.

Quite a row occurred on Sunday night at the doors of the collection on Alice street where the Salvation Army were holding a meeting. A number of roughs congregated at the door and insulted the people passing. They were dispersed by the police.

Mr. BELFORD, the publisher, was arrested for not supporting his wife by Detective Reid, who when warned that his warrant was illegal said, "I will arrest you anyway, you d—d infidel," and on Mr. Belford making some resistance smashed Mr. Belford's face with his baton, breaking two of the bones of his nose, so that now he is threatened with erysipelas.

An Ancient Timepiece.

A few days ago an ancient clock from the Richelieu Navigation Company found its way into the store of Mr. Burke, watchmaker, St. James street, for repairs. It is 190 years old and belonged to the Royal Mail line in succession, afterwards falling into the hands of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company. In consequence of its history a lover of antiquities offered $50 for its possession, but his offer was declined.—Whig.

Prisoners were taken before the magistrates on Wednesday and fined 20s. with costs, or 14 days.—Standard (Kin.) News, Oct. 13.

It is supposed that the troops were in the steamboat cabin at the time the firing commenced, and they did not have a well defined knowledge whence the attack came, and some of them mistook the crowd on the river bank for the aggressors. Last month McGeech made a purchase of puts at 95 cents for No. 2 spring wheat deliverable at any time before the end of the year. Yesterday quotations were 94, and the sellers made arrangements to deliver. McGeech refused to receive, as No. 2 wheat, the mixed wheat now sold here. He asserts that the grain the sellers proposed to deliver was adulterated and unmerchantable.

A Clergyman Seizes a Steeple.

Yesterday afternoon, Oct. 6, an unusual ceremony took place at St. Paul's Church, Hagerston. A new spire has been erected, thus completing the structure, the stone of which was laid in 1859. The vicar, the Rev. S. J. Jones, mounted the scaffolding to the height of 103 feet; and attired in his clerical and academic garb, placed in position the final cross, after which some brief prayers were said by the vicar. The congregation in the streets below, including 700 school children, then sang "The Church's One Foundation" and the vicar, having from his exalted position pronounced the benediction, descended and received the hearty congratulations of the church-wardens and other friends on the completion of the work. Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1882.

The bye election in Muskoka has resulted in the seat being retained by the Mowat Administration, their candidate, Mr. Bettos, being elected. When we consider the facts of the great power of the Local Government in a newly settled country and the unscrupulous way they make of it, the concentration upon the constituency of all the efforts of Mr. Mowat and his colleagues, and especially the presence of Mr. Pardee with full power to reward all supporters and new converts out of the Provincial treasury, we cannot be surprised at the result. At the next general election Mr. Mowat and his colleagues will not be able thus to devote their attention to one constituency, and the contest will be on a fair footing.

AN UNGRATEFUL PARTY.

The Independent Montreal Star says:—
“The Reform party is open to the charge of ingratitude in its treatment of the men who have spent many years of their lives in its service. The late John Sandfield Macdonald, Ontario's first and best premier, was overthrown by the treachery of his own party because he took a more patriotic view of how the first government of Ontario should be formed than they could appreciate. Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, after the most devoted service, having kept his party together in a way which has not been managed since, was coldly disposed from the leadership without a shadow of compunction. Sir Richard Cartwright, who has faithfully labored to the best of his ability and according to his own ideas, whether mistaken or not, for the benefit of his party, is held in the lightest estimation now, his friends not seeming to regret that the country will miss an able member from its council board.”

ANOTHER MODEL ANSWER.

The daily Ontario says:—
“From every quarter of the Province evidence is accumulating which proves the trickiness of the average Tory assessor.”
It is surprising what information that journal possesses as to the nature of the assessment in every quarter of the Province and what want of attention it bestows on the illegal acts of its own friends in this section.
On the revelations in the Thurlow assessment, the same journal has had nothing to say except to make excuses for Mr. Brunnell, and as yet it seems not to have heard of the decision of the Voters' List Court in Tyndinaga. For fear it might never know the facts of the case, we will enlighten it. When the assessors of Tyndinaga were appointed, the Reeve of that municipality, in open Council, said he would probably be interested personally in the assessment, and hoped that the township would be assessed in strict accordance with the law; that every person entitled to a vote should be entered on the Voters' List without any distinction as to his political creed or religion. Mr. Donald Anderson repeated the wish to have the township assessed so as not to have any change demanded necessary at the Voters' List Court. And the Clerk charged the assessors to assess the township properly when giving them their books.
It having been reported that the Grit assessor, Mr. John Agon, had asserted at a meeting of the Reform Association that he wanted Mr. White's seat contested so he (Agon) had so “fixed” the rolls so as to give the Grits a majority of fifty, a rigid enquiry was instituted. At the Voters' List Court twenty-five Grit votes were struck off the list, twelve Conservative votes added, and four Conservative votes struck off, making a total Conservative gain of thirty-three votes. It would seem that according to Grit rule “the end justifies the means” and no means could be too base to accomplish the disfranchisement of Conservative voters. Under Grit rule we will have “model reform,” of which the assessments of Thurlow and Tyndinaga are examples.—Bellefleur Intelligence.

A PROTEST.

The following letter has been published:—
To their Lordships, the Archbishop and Bishops of Ontario:
The undersigned, occupying, with the consent of their countrymen and by nomination of the Crown, positions in the Government of the Dominion and in the Senate, representing the Catholics of Ontario, desire to approach your Lordships for the purpose of making certain explanations and stating the views they entertain regarding the current politics of the country.
At the outset they desire to state their complete confidence in the wisdom of your Lordships as the guardians of Catholic faith and morals in this province; and in regard to the current controversy concerning the character of the text-books to be used in the matriculation examinations for the High Schools and Universities they submit to any decision of the authorities of the Church.
But the line of distinction between what is of faith and morals, and what is of purely political character, in public affairs, is a line recognized by the Church, and is very necessary to be maintained, alike for the dignity of the Church and for the peace and perfect civil freedom of the people; and it is for the purpose of stating their views as to the maintenance of that distinction that the undersigned address your Lordships at this time and in this manner.

There are two political parties in this country, one calling itself the Conservative or Liberal Conservative, the other the Liberal or Reform party; each claiming the confidence of the country, each having a certain following among the people, each having certain traditions and a certain policy, and each finding a certain measure of support among the Catholic people.

The undersigned in common with large numbers of their Catholic fellow-countrymen, are in alliance with the Conservative or Liberal Conservative party. They recognize in that party and in its policy the strongest claim on their support as citizens; and as Catholics they declare that the history of the country will show that it is from this party alone that the Catholic people have received fair representation in the Cabinet and in the Senate, a fair distribution of the public patronage, and a fair support at all times for Catholic candidates at the polls. On the other hand they assert with confidence that the relation between the Liberal or Reform party and the Catholic people have been most unsatisfactory to the latter. When the Reform party had power to use and patronage to bestow the Catholic people, even that portion of the Catholic people in direct alliance with them, remained without representation of a proper character in the Government and the Senate; Catholic candidates were openly abandoned by the Liberals at the polls; and the public patronage was distributed without regard to their interests under a system of administration which practically recognized such interests as regarded the rest of the population. And for several years at an earlier period than this, the Catholic Church, its doctrines, ceremonies, religious order, bishops, priests, and people were the victims of the incessant and blasphemous vituperation of the recognized organs of the Liberal party; while in the press, in the legislature, and at the polls the Conservative party acted in friendly accord with and support of the Catholic Church and people.

The alliance between the two parties in Dominion and in Provincial affairs is now complete. The Conservatives and Reformers of Ontario are now in alliance with the Conservative or Reformers of the Dominion. Each has made public profession of this union. And as Catholics, the undersigned, in common with thousands of their fellow-Catholics, are desirous of legitimately giving their aid to their political friends in this Province, in the fullest confidence that their policy will be as just and their acts as generous as in Dominion affairs. Though the Conservative party in Ontario have been for years in Opposition, there is nothing in the published speeches of their leaders or in their published platform adopted in Convention with which as citizens they do not heartily concur, and nothing that as Catholics they are called on to disagree with. Our Separate School system owes much to the wisdom of the Conservative party. That party is supported in the Legislature by some of our fellow-Catholics. They have nominated several of our fellow-Catholics as their candidates; and when in power they will be as faithful to their Catholic friends as the Catholic Conservatives have been to them.

The undersigned have seen with pain and anxiety that His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto holds views extremely hostile to the Liberal Conservative party. Not content with holding these views in private, His Grace has openly declared his political hostility to our party in his pulpit, and has endeavored to fasten on those Catholics who are Conservatives the stigma of being in alliance with a party antagonistic to the interests of the Church. His Grace has also actively interfered in elections by means of letters appealing to the Catholic electors, even in a case where a Catholic was a Conservative candidate, and it is alleged, materially aided in securing his defeat.

The undersigned respectfully represent to your Lordships the unwisdom and impropriety of such action on the part of the Archbishop. It is calculated to lower the dignity of his high office and lessen respect for the teachings of the pulpit.

It is calculated to sow dissensions among our people and prevent harmonious action in matters of essential moment to at least the temporal welfare of the Church.

It is likely to prevent the nomination of Catholics to candidatures for public positions, and to deprive them of all opportunities for an honorable public career.

It is likely to bring the Church into the secular courts on a charge of undue influence at elections.

And especially it is eminently calculated to produce the most damaging results in an uprising of anti-Catholic feeling in a mixed community like our own, an uprising which could not be confined to one party, but would spread to both, and exclude Catholics from their due share of influence in public affairs.

The undersigned confidently approach your Lordships with these representations, in the full assurance that in any public declaration that may be made on this subject, your Lordships will relieve Conservative Catholics from the unjust and offensive odium cast on them by His Grace of Toronto, and will in private use your influence to prevent the pulpit of the Metropolitan Cathedral from being used to denounce them.

In concluding this protest, the undersigned submit for the consideration of your Lordships the following language, alleged in a leading journal to have been used by His Grace in his pulpit at St. Michael's on a Sunday:—

“There are two kinds of Irish, the noble Irish who might be in rage, but have a true nobility of spirit, and the bastard Irish who would sell themselves for a situation. Some Catholics would keep in with the Orangemen, and let in the Orange Government. As far as we can we will prevent the present Ontario Government being put out.”

If this language is correctly reported it is obviously most offensive to all Conservative Catholics, and most improper to be used in the pulpit. It has been published for several days, and has been neither denied nor explained. Our information leads us to believe that the report is not, in the main, incorrect, and as Conservative Catholics we are compelled to protest in the strongest manner against such unjustifiable and injurious language.

THE FIRST PRIZE.

THE FIRST BLAST.—The Gazette says that work on the Trent Valley Canal commenced in that village on the 17th inst., and the force employed has gradually increased until there are now about sixty men busy at the cut, and four carts and three waggons drawing the excavated material away. The depth reached varies so greatly that it is impossible to say what it will average, for while at the end nearest Colborne street the solid rock was struck a few inches below the surface, at other spots it has not yet been reached, and about the middle of the cut, where there is a rise in the ground, as much as five or six feet of earth, gravel, and thin layers of rock will be removed before blasting will become necessary, and a determined effort is being made to get it out of the way before frost sets in. Of course a work of so much magnitude and importance as the Trent Valley Canal could not be commenced without some sort of inaugural ceremonies. Thursday of this week was advertised as the date of the proceedings, which were to consist of a big blast from the face of the rock above the old steamboat wharf below the falls, and a banquet at the Simpson House in the evening. Accordingly a row of holes fourteen feet deep were drilled in the rock and were then charged with explosives. Mr. Cameron arrived by the afternoon train, and was escorted from the railway station by procession consisting of the village band, the employees of the contractors in carts and waggons, and a large and varied assortment of leading citizens. The work of connecting the wires leading from the perforations in the rock to an electric battery in the hall of the McArthur House was soon completed, and the wife of our worthy reeve, who had kindly consented to send the same lightning on its mission of destruction, performed that duty in the most scientific and satisfactory manner. A mass of rock thirty feet long, ten feet wide and fourteen feet deep was displaced and broken into pieces that could easily be dealt with. In the evening came the banquet, which was most numerously attended than was anticipated, about a hundred and forty sitting down from first to last at the festive board.

The New Four Dollar Notes.

Assistant Receiver Fraser has received the first batch of the new four-dollar notes. They have been issued to the banks. The new bill, though containing no fancy work, has a very handsome appearance. It is printed on paper of very superior quality, which is obtained from England, and is made with a watermark containing the words “Dominion” and “of Canada,” forming the transverse bars of a St. Andrew's cross, between the arms of which are the rose, thistle, shamrock, and maple leaf. This design can scarcely be distinguished beneath the engraving of the bill. A well executed portrait of the Marquis of Lorne occupies the centre of the engraving on the face of the bill, and the signature of J. M. Courtney occupies the place at the foot where “T. D. Harrington” appears on the old bills. In the lower right-hand corner the great seal of Canada in light red is separately stamped, thus rendering imitation doubly difficult. The reverse of the bill contains the words “dominion of Canada,” instead of the old legend “Payable at Toronto,” or some other place, which the note appears to be, as it is of equal value in all parts of the Dominion.—World.

A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: “I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly two years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call it Bitters, ‘The Doctor.’ It is certainly placed by my family doctor even since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally, who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver and Head, such as Dyspepsia, indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, as it cures, Constipation, Impurities of the blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of ‘The Doctor,’ and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters.”

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Cleaning the Streets.

The loose stones which have been lying on the streets since the waterworks trenches were dug are being gathered up and carted off. None too soon.

The Cells.

Four young men sought and found shelter in the police cells last night. No prisoners were arrested, so that they were the only occupants of the cells.

Personal.

The Rev. W. Mitchell, formerly of Millbrook and Centerville, and more recently of St. John, N. B., will preach in Springville on Sabbath morning at 11.30 o'clock.

Mill Machinery.

A quantity of mill machinery, including an eighty horse power engine, was shipped to-day at the Midland station for Parry Harbour. It was manufactured at Mr. Wm Hamilton's foundry, and the engine, before being shipped, was photographed by Mr. G. B. Sproule.

A Pleasant Gathering.

On Wednesday evening Mr. W. J. Devlin, who recently withdrew from the ranks of bachelorhood, entertained a number of his young gentlemen friends, including many members of the Lacrosse Club, at an oyster supper. A very pleasant evening was spent, and warm wishes were expressed for a happy future for the newly wedded couple.

Midland Railway Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending Oct. 28th, 1882, was as follows:—Passenger and mail, $5,993.84; freight, $20,931.82; total, $26,925.66; as compared with $21,995.75 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $4,929.91; and the aggregate traffic to date is $687,300.49, being an increase of $176,238.99 over 1881.

A Man with Many Names.

The Port Hope Guide contains the following paragraph:—
"The Garden Hill sheep thief it seems has quite a number of aliases. In Larkfield his name was Andrew, in Peterborough Clifford, and at Garden Hill Alexander. It is supposed his real name is James Alexander Gibson. The crown attorney is preparing several indictments against him. He will likely get his deserts now."

The Examiner.

Following in our footsteps, the Peterborough Examiner has made extensive improvements, including the enlargement of the paper. This is a very satisfactory indication of the prosperity and progress of our town, in which we congratulate our contemporary in having its share. For a town, not yet arrived at the rank of a city, Peterborough certainly is not behindhand in respect to its local press.

The O. & Q.

The work on the cut for the Ontario & Quebec Railway across Burnham's Point, Ashburnham, is being pushed forward by about thirty-five men and twenty teams. Work has also been commenced near the Roman Catholic Cemetery, in the town, where a good force of men has been put on. Messrs. Hendrie & McDermid, the contractors, are advertising for more men to work on their contract.

Telegraph Poles.

The Great Northwestern Telegraph Company in compliance with the request of the council, have determined to take down the telegraph poles that disfigure George street. The line will be carried from the railway track up Brook street to the head office, opposite to which alone there will be one pole that is absolutely necessary. The new poles are to be carefully selected, and are to be trimmed and painted, so as to be as little of an eye-sore as possible. This welcome change is to be made at once.

The Trent Works.

We take the following from the Toronto World, which, although its leanings are on the Liberal side, does not agree with the Reform leaders who opposed the construction of these works:—

"Mr. A. P. Macdonald, the contractor for the locks at Fenelon Falls, is now busily engaged in making preparations for the work. He has visited Bobcaygeon several times in connection with the opening of a quarry, and it is understood that he has concluded an agreement with Mr. Wm. Freeman, on Pigeon Lake, for a quarry on the lake shore. A large force of men are to be put on at once, who will be employed through the winter in preparing the stone and getting it ready for shipment in the spring. The works at Fenelon and Bobcaygeon will be of great local benefit. They will open up a grand stretch of navigation, and exercise a powerful influence in developing those immense resources for which this district is renowned."

Separate School Board.

A regular meeting of the Separate School Board will be held this evening at the Murray Street School at 7.30.

Vital Statistics.

The number of births, marriages and deaths which took place in the town during the month of October, as registered, are as follows, and show a gain of one to the numbers of the population:—

Births	13
Marriages	5
Deaths	12

Railway Notes.

An exchange says that the Nanawau, Tamworth, & Quebec Railway has been at a standstill for a time, but the company is endeavoring to infuse new life into the enterprise at the present time. A gentleman has made a proposition to continue the line to Tamworth by July 1, 1883, provided the company raises $25,000 more of capital stock.

The Fifth of November.

Next Sunday being the 5th of November, the anniversary of three events, the gunpowder plot, the landing of King William III. in England and the battle of Inverness, the members of the Orange and True Blue Lodges of Peterborough will attend divine service in a body at the George Street Methodist Church, when a sermon, especially for the occasion, will be preached by the Rev. John Shaw.

Thoroughbred Stock Sales.

At Mr. Redmond's sale on Wednesday eight through-bred Durham heifers realized the sum of $546—one going to Mr. John Garbutt of Smith at $107; six bull calves (from five to seven months old) $178 and five pure bred pigs $68.50, among the buyers were Messrs. John Armstrong, Brighton, Jas. Campbell, North Monaghan; and D. Johnston, Seymour. Everything in the hall was sold with the exception of one heifer.

St. John's Church Opening.

There was a crowded congregation on Wednesday evening at St. John's Church for the concluding service of the re-opening, many being obliged to stand. The Bishop and clergy robed in the chapel, and with the surpliced entered the church singing "All Hail, the Power of Jesus' Name" as a processional. The Rev. H. C. Avant read the prayers, the Rev. O. P. Ford read the lessons, and the Rev. J. W. Burke preached an appropriate sermon on the text, "This is none other but the House of God; this is the Gate of Heaven;" Gen. xlviii. 17. The singing was particularly good, and the organist made a most effective display of the capabilities of the new organ in his voluntary during the offertory. The floral decorations were very beautiful and effectively arrayed, some splendid specimens being placed at each side of the entrance to the chancel and to the sanctuary. The communion table, font, &c., were also beautifully decorated with flowers.

THE RAILWAY BRIDGE.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The old proverb, that if you give certain parties an inch they will take an ell, is likely to prove true in the case of the Ontario & Quebec Railway. They asked the Town Council of Peterborough to permit them to build a bridge without a swing, which request the council granted at once without giving any reason whatever for thus destroying the river front of the town. As the company find the people of Peterborough so ready to give them whatever they ask, they propose now to take the balance of what they require without asking, and are about to fill in the eastern side of the river channel for about three hundred feet or so with a permanent embankment. If this is allowed it will effectively prevent the working of my mill, and entirely destroy my mill property. I shall endeavor to prevent this outrage for my own interests, but I should think that it was a matter that concerned everyone in Peterborough, that the river at high water should not be flooded back upon the low-lying portion of the town. As I understand the matter, it rests with the Dominion Government to grant permission to build this bridge, and I therefore feel safe as a government that would not tolerate a Rivers and Streams Bill, is not likely to allow this whole sale confiscation of vested interests.

Yours, &c.,

GEORGE C. ROGERS

Ashburnham, Nov. 2, 1882.

In Many Tongues.

Thomas Coffey, of the Catholic Record, has in his possession a remarkable souvenir in the form of a parchment upon which is written the Lord's prayer in seventy-six different languages. It was brought by a priest from Rome, where it was secured from the Propaganda. The parchment is that of various students of the Church of Rome, who in the past have received religious training in Rome.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

AS A BRAIN TONIC.

Dr. E. W. Robertson, Cleveland, O., says: "From my experience can cordially recommend it as a brain and nerve tonic, especially in nervous debility, nervous dyspepsia, etc., etc."

In Toronto.

Since the removal of Dr. M. Souville's Throat and Lung Institute to his new quarters, 173 Church street, hundreds suffering from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and many diseases of the throat and lungs have received treatment by his new and wonderful instrument, the spirometer, which conveys medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased. Physicians and sufferers can try it free. Poor people bearing certificate will be furnished with spirometer free. Write enclosing stamp for pamphlet giving full particulars, to Dr. M. Souville, ex-side surgeon of the French army, 173 Church street Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

The Echoes of the Mother's Tongue.

Notice a group of little children on the sidewalk and listen to their artless talk. Their tones are echoes of the tones they hear in the nursery. If their mothers habitually speak with gentleness, and without raising their voices in fretfulness or anger, gentle speech will be heard from the little lips. If, on the contrary, it is the mother's way to show irritation in her manner and petulance in her reproaches, you will not be long in discovering it, from the unconscious revelations of the little ones at play. A child who scolds and stamps her tiny foot has heard sharp words and seen passionate gestures, or else she would never have learned to indulge in such behaviour.—Christian Intelligencer.

NOW!

Now is the time to make changes in your UNDERWEAR. Don't put it off until you get chilled, but do it right NOW, thereby saving your health, and may be your life. It is a mistaken idea that some people have to put off as long as possible or just when the thermometer goes down below zero to put on their underwear. Be prepared in time, and when the chilled northern blast comes you are safe. Another word of advice, if you have not yet laid in your stock of underwear, half hose, gloves, mitts and everything needed in your wardrobe, go to T. DOLAN & CO. at once, where you will be served right.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1892.

JUDGE CLARKE, the present junior judge of Northumberland and Durham, has been appointed county judge vice Judge Boswell, who retires on a pension, and Mr. Thos. Benson, Q. C., of Port Hope, has been appointed junior judge in the stead of Mr. Clarke.

We have given our readers a series of facts and figures from the public records, which do not speak very highly of either the economy or the honesty of the Mowat Administration. Yet in spite of our invitation of criticism, no one ventures to dispute the absolute accuracy of our facts and figures. If we had made errors they would soon be pointed out.

THE LATE MR. J. W. DUNFORD.

The Lindsay Post has the following obituary notice of the late Mr. J. W. Dunford, who has relatives in Peterborough and its vicinity:—

"We deeply regret to have to record the death of James Wickes Dunford, one of the oldest and most prominent residents in the county, at the age of sixty-nine years. For some time past Mr. Dunford's health had not been good, but he bore his age remarkably well, and discharged his accustomed round of duties in his usual quiet but efficient manner. A few days ago a chronic ailment assumed an alarming character, and he passed away on Wednesday evening. He was born in the town of Dursley, Gloucester, England, on the 7th of January, 1814. He was the eldest son of the Rev. James Hartley Dunford, rector of Fetherthorpe and vicar of Frampton-on-Severn, Gloucestershire, England. The deceased with his brother, Hartley Dunford, the present registrar of the county, came to this country in 1837, and his father followed him with the entire family the following year. They settled on the property in Verulam ever since known as 'The Beehive,' that part of the county then and for some time after being the home of many such families. The deceased was for many years reeve of the township, and on all occasions rendered great service to the early settlers which his knowledge and energy enabled him to do in a more than ordinary manner. He represented the county in the old legislative assembly of Upper and Lower Canada when the seat of government was at Quebec, being first elected in 1861, when he defeated the late John Cameron. At the next general election he was opposed by the Hon. Sydney Smith, but was again returned. He was a reformer in politics and supported the Reform administrations of the day. Some years ago he was appointed police magistrate, a position for which his legal knowledge well fitted him, and the duties of which he discharged efficiently. He was a member of the Church of England, and a regular attendant at its services. He married one of the Miss Tokers, by whom he had seven children, all of whom survive except one child who died a few years since. He was held in universal public esteem, and his many kindly qualities won and secured the affection and confidence of all who became acquainted with him. He had a large fund of anecdotes and reminiscences of old times, which it was most interesting to hear him relate. His virtues, his integrity, his somewhat old-fashioned ways, and amiable qualities will long be remembered in this country. His family will have in their affliction much and deep sympathy, not from friends alone, but from the community."

Disastrous Conflagration.

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—Shortly before seven o'clock this evening another of those devastating fires to which the Eddy factories at Hull are chronically subject broke out in the rear of the office, and soon spread to the adjoining buildings, which were immediately enveloped in a mass of flame. The view of the fire from the Parliament grounds was grand, and the streets of Ottawa were brilliantly lighted by the reflection. The match factory, nail factory, cash, door and blind factory, planing mill, two saw mills, machine shop, and office were destroyed. The loss is not less than half a million, and may reach $750,000. The amount of insurance it is supposed will be about $300,000. The Conqueror engine and the fire brigade from Ottawa were placed at the disposal of the Hull authorities, and their exertions, combined with efforts of the local brigade and the fortunate direction of the wind, prevented the destruction of the city of Hull. The fire was got under control at about ten o'clock.

Dr. E. W. Robertson, Cleveland, O., says: "From my experience can cordially recommend it as a brain and nerve tonic, especially in nervous debility, nervous dyspepsia, etc., etc."

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

A Lively Spin.

The horses attached to the Oriental bus became frightened at the railway station on Thursday evening, and ran out of the yard. They ran up Charlotte and George streets at a rapid rate of speed, and were caught near the Oriental, no damage having been done to the bus or horses.

Shooting Match.

On Thursday afternoon the rifle match between the civilians and the Peterborough Cavalry Troop took place on the range. The weather was good, only rather cold. The wind being choppy from the west made the shooting difficult. The troop team came out ahead by fifty points. We need scarcely add that the majority was larger than was expected. Below is the score:—

	Civilians.	Troop.
400 yard range.....	95	120
500 yard range.....	79	134
Total.....	174	254

This is the first match of the kind which has ever taken place here, and it is the intention of the men to keep up the competition, the object being to bring out good shots and have material to make a good team to send to the Provincial and Dominion matches. At the close of the match the winning team were invited to an oyster spread at 8 a.m. in Chamberlain's Hotel, and it is needless to say that ample justice was done the bivalves, and that a pleasant hour was spent, the only regret being the unavoidable absence of Col. Rogers. After congratulating one another and resolving to meet again some other day, the party separated. After the match at the range, the marksmen shot away the surplus ammunition for tickets for the rifle this evening, which is for the benefit of the man who lost his eye by an accident at the range, and Col. H. C. Rogers won one with a bull's-eye.

Ontario and Quebec Railway.

Messrs. Heston, Heston & Beck, on behalf of the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company, applied to the County Judge under the statute, for an order for immediate possession of the right of way through Mrs. Bryson's park lot, setting up that in August last Mrs. Bryson signed a contract agreeing to accept $321 for the right of way and all damages. Mr. Dumble, for Mrs. Bryson, resisted the application and filed affidavits, stating that Mrs. Bryson being a married woman the contract was not binding, and that the contract alleged was obtained from her without the knowledge and approval of her husband, who was at Rochester; that at the time she was ill, and suffering from nervous debility to such an extent as prevented her from exercising sound judgment in the matter, and that she signed the contract without independent advice and when she did not understand the effect of her contract. An affidavit of Mr. Bryson was also filed, in which he alleged that the contract signed by his wife was without his knowledge or approval, and setting up the infirmity and incapacity of his wife, and alleging inadequacy of price, and offering to arbitrate. His Honor held that it was only the intention of the statute that he should exercise summary power by ordering immediate possession where proceedings were pending for an arbitration, or where there was no dispute as to the validity of the agreement, and he declined to make the order.

The Railways.

Speaking of the two railways being constructed between Toronto and Ottawa, the Kingston Whig says that Sharbot Lake swarms with navies employed on the Toronto and Ottawa and Ontario and Quebec Railways. The last named road is pushed with more rapidity than the first, being controlled by a syndicate, which is building the road from Perth to within five miles of Sharbot Lake. They have it ready for rail laying. Here John Ryan assumes control, and has the contract for twenty miles beyond Sharbot Lake. Heavy cuttings will not be necessary. The line touches the K. & P. Railway near Doran's Mill, then runs parallel with it, crossing Sharbot Lake. Mr. Ryan has between 400 and 500 men at work upon his contract, which ceases near Arden. The men working in the vicinity of Sharbot Lake for the Toronto and Ottawa Railway have withdrawn. The Midland Railway Company, who own the line, are putting forth energies to complete the western section first, and the navies in large numbers are working between Peterborough and Oshawa, where there is a cut of 80,000 yards. For eight or nine miles from Perth the line is graded, and a few men are working in the vicinity of Sharbot Lake and Arden. The Toronto and Ottawa Railway crosses Sharbot Lake on the north side. The two roads run side by side for a long distance out of Perth. They keep close together until Sharbot Lake is reached. At Arden they pass, one on the north side the other on the south side, about one and a-half miles apart, and they then converge and keep separate until Toronto is almost reached.

Wooden Water Pipes.

In an account given in the London Daily Chronicle respecting the recent opening of the first portion of the inner circle extension of the Underground Railway, the writer says:—"Not the least interesting feature was the antiquarian discoveries which have been made. Besides a singular collection of Roman pottery and other things, a large portion of the old London wall was found between the Crescent (in the Minories) and Trinity Mews. The wall was 8 feet thick, composed of Kentish ragstone, and gave the employees no little trouble. Among the debris lying near the shaft in Trinity Mews was a piece of rotten timber about a yard and a half long. On examination this proved to be a portion of the wooden piping first used by the New River Company early in the seventeenth century."

THE COMET.

"Pray what is that comet made of
That at early morn doth shine,
Then fades away in the sunlight?"
Asked a little boy of mine.
Ah, what was the comet made of?
Might puzzle the wisest sage;
A question of weighty import,
Increasing with every age.

But the simple answer only,
Unconscious my lips let fall,
"All things were made for the pleasure Of Him who created all."

Though by mystery enshrouded,
We know the Eternal mind,
In goodness, as well as wisdom
And power, hath it designed.

Emotions of reverent wonder
Well may finite minds pervade,
In view of the Great Creator's Infinite power displayed,
In this grand celestial body
Winging its rapid flight
Through scenes ethereal, glorious
In its silvery beams of light.

With rapid amazement we ponder,
Comets that arrow-like fly
In thousands, and in as many Directions athwart the sky,
Crossing planetary pathways,
Winding the intricate maze,
Impinging on none, for perfect
Harmony ruleth their ways.

Though rushing with threatening aspect,
On some other orb we know,
The voice Omnipotent saith,
"So far, and no farther go."
No comets, erratic movements,
Nay, the child of God overhelm,
The loving hand of His Father
Guides each sphere in its starry realm.

The works of God, says the Psalmist,
Are great and sought out should be,
For in the marvelous fabric
The Maker Divine we see,
And in language of adoration
Devoutly may well exclaim,
The heavens declare Thy glory, Lord,
How excellent is Thy name.

Perennial Plants.

Hardy perennial plants are so little trouble, that they are too often treated with entire neglect. Beyond dividing the clumps when they have grown too large, they get but little attention. These plants ought not to bloom in the same place in the border for more than three years in succession, whether they need division or not. In autumn, or in very early spring, they should be lifted and reset in another place. Some especially the Peony, should always be moved in early autumn; if disturbed in spring, the bloom for that year will be lost. To have perennial plants at their best, the soil must be enriched, a point that is often overlooked. While some of these plants produce little or no seed, others bear a heavy crop. Unless one wishes to have seeds, the flower clusters should be cut away as soon as the bloom is over. This is necessary, not only for the sake of neatness in the borders, but for the good of the plants. Seed-bearing greatly exhausts the plant, and the vitality expended in producing a crop of seeds that are to go to waste, should be devoted to strengthen the plant for next season's bloom. Those beautiful perennial Phloxes, which now rank as florists' flowers, are given to profuse seed-bearing, and are quite sure to degenerate, and produce smaller flowers, and smaller clusters, if allowed to ripen a annual crop of seeds. Those who wish to rise hardy perennials from seeds, should recollect that the best time for sowing is as soon as the seeds are ripe. The young plants will usually become strong enough to endure the winter: if they do not, a slight covering of evergreen boughs will take them through safely. Such plants, if set out early the next spring, will usually bloom that year.—American Agriculturist.

Dogs as Soldiers.

In England we have regiments which are accompanied by various animals—in one case by a goat, in another by a deer. It is hard to understand what harm can be done by keeping these favorites, who eat but little, who can scarcely be supposed to distract the attention of the soldier from serious duties, and who afford him a certain amount of innocent amusement when his labours are at an end. There was a time when the services of dogs were turned to effective account in battle. They were used before the action to track the enemy, and at the moment of engagement were suddenly let loose in whole packs to spring at the necks of the leading men. To "let slip the dogs of war" was far from being a mere figure of speech. At the Capitol of Rome a garrison of dogs was kept as well as the famous one of geese. But here they did not acquit themselves of their sentry duty in so creditable a manner as the two notorious geese, and at the time of the invasion of the Gauls slept at their posts. The Romans also formed dogs into bodies for purposes of attack, and one commander used to place them as sentinels outside his camp. Ever since then the dog has, in different quarters of the world, taken part in military affairs. But as a warrior he has now "had his day."—St. James Gazette.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects to remove the blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1890.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Stoughton, Mass., March 18th, 1900.

R. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no lumps to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.

Respectfully yours,
CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price 50c bottle, or six bottles for $5. All drug stores have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.

Scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; while old, scarring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcules which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Starlin, and every year it is used more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. A STRANGE CASE

A Girl Who, Although Blind, Can Tell the Time and Distinguish Colours.

Physicians, in the course of their practice, meet with many strange cases, but it is not often, if ever, that they meet with a case of such a phenomenal character as that of Miss Winnie Tracey, who is at present ill at the Oriental Hotel. She is confined to her bed, is totally blind, and partially deaf, yet she can distinguish the colour of any article placed in her hands, can tell the value of a piece of coin, can distinguish persons by touching their hands, and can tell the time of day to a minute.

Miss Winnie Tracey, whose home is in Barrie, came to Peterborough and found employment in the Oriental Hotel dining-room on the 3rd of October. On the 18th of October she became indisposed, and on Saturday, the 28th, she was attacked by convulsions and lockjaw. Her sufferings continued until Tuesday night, although Dr. O'Shea, who is attending her, did all that medical skill could do to relieve her. During that time she remained conscious, but was speechless, and could only communicate her wishes to those who were attending her by signs or by writing. Her hearing was also affected, although she was not altogether deprived of that sense, and on Sunday her sight began to fail. Remedies were tried to relieve the lockjaw, but without avail, until Tuesday night. A fly blister was applied to her neck, and five minutes after it was removed the jaw opened. The convulsions also ceased, and she was enabled to converse, although she cannot speak loudly, but her sight did not return and her hearing was not entirely restored. At present she can see nothing, can hear a little, and can talk.

On Tuesday night the strange gift which Miss Tracey's sickness seems to have brought to her was accidentally discovered. Dr. O'Shea, who kindly informed us of the particulars when we called upon him, was standing beside the sick girl's bed, with others, and she was talking of dying, as she had concluded that she could not live. While talking she incidentally remarked that it was ten minutes to one o'clock, and the doctor, on looking at the clock, found that she had told the exact time. A few minutes afterwards she said, casually as before, that it was six minutes to one, and the doctor, finding that she had again told the time correctly, thought it strange that she could do so, when there was no timepiece in such a position that she could see it even if she were not blind. He questioned her shortly afterwards as to the time and was answered correctly. This led to the discovery of the phenomenon which we have mentioned.

On Thursday afternoon a REVIEW reporter called to see the sick girl, and was taken to the room by Mr. McIntyre. A gentleman who is staying at the hotel accompanied them, and in the room, besides Miss Tracey, there were her mother and Mrs. McIntyre. The girl was lying in bed, and her gaze was abstracted, as though she was thinking intently, until spoken to, and then she would rouse up. Her eyes looked natural, but on a hand being passed quickly and repeatedly past them, they did not move, nor did her eyes close when a finger was placed so close to her eye that it almost touched it. However, in order to make deception impossible, she allowed herself to be blindfolded, and tests of phenomena were made. The third gentleman who was present reached his hand to her, and, having felt it, she said, "I have not felt this hand before; this gentleman is a stranger to me, but he is staying in this house." A glove was then handed to her, and she said, "This is a glove, a kid one; it is of a brown colour—a dark brown," which was an accurate description of the glove. It did not seem strange that she could tell that the article was a kid glove, but that she could tell the colour of it was certainly remarkable. A piece of coloured paper, used on one side and white on the other, was handed to her, and, without making the least mistake, she said, "This is paper; this side is white and (turning it over) this side is red." Other pieces of coloured paper were placed in her hands, and she told the colour of each of them correctly. A small pocket diary was then placed in her hands, which was ruled with red lines and had printed date lines on each page. "This is a book," she said, running her fingers up and down on the page. "Of white paper; it has red lines across it, and there is printing here," she continued, as her fingers rested on the printed date. A small scribbling pad was then handed to her by the reporter, and she described accurately the different colours on the binding. "There is writing here," she said, as her fingers touched a line of partially obliterated lead pencil writing, "but I cannot make out what it is." No further colour tests appeared to be necessary, and she was then asked what time it was. She paused a few moments, and replied slowly, "It is twenty minutes—it's a quarter to three." By the town time at the moment it was fifteen minutes to three. "Oh, dear, I'm tired," said the girl, as she composed herself on the pillow, and it was not thought right to disturb her any further then.

She had previously been tested by Mr. McIntyre and others as to telling who persons were by touching their hands. Four or five persons at the bedside crossed their hands, and held them out to her in such a position that she could not tell by the voice to whom a particular hand belonged. But she did not try to do that. Merely taking each hand in turn in her own, she told to whom it belonged, and when a stranger's hand was given to her, and she was told his name, she could tell any time afterwards who he was by feeling his hand. Money was handed to her, and she told the exact value of the coin.

When such phenomena as these are spoken of, persons are inclined to be sceptical and suspect some trickery. But in this case it is difficult to see where the trickery could come in, and what object would be gained by it. The girl did not speak of the phenomena first, but, as before stated, they were accidentally noticed by the physician and by those attending her. She could not do any of these apparently impossible acts by trickery without accomplices, and those attending her could have no apparent object in aiding her in an imposition. Her actions and deportment while in Peterborough have also gained for her the character of an honourable and truthful person, so that the conclusion which seems to be irresistibly arrived at is that this is purely a phenomenon which, though apparently unnatural, is still not supernatural, and may yet be explained by medical science.

Dr. O'Shea, when called upon, did not try to conceal anything about the case, and seemed impressed by the strange nature of it. When asked if he had ever met with such a case before, he replied that he "had met with cases of convulsions, but," he added, "I never saw anything like the apparently supernatural gifts of this girl." "You have a theory concerning it, I suppose," said the reporter. "I presume everyone who has seen her has some theory about it," replied the doctor, "but I do not wish to say anything as to that yet. I intend to watch the case closely and see if the phenomena departs as her sight returns." The doctor gave some information, which is given above, concerning the illness of the girl.

Miss Tracey continues in about the same condition to-day as at the time of our reporter's visit yesterday, except that she appears stronger. Further tests were made, handkerchiefs with different colours on the borders being handed her, but she described each colour without a mistake.

She is seventeen years of age, and her mother says that, although she was sick once before with scarlet fever, nothing of a phenomenal character was ever noticed about her before.

Street Pay List.

The Street Inspector's pay list for the two weeks ending on the evening of the 2nd of November, amounted to $373.79.

A New Post Office.

A new Post Office has been opened in Asphodel, called Bridgell's, and is intended to serve those living in the neighborhood of Birdwell's station on the Grand Junction Railway, where it is located.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is somewhat warmer. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly easterly; fair weather, and stationary temperature.

An Open Switch.

On Thursday evening at about fifteen minutes after six, a special train ran off at the switch at the junction of the Grand Junction and the Midland. The switch was turned for the Belleville train, and the special, which was backing up the main line, ran off. A van and one car left the track and ran the length of three rails on the ties. They were drawn on again without much damage being done.

Fire Began Again.

Another attempt at incendiarism, was made yesterday evening by some person or persons unknown, to fire the premises occupied by Mr. R. H. Landy, on Bethune street. Some of the corporation workmen, when returning from their work about six o'clock in the evening, discovered the shed in rear of the house to be on fire, and by means of a few pails of water extinguished the flames before they had made much headway. As it was, quite a hole was burned in the shed, and if it had not been discovered in time, the fire would probably have been a destructive one, as the surrounding premises are all of wood. Mr. Landy says that the fire must have been set, as it originated inside of the shed, and could not have caught by any other means.

In Toronto.

Since the removal of Dr. M. Souville's Throat and Lung Institute to his new quarters, 173 Church street, hundreds suffering from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and many diseases of the throat and lungs have received treatment by his new and wonderful instrument, the apironeter, which conveys medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased. Physicians and sufferers can try it free. Poor people bearing certificate will be furnished with apironeter free. Write enclosing stamp for pamphlet giving full particulars, to Dr. M. Souville, ex-vice surgeon of the French army, 173 Church street Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

H. B. Sold by Taylor & Macdonald—1.

Mrs. B. M. Gifford, of Port Rowan, was for many years a sufferer with liver complaint and a serious complication of disease. BEST OF ALL—Our rigorous and changeable climate and our mode of life induces frequent colds that often lead to severe coughs, bronchitis and other lung troubles that are liable to end in consumption. The best and most pleasant remedy for these difficulties is Hayward's Pectoral Balm, to be obtained of any druggist.

Thousands bear witness to the positive curative powers of the Great German Investigator, the only remedy that has proved itself a Specific for general debility, seminal weakness, impotency, etc., and all diseases that arise from self-abuse or over-taxed brain, finally ending in consumption, insanity and a premature grave. NOW!

Now is the time to make changes in your UNDERWEAR! Don't put it off until you get chilled, but do it right NOW, thereby saving your health, and may be your life. It is a mistaken idea that some people have to put off as long as possible or just, when the thermometer goes down below zero, to put on their under wear. Be prepared in time, and when the chilled northern blast comes you are safe. Another word of advice, if you have not yet laid in your stock of underwear, half hose, gloves, mitts and everything needed in your wardrobe, go to T. DOLAN & CO. at once, where you will be served right.

BURGLES IN WINNIPEG.

The Express Office Robbed of Eleven Thousand Five Hundred Dollars.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 3.—The Express office here was robbed last night of $11,500. Last week the Pinkerton Agency of Chicago, telegraphed that the best organized band of burglars in the States had left for Winnipeg. Extra police were employed watching the banks. When the burglars found the banks too well protected, they entered the express office last night, blew open the safe, and took the $11,500. There is no clue and the police are not pleased. The banks, police, and express office refuse all information to the press, but the matter was got hold of by a Times reporter.

Supposed Murder and Robbery.

A story comes from Joliette (Que.), of what has all the appearance of a foul murder and robbery. It shows that Mr. Cleophas Dupuis, a resident of St. Jacques, situated some nine miles back of Joliette, and who is said to be worth from $10,000 to $15,000, came to visit Joliette on the 21st of October. He arrived in the forenoon, and is said to have enjoyed himself during the day. In the evening he had some difference with some men on the road in the village, and it is said was last seen running towards the bridge which spans L'Assomption River at this point, justly pursued by them. He was seen to enter the bridge, over the high wall of which it would be impossible for him to fall, but has not been seen since. His absence caused great excitement, and on the following morning his hat was found on the roadway. The L'Assomption River has since been dragged without result. He had $150 when he came to Joliette, and had showed his money freely in the hotel. Of the three men said to have pursued him only one remains in the neighbourhood. He is said to have declared that they chased Dupuis across the bridge, and that he then disappeared around the corner and they gave up the chase.

Miss Jeness on the Stamp.

A most novel feature in political campaigning is about to be introduced by the Democratic managers in the campaign now on hand. It will undoubtedly prove attractive as well as novel, as the feature consists in a beautiful young lady named Miss Annie Jeness taking the stump in behalf of the candidacy of Gen. Butler. Miss Jeness belongs to the renowned family of that name in New Hampshire, and is a near relative of ex-Mayor Jeness of Haverhill. She is 23 years old, was educated in Boston, is a brunette with black eyes, and proved sufficiently attractive in the eyes of the Ohioans to help to swell the opposition of Gov. Foster in an overwhelming majority against him. She will probably speak in Braintree and other towns during the week, and will doubtless address herself on all subjects, and find it a place well worth the man at the wheel. "Don't tell the water woman some 45 feet in length, which he had expelled the day before, after taking Dr. Smith's Great German Remedy—and he spoke of it in terms of the highest praise, having tried numberless other remedies and doctors without success. We were also shown eleven large stomach worms, removed from a little child of Patrick Smith's living at 26 Chenneville street, with one dose of the Remedy. They have thousands of testimonials, and before our car came along we were fully convinced of the wonderful merits of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy.—Montreal Star.

It is stated that Peruvian prisoners at Angol, in an interview with Minister Logan, and ex-President Calderon, agreed to the terms, which are understood to embrace the cession of the whole strip of Bolivian coast and the Pruvian Department of Tarapaca; the maintenance of the Chilean troops in Arica and Tacna until the arbitration determines to who that territory shall belong. In return Chili would withdraw her claims for a war indemnity, pay Peru $5,000,000, Bolivia $2,000,000, and keep the garrisons in Lima and Callao for a year, to enable Calderon to establish a Government. The feeling along the whole west coast unanimously favors peace at any price. A despatch from Lima of 23rd Oct., says that the preliminaries at peace have been signed, and Logan will accompany Calderon to Peru, where the latter will again start a Government to ratify the peace.

THE KENTUCKY OUTRAGE.

ASHLAND, Ky., Nov. 4.—Capt. Krikler, of the steamer Granite State, says that after the main volley closed, the soldiers were on the hurricane deck, lying down, taking aim at objects in the town. He went about kicking, denouncing their fire as murderous. No bullet mark was shown on the Kentucky side of the boat; they appear on the Ohio side, and were made by the troops stationed on that side of the boat. The soldiers were loud and boisterous, gloating over what they thought was a noble achievement, which he discouraged and shamed in them. The watchman of the Granite State declares that orders were given to fire a cannon, and in the attempt to place it in position, it came near running off the deck, and was unmanageable. He says that not one of the troops were injured, except by their own awkwardness. He was standing on the lower deck when the pistol shot was fired from the ferry boat, and it gave him no alarm, because he believed he was not endangered by it. He heard no order to stop firing. But five bullet marks are on the steamer, and they are pistol shots.

Burglaries and Deterioration.

When a detective is notified that a burglary has been committed, his first—and perhaps his greatest care is to make such arrangements as will keep all information concerning the crime from the newspapers, and therefore from the public. The detective is perhaps not much to blame. His stock in trade is his reputation, and the better the record he makes for himself, the more he is worth to his employers. But it is a little singular that citizens who have had their property stolen should second the detective's efforts to hush the matter up. When a man's gold watch or silverware is stolen by a burglar, the owner gets the fact mentioned in the newspapers, the better chance he will have for recovering his property. The eyes of tens of thousands of citizens are to be preferred to the eyes of one man, even if that man be a professed detective. Hamilton Spectator.

Increasing Liverty

Among other signs of the times people have noted an increase of late years in the number of gentlemen in livery. A few years ago powder seemed to be going out, and some of Leech's pictures, such as that of the tall footman's agony, while mud is thrown at his calves by little vulgar boys, were going out of date. The tide has now turned again, and the proceeds of the tax on powder have increased with the splendor of liveries. The change seems to be most marked in the two republics, whose democratic ideas of equality, it might be thought would have opposed a barrier to the reign of flunkeydom. It is so in France, and, according to Mr. Sala, who is an observer, there has been a marked increase in New York, both of liveries and cockades. He attributes it to the abolition of slavery. Post Mail Gazette.

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.

No. 15. In our searching through the official records for the facts which we are laying before our readers some curious book-keeping on the part of the Ontario Government has developed itself. For instance: In the statement of expenditures under the heading of "open" accounts and given in fact No. 13, the expenditure on the Mercer Reformatory in 1881 is given at $22,449.30, while in the report of the Commissioner of Public Works the expenditure on the same institution for the same year is given at only $1,909.45—a difference of $17,539.85. No doubt this rather extraordinary discrepancy is capable of satisfactory explanation, but even if so it shows a system of book-keeping which is anything but creditable—especially when taken in conjunction with the fact that some years ago the Premier could draw, and pay away without the knowledge of his colleagues, a sum of money to a public servant who had been dismissed, and that on another occasion a sum of money had been drawn from a bank on account of a Provincial Institution, and remained so drawn for over a year without the knowledge of the Provincial Treasurer. Evidently the existing check and counter check on the expenditure of the Province is far from what it should be. Again we find that which Mr. Wood (correctly we think) charges the sum of $1,730 paid for surveys, in 1881, &c. In 1881, to ordinary expenditure Mr. Fraser charges the same amount to capital account. And yet again we find that while under the Sandfield Macdonald Government and the earlier years of the present Government the expenses incurred for elections were charged to Legislation, latterly the same expenditure is charged under the heading of Miscellaneous Expenditure. Now while it may make little difference under which heading an item is charged, yet it is obvious that such a varying manner of keeping the Provincial accounts renders an accurate comparison of the expenditure of different years a work of considerable labour, and is calculated to mislead the general public as to what is actually going on.

No. 16. By reference to fact No. 13, it will be observed that nearly all the expenditure incurred in 1881, and charged to capital account was on buildings and works which have been "going" institutions for some time—indeed the Mercer Reformatory is the only new one of the lot. Under these circumstances, we claim that as a matter of fact, with the exception of the Mercer Reformatory, and the expenditure for drainage, nearly all this expenditure should be treated as current expenditure necessary for the maintenance of our public institutions, and we venture to assert that no government can fail to incur a considerable amount of the same kind of expenditure from year to year without abandoning the works to which we are referring. An examination of the expenditure charged to capital account during the decade shows an average of, for Government House Toronto $4,467 per annum; for the Toronto asylum $7,414 per annum; and for the Penitentiary Reformatory $7,935 per annum. It is perfectly obvious therefore that no matter by what name such expenditures may be called, they are of a character which will cause them to be repeated year by year so long as these institutions are to be maintained.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Quebec Herald says:—
Twenty-one of Mr. Mowat's supporters in the Legislature hold their seats by majorities of less than 70. One gentleman is an M. P. by virtue of a majority of 9, and Mr. D. D. Hay has the beautiful majority of 17. If in these circumstances there changed half as many votes as were changed in Muskoka the other day, Mowat must go.

The Montreal Gazette says:—
Mr. John Carnegie has been nominated as the Conservative candidate in the West Riding of Peterborough for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching general election. Mr. Carnegie is a good speaker, thoroughly well versed in public affairs, having taken an active part in politics since Confederation. He has already represented the constituency in the Legislature, and his election, which may be anticipated with confidence, will give an able supporter to the party leaders. The present member for the county, Mr. Kincaid, is an old-time Conservative, who received an election by acclamation as an Independent, and who has since thrown himself in with the Liberal party.

Our contemporary has been misinformed as to Dr. Kincaid's position. So far from "throwing himself in with the Liberal party," Dr. Kincaid both in public and private declares that he is now, as ever, a staunch Conservative.

REPRESENTATION IN THE SENATE.

SOME of our contemporaries have been looking up the domiciles of the Senators representing Ontario with the following result, viz:—
Hon. William McMaster, Toronto.
Hon. D. I. McPherson, Toronto.
Hon. George W. Allan, Toronto.
Hon. Frank Smith, Toronto.
Hon. John O'Donoghue, Toronto.
Hon. John Ressor, Markham.
Hon. Billie Flint, Belleville.
Hon. Robert Reid, Belleville.
Hon. R. W. Scott, Ottawa.
Hon. James Skead, Ottawa.
Hon. Alexander Campbell, Kingston.
Hon. John Simpson, Belleville.
Hon. T. N. Gibbs, Oshawa.
Hon. Donald McInnes, Cornwall and Hamilton.
Mr. McInnes lives at Cornwall, and lived there at the date of his appointment.
Hon. W. H. Dickson, Niagara.
Hon. J. R. Benson, St. Catharines.
Hon. George Alexander, Woodstock.
Hon. Joseph Norwood, Chatham.
Hon. Elijah Leonard, London.
Hon. A. Vidal, Barrie.

As usual, it will be observed Toronto monopolizes the lion's share of the appointments, and that while the counties of Peterborough and Victoria are without a single representative in the Senate, there are two domiciled at Belleville and one at Oshawa. We think it is high time that this section of Ontario had its representative in the Senate. Senators are in a peculiar manner the representatives of the property of the country, and all the property in Ontario is by no means either centred in Toronto or located along the front.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION.

A Letter from the Deputation that waited on the Premier.

The Globe on Wednesday published an account of an interview between Sir John Macdonald and a deputation from the licensed victuallers, said to have been obtained from a member of the deputation. A meeting of the members of the deputation was held in Toronto on Thursday, and the result was the following letter under their own signatures. It speaks for itself:—

"We, the undersigned, who were the sole members of the deputation appointed to interview Sir John Macdonald in regard to the license law, desire in the most emphatic manner to contradict the statements attributed to members of our delegation, through the columns of the Globe, especially in regard to the following points:—

"Sir John Macdonald did not ask us to call a meeting of the association to draw up a memorial.

"Nor did he say that he would endeavour to have his Cabinet arrange matters to our satisfaction.

"Nor were the books of the association produced, as they happened to be in the city of Toronto at the time.

"Nor was there anything said about the trade influencing 7,900 votes.

"Nor did he say that the license law would be the same as in the province of Quebec.

"Nor did he discuss the extension of hours on Saturday night.

"Nor did he exact any promises of secrecy, or indeed of any kind whatever, nor we from him, as we are not desirous of seeking any unjust legislation, and if we were, we are satisfied the Government would not grant it.

"THE OBJECTS OF THE DEPUTATION were to ascertain from Sir John Macdonald whether it was the intention of the Dominion Government to take into its hands the regulation of the license law, and if, in so doing, it was the intention to do away with the marked political character of the existing Crooke Act.

"In answer to the above, Sir John Macdonald stated that it was the intention of the Government to take the matter into its hands, as such a course was forced upon it by the late decision of the Privy Council in regard to the Scott Act, and that in the framing of the measure it was the intention to make it strictly non-political.

"Yours truly,
"JOHN O'DONOGHUE,
"A. G. HOIGIE,
"E. O'KEEFE,
"GEO. MITCHELL,
"JOHN SHAWBESTY,
"Toronto, Nov. 2."

CONCERN

PERSONAL.—The World says that the Rev. Dr. Burwash, of Victoria University, returned on Friday last from the North-west, whither he had gone a month before to seek, by change of air, a restoration to health. He spent a good deal of the time in camp on the prairie near Westbourne, and returns, we are pleased to say, very much improved in health, and in a position to resume his work.

FIRE.—On Saturday afternoon two fires occurred on the west side of the town, one of which consumed a shed belonging to Mr. John Brown, near the Blasting Factory, and the other the barn on the Hurman Farm, immediately to the west, now the property of Mr. Wm. Clark. The woods on this farm were also fired on the same afternoon. The circumstances of the two fires in the same locality, at the same time, being suspicious, inquiries were made which resulted in the arrest of an old man named Wm. Quinn, who was brought before the Police Magistrate on Wednesday afternoon, charged with the offence of firing the buildings. After hearing the evidence, the Magistrate committed the prisoner for trial.

A Law Suit about a Grandmother.

The Hon. Mr. Justice McKay gave judgment in Review lately in the case of Jordan v. Jordan and Boynton. The plaintiff Jordan and defendant some eight years ago entered into an agreement by which the defendant bound himself to keep during the remainder of her life one Thetis Simbury, his grandmother and mother-in-law of the plaintiff. The grandmother was very old but in good health. The plaintiff took her home and kept her for a number of years, but in May, 1880, she left his place and returned to the defendants, for whose house she had a peculiar liking, having lived in it for years before going to the plaintiff's. The plaintiff being unwilling to keep her, particularly as he had paid the defendant $250 to do so, sued the latter to take her back and keep her, alleging that the defendant took her to her house in breach of the contract, and now refused to take her back. The defendant, however, maintained that she left his house of her own free will, and would not come back. The Court below maintained the defendant's plea and dismissed the plaintiff's action. The judgment was confirmed by the Court of Review. —Witness

A good many funny stories are told about young Mr. Jesse Grant's naive observations upon people and things in England, during General Grant's visit to the country. Connected with the entertainment of the party at Windsor Castle, the following is told: Mr. Jesse, it seems, was sitting in the smoking-room of the castle with half a dozen others (the General not yet having joined the party), smoking away and holding forth at the same time with a tumbler of brandy and soda on the arm of the chair. "There is one thing about this country of yours, gentlemen," he said, when the first full in the general conversation gave him a good opening, "which strikes me as peculiar. It is this; Take your Prince of Wales here. Let him go out abouting to-morrow morning, and not come home at night. Why, the whole country would be up in arms out looking for him. Ain't that so?" There was a general acquiescence. "Well, suppose now I should go out for a hunt at home, and be gone six months, do you think anyone in the whole America, except my own folks, would care a cent? Not much."

We had a call from Mr. Lumened, (C. E.), yesterday with reference to the letter of Mr. G. H. Rogers in Thursday evening's REVIEW, when informed us that Mr. Rogers was entirely mistaken in his supposition that the Ontario and Quebec Company did not propose to leave any water passage at the east end of the bridge which they are now building over the Ottawa river at this place, as the plans provide for sixty-foot waterway adjoining the Ashburnham shore. Mr. Lumened also informed us that the Company has now 2,100 men, and 700 horses at work at various points on the line, and that owing to the favourable character of the weather, the progress made exceeds their most sanguine expectations.

TAILORS IN COURT.

A Very Interesting Lawsuit—The Value of a Cutter—Familiar Customers.

The Montreal Witness of the 3rd inst. has the following, which will interest a good many of our readers:—

"The Superior Court to-day presented a more than usually interesting entertainment for the casual spectator. It contained, for one thing, a strong representation of the tailoring faculty of this city, either as witnesses on one side or the other, or as deeply interested in the matter on hand.

"Mr. James Macmillan was suing Mr. Robinson, tailor, of this city, for having engaged him as cutter for six months at $30 a week, and dismissed him after six weeks' work. The defendant's counsel, Mr. Kerr, Q.C., and Mr. McGibbon, were endeavoring to prove that Mr. Macmillan's work was not good, and that his wage was very high—the object of Messrs. McLaren and Leet, on the other side, being to prove the reverse. Among the witnesses for the defence was Mr. Stafford, who had been a merchant here for fifty years, and Mr. McIntyre, whose evidence was that it would be an extraordinary good cutter that would get $30 a week.

"Mr. Macmillan said he had been in business from 1842 to 1879, when he went to Chicago for employment, as business was too bad here for him to get work. Mr. Healy, proprietor of a very large clothing establishment in Chicago, engaged to take him as cutter for three years at $1,200, $1,400, and $1,500 respectively, but something in Mr. Healy's business prevented this agreement being completed, and plaintiff got the next best place, being put in charge of the 'alteration and re-modelling' department at $1,100 a year. Cutters in Chicago were worth from $1,200 to $2,000 a year. Plaintiff was now with Auclere, Park Street, Ottawa, getting $18 a week—the highest paid there, he believed.

"Mr. Robert Seath was called, and said he had been thirty-nine years a merchant tailor here. He knew Mr. Macmillan for over thirty years as one of the most respectable tailors in the city. Coming to speak of complaints from customers, Mr. Seath said that they had not only people to suit, but people's tastes, and some men wouldn't decide on a garment till they went out and saw what their friends said. As to the witnesses who had testified that clothes made by the plaintiff had not fitted them, they were mostly large men and consequently more difficult to fit. Witness said that a cutter should have no responsibility if he did not superintend the making and himself try the garment on the customer. More coats had been killed—killed dead—in the making than in the cutting. Witness had paid $24 a week for a cutter, and he had known $40 a week paid, a long time ago.

In the course of his evidence Mr. Seath remarked that he was not a particular friend of the plaintiff, but "the craft clings together." This was taken up by Mr. Kerr, and repeated by the witness, who applied the same phrase to the lawyers, but Mr. Kerr at once denied that there was any clinging together among his fraternity.

"Among other witnesses were Dr. Gardner, who had a suit made by the plaintiff at Robinson's coat of which wanted a little alteration in one shoulder; Mr. Owen McGarvey, who had intended to send back a pair of pants as too long and narrow, but who had become more reconciled to them; and Dr. Kennedy, who had a pair of pants, the cut of which was all right, but the stitches of the pocket came out and lost him eight dollars.

ATROCIOUS MURDER.

A Cripple Bent on Death at Vankleek Hill. His Body Found.

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—One of the most appalling murders ever perpetrated in the Ottawa district occurred on Thursday last, but the news of the heart-rending affair did not reach the city until to-day. It appears that on the day mentioned a cripple named Robertson, son of a Vankleek Hill merchant, left his home on a hunting expedition. As he did not return on the same evening a party of friends organized and went in search of him. His mother accompanied them, but no success was achieved until Saturday, when his mother discovered the dead body of the unfortunate man in his own room: his skull was fractured, evidently by some blunt instrument, and his face and body also bore marks of harsh treatment. It is thought that, after being pummeled, he was left to die in the woods by the villain who attacked him, but subsequently recovered sufficient strength to crawl home. The Crown Attorney has the matter in hand, and a detective is now at work on the case.

He has an army of 150,000 of the wildest fanatics, all horsemen, who are afraid of nothing, and he is reducing town after town. He is reported by Dr. Schwienfuth as now laying siege to Khartoum, and to have declared his intention of invading Egypt and then attacking the Turks, who he says are infidels. The fire raged and raged three hours, and at last burned itself out. Many sufferers were burned out in a configuration a short time ago, and were just recovering from these losses then sustained. Several stores were heavily stocked for the fall trade. They were not insured, owing to the number and extent of previous fires and the fact that the town has no adequate means of extinguishing fire, the insurance companies refusing to take much risk on stores and building inside the town.

FARM AND GARDEN.

FALL PLOUGHING.—Anyone who has seen the best European farming knows how important it is to thoroughly prepare the ground for the seed. The working of the soil adds nothing, but it helps in changing the form of the plant food compounds, and thus ploughing and harrowing becomes indirectly a source of nourishment. The soil is a vast storehouse of plant food, which it holds by virtue of its insolubility. Furthermore, it is only through the action of the air and all those processes, chemical and otherwise, which are covered by such terms as weathering, nitrification, etc., that these essential elements are brought into a soluble form and made available for the use of the growing plant. The chemistry of the soil, as it becomes better understood, teaches in every line the importance of a frequent stirring of the surface of the cropped field. With this in mind, it is to the purpose to urge the importance of fall ploughing. For other than chemical reasons the stubble or sod may be turned under this fall. Not only will the air circulate more freely and the processes of reducing the insoluble substances go on more rapidly, but the mechanical texture of the heavy soil especially will be improved. Should insects or their larvae or "worms" abound in the earth, they will be turned out of their winter quarters and destroyed. Aside from these advantages there is a lull in the farm work at this season, and any ploughing or other labor with the soil will help materially to lessen the rush and hurry that otherwise comes with the busy months of spring. The thoughtful and successful farmer so plans his farming operations that one season helps the next in many ways than one.

INDOOR WORK.—The importance of planning for indoor work during stormy days is not fully appreciated. There are many things that can be done as well when it rains as during fair days. With small farmers the threshing of the little amount of grain raised, may be done by hand in stormy weather. The tools should be thoroughly cleaned, mended, and painted if this is needed, and put away to be in readiness for the busy time of spring. A good day's work may be given to the repairing and oiling of the harness. There are enough jobs that may be done under cover to fill all the rainy days, if there is only planning for it. At this season there may be feed racks needed, and a day at the tool bench is far more profitable in every way, than one spent in lounging, especially if it is done at the village store. Make the most of every day, and do not count stormy days as blank ones in the record.

MARKETING POULTRY.—Poultry which is not intended to winter, are to be fattened before really severe weather comes on; otherwise money will be lost by them. They will barely hold their own in December on feed which caused them to increase rapidly in weight a month earlier. Capons grow rapidly, and their growth takes up the food, so that we have to wait until growth stops before they fatten. It is well, therefore, that this delicious class of poultry should not make its appearance before the first of February, when the game laws prohibit venison, quail, and other choice game from being exposed for sale. At this time, consequently, fat capons and pullets make a good market, and even during Lent, when a considerable portion of the Christian world abstain from meats, there is a sharp demand for the highest priced meats, to grace the table of the rich on Sundays. It is therefore well to have fine capons ready to supply this demand.

THE GROWTH OF THE MANURE HEAP.—Most of the products of the farm have been gathered for the year, but the manure heap should now begin a rapid and healthful growth. The manure crop is perhaps the most important one of the winter season, if not of the whole year. Upon its size and quality the success of the farm operations very largely depend. It should be the aim of every one who has access to feed, for the production of good crops, to see that the most is made out of the droppings of his farm animals, and the litter that is used to absorb their urine and keep them neat and clean. The best manure is made under cover, and the greatest loss of fertilizing materials when the manure is permitted to decompose so rapidly as to give off large quantities of ammonia; or when drenched with rains which wash away dark golden streams of the richest, best, and most costly of plant foods. The manure that every farmer should plan to make is well rotted, to be quickly available for the growing crop, and has not sustained the serious loss that comes from water passing through it. There is no doubt that it would pay many farmers who now feed in large open yards to build sheds, under which the manure may be protected.

There are other points in farm economy gained by shed or stable feeding. It takes less food to keep the animals warm and in a healthful condition. A shivering animal is an appeal to both the pocket and the heart of the owner. Give the farm stock good, comfortable winter quarters, and there will be a saving in feed, a better preservation of the manure, and a kinder feeling all round.

Woman's True Friend

A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly by those complaints and weaknesses so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are woman's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial always proves our assertion. They are pleasant to the taste, and only cost fifty cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists.—2.

BETTER THAN GOLD.—A good name, good health, a good companion and a bottle of Hagar's Yellow Oil are among the first requisites for human happiness. Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sprains, lameness, bruises, burns, frost bites, croup, sore throat, and all pain and inflammation.

A FACT.—If you suffer from chronic disease, and have little faith in advertised remedies, and have sought vainly for a cure, consult your druggist, or address T. RHEUMATISM.—This painful disease that so often cripples for life, arises from poison circulating in the blood, and often from an excess of acid. Inflammation is developed in the muscles, ligaments and joints, by colds, damp clothing, &c. Liniments are serviceable to relieve, among many, Hagar's Yellow Oil is preferable. To eradicate the rheumatic poison from the system, nothing can surpass Hagar's Blood Bitters.

We were also shown eleven large stomach worms, removed from a little child of Patrick Smith's living at 361 Chenneville street, with one dose of the Remedy. They have thousands of testimonials, and before our car came along we were fully convinced of the wonderful merits of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy.—Montreal Star.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE,

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER, Presiding Elder of the M. A. B. District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the lurch be found.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Storvick, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

R. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no lurch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep-seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL

MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, various as they may be, whilst old, during skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcules which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottle, 2s. 6d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID

itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—THE FIRST

idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Starling, and every year it is used more and more favourably to its steadily increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES

CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Board of Education.

The Board of Education will hold a regular meeting at 7.45 o'clock on Tuesday evening in the Collegiate Institute building.

The Weather.

The nights just now are cold, and to-day the weather is cold and gloomy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Strong winds and moderate gales, mostly easterly; fair to cloudy weather, with local rains and stationary or higher temperature.

St. John's Church.

The Peterborough correspondent of the Bobcaygeon Independent says:—

"If Peterborough is not ecclesiastical, it is nothing. On Wednesday, the English Church was re-opened, after being, one might say, re-built. It has been much enlarged, the ceilings and fittings inside have cost several thousand dollars, the windows are all memorial stained glass, and the organ is a magnificent instrument, also costing several thousand dollars. It is simply one of the finest churches in the country."

The Pulp Mill.

The pulp mill at Dickson's dam, which is being put up by Messrs. U'borne & Son, is being rapidly brought to completion. All arrangements for securing ample water-power have been completed. The greater part of the machinery is now in position, and all is ready for running except the piping and a small portion of the machinery. A large quantity of wood is on hand ready for operations to commence, and it is expected that the manufacture of pulp will be begun this week, probably on Thursday.

Very Witty!

The Belleville Intelligencer, in its notes of news from other towns, has some exceedingly witty paragraphs, among which is the following:—

"Two members of the Peterborough Brass Band got married recently, and the other wind-jammers sought sweet revenge by going to their residence and blowing their bassoons until the police came round and dispersed the gang, under the impression that they formed the advance corps of a charitable party."

When you again have to manufacture something to give point to your wit, we would respectfully suggest that you at least try not to be vulgarly offensive.

Christmas Cards.

Mr. G. B. Sproule has determined to maintain his reputation for bringing within reach of his friends the very choicest selection of cards for the festive season. As usual, too, he has taken time by the forelock, for he has just received a splendid assortment of Prang's Christmas cards, including the beautiful works of art that have secured the prizes offered by this liberal and justly celebrated firm. To those who last season were too late to secure cards, we may hint that they would do well to be more prompt this year, as Messrs. Prang have informed Mr. Sproule that owing to the unprecedented demand upon them they would be unable to fill a repeated order. Mr. Sproule has also a beautiful collection of cards from England, among them being some very striking novelties. A visit to his studio will be well repaid.

The Fifth of November.

The members of the Loyal Orange and True Blue Lodge of Peterborough commemorated the anniversary of the 5th of November on Sunday by attending divine service. They marched in order of procession from their hall on Simcoe street, clothed in regalia, to the George Street Methodist Church, where the Rev. John Shaw eloquently delivered an appropriate sermon. He based his discourse on Galatians, v. 1:—"Stand fast, therefore, in the liberty wherewith Christ has made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage." He spoke of liberty as something which all persons in all ages desired; described three kinds of slavery which should be guarded against, namely, that of the Rome, of intoxicating drink, and of mammon; expatiated on the blessings and benefits of Christian liberty and freedom from sin, and closed with a brief address to the members of the Order. The procession was re-formed after the service, and proceeded down George street to the Orange and True Blue hall. The True Blues turned out in large numbers and looked particularly smart in their bright regalia, but the older members of the Order appear to have lost interest in the anniversary, judging from the small number who took part in the procession.

Council Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening in the Council Chamber at 7.30 o'clock.

Sale of Town Lots.

The following lots were sold at the Casino House on Friday night last:—House and lot on Aylmer street to Owen Curran for $970. Four lots on Romaine street up the Eastland Park lot to George Edmison, Esq., for $400. These we learn have since been resold at $520. Three lots on Elm street to C. B. Sowers for $300. The sale will continue on Friday night next at same place, when a number of other properties will be offered, a list of which will be in to-morrow's issue.

A Narrow Escape.

A young man named Bernard Welsh, son of Mr. James P. Welsh, who lives near Bobcaygeon, had a narrow escape from a serious accident this morning. He was driving across the railway at the Charlotte street crossing with a heavy farm wagon, when a pilot engine, which he did not see, struck the wagon between the hind and front wheels. The wheel passed over the cow-catcher of the engine, and the wagon escaped with a broken reach. The driver jumped from the vehicle, and the frightened horse ran away, but was suddenly pulled up by one running on each side of a telegraph pole. The traces and other parts of the harness were broken, but the horse and driver escaped unhurt.

Important Visitors.

During last week this section of the country received a quiet, but what we hope will prove an important, visit from His Honor Lieutenant Governor Robinson, accompanied by Captain Retallack, a gentleman from Cornwall, England, largely interested in mining operations there. On Thursday they visited the Snowden mines, stayed over night here, and on Friday went to Madoc and inspected the Dufferin, Walbridge, Hematite and Seymour mines, of which they made a very close inspection, and with which Capt. Retallack expressed himself as very highly pleased. We understand that Capt. Retallack came to this country for the purpose of inspecting our iron mining resources, and that as a result of his visit we have reason to look forward with some confidence to an influx of English capital for establishing smelting works at some convenient point to the mines which we have mentioned.

The "Missing Link."

The work of grading on the missing connection of the Midland Railway system between Peterborough and Omemee is being pushed forward with vigour. Inside the town limits a large force is at work, and from the Junction at Brock street to the boundary line of the corporation the road bed is being rapidly thrown up. The line runs at the rear of Messrs. Whyte & Co.'s foundry, where part of their buildings had to be removed. The water at Wilson's woolen mill has been shut off, and an abutment is being put in at the dam there. For a distance of four miles outside of the town the road is graded, to the first camp, the cut near which is nearly completed. From there to the first steam shovel the grading is nearly all done, and between the two large cuts where the steam excavators are at work the grading is also completed with the exception of a few short pieces. The grading from Omemee to Doube's cut will be finished this week. A switch is being put in at the main line at Omemee to-day, and the laying of the rails will be at once commenced. From this statement it will be seen that the grading will soon all be completed, except at the two deep cuts where the steam excavators are working, and these cuts will be put through with as much expedition as possible.

The Late Samuel White.

At the time of his decease Mr. Samuel White was a member of the Peterborough Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, which among its objects has that of life insurance. His widow, as will be seen by the following correspondence, is now reaping the benefit of his foresight:—

To Mrs. S. White:—
DEAR MRS. WHITE:—We, the members of Peterborough Lodge No. 135, A. O. U. W., desire to express our sympathy in your severe affliction.

The great Master Workman, in His all-wise Providence, has seen fit to remove your partner in life from the cares, toils and sufferings experienced by workmen in this terrestrial lodge below, to enjoy, we trust, the pleasures and unalloyed happiness ever found in the grand celestial lodge above.

That the enclosed cheque for two thousand dollars ($2,000), bequeathed to you by your late husband from the Beneficiary Insurance Fund of the A. O. U. W., will materially assist you and help to oil life's chariot wheels as you journey through life alone, is the earnest wish of the members of our lodge.

Signed on behalf of the Peterborough Lodge,
JOSEPH MCCHILLAR, M. W.
D. D. GALLAGHER, Sec.
RICHARD KING, M. D., Medical Ex.
Peterborough, November, 1882.To the Officers and Members of Peterborough Lodge,
No. 135, of A. O. U. W.:

GENTLEMEN:—I received your kind, sympathetic letter and liberal enclosure, and I sincerely thank you for your words of condolence and good wishes.

In this great affliction I must bow to the Almighty, and believe that although He has hurried the workman He still continues the work, and that I will be able to do His will in all things. The two thousand dollars will materially help to assist myself and family in all our earthly wants. Remaining yours very truly,
H. C. WILSON.

NOW!

Now is the time to make changes in your UNDERWEAR! Don't put it off until you get chilled, but do it right NOW, thereby saving your health, and maybe your life. It is a mistaken idea that some people have to put off as long as possible or just, when the thermometer goes down below zero to put on their underwear. Be prepared in time, and when the chilled northern blast comes you are safe. Another word of advice, if you have not yet laid in your stock of underwear, half-hose, gloves, mitts and everything needed in your wardrobe, go to T. DOLAN & CO. at once, where you will be served right.

PORT HOPE.

DARING ROBBERY.—Henry Gohen, a farmer,

who lives about six miles north-east of Port

Hope, on Lot No. 33, 5th concession of Hamilton, was robbed on Thursday night of $1,000 in cash. He was in town with a load of grain, and as his custom, took the money home with him, and deposited it in a trunk in his bedroom, where he had considerable more money. He then went into the dining-room, and remained there until nine o'clock. When he retired he found the trunk in which the cash was stored gone. The bedroom window had been raised, and the trunk taken out. It was found this morning in the adjoining woods. It was evident some person well acquainted with the premises and with the business of the farmer who committed the robbery.

the value of property along the river front; and that this Council therefore protests against the erection of a bridge by the said railway company without a swing, and this Council also protests against the said railway company constructing any part of their bridge by means of an embankment in the river as proposed, thereby narrowing the channel to one half of its present width and preventing the free flow and escape of water in the spring of the year; that the only bridge the Council can give its sanction to is one built throughout the entire length on piers, so that the water may be backed up as little as possible; that the clerk do affix the corporate seal to a copy of this resolution and forward it to the Minister of Railways and also to George Hilliard, Esq., M. P.

Councillor DENNE said that it must have been through an oversight that the former resolution was passed. It appeared to show a want of confidence in the building of the Trent Valley Canal.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that he was surprised when he saw Mr. Rogers' communication in the Review, as he did not know that the council had taken such action. Provision should be made for the future as well as the present, and once a bridge was erected it was hard to change it.

Councillor PATTERSON said that it was provided in the Street and Bridge Committee's report, which had been adopted, that the Railway Company would have to put in a swing bridge when it was required. If Mr. Rogers was injured by back water he would have a remedy besides applying to this Council. He would however, vote for rescinding the former action of the Council, but objected to the strong terms of the resolution.

Councillor MENZIES argued in favour of having a swing bridge put in at once.

Councillor RICHARDSON thought that if the Company gave a guarantee that they would change the bridge to a swing inside of two months after they were asked to do so, the town could not suffer.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON did not think it right for the Council to go back on what they had done, and he objected to the practice of Councillors signing petitions to the Council.

Councillor Poussette said that when the communication first came in he opposed the Council taking any action, and when the Committee reported as it did, he did not think they had sufficiently considered the rights. The Council had no power in the matter, but a resolution passed by the Council would have weight with the Government. He favoured rescinding the previous resolution. The Council should try to prevent any obstruction to the flow of the water in the river.

The CHAIRMAN thought it unfortunate that Councillors Poussette and Denne were not present at the meeting of the Council, when the Committee's report was adopted. The Committee were unanimous in passing the report, and the Council unanimously adopted it. Mr. Rogers had no right to criticize the Peterborough Council, because something was done on the Ashburnham side of the river, that he did not like. The Committee considered all the points urged before they presented their report, but when it was found that any one was suffering he would favor rescinding their action. Mr. Denne was present when a communication was received about this bridge, and it was received without a word of comment.

Councillor PATTERSON could not see how the Council would be taking their words by rescinding their action, as they provided that when a swing bridge was asked for it would have to be put in, and they would only be carrying that out by asking for a swing bridge now.

Councillor DENNE said that the steamboat had come up to Denne & Sperry's wharf this year, and Mr. P. Hamilton had goods brought up to that wharf.

Mr. T. G. HAZLITT, at the request of the Council, made a few remarks.

Councillor CAHILL left the chair, and asked Councillor Menzies to take it, which he did.

Councillor CAHILL moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor MCNAUGHTON.—That the resolution be not adopted, as some of the matters set forth in it are not in accordance with the facts.

Councillor CAHILL said that the resolution, purported to rescind a portion of a report of a Committee, which had been adopted; and went on to deal with other questions not mentioned in that report.

Councillor Poussette raised the point of order, that Councillor Cahill's motion was not an amendment, but merely a negative.

The CHAIRMAN ruled that the motion was in order.

Councillor CAHILL said he was not prepared to eat his words, if the Council had a little more backbone it would be better. The resolution dealt with matters with which the Council had nothing to do. It had not been shown that a permanent bridge would be an injury to the town, and a swing bridge was dangerous. The action of the Council did not interfere with private rights; it merely said that so far as the corporation was concerned, the Company could erect a permanent bridge. He had spoken to two gentlemen, who had signed the petition, and they said they knew and cared nothing about the matter.

Councillor RUTHERFORD thought it would be much better for the Company to put in a swing bridge at once, than to be compelled to put it in after the permanent bridge was built.

Councillor Poussette objected to Councillor Menzies putting the motion, as Councillor Cahill was the chairman.

Councillor CAHILL resumed the chair, and asked if he could put his own amendment?

Councillor Poussette objected to the amendment being put, as it was out of order for Councillor Cahill to move it.

Councillor DENNE's motion was then put and seven members voted for it.

Councillor CAHILL objected that the resolution was a memorial to the government, and required to be read three times.

Councillor DENNE moved that rule 39 be temporarily suspended.—Lost.

Councillor Poussette contended that the resolution was not a memorial, as there was no prayer attached to it.

Councillor CAHILL said that a little conspiracy had been arranged to put him in the chair to shut his mouth, and he would take advantage of the rules of the council to defend himself.

Councillor Poussette moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE.—That the resolution is in order.

Councillor RUTHERFORD contended that the resolution was passed.

The CLERK said that he had recorded the year and says, only three voting against the resolution, which was passed.

THE "FIRE BUGS."

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS, That the chief constable be instructed to have one of the assistant constables on duty all night until further action is taken by this council.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said he moved this resolution in view of the incendiary attempts recently made in the town.

Councillor PATTERSON said one constable on duty at night did not amount to a row of beans. If six or eight were put on it would do some good.

Chief JOHNSTON said that since the two assistant constables had been appointed, one of them had been on duty at night.

Councillor PATTERSON suggested that the chief constable be authorized to put on six or eight men at night, who would not be known to be constables and could act as detectives.

A REWARD OFFERED.

Councillor MENZIES moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE.—That a reward of $1,000 be offered for the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who set fire to the premises of Messrs. Hall, Innes & Co., and others.—Carried.

THE FARE.

Councillor RICHARDSON moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE.—That the property committee be instructed to attend to the trees on the Court House hill.—Carried.

THE SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

A communication was received from T. M. D. Croly, stating that he had some money coming to him on the repairs on the Smith street bridge and asking the council what they had done about it.

Councillor DENNE said he would like to know what the work had cost, and how much of it the Midland Railway was to pay, as it was understood that they were to pay half the cost. He also said that there was still a dangerous spot at the bridge.

The CLERK said that the account had not been sent to the Council.

Mr. CROLY said he had given a detailed statement of the cost of the work to the Town Engineer. He had paid out for the work his own money to pay the men, and he was lying out of that money. He had made no engagement with the Railway; he was employed by this Council.

On motion of Councillor Poussette the matter was referred to the Finance Committee with power to act.

AN ACCOUNT.

An account of the Gas Company, amounting to $115, which had been referred to the Finance Committee, was, on motion, ordered to be paid.

RAILWAY CROSSING AT PARK STREET.

Councillor WILSON called the attention of the Council to the dangerous state of the crossing of the railway at Park street, where a buggy was upset on Friday night. The approaches were about three feet high, and were narrow.

Councillor CAHILL said the Railway engineer had said he would have the matter attended to at once.

It was agreed that the Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee should confer with the railway authorities, and have the crossing made safe.

RINK STREET.

Councillor MENZIES said he thought it was unwise to take the gravel off the south end of George street to fill in the bay on Rink street, and he hoped the appropriation would not be exceeded.

Councillor RUTHERFORD asked whether an appropriation had been made for this work on Rink street, and if so when?

The CHAIRMAN said an appropriation had been made, and he thought it was in June.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said it was throwing $250 into Spaulding's Bay for no earthly use. It would make two stink holes instead of one. It was bad enough to build the road across the Bay, and it was worse to take the gravel of George street to do it, and altogether it was an infamous piece of work.

A long and acrimonious discussion followed, and many other matters were introduced.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON only hoped that a good job would be made of the work on Rink street. He charged Councillor Denne with having had the corporation employees level his lot.

Councillor DENNE denied this, and called upon Councillor McNaughton to prove his accusation. He asked the Street Inspector if it was true.

Mr. JOHNSTON, Street Inspector, said that Councillor Denne had told him that he could take some gravel off his lot to put on the streets, which he had done and had got it for nothing. This he thought was better than paying for gravel. He had the authority of the Council for all work that he had done on the streets.

Councillor RICHARDSON thought that the chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee had acted fairly, and had not shown partiality to any part of the town.

The discussion was still kept up, when it was discovered that there was not a quorum present and all the members left their seats. Finally they were recalled and the Council adjourned for two weeks.

Elevator Burned.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Nov. 4.—C. Sheppard & Co.'s large elevator, in the Northern railway yard, was entirely consumed by fire to-night. The elevator contained a large quantity of grain. Estimated loss $9,000 to $10,000. The building was valued at $5,000, and the grain was partially insured.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentl:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it cured a horse of lameness caused by spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse. When I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Brookton, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co. Gentl:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there, I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unequalled success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price: Five bottles, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to an address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Edinburgh Falls, Vt.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL

MEANS OF CURE FOR SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, scaly skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcules which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

itself, is the most potent remedy for all skin disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its healthy action on the human skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Martin, and every year it is used more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anybody, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with skin diseases, should apply Sulpholine as early as possible. In two or three days the effects will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Miss Winnie Tracy, the girl at the Oriental Hotel who created such an interest, is recovering from her sickness under Dr. O'Shea's care, and is now able to walk around.

At It Yet.

A gentleman who built a house in the Township of Smith, sixty-three years ago, on Monday laid the foundation for building in the same township. Surely there are very few persons who can boast of such an achievement.

Visit to Ottawa.

Mr. H. H. Smith, Mayor, and Mr. George Hilliard, M.P., returned from Ottawa to-day, where they had an interview with the Ministers, with reference to securing a further grant towards dredging the harbour, and having more letter boxes put up in the town.

St. John's Church.

Thursday, Nov. 9th, having been proclaimed a general day of thanksgiving for the late bountiful harvest, the Bishop of Toronto has issued instructions for the observance of that day, in the churches of his diocese. There will consequently be thanksgiving services in St. John's Church, at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

Knee Dislocated.

A lad named Joseph Lejar, while assisting to clear away the debris at Messrs. Whyte & Co.'s foundry this forenoon, met with a painful accident. A barrel which was being placed on a wagon slipped, and the boy jumped to save himself and fell, dislocating the knee joint of one of his legs.

Injured at the Fire.

Messrs. Joseph Pentland and John Craig, members of the Fire Brigade, were injured at the fire on Monday night. Mr. Pentland, by the giving way of a temporary platform, fell and hurt his head, close to his eye, and injured his hand badly. Mr. Craig, by falling in a somewhat similar manner, was also injured, but not seriously.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is not so cold, and there are appearances of a storm. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly south-westerly to south-westerly; fair weather, preceded by local rains and slightly higher temperature.

A Soldier's Death.

John McCall, who served twenty-one years in the British army, and was eight years and six months in the East Indies, came to this country about fifteen months ago. He was employed on the "Missing Link," and some time ago sent to Ireland for his wife. She arrived about a week ago, and he came to Peterborough to meet her, and while here took sick and died. He was buried on Monday.

Died in the Gaol.

On Monday forenoon about ten o'clock Louise Matilda Smith, who was committed to gaol as a vagrant on the 25th of September, died in the prison. She originally came from Methuen, and has been an inmate of the Protestant 1. sec. An inquest was held in the afternoon at the gaol, before Dr. Fife, coroner, and Dr. Kinoid, gaol physician, and the coroner called as witnesses. The jury returned a verdict that Mrs. Smith died of consumption, from which she was suffering when she entered the gaol.

Personal.

Mr. T. M. D. Croly, who is overseeing the repairs at Healey's Falls on the Trent Navigation, called upon us this morning and reports that the work is making satisfactory progress.

We have received a letter enclosing the amount for the renewal of his subscription from Mr. Fred. Hughes, who in his now distant residence in Grafton, Dakota, does not forget his old home in Peterborough. We are happy to learn that Mr. Hughes, who is a son of our respected citizen, Mr. J. L. Hughes, is doing a prosperous hardware business on his own account.

ANOTHER GREAT FIRE.

THE EXTENSIVE FOUNDRY OF MESSRS.
J. WHYTE & CO. CONSUMED.

Messrs. Woollen Factory Also Burned to the Ground—A Large Amount of Machinery Destroyed—The Lesser Brandy—The Insurance—Mysterious Origin of the Fire—Men Out of Employment.

It has been stated that Peterborough was free from fire of a very serious character, but this cannot be said this summer. Four very destructive fires have visited the town, besides many smaller ones, the last occurring this morning, when Messrs. J. Whyte & Co.'s foundry and Mr. A. Saver's woollen factory were totally destroyed.

The alarm was sounded at about fifteen minutes to three o'clock, and the glare of the flames showed that the fire was in the western quarter of the town. The firemen turned out, and the engine was sent out of the shed, but at the corner of George and Simcoe streets the horses drawing it refused to proceed and they had to be taken off and another team sent for. This caused considerable delay, and by the time the engine was stationed on the bridge over the creek on Park street and water was thrown on the flames, they had made great headway.

The fire commenced in the western end of the blacksmith shop of Messrs. Whyte & Co.'s foundry, and spread from that to the machine shop and to the foundry proper. The foundry office, which was enclosed by two brick walls, was between the blacksmith shop and the foundry, and the roof was coated with mortar, but they were connected, and as there was no water to stay the progress of the fire the whole building was enveloped in flames.

Mr. Saver's woollen mill, which was occupied by Mr. E. Wilson, stood on the south side of the creek directly opposite the foundry, and although efforts were made to save it by throwing water on it from pails, the fire was communicated to it, and before the water from the fire hose was applied it had gained such a hold that it could not be preserved. A stream of water was thrown upon this building, and another was directed upon the foundry and used to preserve the dam and bridge, but all the efforts of the firemen to save the buildings after they got the water to work with were unavailing, and the foundry and the woollen factory were wholly consumed.

Very little machinery or stock was rescued from the foundry, and all the machinery that was in it is a total ruin. Part of the wool and stock in the woollen factory was got out, and a small portion of the machinery, but the greater and best part of the machinery and a considerable portion of Mr. Wilson's stock were destroyed.

The origin of the fire is mysterious. The foundry had been closed down for a week and preparations were being made to start it again, and the men employed in the foundry say that no fire had been used in the part of the building where the fire started after three o'clock on Monday afternoon. Casting had been done in the foundry on Monday afternoon, but it was finished at six o'clock, and the foreman went through the building at eight o'clock and found everything all right at that time. Mr. E. Wilson, when going home about eleven o'clock, passed behind the foundry and saw no signs of fire, so that how the fire originated is not known, but the workmen in the foundry say that there was no fire in the blacksmith shop from which it could have started.

The losses are heavy. Messrs. J. Whyte & Co. are the principal losers, as all the machinery and stock in their foundry was destroyed, and they owned the woollen factory building. Their loss on the stock and machinery in the foundry will be about $60,000; on the foundry building, $2,500, and on the woollen factory building $3,000. The total insurance on the foundry and contents was $5,000, in the Phoenix and Royal, and on the factory $3,000. Mr. A. Saver owned the machinery in the woollen factory, and his loss will be $4,500, on which he has $2,300 insurance. Mr. Wilson had his stock insured for $500, and his loss will probably be $200 or $300 over that amount.

About thirty-five men are thrown out of employment by this disaster.

Journalistic.

The Strathroy Western Dispatch following the lead of other journals, is now printed by steam. The Dispatch is a live, newsy paper, and we are pleased to see this further evidence of prosperity in the west.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Nov. 7.—Mr. T. Menzies, J. P., and Mr. Wm. Nicholls, J. P., presided at the Court this morning.

DURK AND DISORDERLY.

Edward Swanbuck was charged with having been drunk and disorderly and with assaulting the constable. He pleaded not guilty, but the evidence of Constable Pigeon was conclusive, and he was fined $10 or three months in gaol and was committed.

THEFT.

Michael Shanahan denied that he was drunk when arrested. He said that he was only carrying a bottle of whisky to a sick friend, but Constable Adams testified that he was intoxicated, and he was fined $10 or ten days in gaol.

THEFT.

George Moore, a small boy, was up on remand, charged with stealing a bee hive from Edward Hillier. He was arraigned yesterday and pleaded guilty, but stated that he was in the company of three other boys who took the hive, and did not take part in the act himself. Mr. Hillier did not wish to prosecute to-day, and the case was withdrawn. The theft was committed on the night of the 15th of October.

GREAT FIRE AT HALIFAX.

The Provincial Poor Asylum Destroyed—A Number of Lives Reported Lost.

HALIFAX, Nov. 7.—Fire broke out at midnight in the eastern end of the Provincial Poor Asylum, an immense six-story brick structure in the south-eastern suburbs of the city, containing about 400 people, and at 1.30 a.m. half of the building is a mass of flames. The fire originated in a bakery, where there were twenty cords of wood stored, and the flames catching this then spread with lightning rapidity, and soon had that part of the building, used as hospital, in their clutches. The inmates rushed about the building in great confusion, seemingly almost out of their senses, and the work of getting them out was very difficult. It is thought most of those confined in the hospital have been saved, but it is feared a number of lives are lost. The whole city fire brigade is now at the scene of the conflagration, but can do little, hardly any water being obtainable.

SHOOTING CASE.

A Young Woman Shoots a Man Twice with a Revolver.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 5.—About six o'clock last evening a shooting affray took place at Jerseyville, county of Westworth. Unpleasant relations have existed for some time past between Westworth Day, of Jerseyville, and Eva Woods, of Langford, and yesterday afternoon the latter procured a revolver, and presented herself to Day where he was at work in his barnyard. The girl, who is about 29 or 30 years of age, on seeing Day asked him to give her money, and upon his refusing to do so, she fired twice at him, the first shot taking effect in the abdomen, just below the stomach. Medical aid was called in. The affair has caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood. The girl, upon being questioned as to why she had committed the act, replied that she intended to kill him, and was not sorry for what she had done. She gave the revolver up to one of the neighbours, and up till this morning she was at large. She and her parents live at Langford, a village on the Brantford and Hamilton road.

A RED QUILT.

The Excitement it Caused in a Church—Churchwardens Resign.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Ladies' Aid Society in connection with the Lucan Episcopal Church having made an autograph quilt, a meeting was recently held in the Town Hall to dispose of it. Two of the churchwardens, Mr. John Fox and Mr. Wm. Stanley, proposed that two young ladies be nominated as candidates for the quilt. Accordingly Miss Alice Porter and Miss Louise Goodacre were the nominees respectively of Mr. W. E. Stanley and John Fox. The voting went on at a lively rate until when some $40 or $50 had been collected, when the poll was declared closed, and Miss Goodacre declared queen of the quilt. But just as the declaration was made some one picked up a $5 bill from the floor and stoutly maintained he had put it in for Miss Porter. The polls were therefore opened again, and in a few minutes a trifle of $60 was collected, and amid deafening cheers Miss Porter was declared elected. But here another hitch occurred, the uproar became deafening, and Mr. Fox demanded the poll to be opened again, and his parents and live, and the roll of bills to their respective owners, and says the church will be well satisfied with the $90, which, when added to the proceeds of the evening and the receipts of the quilt in the item of names, will make something like $300. It is understood that Messrs. Fox and Stanley have resigned their positions of churchwardens.

Woman's True Friend.

A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly by those complaints and weaknesses so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are a female's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial always proves our assertion. They are pleasant to the taste, and only cost fifty cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists.—2.

One dose of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters will relieve Sick Headache. One bottle effects a cure. Price 25c. per bottle.

N. H. DOWNS'

Vegetable Balsamic

ELIXIR!

This valuable medicine is purely vegetable, the discovery of which was the result of many years' close study, in order to discover the cause, the symptoms and the cure—viz.: Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Inflammation, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and every species of oppression of the Chest and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir has been daily administered its efficacy has been invariably manifested, convincing the most sceptical that

Consumption is not incurable, if properly attended to.—Consumption, at its commencement, is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the lungs, and as inflammation, when the cough is more observable, but rather dry, frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir cures the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid humors, and inflammation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expels them from the system. It facilitates expectoration, it heals the ulcerated surfaces, and relieves the cough and makes the breath easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate or narcotic action, which are so dangerous a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient, whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but by removing the cause, generally destroys the hectic before the cough is entirely gone. Consequently, when the cough is cured the patient's well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions for cure of pulmonary diseases. Price 25c. and $1 per bottle. Sold every where.

TAN BOOTS

The London Builder says that the German Government has on several occasions pointed out to farmers and other interested in agriculture that too great an expenditure of capital on buildings is a mistake. With a view of illustrating the application of this principle of economy to roofing, the Cologne Gazette points out that the system of using tar for roofing purposes is at the same time economical and suitable for agricultural buildings, and what is said may serve as an answer to a recent inquiry in our own pages. The framework of the roof can be of relatively slight construction on account of the nature of the covering it is intended to support, and the perpendicular height of the roof can be one-eighth or one-tenth of the entire depth of the building. The distance of the rafters is arranged according to the width of the covering material, the scale being that from the middle of one rafter to the middle of another. The distance should be 2½ in. less than that the width of tar roofing sheets.

Immediately upon the rafters come boards, and upon these (exactly in the centre of the separate rafters) are placed strong laths, about 2 in. wide and 1½ in. thick, the upper edges being taken off. The roofing sheets are now placed so as to cover the spaces between the laths, and are nailed. Over the laths are placed strips of paper, 5 in. to 6 in. wide, fastened with nails at intervals of 2½ in.

In order to make the sheets lie smoothly upon the boarding, it is suggested, in case they are too dry, to soften them by immersion in water. It is recommended that the workmen should not wear heavy-nailed boots, and also, that if the rain comes on, the roof should not be walked upon immediately after. When the entire surface of the roof is covered with sheets, the strips of paper (or caps) already named, as well as joints, are painted over with a hot mixture of coal tar and pulverized lime. Pure dry sand is at once sprinkled over the coat, and particular care must be taken that all the nail heads are well covered. When the joint is dry the whole surface of the roof is once more coated with the same mixture, and is sanded.

The object of this careful method of overlaying the roof with several coatings of specially prepared solutions is to preserve in the tar those oleaginous and fatty properties which it soon loses if exposed to the air, and the retention of which is an indispensable condition of its resistance to water. Clay and sand do not afford sufficient protection, and they are removed by violent winds.

Reference is made to various systems of coating the tar roof with protective substances, for the purpose indicated. One of the most successful methods consists of a mixture of coal dust and thin white oil. This mixture is spread over the entire surface of the roof. If such a coating is not applied the tar paint must, during the first four years, be annually renewed, which enhances the cost of the roof. If the last named protective composition is used, and renewed every two years, the coating of tar and lime can be dispensed with. Particular mention is, however, made of a coating of tar mixed with Portland cement, the tar being well heated and used in the proportion of 1½ pounds to 300 pounds of cement. The mixture should be kept well stirred during the preparation, and should be applied as soon as made. This particular method has been tried in many cases in Germany, and, according to the journal quoted from, its satisfactory results have caused its adoption upon a scale of progressive importance.

BOY INVENTORS.

The Christian Advocate justly considers that a boy's elders are guilty of a foolish act to maul him when he says or does something which they don't understand. A boy's personality is entitled to as much respect as a man's, as long as he behaves himself. In the following anecdotes wise and foolish elders are exhibited—one class respecting, and the other despising a boy.

Some of the most important inventions have been the work of boys. The invention of the valve motion to the steam engine was made by a mere boy.

Newcomen's engine was in a very incomplete condition, from the fact that there was no way to open or close the valves, except by means of levers operated by hand.

He set up a large engine at one of the mines, and a boy, Humphrey Potter, was hired to work these valves; although this is not hard work, yet it required his constant attention.

As he was working the lever, he saw that parts of the engine moved in the right direction, and at the same time he had to open or close the valves.

He procured a strong cord, and made one end fast to the proper part of the engine, and the other end to the valve-lever; and the boy then had the satisfaction of seeing the engine move with perfect regularity of motion.

A short time after the furnace came around and saw the boy playing marbles at the door. Looking at the engine he saw the ingenuity of the boy, and also the advantage of so great an invention. The idea suggested by the boy's inventive genius was put in a practical form, and made the steam engine an automatic working machine.

The power loom is the invention of a farmer's boy who had never seen or heard of such a thing.

He whittled one out with his jack-knife, and after he had got it all done, he, with great enthusiasm, showed it to his father, who at once kicked it to pieces, saying that he would have no boy about him that would spend his time on such foolish things.

The boy was sent to a blacksmith to learn the trade, and his master took a lively interest in him. He made a loom of what was left of the one his father had broken up, and showed it to his mother.

The blacksmith saw he had no common boy as an apprentice, and that the invention was a valuable one. He had a loom constructed under the supervision of the boy. It worked to their perfect satisfaction, and the blacksmith furnished the means to manufacture the loom, and the boy received half the profits.

In about a year the blacksmith wrote to the boy's father that he should bring with him the wealthy gentleman who was the inventor of the celebrated power loom.

You may be able to judge the astonishment at the old house when his son was presented to him as the inventor who told him that the loom was the same as the model that he had kicked to pieces but a year ago.

Our Patent Office shows many ingenious and useful inventions made by miners and women, and the above list of important inventions made by boys might be largely increased did space permit.

BEEHIVEVILLE.

The Intelligencer says:—If the predictions of those who are engaged in lumbering operations in this locality are fulfilled the prospects are the coming season will be unusually active. Thus early the advance parties of several firms have established quarters for operations during the winter and locations for work are being sought after by others. Gilmore & Co. expect to perform some very lively work in the woods this winter and the force of operators they will send out will amount to the remainder of the aborigines who dwell in the woods. They will establish four shanties and give a show for nine live jobs to make a substantial living by their work on Beaver Creek, north of Millington, in the township of Tudor. These River will be more than lively, as three shanties and six jobs will make it the scene of their labor. Each of these parties will number 400 men. Six shanties and eight jobs will give employment to 200 men. The "Beaver" will be one shanty in the township of Harvey, one in the township of Lake, near Clear River; one in Tudor, near the Moira River; one on the North River, in Midway; and each will give employment to 200 men. The cut will come to the front by the Trent and Moira Rivers, and will embrace 300, 400 logs, besides ash, cedar, tamarack, spruce, and fir. The product is commonly expected to be as large as that of 1881.

MIDLAND.

The Free Press says:—The steam barge Teomuch is loading 750,000 feet of lumber at the B. C. L. & T. Co.'s dock to be consigned to parties in that land of promise, Manitoba.

Mr. A. Paxton has secured the contract for building a large steam saw mill on Septer River for the American Lumber Co., capacity 80,000 feet per day. A part of the work we understand is to be done in Midland.

KILLED ON THE TRACK.—Mrs. Call, a widowed lady, 70 years of age, while crossing the track was struck by some cars and killed on Saturday afternoon. The body was mutilated beyond recognition. The old lady either did not see the cars or attempted to cross ahead of them.

Height of Buildings.—Mr. Walford mentions the Swedish law which came in force in 1875, and prohibited the erection of buildings in cities and towns of a height more than five feet above the width of the street on which they are built. A wise precaution, says the Advertiser, to secure proper ventilation and avert the possibility of conflagrations, and which somewhat qualifies Capt. Shaw's rule that the safety of any individual building depends upon its height in the ratio of the height to area or cubic content under equal combustible conditions otherwise. This is part of the question of whether we shall in the future build risks, or continue, as in the past, to build capricious individual structures.

Trees on the French National Roads.—Statistics have been published by the French Department of Public Works relative to the planting of trees along the high-roads of the country. The total length of the Routes Nationales is 39,939,139 meters, of which 25,731,928 meters may be bordered with trees. At this distance, 14,335,311 meters are planted, while 9,696,617 meters remain to be done. The number of trees used to form the welcome avenue is 2,601,698.

Stitch to Swimmers.—When a swimmer gets chilled the blood ceases to circulate in the fingers, the finger nails become a deathly white color, the lips turn blue, and should he persist in staying in the water after these symptoms develop he is sure to have cramps. So long as the swimmer can discern spots on his finger nails he knows that his blood is in good order, and that he is safe and free from chill. I have been remarkably free from chill, and feel most at ease when in the salt water under a hot sun. Salt water seems to attract the heat, and no matter what the temperature of the water, under these circumstances I feel warm. I have on some occasions swum so as to keep my body under water, but even in such instances on coming out I have found my back and limbs bilious. This is the penetration of the heat from the rays of the sun on the water. On one occasion, since I was here last, I swam for 2000 at Scarborough, staying in the water twenty-four hours. I use a preparation of poplar oil, which I rub all over my body, even my face. The oil fills up the pores of the skin and keeps the salt water from permeating my vitals. All professionals now use oil.—Captain Webb, in Boston Herald.

Albumen in Cow's Milk.—Dr. Schmidt, Mulheim, has been investigating the nitrogenous bodies in cow's milk, about which so much diversity of opinion has hitherto prevailed. He says that these albuminous substances are regularly present in the milk, viz.: casein, albumen, and pepton. The average of seven analyses gave 2.43 per cent of casein, 0.38 per cent of albumen, and 0.13 per cent of pepton. Under certain circumstances the amount of albumen may increase until it equals that of casein. The pepton is formed from the casein by a fermentative process; this ferment is destroyed by a boiling temperature, but its activity is not destroyed by salicylic or carbolic acid, so that in the respect it resembles the ferment that digests the albuminoids. Since milk, on long standing, may lose 10 per cent or more of its casein by its conversion into pepton, it should be made use of as fresh as possible when employed for making cheese.

A Chicago exchange refers to the case of Lewis H. O'Connor, Esq., of Washington street, in that city, who was cured of a very severe pain in the back by St. Jacob's Oil, after the prescriptions of physicians, and many remedies had proved valueless.—Columbus, Ga. Enquirer Sun.

BEST OF ALL.—Our rigorous and changeable climate and our mode of life induces frequent colds that often lead to severe coughs, bronchitis and other lung troubles that are liable to end in consumption. The best and most pleasant remedy for these difficulties is Haysard's Pectoral Balm, to be obtained of any druggist.

M. DE BRASSA, the African explorer, is to be presented with a medal worth six hundred dollars, by the municipality of Paris, which will also grant a subsidy in aid of his next expedition.

The town of Breaborg, in Finland, the name of which is familiar in connection with its bombardment by the allies, during the Crimean war, has been almost entirely destroyed by fire. Many lives were lost during the conflagration.

NEVER NEGLECT IT.—If you suffer from a cough, never neglect it; it is trifling matter, and might lead to a speedily fatal disease of the lungs. Haysard's Pectoral Balm will allay all irritation of the mucous membrane by its soothing, healing power; it cures bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung complaints.

THREW AWAY HER SUPPORTER.—Dr. Pierce, a neighbor of ours was suffering from "female weakness" which the doctor told her could not be cured without a supporter. After considerable persuasion my wife induced her to try your "Favorite Prescription." After using one bottle she threw away the supporter and did a large washing, which she had not done in two years before. James Miller, 1245 1/2 Job Street, Wheeling, W. Va.

The Thugs.—Thuggism, it appears, is by no means dead in India; on the contrary, there are some indications of a revival of this nearly elapsed industry. In a recently published digest of crime in India, it is recorded that 13 convictions of Thugs took place last year against only 6 in the year before. There is, however, one striking difference between the present exponents of the art and their predecessors. Your modern Thug is scientific, and despises the straggling handicraft of his ancestors as a barbarous contrivance. He prefers to accomplish his work by poisonous drugs, and as almost every jungle contains the raw material for these simple but deadly preparations, he runs very little risk of detection in that way. We may take it, therefore, that the thirteenth thugs who were brought to justice represented a very much larger number of successful operations. Baroda appears to be their favorite haunt; nearly one-half of the convictions have taken place there. The authorities there seem to recognize its evil prevalence in the worship of the Goddess Bhairavi, as they have just completed a new jail, expressly for the accommodation of unlucky Thugs. We should be inclined to think that the best accommodation for a detected Thug would be "under the gallows tree." A murderer by profession, by religion and by natural selection, he has no place in this world.

AND THE POWERS.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. The most successful remedy ever discovered, for it contains no life and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER. Presiding Elder of the St. Albans Baptist Church, St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 30th, 1880.

Dear Sir, I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a week cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the hump be found.

PENEVERANCE WILL TELL. STOCKTON, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

R. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentls.—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two horse joints with Kendall's Spavin Cure. One very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have used the horse since it took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no hump to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does not all what it has done for me, he will be very grateful.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its action, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is powerful and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callosities, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the scapula or ilium, or rheumatism is man used for any purpose for which a liniment is used for such or worse. It is now known to be the best liniment for use over swellings, mild and yet certain in its effects.

'XMAS CARDS.

It is very evident that the excitement which generally accompanies the Xmas Card trade is commencing to abate, and before long there will be a falling off in the number of these goods beyond anything seen in the past.

This Year will Cap All.

We do not advise purchasing at present, because you will be so delighted with the cards, that if you do, you will look at them so much, that when Xmas comes you will be dead sick of them. However, our stock has been in a month; it is tremendous, comprising cards from every manufacturer, who sent their samples into Canada. Our assortment therefore cannot be beaten. If you should wish to see them they will be ready next Tuesday.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1882.

OUR CROWN LAND POLICY.

THERE is no subject with which the Ontario Government and Legislature has to deal of greater importance to the people than that of our Crown Lands, and there is to-day no subject which requires the earnest and immediate consideration of our public men more than this one. That the Crown Land policy of this province since confederation has not been what it should have been will be generally conceded by every one who has any knowledge of the subject, no matter how much they may differ as to what our policy should be. In this, as in most other things, it is much easier to point out defects than to suggest practical remedies to pull down than to build up, especially when in the up-building one will be brought face to face at every turn with interests created by our past policy, which no honest and just man dare ignore. But, great as are the difficulties in the way of a remodeling of our Crown Land policy, they will have to be faced at no distant day, and the sooner the better, if we desire to avoid much the same awakening as that which awaits the spendthrift when he, all at once, discovers that he has spent his last shilling. This province, like him, is unquestionably spending, if not its last shilling, its timber patrimony, at a rate which will soon bring it to grief if we do not speedily change our present wasteful policy. Great as will be its loss to the province as a revenue producer, its disappearance must prove a much greater loss to the people by reason of the enhanced price which they will have to pay for every board and stick which they consume and the loss of employment which its decreasing manufacture will entail. About the certainty of these results we apprehend there will be no dispute, we will therefore pass on to the consideration of the principles which seem to us as necessary to the attainment of the object which we assume all claim to have in view.

In the first place let us say that we look upon our crown domain, with all either growing upon or lying beneath it, as the property of the people, to be managed so as to yield the largest possible return to the owners, and in the second place that we are of the opinion that the great defect of our past and present administration in this respect consists in the attempts to promote settlement and protect the timber for the lumberer in the same districts and even upon the same lots—an attempt which we venture to assert has lost to this province more revenue, and to the people of the country more employment, than we have gained, or can gain for years to come, from the settlers which have gone into, or will go into our free grant districts, for the purpose of agriculture. However, there is no use crying over spilt milk; the question is, what should now be done? Speaking generally we should say that it is the duty of the Provincial Government, before another license is granted or another township is opened for settlement, to ascertain whether the townships proposed to be licensed or settled are more valuable for their timber or for settlement. If the former, then they should not be opened for settlement, and the licenses should be sold upon that understanding in order that the greatest possible inducement may be held out to the purchaser to husband the timber; if on the other hand it be decided that the township is so well adapted for settlement that its lands will be generally taken up for bona fide agricultural purposes, notwithstanding the inducements now held out to such settlers to go west, then no license to cut timber in such a township should be granted, but the timber which may be therein should pass to the settler with his location ticket subject to certain restrictions and to the payment of a rate of dues which would be equal to the current value of the timber at the stump. So far as the lands, already not opened to settlement, or already not largely surrounded by townships in which settlers have been located are concerned, we can see little difficulty in adopting some such policy as that which we have indicated, but the accomplishment of anything practical and substantial in the same direction in those districts covered by lumbering licenses, and opened for settlement and already partially settled, will be a matter of very great difficulty, although we should hope not an impossibility with the right man in the Crown Lands Office. Vested rights, and both the licensee and settler are in possession of vested rights, must be respected, no matter what the consequence may be. The Province cannot afford to break faith with those with whom it has entered into engagements, and upon the faith of which private individuals have invested there means, perhaps their all, but that is no reason why, even in these districts, an honest effort should not be made to bring about a change which would put an end to the present strife between lumberman and settler, and to that destruction of valuable property which is occasioned more or less by their antagonism.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

WITH that dishonesty which too often marks an otherwise well conducted paper, the London Post falsely accuses us of publishing fictitious about the tyranny of our license commissioners, and quotes a similar slander from the Peterborough Examiner. We had spoken of the Inspector, not of the Commissioners, as our local contemporary well knew. However, to oblige the Examiner, we then gave it a case of abuse of his official position by a commissioner, not in the town but in the country, and our contemporary does not venture a word on the subject. The Post appends to its silly and vulgar extract, its opinion that the Review disregards the truth. May we ask our voracious contemporary when it will answer our repeated challenge and give its reason for its misrepresentation that the N. P. had increased the price of agricultural implements. It cannot give one instance where the Review has thus falsified facts and figures.

THE Kington Whig copies the slanderous statement of the London Advertiser that Senator Frank Smith once at a festive gathering dealt a blow to a priest and knocked him down. The Advertiser has been obliged to retract its falsehood, and we wonder whether the Whig will be as ready to publish the contradiction as it was to circulate the calumny.

THE Examiner of the 9th inst. says:—"Last year the amount which would have been paid to municipalities under the former License Act would have been $110,550, while the amount actually paid them was $273,497." Will the Examiner kindly furnish us with the data or authority for these figures? It will excuse us if we cannot accept its simple statement as a fact. It may have been fabricating.

THE Examiner says because "the expenditure in every branch of the public service has been augmented" under Conservative rule in Quebec, Ontario should be careful about letting Conservatives into power in Ontario. But what about the Mowat Government? Has not "the expenditure in every branch of the public service been augmented" in Ontario by Mr. Mowat? And if so, surely what is worthy of condemnation in Quebec is equally worthy of condemnation in Ontario? If not, why not?

THE Globe and lesser lights among the "Reform" journals, are endeavouring to make it appear that the recent Democratic victory in the United States indicates a re-action in favour of free trade. This is simply a falsification of the facts, the truth being that the Democrats never had a chance of success till as a party they abjured free trade. The relief to the Republicans, those "Grits" of the United States, was largely owing to their Mowat-like grasping at patronage and their abuse of it.

THE BLANKET CONTRACT.

That thoroughgoing "Reform" organ, the Ottawa Free Press has the following account of the proceedings in reference to the blanket contract, which has been absurdly cited as a job:—"Considerable comment has been caused by a statement which appeared in the Free Press regarding the letting of a large contract for blankets for the Department of Militia and Defence. The Ottawa correspondent of the Globe also gave an account of the affair, stating that it was given to Mr. Chas. Magee, of this city, as a reward for political services. The following statement of the case is given by one high in authority:

This year, owing to the general elections, the military camps were postponed from June until September, thus bringing them into camp at the same period of time. In the stores of the department were twenty thousand blankets, which were distributed to the troops, this allowance being fully sufficient during the summer months for their comfort. The troops had gone into camp, and everything was progressing finely when the Minister of Militia was telegraphed regarding the extremely cold weather and the urgent necessity for more blankets. Being in Quebec at the time the telegram was received he immediately procured two thousand blankets from Mr. Hamel, a contractor, at an exceedingly low figure; and as he could not procure enough of Mr. Hamel an offer made to the department about that time by Mr. Magee was accepted; the latter supplying three thousand blankets. The reason for not advertising for tenders was explained by the statement that had the usual form of asking for tenders been gone through with, the advertisement would necessarily have been published for three successive weeks. Such a course would necessarily have caused great delay, and the camp would be broken up before the blankets were procured, and as the troops were suffering from the extremely cold weather and every day's delay was a source of great danger to their health, urgent and immediate action was considered necessary. All the troops had one blanket given them upon going into camp. Had the camps been held at different parts of the season, the Department would have arranged the matters so that as soon as one camp was broken up the blankets used would have been transferred to another camp for use, thus giving two blankets to each man.

But the blanket supply being exhausted, it was found necessary to purchase some. One or two camps broke up early, and their blanket supply was given to other camps, but it was found that five thousand more were necessary, and hence the purchase.

Mr. Magee furnished three thousand, and Mr. Hamel, of Quebec, two thousand. The actual contract price was fifty-five cents per pound, the average being 4 1/2 pounds to the blanket, which, also, was the minimum weight allowed for each blanket. This would make the expenditure for five thousand blankets about $12,000.

The price paid for blankets under previous contracts it is said is about sixty cents a pound, which was some years ago, when wool was higher.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Peterborough Club.
The annual meeting of the Peterborough Club will take place this evening and a full attendance of the members is desirable.Shooting Inside the Town.
This afternoon two reports of a gun were heard, the shots having been fired on George street. The person who fired the gun should remember that such an act is contrary to law.Y. M. C. A.
A meeting of the members of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held this evening, in their rooms, at 8 o'clock. All interested in the work at the railway camp, whether members or not, are invited to be present.Free Music.
The Fire Brigade Band turned out yesterday and delighted the citizens with a new and choice programme of music. The band play as usual, in excellent style, and it is plain to see that they are keeping up their practice regularly.Personal.
Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Hawthorn started for Winnipeg on Thursday. Mr. Hawthorn, like many others of our energetic business men, has made investments in the capital of our Prairie Province, and will combine profit and pleasure by taking a trip to look after them personally.The Churches.
Divine service was held in the several churches yesterday, returning thanks to the Almighty for a bountiful harvest. St. John's church was well filled in the evening, when the Rector preached an eloquent sermon. The music was splendid, being chosen especially for the occasion. The services in the other churches were well attended, the sermons appropriate and the music in keeping with the object of the services.A Runaway.
On Thursday a team of horses attached to a phaeton and driven by Miss Ulyott became frightened on Hunter street, near the American Hotel. One of them began to kick and plunge, but Miss Ulyott valiantly held them by the reins, and although unable to quiet them, kept them from getting away until two men caught the horses and unhitched them from the phaeton. The pole and head-tree of the vehicle were broken, and some straps were cut in loosening the horses, but the carriage and horses were not injured.The Waterworks.
Mr. Surtees, the consulting engineer, having arrived from Ottawa on Thursday, preparations were at once made for pumping the water through the waterworks mains. Late on Thursday night the hose was attached to the hydrant at Mr. Hilliard's grist mill, and the water was forced through the hose and over the mill, with one water-wheel working, and fifty pounds pressure on the pumps. This forenoon the water was forced down through the mains, to ascertain if there were any weak spots in the pipes. Two were found and are being repaired, and the public test will soon be made. The machinery at the pump-house works well, and it has been demonstrated that the power is ample.Railway Notes.
On Tuesday, in the Chancery Division, Toronto, an injunction was moved for on behalf of the Ontario & Quebec Railway, to restrain the Central Ontario Railway from crossing their track. The motion stands a week.The Register says that twenty masons arrived at Norwood on Saturday last to build the iron bridge over the Ouse River and Mill street. They were followed by fifteen more on Monday. All the bridges on this line are being built of stone and iron. The bridges mentioned above will require six stone abutments—between 25 and 35 feet high—and will take the greater part of the winter to build them.The amount of business done at the Campbellford station on the Grand Junction Railway is so large that the present station is found to be inconveniently small, and there is some talk of erecting a larger one nearer the village. The freight traffic must be great, as the pressure on the floor of the freight room has caused it to give way.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.
THURSDAY, Nov. 9.—Louis Miller appeared before Mr. Mansie, J.P., on a charge of having been drunk and disorderly, and was fined $3 without costs, which he paid.DRUNK.
John Wilson, for having been drunk, paid $3 into the public funds.INDUCENT EXPOSURE AND DRUNK.
FRIDAY, Nov. 10.—John Connor appeared in answer to two charges. One was of indecently exposing his person, and the other was for having been drunk and disorderly. He was fined $2 and costs for each offence, and not having the money to pay his fine, was committed to goal.DRUNK.
Patrick Ryan was fined $3 and costs for having been drunk, and was given twenty-four hours to pay the fine.Defective Sidewalk.
We have been requested to call attention to the state of the sidewalk on the south side of Brock street, between Stewart and Rabbidge streets, near Mr. Ulyott's, where, we are informed, several planks are torn up and many loose.The Weather.
The weather continues moderately warm and cloudy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate winds, mostly northerly and north easterly; fair and slightly cooler weather.Furniture Sale.
Don't fail to attend the auction sale of Mr. Moore Giroux's household furniture, which takes place on Tuesday, the 14th inst, at his residence on George street north. The whole of the parlour, bedroom, hall, sitting room and kitchen furniture, which is chiefly new, will be sold, as Mr. Giroux is giving up housekeeping. Sale to commence at 12.30 o'clock, and positively without reserve.Work Resumed.
Although the new buildings for Mr. T. Fitzgerald's carriage factory are not entirely completed, work in them has been recommenced. Two forges have been put up in the blacksmith shop, and work in this part has been begun, and also in the woodwork department in the carriage factory. The brick work on the buildings has been completed, and the factory will soon be in full operation.A Dangerous Man.
On Thursday a man considerably under the influence of liquor was passing up Murray street near the creek followed by a party of boys, who were tormenting him, and their tricks raised his ire to such an extent that he drew a pistol from his pocket and fired at them. The shot did not take any effect and no one was injured. A man who saw the circumstance, threatened to hand the drunken man over to the police and he decamped.Narrow Escape.
Mr. John E. Belcher had a narrow escape on Tuesday, but we are happy to learn that he did not receive serious injury. As he was driving down the hill from his house on business connected with the waterworks his horse trod on a loose stone and fell, cutting itself slightly and doing some damage to the carriage and harness. Mr. Belcher was thrown out and received some cuts and bruises, but fortunately no injury that could have serious consequence.Attention.
The attention of ladies and gentlemen is directed to Mr. A. Dorew's advertisement in another column. He will visit Peterborough on Tuesday next, the 14th of November, when he will have a very large assortment of water waves, Seratoga waves, coquelets, perfection paves, switches, ladies' and gents' wigs, and a great many other styles of the latest fashion. He will make the Phalen House his headquarters, and all are invited to call at his show room and inspect the styles."Habilitation Hall."—Boy's Underclothing in four sizes and two qualities, at Andrew McNeil's, George Street, one Door North of P. Vegetable Balsamic

ELIXIR!

This valuable medicine is purely vegetable, the discovery of which was the result of many years' close study in order to discover the cause, the symptoms and the cure—viz.: Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Influenza, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases where this Elixir has been judiciously administered, curing the most inveterate cases.

CONSUMPTION
Is not incurable, if properly attended to.—Consumption, of its commencement, is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the lungs; there is inflammation, when the cough is more observable, is rather dry, then becomes looser and the patient more anxious, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir during the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflammation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expels them from the system. It facilitates expectoration, and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and is astringent articles, which are a foe to drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but by removing the cause, generally cures the hectic before the cough is so inveterate. Consequently, when the cough is cured the patient will find relief from the morbid condition. Price 15c. and 50c. per bottle. Sold everywhere.IT HEALS THE ULCERATED SURFACES

Throat and Lung Institute to his new quarters, 173 Church street, hundreds suffering from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and many diseases of the throat and lungs have received treatment by his new and wonderful instrument, the spirometer, which conveys medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased. Physicians and sufferers can try it free. Poor people bearing certificate will be furnished with spirometer free. Write enclos-

Phillips' Square, Montreal.A GOOD INVESTMENT.—Twenty-five cents expended to your druggist for a bottle of Hag-yard's Yellow Oil will allay more pain and cure
more diseases than many dollars spent for ordinary medicines would do. Yellow Oil cures
Rheumatism, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, Sore
Throat, Croup, Stiff Joints, Contracted Cords, and all Lameness and Inflammation.The sudden changes in our Canadian climate are certainly conducive to long, throat and chest affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is no reason why consumption
should be so prevalent. Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

THE WORK THAT HAS BEEN DONE IN PETERBOROUGH THIS SEASON.

Handsome Dwelling Houses Erected—New Factories—Electric Improvements Made on Many Buildings.

We conclude to-day the last of building operations of this season.

Dr. KINCAID has erected on Reid street a neat and substantial brick dwelling house, two stories high, with stables, shade, &c. Cost $2,500. Mr. John Kincaid contractor.

Mr. W. J. HALL is transforming the old Bible Christian Church on Aylmer street into a double brick cottage. Very little of the old building is used. The building will be veneered with brick and fitted up in good style, making it a comfortable dwelling. Cost $1,300. Mr. E. Danford builder.

Mr. Wm. HICKY has built on Weller street a two story red brick residence, neatly finished with white facings, at a cost of $2,000. Mr. H. Carveth contractor.

Mr. Wm. STURRA has erected a story and a half brick building, a neat and comfortable dwelling house. Cost $1,500. Mr. J. A. Hartley contractor.

THE MIDLAND RAILWAY COMPANY completed this year a freight shed 130 feet long and 30 feet wide, and this summer put up an addition 120 feet by 30 feet, doubling the size of the building, sixty feet of which is used for the official car. Cost about $2,000. Mr. Fitzgerald builder.

Mr. J. CREVIER erected a small brick building on Brock street, Mr. T. Bradburn's property, which is used by Messrs. Crevier & Paquin as a veterinary surgeon office. Cost $400. Mr. McNamara builder.

This concludes the list for this season. The total number of buildings included is forty-nine, and the total amount of money expended, in round figures, $148,000. A portion of this money was expended last fall, on buildings which were commenced last fall and finished this season, but the bulk of it was expended in 1892. There were most probably improvements made to houses which are not included, but this shows a very creditable record for this year. Some of the buildings mentioned are factories which contain a large amount of machinery, which have, in addition to the buildings, been a great improvement to the town.

The prospects for building next year are good, and the amount of money laid out in 1893 in building operations will probably exceed that expended this year by a considerable sum. Preparations are already being made in different parts for putting up buildings and additions, some of which may be completed before the year is out.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Autumn Session of the Chancery Division—A Small Number of Cases.

The autumn session of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice opened this morning, His Honor Justice Ferguson presiding.

The Toronto members of the legal profession were represented by Mr. Z. A. Leach, of the firm of Blake, Kerr, Leach & Cassels, and Mr. T. G. MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Russian government has ordered the immediate construction of nine vessels of war. These vessels are designed for service in the Baltic and Black Seas. The forts at Cronstadt will be greatly strengthened. All the recent movements of the Russian government are construed to mean that the expectation of war is dominant.

RIOTS IN HUNGARY.

PETH, Nov. 13.—A riot occurred at Arad during the election to-day. The mob smashed the windows of the town hall, and seriously wounded the commander of the troops sent to suppress the disturbance. The soldiers dispersed the crowd with their bayonets, seriously wounding twenty persons.

COLLISION IN THE CHANNEL.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The steamer Westphalia put into Portsmouth this afternoon cut down below the water line, with a large hole in her port bow and several small holes in her starboard bow, and her collision bulkheads stove in. She had collided off Beachy Head with a steamer whose name is unknown. A steamer has been despatched to search for the steamer with which the Westphalia collided. The collision occurred off Beachy Head early this morning. A boat was lowered from the Westphalia and sent in search of the other steamer, and this boat is now missing. It is believed the missing steamer sunk with all hands. The Westphalia's boat which is missing contained an officer and six men and it is supposed they were also drowned. It was intensely dark at the time of the collision.

STEAMSHIP DISASTER.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A terrible disaster occurred in the North Sea. The steamer Angkor, from Sweden, bound for the port of Hull, foundered in the North Sea, and the report estimates that forty persons lost their lives.

A FORT ATTACKED.

VANILLA, Nov. 13.—On the 11th inst. native insurgents attacked a Spanish fort on one of the Jula islands, and were completely defeated with a loss of seventy killed. The Spanish loss was fifteen killed and several wounded.

THE JOYCE MURDER.

DUBLIN, Nov. 13.—The police have arrested another man for alleged participation in the murder of the Joyce family.

A LETTER FROM ARABI.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Arabi Pasha writes to the Times declaring that the late war carried on by him was in accordance with the laws of God and man, and consonant with the solemn decree of the council under the presidency of the Khedive and the British Pasha. The letter coincides with a protest against the Egyptian being deprived of every office in favor of foreigners.

ARABI'S TRIAL.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—In the House of Commons to-day, Sir Charles Dilke said there was no reason to suppose there would be any departure from the procedure agreed upon between Egypt and England for the trial of Arabi.

BRADLAUGH CLAIMS HIS SEAT.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Speaker read a letter from Mr. Bradlaugh, asking the house to permit him to state at the bar the grounds in law on which he claims the right to take his seat for Northampton. Mr. Labouchere gave notice that he would on the first opportunity move that Mr. Bradlaugh be heard.

THE CUBAN REFUGEES.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—Spain is inclined to treat the Cuban refugees as political offenders, and to identify their families.

MISSING EXPEDITION.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 13.—According to the latest advices the wreck recently seen off the Siberian coast was not that of the Danish exploring vessel Diiphomus, but of a trading vessel abandoned last year.

AMERICAN.

DE LONG'S PARTY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Minister Hunt has informed the Navy Department that burial cases for the bodies of De Long and his comrades had been received at St. Petersburg, and forwarded to Orenburg, where they would be retained until the arrival of Leonty Harbor, with the bodies. There is no news of Harber and his associates yet.

ANOTHER PREDICTION.

PHILADELPHIA, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Professor Brooks reports the observations of the magnificent auroral display which was seen early this morning. It was the grandest in many years. A vast brilliant arch illuminated the landscape equal to the light of the moon in her first quarter, and was followed by immense streamers and waves of light, projected with startling velocity from the horizon to the zenith. Some great meteorological disturbances may be expected.

A SHIP CANAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—An United States Press cable from Manchester states that the Chamber of Commerce of that city has adopted a resolution favoring the construction of a tidal ship canal to Manchester.

A DYNAMITE PLOT.

DES MOINES, IOWA, Nov. 13.—A sensation was caused yesterday by the finding of dynamite in hazardous places at the International distillery. Babbitt & Kidd, the owners, notified, and a search party found several cylinders of dynamite in the ingress and egress pipes of the engine. To-day the whole building was carefully gone over, and nine more packages found, weighing eight and a half ounces each. Various warnings were also scrawled with chalk on the walls. One arrest has been made, and warrants have been issued for others.

ROW IN A PARK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—In the City Hall park yesterday while the Salvation Army was holding a meeting, Frank Rawley, Matthew Maxwell and James Jordan, alleged confidence men, quarrelled, it is supposed, over the division of the spoils. Rawley fired, dangerously wounding Jordan. The Salvation Army broke ranks to pursue Rawley, who, with the other two, was arrested.

Woman's True Friend

A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly by those complaints and weaknesses so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are woman's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial always proves our assertion. They are pleasant to the taste, and only cost fifty cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists.—2.

THE FRENCH ANARCHISTS.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The Anarchists arrested at Lyons have been committed for trial. The preliminary investigation showed the existence of a scheme for a partial strike at various points, in order to pave the way for a general outbreak.

EGYPT AND THE POWERS.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A Cairo despatch, not very reliable, states that the English and French Governments have come to an understanding in regard to Egypt. England, as an offset for the abolition of the dual control, offers France the presidency of the public debt commission. The other questions in connection with Egypt will be treated in concert with all the European powers, whose approval Mr. Gladstone believes assured.

PRUSSIAN PARLIAMENT.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The Prussian Reichstag opened to-day. The speech from the throne states that the relations of Germany with all the foreign governments justify the conviction that the benefits of peace are assured. A loan is announced to cover the budget deficit. The Government will introduce a bill effecting certain administrative reforms, and reducing the taxation. A railway bill will also be submitted.

AMERICAN.

A RAILWAY WAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Times Syracuse despatch says that a conflict occurred between the New York West Shore and Buffalo, and the Chesapeake Valley and New York Railway Companies in this city yesterday. The West Shore attempted to pass down the large ice house belonging to the Chesapeake Valley Road, which it claimed to have purchased from J. J. Belden, receiver. The Chesapeake Valley road resisted the attempt. Last year the United States Judge Wallace granted an injunction restraining the West Shore Company from interfering with the property of the Chesapeake Valley road. Belden declares that he will protect the property on his road at all hazards, and that the West Shore road has acted in defiance of his injunction, and proceeded in defiance of the law.

WILL NOT RESIGN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Times Washington despatch says that the Assistant Secretary now declares that he does not intend to resign.

SENATORIAL ELECTION.

ATLANTA, Nov. 14.—The people are considerably wrought up over the election for United States Senators, which occurs to-day. Hill's unexpected term seems to be conceded to the young politicians. Ben Hall, Jr., and Pope Harrow are candidates. The friends of both are confident, but Harrow seems to have the best chance. For the full term a very determined opposition is being made to Governor Calhoun. The other candidates are Chief Justice Jackson and J. C. Bick.

AN ALLEGED THIEF OF VICTUALS.

The Hamilton Spectator gives the following account of the recent visit of a deputation of Licensed Victuallers to the Premier:—

The simple facts that several gentlemen representing the licensed victuallers of Ontario called upon Sir John Macdonald, "to ascertain from Sir John Macdonald whether it was the intention of the Dominion Government to take into its hands the regulation of the license law, and if, in so doing, it was the intention to take away from the market political character of the existing Crooks act. In answer to the above, Sir John Macdonald stated that it was the intention of the Government to take the matter into its hands, as such a course was forced upon it by the late decision of the Privy Council in regard to the Crooks act, and that in the framing of the measure, it was the intention to make it strictly non-political."

Now, if this is true, the Globe stands convicted of several deliberate falsehoods told for party purposes, to wit: that in the interview in question, Sir John Macdonald promised to repeal the Saturday night closing law; that the Victuallers produced their books and stated that they could influence 7,000 votes; that Sir John suggested that a complaint against the Saturday night closing should be formulated, and that he would not upon such complaint; that Sir John promised to let so that someone could be kept open till mid-night on Saturdays, and lastly that he exacted a promise of secrecy concerning the interview. It is altogether likely that the Spectator's version is the correct one, as it is in a position to know the facts, and it is not probable that the correspondent or editor of the Globe was taken into the confidence of the Victuallers on the occasion. The Grit organ must prove its case, or assume the proud position of Champion liar of the season.—Grip.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

THE FATHERS IN SPECIAL SESSION TRANSACT SOME BUSINESS.

A Report of the Street and Bridge Committee Adopted—Smith Street Bridge Again—Correspondence Asked For—The Collector's Bonds—Communications.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening.

PRESIDENT—His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors Cahill, McNaughton, Poussette, Mendes, Wilson, Dene and Richardson.

On motion the reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

The Mayor said that he had called the meeting to dispose of the petition from Mr. Brodie and others asking for the erection of platforms in front of the new factories erected on the Dickson estate. This matter, he said, should be decided at once, as work would set in and it would be more difficult to do the work.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Geo. Hilliard, asking that the Street Inspector be instructed to inspect the sidewalk in front of his flouring mill, storehouse and blacksmith shop, and if in the Inspector's opinion they needed renewal or repairing, that the work be done at once.—Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

THE SMITH STREET BRIDGE.
An account was received from T. M. D. O'Leary, for $262.77, for the work on the Smith street bridge.

Councillor Poussette moved, seconded by Councillor Cahill,—That the account be paid.

Councillor Dene moved in amendment that the account be paid when the Midland Railway pay half of it, and not before.

Councillor Cahill said that perhaps the Railway had paid their share now. The Railway would only have to pay half the cost of raising the bridge, and the Council would have to pay the expense of re-planking it. The Railway Company were willing to pay their share.

Councillor Dene said that he was willing for the Council to pay their share, but no more. There was still, he said, a dangerous place at the bridge.

Councillor Richardson had seen the place referred to and did not consider it very dangerous. Peterborough has the best streets and sidewalks of any town in the Province.

The Mayor said that he had visited a great many towns and he had seen none in which the streets and sidewalks were better kept than in this town.

The motion was carried.

IRON WORKS.

The Mayor said he had received a communication from Mr. Robins, who was seeking a site for ironworks, and read it as follows:—

73 YONGE STREET,
TORONTO, Nov. 11, 1882.

To His Worship the Mayor of Peterborough:
DEAR SIR,—I have your favour of yesterday. I am at present simply gathering information, which will in due course be submitted, without reserve, to my principals, who are practical men, and who will come and inspect the field for themselves.

I shall be much pleased to submit your letter to them.

Faithfully yours,
MATTHEW ROBINS.

PLATFORMS TO THE NEW FACTORIES.

The Mayor appealed to the members of the Council to observe the rules of order, when the business would be transacted more pleasantly, expeditiously and satisfactorily.

Councillor Cahill then read the following report of the Street and Bridge Committee:—
To the Mayor and Members of the Council of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN—The Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report that they have, in accordance with instructions received at the last Council meeting, examined the street along Dickson's race. Your Committee find that two or three new factories have been erected during the present year, which give employment to a large number of hands. Believing that the Council is desirous of encouraging the establishment of such industries, your Committee recommends that a sum not exceeding $500 be appropriated to erect platforms, &c. in front of the above factories. Mr. T. G. Hilliard agrees to do the work required in a substantial and satisfactory manner for the above sum, and if the work can be done for a less amount, to charge the Corporation only the sum actually expended, and in case the necessary amount should exceed $500, he to pay the balance.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
THOMAS CAHILL,
Chairman.

Councillor Cahill, in moving the adoption of the report, said that the Committee had not entered into a detailed estimate of the cost of the work, but one of its members thought it would cost $500. If it cost more than $500 Mr. Hilliard would bear the extra expense.

The Mayor, in answer to Councillor Richardson, said that, so far as they could ascertain, the buildings were not on the street.

Councillor Richardson did not favour the report.

Mr. Hilliard was heard by the Council, and said, in answer to a question, that the street was about 20 feet wide. The places where the platforms were asked to be put in were on the street, and they were only asking what was given to every little grocery. The Council was liberal in encouraging manufacturers who spoke of coming here, and he had established quite an industry at this place and had spent a large amount of money this year. He would not take the grant as a favour, but if it was given as their right, they would gladly take it as such. If any part of the platform were built off the street, he would pay for that part. He would rather the work should be done by the Street Inspector, provided it was done at once.

Councillor Dene wished that the town had more men like Mr. Hilliard, who had spent money in improving it. He said that Mr. Hilliard's petition had been put in to try to prevent Mr. Hilliard from getting this grant.

Councillor Poussette thought Mr. Hilliard was only asking for what he was entitled to. It was unfortunate that little matters of feeling should be introduced into the discussions in the Council. Each question should be decided on its merits.

Councillor Cahill said that any person had a right to send a petition to the Council. All persons should have equal rights and privileges.

Councillor Dene said he was willing for work to be done on the streets, but the greater part of the work Mr. Hilliard asked to be done was not on a street.

The report was adopted.

"THE SOUTH RESERVE."

Councillor Cahill moved, seconded by Councillor McNaughton,—That the Clerk be and is hereby instructed to procure from the Crown Lands Department copies of all correspondence between this corporation and the Government, or the representatives of this town or county, or any other persons for or on behalf of this corporation, in reference to what is known as "The South Reserve."—Carried.

THE COLLECTOR'S BONDS.

Councillor McNaughton moved, seconded by Councillor Dene,—That the bonds of the Collector for last year be given up.

The Clerk, in reply to a question, said the rolls had been returned all correct.

The motion was carried, Councillor Cahill alone voting nay.

The Council then adjourned.

Origin of the Stars and Stripes.

The following letter appears in the Toronto Telegram:—

Sir,—A very curious and interesting description of the finding of the origin of the Stars and Stripes flag, has lately come under my notice from the old country. The origin of "The Star Spangled Banner," is little known even among Americans; but the memorial brass (copy of which I enclose), which records the death of Washington's ancestor, lying now, and since the year 1822, in the village of Great Brighton, Northamptonshire, shows that the arms of the Washingtons were "Stars and Stripes," and the English college of heraldry affirms that these stripes were alternate red and white. Hence the origin of the American flag. Whether these stars (being three in number and five pointed in shape) had anything to do with Freemasonry must be left to that ancient fraternity to decide. But that the shield has three divisions is also a fact, corresponding with the degrees in the Order. This brass, which was lying in the parish church a century and a half before the American independence was proclaimed, is highly interesting. The church is the mausoleum of the Spencers of Althorp, the present Earl being the lord-lieutenant of Ireland. The families intermarried in the sixteenth century. Foreigners of distinction visit the church, among whom may be instanced Mr. Motley, the late American Minister; but not one American or Canadian out of every 10,000 of the population knows the origin of the United States flag.

PERSON FALLO.

STOCK RAISING.—The Gazette says that last Tuesday morning about forty cattle, worth probably a thousand dollars, passed through this village on their way to the "North Star" on the Victoria Road, and thence to Strickland's lumber shanty in the region vaguely described as "out back." The drove was an exceptionally large one; but smaller lots are continually being driven away, though very few take the direction of the market, nearly all being intended for city consumption or for exportation across the Atlantic.

Lost With all Hands.

KINCARDINE, Nov. 11.—A despatch received from Southampton this evening states that a fishing boat, supposed to belong to Elliott Hunter, of Kincardine, captained by Ray de Dore Point. The tug C. Lucas cruised around the point until dark, but could find no trace of the crew. She picked up the mast and other portions of the wreck. The supposition is that all hands are drowned.

ENIGMA.

BY THE LATE REV. J. MACDONNELL.

"Th' heart in the deep breathing accents of woe,
"Th' smile in the rest, and 'th' sun in the snow,
In each mountain that rises its snow-covered scalp,
It appears—but oh, strange! 'tis denied to the Alp.
"Th' heart in the sorrow that breathes o'er the tomb,
But doubly it rears in the sweeping simoon.
"Th' heart in the mirror, or, in the forest form,
It sleeps in the gale, and awakes in the storm.
"Th' heart in the love tale that's whispered by youth,
And the voice that is uttered in secret by truth.
The despot may claim it, the king never can,
And woman usurps it, and takes it from man.
In the roar of the cannon, the sound of the drum,
In the shout of the foe when he battles they come,
In the cooing of the dove, in the green of the dying,
In the sword of the brave and the course of the flying,
"Th' heart, and howe'er the field's fortune may go, Unshrinking 'tis found in the midst of the foe."

Supposed Murder.

The body of Cleophas Dupuis, the wealthy farmer and merchant who so mysteriously disappeared from Joliette with considerable money in his pocket, has been found in L'Assomption river, close to the bridge, on which he was running, pursued by three men, when last seen by the townspeople. The parties who are supposed to have robbed and thrown him over the bridge left next day for the northern lumber regions, and on the way it is said they changed several 5 and 10-dollar bills, which it is thought by their neighbors they could not have obtained honestly. The chief of police of the village had sent his emissaries out to arrest the parties if they can be found, which, however, is thought very improbable.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure is such that I can confidently recommend it to you or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

STURGEON, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there, I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.

Respectfully yours,
CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any long growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

SULPHUR Lotion.—An EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulphur" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, curd, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulphur" will successfully attack them. It destroys the elements which cause these unsightly, forcible, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulphur" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

SULPHUR Lotion.—A FLUID remedy in itself, is the most potent remedy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulphur has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHUR Lotion.—The first idea of Sulphur was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Starin, and every year it is used more and more favourably to its truly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and broadly affected with Skin Disease, should apply Sulphur as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHUR Lotion.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Five Fresh Deep Sea Oysters At Darcy's Restaurant and Oyster Parlour.

Trans Valley Navigation.

Mr. Wilkinson called upon us to-day, on his way to Lakeside on behalf of the Dominion Government for the purchase of the dam there, and also to make investigation regarding the right of way.

Week of Prayer. The meeting in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms to-night will be conducted by the Rev. Alex. Bell. Subject—"Rely not upon Human Means, but upon the Lord." All are invited to attend the services.

Winding Up. The Monetary Times says:—"The Getting Gold and Silver Mining Company has resolved upon winding up its affairs and distributing its assets, under the Joint Stock Company's Act, and will act upon this resolution on the 15th February next."

To Ladies and Gentlemen. Mr. A. Downward of Toronto is quartered at Phelan's Hotel. He has a very choice selection of Hair Brushes, Water Waves, Wigs for both sexes, and an abundant supply of Hair Goods of all kinds. Call at his show room, and inspect.

Appointment. The Ontario Gazette contains the following announcement:—"His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to make the following appointment:—Arthur O'Leary, of the town of Lindsay, Esquire, barrister-at-law, to be Police Magistrate in and for the said town of Lindsay, in the room and stead of J. W. Dunford, deceased."

Halfway Notes. The Oshawa Herald says that the work on the Missing Link bridge crossing Pigeon River is being pushed through with all possible speed, and it is expected that it will be finished in a few days if the weather continues fine.

About 3,000 men are now employed on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Mattawa and Algoma Mills, and the Company expect to have the road completed to the last named point by the first of May.

The Weather. Yesterday brought a rain in the morning, which turned to snow and fell heavily for a while. Last night was cold, but this morning the weather moderated and we were treated to another snow storm, which covered the streets, but is now very rapidly melting off. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Decreasing westerly to southwesterly winds, and generally fair, cold weather.

Benefit From Car Works. The Ottawa Citizen has the following paragraph:—"PARTIAL CAR WORKS.—For the month of October the pay list of the employees of the Perth Car Shops amounted to $6,000, or at the rate of $65,000 per year. This is a slight testimony of the enormous advantage to be derived from the establishment of public works in a community. In other words, the city is so much the richer, as the money ultimately lands with the grocer and the tailor, whose different establishments will of course be increased to meet the growing demand. Ottawa should therefore take a hint and extend such inducements to manufacturers as is being offered elsewhere."

Peterborough also might well take the hint, but the project for establishing car works in this town seems to be in abeyance.

They Say It Is Positively True. That Smith is telling the people, and the people are telling everybody that to secure the very best oysters buy the J. B. L. and J. L. & Co's Selects, as they are without doubt the finest oysters packed for eating raw or frying, and for stewing buy the Diamond Brand. Cold weather having now fairly set in, oysters are improving in quality with a downward tendency in price:—

Diamond Brand only 30c per Can Selects " 35c " J. B. L. Selects " 40c " J. L. & Co's (Blue Points) " 50c " Bulk from 40 to 50 cents per quart. Quotations every day at SMITH'S MARKET. 64116.

WATERWORKS SYSTEM.

AS CONSTRUCTED IN PETERBOROUGH BY A LOCAL COMPANY.

A Good System Throughout—A Substantial Pump House—Powerful Machinery and Pumps—The Filtering Process—The Mains.

Since the commencement of the construction of the waterworks system last May, by the Peterborough Water Company, the work has been pushed forward with great energy, and everything connected with them has been constructed with due regard to the requirements of the town. Those who have had charge of its affairs have been those who understood their work, and knew how to attend to it. They have been unflinching in their attention—no trouble or expense has been spared—and the result is that a good system of waterworks has been laid down, which can supply the town with abundance of pure water for domestic purposes, and will protect the valuable business portion of the town from being destroyed by fire. In the course of time—and it is to be hoped at no distant day—this system will be extended so as to cover the whole town, when all its inhabitants will reap the full benefit of an efficient system of waterworks.

As the work of construction has progressed, we have noted each step taken, and kept our readers fully informed of what has been done, so that we have in this way described the entire works. However, at the present time an epitomized description of the system would not be out of place, and will no doubt be interesting.

A number of enterprising citizens of the town compose the Company, of which Mr. Wm. Olorton is President, Mr. G. W. Hutton is Secretary-Treasurer, and Mr. J. H. Webber is Mechanical Superintendent. Messrs. J. Burnham, M. P., D. G. Hutton, Wm. Olorton, R. P. Boucher, M. D., and G. W. Hutton are the Directors, Mr. John E. Belcher, resident engineer, and Mr. R. S. Burton, of Ottawa, consulting engineer.

The pump house and works are situated between Mr. Hillard's saw mill and shingle mill, on the western side of the river. The flume, which is built of heavy plank, is 150 feet in length, 8 feet wide, and 12 feet high, and is bound by iron rods. The northern end, which is at Hillard's dam, is so constructed as not to allow anything to enter the flume which might interfere with the action of the water wheels, and at the southern end it is furnished with a gate, which may be used for cleansing the flume.

From this flume the water passes through large iron tubes three and a half feet in diameter, manufactured at Mr. Wm. Hamilton's foundry, into the basement of the pump house. The foundation walls of the building are two and a half feet thick, and the building is thirty-three feet square, built of red brick. It is one story high, well lighted, finished neatly, and substantially constructed, and shows that Mr. John E. Belcher, the engineer of the company and architect of the building, and Mr. John H. Webber, the efficient and energetic mechanical superintendent, who supervised its construction, had in view the solidity and strength which the building would require to bear the strain of the powerful machinery in motion.

The water which passes through the large iron tubes and gives motive power to the machinery is regulated by gates which are raised and lowered by brakes on the floor above. The water wheels are the "Little Giant" water wheels manufactured by Messrs. J. C. Wilson & Co., of Picton, which firm supplied the machinery, which was put in under the superintendence of Mr. V. Merrill, a member of the firm. The machinery (as we stated in a previous notice of it) weighs twelve tons, and runs very smoothly, with little jar or noise, the exactness with which it has been made, the skillful manner in which it has been put together and the solidity of the building and the floor of timber on which it rests causing this result. The pumps, two in number, were made by the Knowles Manufacturing Company, of Boston, and were put in by Messrs. Buchanan & Co., of Montreal. Mr. Perry having been sent by that firm to attend to that part of the business. Each pump is double acting, each stroke drawing the water from the supply pipe and passing it through the pump, and with the back stroke forcing it into the mains. The gearing is so arranged that the two wheels together will drive the two pumps, or one wheel can drive both pumps, or the two wheels can drive one pump. The reason of this arrangement is obvious, as on account of it no accident to a wheel or pump will shut off the supply of water; but with machinery of such excellent manufacture and perfect working an accident is not liable to occur.

The filtering is done in a brick building thirteen feet square adjoining the northern end of the pump house. The water for domestic use is drawn from a crib in the centre of the river above the dam, and it enters through screens into pipes, and is carried through them to the filtering basin. Here the filtering is accomplished by the water passing through fine screens, then soaking through boxes of charcoal and finally percolating through a bed of fine gravel into the tank, from which it is pumped and distributed through the town. The filtering apparatus is complete and perfect, and the water furnished from it will be free from anything that would be detrimental to health and perfectly pure. In case of a fire which would require more water than this tank would supply, the water will be drawn direct from the flume, a pipe having been put in for this purpose.

Nothing appears to have been forgotten in this the principal part of the works, and nothing neglected. Each person who has charge of any part of it has discharged his duties in a most satisfactory manner, and especial praise is due to Mr. J. H. Webber for the carefulness, skill, and energy which he has displayed, as he was "the right man in the right place."

Mr. John Kennella, of Ottawa, was the contractor for digging the trenches for the mains and filling them after the mains were laid. The mains were manufactured in Glasgow, Scotland, by Messrs. Laidlaw & Son, and Mr. Walter

Drury had the contract for laying them in. The trench digging and pipe laying was done rapidly, and both the contractors did their work in a satisfactory manner. The mains are now laid from the pump house at Hillard's mill down the River road (or Water street) to Smith street, Smith street to George street, and George street to Sherbrooke street, making a continual connection from the pump house to about one hundred feet below Sherbrooke street. On Dublin street they are laid from George street to Water street; on London street, from George to Water street; on Water street, from Dublin to Brock street; on Hunter street, from George to Rabbidge street; on Simcoe street, from Water to Aylmer street, and on Aylmer street from Brock to Charlotte street. The mains will be laid on other streets or extended on those on which they are now laid as the demand requires, and pipes have been ordered for extending the mains on Water street. Six hydrants are in position, having been put in to show the power of the works, and twenty-five have been ordered.

Mr. D. G. Hutton, who was the principal mover in the formation of the Company, has had the chief control of the management of the work done during the summer, and it is to his energy, and to the close attention which he has given to it, that the present successful accomplishment of the work is largely due.

THE PUBLIC TEST.

The preliminary public test of the works was announced to take place on Monday, and at half-past three o'clock the fireman turned out with the hose reel. Three branches, one single one and a Siamese, were put on one hydrant, and the water was turned on, but a pipe burst in front of the Rhythe Mills, and the test had to be abandoned. So far there have only been four cracked pipes discovered—one break for each mile—and if there are no more breaks than these the company will no doubt feel very well satisfied. As it was, with the three branches of 250 feet each, the water was thrown as high as the buildings on the two corners—George and Brock and George and Hunter streets—and if the break had not occurred a good exhibit of the power of the works would have been made. The mains were tested before they left Scotland. On their arrival here they were subjected to a hammer test, but it was expected that some cracks received in transit would escape the scrutiny. In making arrangements for testing the works the power of the machinery and pumps has been shown to be amply sufficient, and this is the principal part of the system.

A Chimney on Fire. Quite a little excitement was caused last evening by a chimney on Brock street burning out. It sent up a volume of flames, which reflected on other buildings and appeared at a distance like a considerable fire. It did no harm, however.

The Jubilee Singers. Remember that the famous coloured Jubilee Singers of Fisk University will give an entertainment in Bradburn's Opera House this evening. This is the original company considerably strengthened, and a good entertainment may be expected.

A Vexed Clergyman. Even the patience of Job would become exhausted here by a preacher and endeavoring to interest his audience while they were keeping up an incessant coughing, making it impossible for him to be heard. Yet, how very easy can all this be avoided by simply using Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Trial Bottle given away at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store.—2.

Personal To Men Only! The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

THE sudden changes in our Canadian climate are certainly conducive to lung, throat and chest affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is an reason why consumption should be so prevalent. Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

NOW!

Now is the time to make changes in your UNDERWEAR! Don't put it off until you get chilled, but do it right now, thereby saving your health, and maybe your life. It is a mistaken idea that some people have to put off as long as possible or just, when the thermometer goes down below zero to put on their underwear. Be prepared in time, and when the chilled northern blast comes you are safe. Another word of advice, if you have not yet laid in your stock of underwear, half-hose, gloves, mitts and everything needed in your wardrobe, go to T. DOLAN & CO. at once, where you will be served right.

NITRO-GLYCERINE.

A Factory in Hastings for the Manufacture of the Explosive.

The Belleville Intelligencer contains a good description of a nitro-glycerine factory near the village of Tweed, which we give in a condensed form. The factory, says the Intelligencer, is the property of Messrs. Larkin, Carroll, & Co., contractors on the Ontario and Quebec Railway, who have a partner and manager, Mr. Nugent, who kindly showed us through the building and explained the different branches of the manufacture. At the door were seen lying iron casks sheeted inside with lead, and in these casks are imported the pure glycerine and mixed acids used in the factory.

A cask of mixed acid is hoisted by machinery into the upper story and dumped into a mixing tub, in which the mixing blades are moved by a man who is stationed in a tight box, and has in front of him a thermometer. As the glycerine runs into the acid a vapour is engendered, in which life is scarcely supportable, hence the man turning the crank is stationed in a close box. The acid and glycerine in their admixture rapidly heat, and the compound has to be toned down by cold water or ice, hence the greatest watchfulness is necessary at this point, as the heat is allowed to run up to 80 degrees, and as nitro-glycerine explodes at 90, there remains but ten degrees of heat between the unknown and eternity, or, as the manager remarked, if the heat was allowed to run up to 90 they would not have time to pucker their mouths to say goodbye.

The nitro-glycerine thus manufactured has an explosive force ten times greater than that of blasting powder, and is used on very heavy work, but we saw very little in that shape, remarked the manager, as it is run down a tunnel to the room below, where it is manufactured into dynamite, dunnin, or vigorite, all of which have different names to designate their degree of power. As rapidly as possible the nitro-glycerine is mixed with charred wood, pulp or other material, and reduced to a commodity more readily handled, for although dynamite is understood to be extremely dangerous to handle, it is rammed into the cartridges with a stick with as little apparent fear of the result as would be the case where the substance was so malleable and soft. The cartridges are made to hold from half a pound to two pounds each, and are carefully packed each day and taken to an isolated magazine owned by the Company. The output of the factory is about 1,000 pounds daily now, but the owners expect shortly to increase the capacity to meet the requirements of a rapidly increasing demand, as this is the only factory of the kind in Ontario, and the development of the mines has rapidly increased the demand, as blasting with powder has been almost entirely superseded by the use of dynamite, which is not only more efficacious, but also safer to handle. To show the effect of a two pound cartridge was placed on a large rock near the factory and exploded. The explosion was magnificent, as the big boulder seemed to endeavour to shake itself free from its earthly encasement, and the ground under our feet trembled as if shaken by an earthquake.

The Oil Excitement in Beeton, Ont.

The oil excitement here is extending itself to such an extent that all the other matters, both in public and private life, are made subservient to it. At 2 o'clock on Saturday boring operations commenced, and at the time of writing the sugar is nearly 40 feet below the surface. A considerable quantity of oil is already noticeable, and the drillers state that the oil so far is exactly the same as that found in the oil region at Petrolia. The derrick has been crowded all day and many conjectures are afloat as to the ultimate result of the test. The indications for oil have been very strong for years, and nearly everyone who has inspected these indications has every confidence in the success of the scheme under way. Several oil speculators have already been here and are now waiting the result of the present test before taking further steps in the matter. Mr. D. M. Jones, of this place, has the contract for the well and has two practical drillers from Petrolia doing the work. It is expected that 100 feet a day will be sunk, provided, of course, that no accident occur and the soil is good. Stock in the company is being rapidly taken up and considerable speculation is going on.

"With special and most gratifying success I used St. Jacob's Oil for a severely sprained knee. It was cured in ten days, and I cannot say too much in praise of the valuable substance," says Mr. S. S. Brady, of the M. C. R. R., cor. Page and Railroad etc., Jackson, Mich.

STEAMER SUNK.

THE CHANNEL DISASTER.

PORTSMOUTH, Nov. 15.—The Westphalia was surveyed in dock to-day. The damage on the starboard side extends from the stem to forty feet aft, and on the port side from the stem to fifteen feet aft. The hole on the port side is nine feet across. A large piece of the steamer with which she collided is sticking in the hole. The Westphalia's stern appears sound. The vessel seems to have met stem to stem. After striking the Westphalia on the port side, it is probable that the other steamer swung round, striking along the Westphalia's starboard side, despite all exertions.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—In the House of Commons the second rule of procedure as amended was last evening adopted with further minor amendments.

Within three days 1,500,000 pounds have arrived. Fine para is down to 113 at four months or 160 cash. All grades of central have declined five to ten cents a pound.

The lobby is packed full through the entire day and police men were necessary to open a passage for the members. Forty seven acres in the oil region in this state for the purpose of locating colonies and speculation.

A MIRACULOUS CURE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Richard Hoffman, living near Pigeon Creek, who has been a helpless cripple for years, claims that he heard the other day a mysterious voice saying, "Arise and walk." He obeyed, and since then has been able to move about as other men. Hoffman believes that the voice he heard came from God.

THE HEATHEN CHINESE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Three Chinese, claiming to be merchants, but having no certificates, as provided in the Chinese restriction law, arrived here from China. The collector refused to allow them to land. A writ of habeas corpus was sworn out. United States Judge Hennessey decided that one party had proved by testimony of respectable white people that the Chinese were merchants, and Congress nowhere said that a Chinese merchant failing to produce a certificate shall not land. The prisoner was discharged and the others were also allowed to come ashore.

A BRUTAL FATHER.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—John Eberthel yesterday was fined one hundred dollars for disorderly conduct, as provided in the Chinese restriction law, arrived here from China. MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

LAWSON AND GRAY.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The House of Commons Committee met to-day to consider reports. It is understood that three will be presented. The first, drafted by the Attorney-General, and favored by the majority of the Committee, states that Judge Lawson acted within his jurisdiction in imprisoning Mr. Gray. The second, by Mr. Dillist, remarks upon the present state of law on contempt, and the third, by insinuation of the Irish members of the Committee, suggests that certain alterations be made in the law, and reflects upon the conduct of Judge Lawson.

DISSATISFACTION.

JUDGE LAWSON.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Irish members of the House intend to move an address to the Crown for the removal of Judge Lawson.

A CABINET CRISIS.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—After the close of the Bourse to-day 3 per cent. rentes were quoted at 80 francs 85 centimes. The decline is owing to rumors that a dispute between M. Tirard, Minister of Finance, and M. Legrand, Minister of Commerce, as to the amount of the sum at the disposal of the government from unused credits will lead to a retirement from the ministry. It is said to-night that the reporter of the Budget Committee has already resigned.

ENNIS ELECTION.

DUBLIN, Nov. 14.—In the election for the House of Commons for Ennis, made vacant by the retirement of Mr. Finigan, Mr. Kenny Parnellite, has been returned by 136 against 65 for Mr. Reeves, Liberal.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A scene which occasioned a sensation occurred to-night in the Globe Theatre during the performance of Tennyson's new pastoral drama, "The Promise of May." The Marquis of Queensberry, who is an avowed free-thinker, rose excitedly and loudly protested against Tennyson's present action or the principles of free thought as enunciated by one of the characters of the play. At the desire of an official the Marquis left the theatre amid much confusion.

AMERICAN.

ATTACHED.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 14.—The Bailey Manufacturing Company of lumber and wagons has been attached for $60,000. Liabilities, $75,000. The president recently claimed that the nominal assets were $120,000.

He took the dose at about 4 p. m. on Sunday, and after great suffering died at 11 o'clock the same night. It is not known what caused him to take his life. He leaves a wife and a large family.

CRAZED BY POLITICS.

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 14.—There was a terrible scene in county jail this morning with Mrs. McAvoy, the Labor-Grassback politician, who was driven mad by the result of the elections. Being possessed of almost superhuman strength he began tearing down the bars of his cell. These he twisted like twigs, foaming at the mouth. He cursed Beaver and Patterson for defeating Armstrong, the labour candidate for Governor, and when the warden, with a body of prisoners, went to secure him he held them at bay with a bar of iron from a long time. There is little hope of his recovery.

Morford's Acid Phosphate.

FOR ALCOHOLISM.

DR. P. P. GILMARTIN, Detroit, says: "I have found it very satisfactory in its effects, notably in the prostration attendant upon alcoholism."

In Toronto.

Since the removal of Dr. M. Souville's Throat and Lung Institute to his new quarters, 173 Church street, hundreds suffering from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and many diseases of the throat and lungs have received treatment by his new and wonderful instrument, the epimetre, which conveys medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased. Physicians and sufferers can try it free. Poor people bearing certificate will be furnished with epimetre free. Write enclosing stamp for pamphlet giving full particulars, to Dr. M. Souville, ex-side surgeon of the French army, 173 Church street Toronto, or 13 Phillips' Square, Montreal.

'XMAS CARDS.

It is very evident that the excitement which generally accompanies the Xmas Card trade is commencing to simmer, and before long there will be a boiling enthusiasm over these goods beyond anything seen in the past.

This Year will Cap All.

We do not advise purchasing at present, because you will be so delighted with the cards, that if you do, you will look at them so much, that when Xmas comes you will be dead sick of them. However, our stock has been in a month, it is tremendous, comprising cards from every manufacturer, who sent their samples into Canada. Our assortment therefore cannot be beaten. If you should wish to see them they will be ready next Tuesday.

THEIR RESPECT ACKNOWLEDGED

THE charge that we in common with many others have made against the Mowat License Inspectors of neglecting their duties has been met with indignant denials and a torrent of abuse, by the journals that support the present administration of Ontario. Now, however, it appears that these advocates have been too hasty, for their clients themselves admit the charge in the plainest way. A circular has been addressed by the Department to the License Inspectors pointing out the widely prevalent neglect of duty existing among them, and warning them that they will have to meet their ways in future.

A few extracts from this circular will be interesting reading for those who have been maintaining the immaculate conduct of the Inspectors of Licenses and Politics.

It has been reported to this department that many inspectors are of the opinion that it is not their duty to prosecute for offences committed against the License Act unless their attention has been particularly called to cases of infraction, or unless specific information has been furnished to the Inspector, and that it is not the duty of the Inspector to perform detective service.

From this it is evident not only that "many" inspectors have been neglecting their duty, but that they have never been properly taught what their duties were in regard to infractions of the law, however well they may have been instructed as to the political duties required from them. In their opinion they were not to prosecute unless forced to do so by the action of others, and were not to endeavor to detect offenders. What then did they think their duties were, unless to draw their pay and do out and service to their political employers and masters? Is it then astonishing that the consumption of spirits has increased, that unlicensed grogeries, as admitted even by the Globe, are doing a roaring business, and that Judges, as in Peterborough, attribute crime to their unchecked operations.

But to proceed with our extracts:—
It has also been reported that the law regarding the sale of liquor on Sundays in some of the districts is not being enforced by the Inspectors as required by law.

What an admission! Has anything that we have ever asserted been stronger evidence in support of our charge of neglect of duty. And this is the system that the temperance organizations are asked to support, that the clergy are invited to favor.

We will give one more extract from this precious document:—

"Inspectors are further advised that they have been specially appointed to enforce the provisions of the License Act."

Fancy it being necessary at this period, after so long a reign of the present system, to inform the Inspectors that "they have been specially appointed to enforce the provisions of the License Act." It is rather late in the day to tell them this, it seems to us. Yet we cannot altogether blame the License Inspectors, for it was natural that they should hardly be aware that their special duty was to enforce the license law, when all the circumstances taught them that their other duty of using their influence politically was much more important in the eyes of those who appointed them and paid them.

We made two charges against the Mowat License Inspectors, that they neglected their duty, and that they used their official position as political partisans.

The first of these charges, that of neglect of duty, after being indignantly denied, is now admitted to be true by the Department itself. Mr. Mowat and his colleagues, finding it useless to persist in their denials in the face of such a public scandal, are now only, after all these long years, in fear of the coming elections, calling for the performance of hitherto neglected duties, and threatening to "treat as derelict in the discharge of their duty" those who continue to act as they have been allowed to act for years. So much at least have we, and those who have taken the same stand, happily effected for the cause of temperance.

Our second charge, that of the prostitution of their official position by the Inspectors for partisan purposes, has been as persistently denied as the first, and though in this case we cannot look for an equally candid confession, it is just as true, as is well known by all who are informed on the subject. Actual proof positive is however, from the very nature of the case, difficult to obtain. One of the worst features of the present vile system is that the Inspectors, while threatening Conservative license holders as they vote or work for their party, at the same time threaten them with equal vengeance

if they divulge their threats. It is no wonder then that their mouths are shut, for a vindictive Inspector can so harass them that they cannot with safety even employ a char-woman to clean out their bar-rooms during the long hours of Saturday evening, while the same Inspector winks at the steady sale of spirits at an unlicensed grogery within a stone's throw, having no desire to suppress a crying evil so long as by unfair competition it may be hoped to injure the business of his duly licensed but obstinate victim.

THE MARMION MUDDLE.

A recent issue of the Globe contained the following:—

"The following regulations were approved by the Lieutenant Governor in Council on Saturday (the 11th November):—

2. In the subject of English Literature, prescribed by the order in Council of the 31st March last 'Goldsmith's Traveller,' or 'Marmion' may be used by any pupil in the High Schools, or candidates at Departmental Examinations in July next, as the parent or guardian may select." (The italics are the Globe's, not ours.)

From this it would appear:—

1st.—That "Marmion" was deliberately selected by the Department, and its selection ratified by Order in Council so long ago as the 31st March last, and that it did not become a text book by an oversight, as has been insinuated by some of Mr. Crooks' apologetes.

2nd.—That Mr. Crooks and his colleagues, after two months' deliberation, HAVE REFUSED to adopt the view of Archbishop Lynch that certain portions of "Marmion" are "indecent" and "immoral"; of the late Father Stafford that it is "immoral" and "not fit reading in the schools of Ontario," and of Bishop Cleary that "Marmion presents a dangerous temptation before the young mind, calculated to demoralize and corrupt the heart."

3rd.—That as a concession to those who are opposed to the use of Marmion as a text-book in schools supported by all denominations, "parents and guardians" are to be permitted the option of having their children read Goldsmith's Traveller instead of Marmion.

4th.—That teachers, no matter what their own opinions on the subject, are to be compelled to read and teach Marmion, whenever a single parent or guardian requires it to be done.

5th.—That the children of those who object to the use of Marmion are to be compelled to sit within earshot of the reading and study of the passages to which their parents or guardians object.

6th.—That the already overtaxed teacher is to be compelled to conduct two classes, where one only is to do.

What a muddle! And yet that is the result of about two months' cogitation over this Marmion business, by the six wise men of Ontario—by the six wise men, whose equals, we are told, it would be impossible for Mr. Meredith to find, were he called upon to form a government.

Although it may seem the height of audacity for us to offer an opinion, after the six wise men of Ontario have spoken, yet we cannot help venturing the suggestion that any six men of ordinary common sense would have found a much more sensible and reasonable way out of this difficulty, in at least as many days as the six wise men have been weeks cogitating over it, and that that way would have been to withdraw the objectionable portions of Marmion from the curriculum altogether. Had that been done, no one would be called upon to teach or listen to the teaching of that which they consider either immoral or offensive to their religious opinions; we would not have had all the bitterness which has been engendered over this Marmion business aroused, and we would not have, as we are now almost certain to have, those attending our High Schools divided into Marmion and Anti-Marmion camps.

Unfortunately for the country, the men at the helm were more bent on making political capital than promoting the peace and good feeling of the people, and instead of meeting the difficulty like men, and in a frank and manly spirit, they put forth all sorts of falsehoods as a justification for the course which they apparently intended to pursue, and then not having the courage of their inclinations, they drop into a position which cannot please anyone, as it must prove irritating to all who are concerned in the matter. But what can one expect of a government which has a Premier with so little backbone that he will to-day advise the Lieut. Governor to withhold his assent from that which he the day before advocated and voted for? Out upon such political trickery!

Women's True Friend

A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly by those complaints and weaknesses so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are women's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial always proves our assertion. They are pleasant to the taste, and only cost fifty cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists—2.

THE experience of thousands has shown that the stomach, liver and bowels may be kept in a perfectly healthy condition—the attacks of disease ward off and a vigorous state of health maintained by the use of Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. Are you troubled with dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, biliousness or constipation? If so, try this remedy and be cured. For sale by all Druggists in large bottles at 50 cents.

A CURSE FOR HEADACHE.—Thousands are suffering martyrs to this distressing trouble. If you have pure and properly vitalized blood coursing through your veins; if the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels act rightly, you will never experience headache. Burdock Blood Bitters will effect this desirable condition, if properly used. Try it.

THERE is no better cough medicine in the world than the preparation known as "Pectoralia." It promptly cures all throat, lung and chest affections. Its good effects can be felt after the first dose. It soothes, warms and penetrates the bronchial tubes, affording immediate relief and a speedy cure. Have you got a cough or cold? Then try it. For sale everywhere, price 25 cents.

Guitaun Elevated.

A Honolulu paper describes one of the cabinet officers of the King as "a deliberate, shameless and blasphemous fraud; a remorseless deceiver, a renegade Mormon swindler; a grand Pandarum of the latter-day Saints." This is powerful writing indeed, but the editor of the Monarch, N. B. Tronscript, his Albert Smith's paper, excels his Honolulu brother. He says—"The end of the Macdonald reign of iniquity approaches. It may be by the revelation of a new and worse political scandal. It may be by the hand of Heaven. But come it must and will. To believe otherwise would be to lose faith in the future of the world." Guitaun held a similar view of the Garfield Administration. —Winnipeg Times.

MR. J. R. SEYMOUR, druggist, St. Catherine's, writes that he finds an ever-increasing sale for Burdock Blood Bitters, and adds that he can, without hesitancy, recommend it. Burdock Blood Bitters is the grand specific for all diseases of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys.

WEATHER NOTES.—October of 1882 has, I believe, without exception been the finest month for twenty years, with an even, uniform temperature, little rain and fine general weather, although fulfilling its old prestige in giving us the first snow, which took place on the 10th and on the 23rd. We had two sharp dips on the mornings of the 20th and 23rd, the thermometer standing at 20° above zero each time. The highest point obtained was on the evening of the 7th, at sunset, giving 76° and the evening of the 31st at sunset, 62°, giving us a total temperature for the month of 47.18-31°. Rain fell on eleven days, but so slight that it only gave 30.100 of an inch of water; we had three thunder storms, namely, on the 17th, 30th and 31st, but very little rain fell in this locality. We have had considerable frost during the night, but not to interfere with labour, as scarcely any ploughs were stopped, and that only in the morning. In October of 1881 rain fell on 61.200 days to the uncommon depth of 6.3-16 inches, with an average temperature for the month for the month of 45.4-31°, being 2° less than the present year, which is, I believe, caused by so much rain. The roads are good, owing to the continued fine weather of October.

THE CROW.—Fall what being from eight to twelve days later than usual as a rule, it now looks backward since getting the frost, thereby causing the blades to drop down. The farmers are pushing on their fall ploughing as fast as possible, so that they may be prepared for their winter work.

FIRE.—The barn and outbuildings of Mr. John O'Shanahan were burned one afternoon last week, shortly after dinner. A considerable quantity of grain, some hay and farm implements were burned, the loss being partly covered by insurance.

COUNCIL MEETING.—Council met at Warsaw on Friday, Nov. 3rd, all the members present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The Clerk was instructed to notify the Collector to abate a statute labor tax of $2 to Wm. Crowe, as the work was done under Lazarus Payne, postmaster. George Grant was allowed to commute $8.91 of arrears of taxes on east half 27, con., 12, by doing road labor to that amount under Mr. Drain, Commissioner. Wm. Crowe was allowed to commute his statute labor for three years on elevated 25 and 26, 7th concession. A deed for a portion of 6th concession line was executed in duplicate in favor of Mr. David Rose, the purchaser.

LADIES' minds, like pictures, are seen best at a distance. Their beauties are thus enhanced, and their blemishes concealed—a process which is reversed by a close inspection. This is the reason—so say nothing of envious motives—why we generally under-value our contemporaries and over-rate the ancients.

Mrs. Wm. ALLAN, of Acton, says she has never been without a bottle of Hargray's Yellow Oil in the house for the last twenty years, and would not be for ten times the cost; adding that she has never known it to fail for Colds and Croup, Sore Throat, Stiff Neck, Burns, Scalds, etc. She concludes by saying, "if any one doubts its efficacy, refer them to me."

HOW IT WORKS.—Malarial Diseases, so prevalent in the Springs and Falls, such as Ague, Chills, Fever, Bilious Fever, &c., depend upon an inactive state of the liver, bowels, skin, kidneys, etc., for did these outlets of morbid poisonous matter free the system properly, no sickness would result. Burdock Blood Bitters effectually regulates these organs, and corrects the absorbent and secretory system as well.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER, Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentles.—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. CHAS. E. PARKER.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

PERSISTENCE WILL TELL.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentles, March 18th, 1880.
My friend, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.

Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which will give positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unequalled success to our knowledge, for least as well as man.
Price per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All drug-gists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Edinburgh Falls, Vt.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN INTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them, it destroys the animalcules which cause these ugly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent remedy to all this Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the land degree comparable for its healthy action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Starin, and every year it is used more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION. BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Week of Prayer.

The Young Men's Christian Association are continuing those interesting meetings throughout the week. The subject for this evening is "Three Parties and Two Classes." The meeting will be conducted by Mr. Richardson.

Repairing a Dam.

The stop logs in Hilliard's dam, on which repairs are being made, were taken out this morning, and in consequence many of the Anson Woolen Mills employees are walking about. It is expected that it will take but a brief time to complete the repairs to the dam.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is raw and uncomfortable, though not very cold. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. today, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh westerly winds; generally fair weather with possibly a few light local showers; stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Our Town Council.

The following extract from the Toronto Telegram may be perused with profit in Peterborough also:—

"The electors should look about them and pick out their best men for seats at the Council Board, instead of leaving everything to be settled by a few wire-pulling ward politicians. There is plenty of good material in the city if it could only be brought out. We cannot expect to have good civic government if our best men will not come forward and help to do their share of the governing."

Burning Coal.

We learn on enquiry from Mr. James Stevenson that the consumption of coal for domestic purposes this winter will be double that of former years. Last winter about 500 tons of coal were used, and this fall Mr.
Stevenson has already brought in a thousand tons. This is largely in consequence of the high price of wood for fuel and should have a tendency to reduce the cost of cord wood, as if the present rates are maintained, many others will abandon their old box stoves and procure coal burners.

Cold Weather and Snow.

Mr. Henry G. Vennor has sent the following prediction of frost and snow to the Montreal Gazette, under the date of November 13th:—

"The prospects now are for a sudden freeze up in November. Early cold has been my steady proclamation for some time, and although the weather remained fine up to a recent date, the change in the opposite direction will be abrupt. We shall have zero temperature and below at a few hours notice within the next few days, and river men had better take the necessary precautions. December will be full of 'cold snaps,' and the St. Lawrence will probably be solid by before Christmas. The year will close like 1879, extremely cold and plenty of snow."

"The Two Johns."

"Two Johns would not be very difficult to find in any town, but the Johns referred to are 'The Two Johns,' which is the title of a comedy to be produced at Bradburn's Opera House, on Saturday night next by Hyde & Behman's Greatest and Only Consolidation, introducing four comedians highly recommended, supported by a full company in a grand olio of novelties.
The Montreal Courier Journal says of them:—
"Hyde & Behman's Consolidation made their appearance in this city last evening. The show is a good one and well deserving of the large audience that was present last night. We would recommend a visit to the show to all those that enjoy a hearty laugh.
Messrs. Hyde & Behman are deserving of credit in getting together such a lot of first-class specialty artists."

They Say It is Positively True

Chat Smith is telling the people, and the people are telling everybody that to secure the very best oysters buy the J. B. L. and J. L. & Co's Selects, as they are without doubt the finest oysters packed for eating raw or frying, and for steaming buy the Diamond Brand. Cold weather having now fairly set in, oysters are improving in quality with a downward tendency in price:—

tions every day at SMITH'S MARKET. 6d114.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Autumn sittings of the Chancery Division—A Small Number of Cases.

At the session of the Court on Tuesday afternoon the following cases were decided:—

BLACK vs. STRICKLAND.—Judgment, non-suit.—Mr. Geo. T. Blackstock and Mr. C. W.
Sawers, counsel for plaintiff; Mr. Z. A. Lash, Q.C., and Messrs. Dennistoun & Hall for defendant.

REDMOND vs. WHITE.—Judgment for plaintiff.—Mr. Z. A. Lash, Q.C., and Messrs. Den-nistoun & Hall for plaintiff; Mr. G. T. Blackstock and Mr. C. W. Sawers for defendant.

POLICE COURT.

THEFT.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 15.—Thomas Kent, a lad about ten years of age, was charged with stealing thirteen dollars belonging to William Kemp.

The boy pleaded guilty to the charge, and was remanded until to-morrow morning at ten o'clock.

The Market.

There was a small attendance on the market this morning. Butter was not plentiful, and eggs were invisible. Butter was selling at 23 to 24 cts., potatoes 80, pork $7.25 to $8, geese 50, turkeys 55 to 65, and chickens 45. The prices of grain were as follows:—Fall wheat 90 to 91, spring wheat 90 to 95, goose wheat 75 to 80.
No. 1 barley 65, No. 2 barley 55 to 60, No. 3 barley 45 to 55, oats 40 to 42, rye 35 to 36, and peas 70 to 73. Hay $8 to $10.

Importation from France.

The trade of Peterborough is reaching out, and while it seeks new fields in the far west for exportation, it goes further still in order to procure an article of good quality. Mr. H. Rush paid on Tuesday over five hundred dollars to the Custom House officer on a special importation of Brandy, which he brought direct from Messrs. Pinet, Castillon & Co., of France.
There were in all twenty-five packages, which is quite a beginning of an international trade in liquors with France. Mr. Rush also brought in last week a car load of goods, containing Bass' ale, Guinness' stout, fine wines and other liquors.

A Youth's Fall.

On Monday William Kemp missed $13 out of a pocket of a coat which he left hanging in Mr. Denoon's yard, where he was employed, and suspicion fell upon a boy of ten years, named Thomas Kent. The lad had been using money freely, having purchased clothes and other articles, and he was seen about the yard that day about the time the money was taken, and it would seem that the temptation the money presented was too great for him to withstand, as when arraigned at the Police Court this morning on a charge of stealing it he pleaded guilty. His appearance gave evidence of sorrow, and his eyes were suffused with tears. He was remanded until to-morrow.

The Jubilee Singers.

Bradburn's Hall was crowded on Tuesday night by the audience assembled to hear the Fiske University Jubilee Singers, and we may safely say that there was not one person present who was not delighted. While listening to their performance it was not difficult to understand the celebrity they have gained, not only in America, but among the people and the courts of the British Islands and of the continent of Europe. Their quaint, wild melody, with a thrilling pathos only enhanced by an occasional touch of the grotesque, their impassioned earnestness, and their sweet, rich, well cultivated voices, produced an effect that cannot be described. Their plantation camp meeting songs were striking from their deep sincerity, even if occasionally expressed in a childlike manner. But all their selections were not of this character, a secular and even comic element being introduced with good effect.
The solos of Miss Jennie Jackson and of Mr.
T. J. London met with especial acceptance from an audience enthusiastic throughout, and produced encores, as was also the case with some of the concerted pieces. During the interval between the parts Mr. London briefly but graphically described the means by which this organization of emancipated slaves had by their voices raised $150,000 for the promotion of the education of their race. A considerable number of a work describing their experience was also sold. We trust that they will be able to fulfill their promise of paying us another visit.

THE REV. FATHER STAFFORD

The Montreal Witness gives a portrait of the late Father Stafford and a sketch of his life, the opening remarks being as follows:—

"By the death of the Rev. Father Stafford, which took place rather suddenly yesterday at Lindsay, Canada has lost one of her most useful sons, and the Roman Catholic Church one of the most devoted and wisest of her children.
He will be sincerely mourned by all Protestants, as he had become, by virtue of his broad and liberal mind, and earnest peace-loving character, one of the most powerful, if not the most powerful, mediator in all times of trouble between Roman Catholics and Protestants. The extreme factions which tend to gather themselves into sections for the apparent purpose of nursling their hatred of one another, alike respected him and felt his influence, which he was ready to use at times when strife ran very high. Montreal owes him a debt for having during the 12th of July troubles, five years ago, exerted his influence to allay the strife which threatened to end in riot and bloodshed. For his depreciation of the unlawful attitude of his fellow-religionists at that time he, for the moment, became very unpopular with many of the boldest of them, but with the return to cooler moods, his popularity returned, and on his visit to this city a year later he was well received by all.
Perhaps his greatest services to Canadians without respect to religion, have been in the cause of temperance. By his energy, devotion, and perseverance in this cause he won for himself the name of the 'Canadian Father Matthew.'

Burned to Death.
WATFORD, Nov. 13.—A little daughter of Mr.
Fish, a wealthy farmer in this vicinity, was burned to death by her clothing catching fire while Mrs. Fish was busy attending to some of her household duties. A cry was heard from the little girl, and Mrs. Smith immediately ran to her assistance, but found, to her consternation, the child enveloped in a sheet of flames.
She at once, with the assistance of some neighbours, attempted to extinguish it by wrapping the child in a blanket, but it was too late; the fire had done its deadly work. The child died in about two hours, after suffering great pain.

A Vexed Clergyman.

Even the patience of Job would become exhausted were he a preacher and endeavoring to interest his audience while they were keeping up an incessant coughing, making it impossible for him to be heard. Yet, how very easy can all this be avoided by simply using Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Trial Bottle given away at Taylor &
Macdonald's Drug Store.—2.

Personal To Men Only!

taic Belts and Electric Appliances on trial afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.— ed.

TWO-THIRDS OF A BOTTLE CURES.—Dr. R. V.
Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: "Dear Sir—I have been taking your 'Favorite Prescription' for 'female weakness.' Before I had taken it two days I began to feel stronger. I have taken but two-thirds of a bottle and believe I am cured.
Gratefully, Miss. H. C. LVERT, Ataska, Ill.
A GOOD INVESTMENT.—Twenty-five cents expended to your druggist for a bottle of Hag-
yard's Yellow Oil will allay more pain and cure
more diseases than many dollars spent for ordinary medicines would do. Yellow Oil cures
Rheumatism, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, Sore
Throat, Croup, Stiff Joints, Contracted Cords,
and all Lameness and Inflammation.

The sudden changes in our Canadian climate are certainly conducive to lung, throat and chest
affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is no reason why consumption
should be so prevalent. Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs,
colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough.
Sold every where in large bottles at 50 cents.

NOW!

Now is the time to make changes in your UNDER-WEAR! Don't put it off until you get chilled, but do it right NOW, thereby saving your health, and maybe your life. It is a mistaken idea that some people have to put off as long as possible or just, when the thermometer goes down below zero to put on their underwear. Be prepared in time, and when the chilled northern blast comes you are safe. Another word of advice, if you have not yet laid in your stock of underwear, half-hose, gloves, mitts and everything needed in your wardrobe, go to T. DOLAN & CO. at once, where you will be served right.

'XMAS CARDS.

It is very evident that the excitement which generally accompanies the 'Xmas Card trade is commencing to abate, and before long there will be a boiling market over these goods beyond anything seen in the past.

This Year will Cap All.

We do not advise purchasing at present, because you will be so delighted with the cards, that if you do, you will look at them so much, that when 'Xmas comes you will be dead sick of them. However, our stock has been in a month; it is tremendous, comprising cards from every manufacturer, who sent their samples into Canada. Our assortment therefore cannot be beaten. EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Globe and other "Reform" organs are busily engaged in recommending repudiation to the Manitobans, and in scarcely more veiled insinuations to rebellion. If these organs can injure Canada while under the administration of their political opponents, they will gladly do so, even if it is by favouring the States at the expense of the Dominion, promoting sectional jealousies, or advising the Manitobans to break a contract which they have endorsed through their representatives, both in the Canadian Parliament and in their Provincial Legislatures.

We have no further response to our challenge to the Kennistown to give some instances in support of its falsehood that the N. P. caused farmers to pay more for what they buy, and salt still remains its solitary example. What a lot of salt our farmers must consume to make this increase oppressive, with everything else in their favour. We always knew that we had to take our contemporary's statements according to the proverb cum grano satia, but it appears that the grain of salt is the only element of truth in its false statement that the N. P. is making things purchased by the farmers dearer than they were previously.

To attack the N. P. our Reform contemporary states in its editorial columns that wheat is at 87 cents. It is simply uttering a wilful falsehood, its own market quotations in another column giving spring wheat 90c. to 94c. and fall wheat 90c. It also dishonestly ignores the fact that in 1879, the last year before the N. P., its own market quotations for the same week gave spring wheat 73c. to 76c., and fall wheat 80c. to 83c. Of course it hides the really important fact that wheat is much higher now than then, as compared with Liverpool rates.

WHY DISALLOWANCE?

The Railway Act and the charters have been disallowed because, in the opinion of the Governor-in-Council, they are contrary to the general interests of the Dominion. That opinion is based upon a number of considerations. Disallowance is a harsh measure so far as Manitoba is concerned, and we have a right to resist it by every constitutional means. But it is also our duty to remember that this Province is not the whole Dominion, and, remembering that to consider the grounds for Disallowance from the standpoint of our fellow countrymen in the Western Provinces.

They set about building the Pacific Railway not to benefit us exclusively, but to benefit the Dominion at large. They are perfectly justified, therefore, in opposing any step our Legislature may take which, in their opinion, is calculated to injure the undertaking, or so inflict loss and damage on the other Provinces. They would not have undertaken the construction of the road from Nipissing to the Pacific had the diversion of the Northwest trade and traffic at the Portage or at Winnipeg been contemplated. In other words they would not have assumed a gigantic debt merely in order to benefit us and build up Chicago and St. Paul. They are perfectly justified, therefore, in preventing us from snapping the road and destroying their property. It is not a breach of faith on their part; if there is any breach of faith in the case, we are the transgressors, for we are seeking to violate, for our own gain and convenience, the fundamental condition upon which the construction of the road was undertaken.

These, or such as there are, are the construction by which the Governor-in-Council has been influenced. Manitobans cannot deny their force. Unless we purpose adopting a policy of rule or ruin, with Mr. Greenway as its apostle, we must bow to them. All we can do is to protest in a constitutional way, and endeavor by fair and reasonable argument to obtain some sort of relief from or compensation for the evils which Disallowance entails upon us.—Winnipeg Times

County Court Judges.

County Court Judges, it seems, are now elevated to the rank of arbiters of taste and workmanship. It is great promotion. We learn the fact from the report of a case brought before the Brighton Court, and refer to it for edification. A lady sued by a dressmaker for the cost of making a "dress," pleaded that the gown had been spoiled by the artificer. Far be it from us to enter into the extremely uncomplimentary remarks whereby the dressmaker justified her labours. One was that the lady was deformed, the which she promptly replied, "I am not deformed; I am a better figure than you are. My husband is in court; ask him"—a most conclusive style of argument. Finally it was arranged that the plaintiff should put on the dress in the robing room, and thither the judge went to inspect the handiwork. When he returned he said the work had been "indifferently done," and decided that the dressmaker had not earned the money claimed. No doubt it is all right, but the incident has a fine savour of novelty, and exalts the status of County Court Judges by bringing them into so near a relation to the fine arts.—London Daily Telegraph

FAITH CURE.

A Young Lady's Extraordinary Recovery Attributed to Faith—Prayer in Stanley Street Presbyterian Church—A Visit to the Subject's Home.

The Montreal Witness of the 11th inst. contains the following:—

"About two months ago the Rev. James McCaul, of Stanley Street Presbyterian Church, when on a tour through the County of Glengarry, visited the home of a farmer named William Scott, who resides on the King's Road, about four miles from the village of Martintown. Mr. Scott has been for over three years confined to his bed by inflammatory rheumatism, and his daughter Margaret—a well educated and intelligent young woman of nineteen years—has also been confined to bed for a similar period afflicted with a disease known to the medical faculty as hyperemia, or congestion of the spinal cord. Mr. McCaul found this young woman confined to bed in a darkened room, as anything like a moderate amount of light caused her intense pain in the head, and during her whole sickness she has never been without more or less pain, while on some occasions the pain was most excruciating. Although suffering so much from bodily infirmities, this Christian lady was one of the most joyous of believers, and seemed completely reconciled to her lot, though assured by her attending physician, Dr. McBean, of Martintown, that she could never recover the use of her lower limbs, and further that she might die at almost any time. Though her room was too dark for any person coming from the clear light of day to see to read ordinary print, yet her sight had become so accustomed to the gloom that she could see to read her Bible, which seemed to be her constant companion, and from which she drew such consolation to her soul that it seemed impossible for anyone to approach her without sharing to some degree in her joy, which was also shared to some considerable degree by every member of this seemingly afflicted family. Mr. McCaul was so much interested in this strange case that after his return to this city he opened correspondence with her, and also told of her case at the weekly meetings for prayer on Wednesday evenings in his church. Some time after his first visit, Mr. McCaul received a letter from Miss Scott telling him that the Lord had given her assurance that she would soon get well and further asking that special prayer for her speedy recovery should be made by the congregation of Stanley street church at their next meeting for prayer. Many persons in this congregation had already become interested in her case, and fervent prayers were offered on her behalf both at the public meetings, and at the homes of some of the church members. At the prayer meeting on last Wednesday evening, Nov. 8, Mr. McCaul read a long letter which he had just received from Miss Scott, informing him that she had been healed of her protracted infirmities and requesting that thanks be given to God for what she had done for her. The case seemed so remarkable that a Witness reporter left by Thursday morning's train to visit the scene. Leaving the train at Lancaster he travelled eight miles to what is now known as the Mountjoy Farm on the King's road in the township of Charlotteburg. The reporter, who bore a letter from Mr. McCaul, was cordially received by this joyful household, the head of which is still prostrated by inflammatory rheumatism. For some time after his arrival at Mr. Scott's residence, our representative was only known to them as being an elder in the Stanley street Presbyterian church, consequently they were less reserved in communicating facts relating to this extraordinary case than they would otherwise have been. After many interviews, more or less protracted, with the different members of the family, with some of the neighbours and others who were met by the way, and also a short interview with Dr. McBean at his office in Martintown, the reporter became convinced that the facts of the case were just as stated in the letter written to Mr. McCaul by the subject of the cure, and which he had read in his church at the prayer meeting last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Scott seems to have been remarkable for her Christian deportment for a long time, and had endeavoured to train up her children in the way they should go, and was so far successful that her eldest son is now pastor of a congregation in Owen Sound, having, along with his eldest sister, publicly professed their allegiance to their Saviour a good many years ago. About five years ago there was a remarkable revival of religion in some parts of Glengarry, at which time Miss Maggie Scott and most of her brothers and sisters professed to be the recipients of regenerating grace. The Scott family were fairly prosperous in their material as well as their spiritual interests, and four years ago built for themselves a new and commodious brick house. Mr. William Scott took an active part, probably a too active part, in assisting the workmen in the damp air, and the plastering was performed during the month of January, 1879, and Mr. Scott prepared the mortar with his own hands, working at it in the cellar while the plasterers were putting on the different coatings on the walls of the rooms comprising the two flats above. To this working in the damp air, and the heatings and coolings then received, is ascribed by Dr. McBean and others the cause of his succeeding sufferings. He was soon afterwards troubled with inflammatory rheumatism, and although he struggled hard to keep going round, first using a staff and afterwards going on crutches, he was compelled to make his bed in the east end of 1879, and since that time has been totally unable to walk, his limbs being more or less swollen and distorted by the sufferings he has had to endure. Maggie Scott had been attending school two miles distant, in the winter and spring of 1879, and got her feet wet occasionally, which brought on an affection of the spine, and she seemed to grow worse in about the same degree as her father, and was compelled to take to her bed at about the same time as he did. All efforts of their medical attendants proved unavailing to alleviate their pain, and after a consultation of doctors, Maggie Scott was pronounced incurable and she has for over two years ceased to take medicine of any sort. A little over a year ago an individual—well known in various parts of the Dominion as a self-styled military doctor, whose headquarters are located somewhere in the County of Pontiac—visited the Scott family, and promised to heal speedily both of the invalids by means of a galvanic battery and medicine, but had to be paid in advance. The money, $21.00, was paid to the "consul of Lord Lorne," but before undertaking to cure Maggie, he requested that she would cease reading and pouring over her Bible, put on these terms she would not consent to be healed and was thus left to her fate. The galvanic battery medicines were tried without avail on Mr. Scott, and the military doctor left for other fields having in the meantime managed to draw considerable funds from the afflicted people of Glengarry.

Maggie Scott's account of her cure is given best in her own letter to Mr. McCaul, to which we refer the reader, but in addition to this some interesting facts were gleaned by the reporter and the following statement of Mrs. Scott, given in such earnest simplicity as to preclude any doubt of its truthfulness, is given in addition. Mrs. Scott said: "On Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 31st, a neighbor woman came to help us to pare apples, and while in conversation I happened to ask her what she thought of 'Faith cures.' She replied: 'I would rather not answer that question, Mrs. Scott.' The conversation then went on other subjects until the clock struck three when some of us remarked that this was the hour to pray for Maggie to be healed, and at once we all rose up. I was going into Maggie's room and the girls going to their room upstairs also to pray or pare apples as she thought fit. When I knelt down it seemed to me as if the only prayer I could offer was, 'Lord help my unbelief.' We were all praying in silence, and it seemed as if a pin could be heard dropping on the floor of the room where we were. After continuing in prayer for some time I began to think that I had acted rudely to my visitor who had come to assist in paring apples by thus leaving her to herself. I was thinking it might be more prudent for me to go back to my work, when that passage became strongly impressed on my mind, 'Though it tarry wait for it, because it will surely come and will not tarry.' Hab. ii., verse 3rd. While I was considering if I ought to consider this as a command to continue longer at prayer, Maggie repeated about the same passage, and I resolved to continue praying on. Maggie now began to repeat other passages of scripture, and her voice seemed so strange that I looked up, and seeing her eyes closed and a strange look on her face, I began to fear that she was about to die and that thus she would be delivered from all her earthly pains. While I was still looking at her she repeated aloud, 'Behold the bridegroom cometh, go ye out to meet him.' She at once opened her eyes, and pushing aside the bed-clothes, turned her feet out on the floor and sat up in the bed. I was almost paralyzed, but did not move from my knees; at once she stood upright on the floor, when I sprang from my knees and clasping her in my arms, called for all the family to come with me to praise the Lord. Maggie knelt down with us and joined in our praise meeting without suffering any pain, although she had been suffering severely a few moments before. We then arose from our knees and walked out to Mr. Scott's room, Maggie walking along and not seeming to feel any bad effects from the bright light, although she had not looked on a bright light for three years. When we came to Mr. Scott's bedside we all knelt down again to praise the Lord, and it seemed to me that my gladness did not arise chiefly because my child was restored to health, but because the Lord was so very good in answering such unbelieving prayers as I had offered."

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NOT FOUND YET.—Robert P. Young, eldest son of Mr. P. Young, Sen., has not been seen or heard of since Monday the 30th of October. He left home for the purpose of hunting and trapping at the head of Stony Lake, and proceeded as far as Boeshink Narrows in the steamer Fairy, where he got in his own canoe to go as far as the residence of Mr. Bradley. His canoe, with a gun tied inside, and his coat has been found, also a little dog that he took with him for company. Search parties have been trying to find the body, dragging the lake and searching the woods, but all to no purpose. His aged father and mother are in great grief about his sudden end. They lost a son some ten years ago, he having been drowned also. Robert will be long remembered by those who knew him.

SALE OF STOCK.—Mr. C. Stapleton had quite a large sale of stock, belonging to Mr. J. Young, on Wednesday, Nov. 8th. They day was fine, and the farmers from Smith, Douro, and Ennismore turned out well, as the sale was quite a success. Mr. Stapleton was in good voice, and he always manages to please those that purchase while looking after the interests of those who have his services as an auctioneer. His eldest son Harry also takes a spell at selling, and does very well for a beginner.

THE DOURO RABBIT.—The cow path from here to Adam Wilson's farm, on the Douro side, has not been fixed yet, and if it is not done before winter sets in the Council had better close it up altogether, and point on a board. "No Traffic—road too dangerous to travel on." There is any amount of talk about it, but it is never put into practice; the same old procrastination with the Council.

AN URBAN BRIDGE.—The plank, &c., over the creek in front of Stewart's store, had better be attended to at once by the Council of Smith, before any accident happens. Every plank is loose, and in fact it wants a thorough overhauling. There was about two dollars spent on it two years ago.

THE FRO NOUNANCE.—Nearly all the village pigs are getting slaughtered, a good thing, as they were a perpetual nuisance while running at large. Of course it would be absurd to talk of having a by-law for the owners to close them up, as it appears to have become a recognized institution around here for them to roam about for a living. When the winter sets in we will have two or three half starved calves foraging around.

GAME.—The deer, ducks, and partridge around this section of the country are getting very scarce. Our local sports have been unsuccessful this season in bagging game. It would be a good thing for the Legislature to frame a law at this coming session, not to have any deer, ducks or partridge killed in this country for at least three years, under a heavy fine, and have a good man to look after those that break the law. Otherwise, in the course of a few years there will be no deer or other game left. The "sportsmen" from the States, who come over here every season, kill and take a very great number of deer to the other side, and they should be made pay a license for killing them. We would not find the authorities on the other side so soft as to allow us to go over there and shoot their game, as their citizens do over here. They have better game laws than we have in Canada. Let our local members take this matter up at once, for now is the time, before it is too late. Your correspondent is astonished that the newspapers of this county have not taken up this matter long ago, and trusts they will do so. Indians, of course, should be exempt, as they make their living by hunting and trapping.

PORT HOPE.

SUDDEN DEATH.—The Guide says that between eleven and twelve o'clock on Tuesday Thomas Sharp, an old resident of Englehart, was cutting wood in the shed adjoining his dwelling when his wife noticed the saw had stopped some minutes, when she went to see what was the matter, and found Mr. Sharp sitting on a bench dead. Deceased was about 66 years of age. He leaves a widow, one son—a conductor on the Midland Railway—and two daughters to mourn his loss. One of the daughters was married last week to Mr. Thomas Cornish, who is at present working at the car works in Cobourg.

An Ontario Interest.

The independent Toronto Telegram says:—"Ontario has an interest in the Pacific railway dispute as well as Manitoba. If the local lines of railway are built and the traffic that is to flow uninterruptedly down the Canada Pacific line to this province is switched off to the United States, it will be a very serious thing for Ontario. To tap the main line or to open up rival channels from the field where it is to draw its traffic would not only be a blow at the great highway across the continent, but would be a blow, and a serious blow, at Toronto and Montreal. The people of old Canada, who are to be taxed for the construction of the road, may say with a great deal of fairness that they do not propose to put their hands in their pockets to help to build up Chicago and St. Paul. It is clear therefore that while everybody will be gratified at seeing Manitoba stand up for her rights, whatever these may be, the arguments are not all on her side, and that Ontario, which has to pay the biggest share of the tax, has also something to say."

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.
The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From REV. P. N. GRANGER,
Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

Dr. J. Kendall & Co., Gents.—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent,
and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse,
when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can he be found to be very great.
Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.
BOSTON, Mass., March 18th, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents.—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have known two horse owners with Kendall's Spavin Cure,
one very large one, don't know how long the spavin
had been there. I have owned the horse eight months.
It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.

Respectfully yours,
CHAS. E. PARKER.
Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action, and it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings,
and lameness, and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for best as man.
Price per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to you for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL
MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is
scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine"
in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vernal and by night; whilst old, according skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcules which cause these unsightly, irritable,
painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottle, 1s. 6d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—A FLUID similar to itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Martin, and every year it is used more and more favourably to its rapidly increasing reputation.
Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete oblitera-
tion of the eruption.

TAINING NEARLY HALF PINT.—SOLD BY

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Cheese.

Mr. John Grimison shipped to-day per Midland Railway 11,000 boxes, about 70,000 pounds, of cheese. The cheese was shipped to Liverpool for Messrs. A. Hodgson & Son.

Entertainment.

The young ladies of the congregation of the George Street Methodist Church propose giving a social entertainment in the school room on Friday evening, Nov. 17th. Among other attractions there will be an interesting scene from Indian life and other tableaux. All are invited; admission 15 cents.

Midland Railway of Canada.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending Nov. 11th, 1882, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $5,802.59; freight, $18,890.11; total, $24,692.70, as compared with $18,890.77 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $5,802.93; and the aggregate traffic to date is $937,896.58, being an increase of $183,465.51 over 1881.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is moderately warm and cloudy. There are appearances of still further stormy weather. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh westerly winds; generally fair weather with possibly a few light local showers; stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Journalistic.

The Picton Times has changed hands. Mr. J. J. Bell being succeeded by Messrs. R. Harkness & Son. In an introductory address the new proprietors make promises of fair treatment of political opponents, which we hope they will keep, though if we were disposed to be critical we might remark that they offend more than once against their own canon in this very article. We wish our confederates success both in this new venture and in their endeavor to discountenance unfair journalism.

A Drawn Game.

The contest which took place at Westwood on Wednesday between Messrs. Breakenridge and Hennessy as to which of them can handle a No. 40 plough best, resulted in a tie, with the result that each man's money is to be returned to him. In sending in their decision to the holder of the money the judges say: "There was one point in Breakenridge's work which caused the judges to make the decision a tie, but Hennessy showed the most skill as a ploughman according to the judges' opinion." The judges were Messrs. Joshua Smithson and D. D. Henderson, Otonabee, and John Harrison, Arphodel.

Improving the Streets.

The Street Inspector's men having filled in Rink street across Spaulding's Bay, are now engaged in making some much needed improvements on the streets in the south part of the town. The sidewalk from the bridge across the bay to Perry street has been repaired and partly relaid, and the walk on Perry street has received attention. That part of George street, on which the knoll was cut down and the earth deposited in the bay, has been put into shape again, and the men are now finishing that work. Some more work might appropriately be done in this part of the town, but we invite the street authorities to give their attention next to the sidewalk on Brock street between Stewart and Rubidge streets.

Cold weather having now fairly set in, oysters are improving in quality with a downward tendency in price:—

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Nov. 16.—Mr. T. Menzies, J. P., and Mr. W. C. Nicholls, J. P., presided at the Court this morning.

SENTENCED.

The lad Thomas Kent was brought up on remand to receive sentence for stealing thirteen dollars from William Kemp. Yesterday he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Mr. NICHOLLS addressed a few words of counsel to the boy. He said that they did not know whether this was his first crime, but it was the first time he had appeared in the Court, and they would be as lenient as justice would allow. They fined him $10, or in default of payment, two months in gaol.

Personal.

Mr. A. F. Wood, of Madoc, the Conservative candidate for the Local Legislature for North Hastings, was in town to-day, registered at the Oriental Hotel.

Missionary Meeting.

A missionary meeting will be held this evening in the Bible Christian Church, Murray street. The meeting will be addressed by the Rev. R. Allen and the Rev. W. Lambert, missionary deputation, and others.

Week of Prayer.

The services in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms this evening will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Stobo. Subject—"A Father's Prayer answered." Services commence at 8 o'clock.

Machinery Shipped.

Two cars were being loaded to-day with mill machinery from Mr. Wm. Hamilton's foundry, including a large boiler. It is for the mill in Parry Harbour belonging to the Midland and North Shore Lumber Company, of which Mr. D. Ulyott, of Peterborough, is President. The engine was sent some time ago.

Railway Notes.

The flower grounds at the Midland station are being prepared for making a good show next season. The flowers were this year "a thing of beauty," and next year will be even more so. The Globe says that a new section of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Regina to Swift Current Creek, 520 miles west of Winnipeg, has been opened.

Pork Packing.

The pork packing establishment on George street, near Wolfe street, is almost completed. A large quantity of salt is already stored in the building, and a few hogs are lying in it with their feet turned heavenward, which is suggestive of the business which will be carried on there. A story is told of a man who, while passing the building and noticing its rather handsome appearance, inquired whether it was intended for a church or a school-house!

The Wallace Point Bridge.

We understand that this bridge is becoming really dangerous for travel, and that if it is not repaired immediately the united counties may be prepared to pay a nice bill for damages, if they do not become responsible for the loss of life. In June last the County Council of Peterborough notified the County Council of Northumberland that this bridge required repairs, and that they were prepared to pay one half of the cost of whatever repairs were found to be necessary.

An Incurable Boy.

The lad Thomas Kent, who pleaded guilty to stealing thirteen dollars, appears to be, from his father's statement, an incurable boy. His father remarked, after the Court adjourned, that he could not keep the boy home and could do nothing with him, and he wished that he had been sent to the Reformatory for a term to see if it would not do him good. He had the money, he said, to pay the fine, but he would consider the matter before doing so, as two months' imprisonment might have a good effect on the lad. This is assuredly a sad case, and it is to be hoped that, whether imprisoned or not, this may be a warning to the boy and have a good effect.

COURT OF CHANCERY.

TOWNSHIP OF MONAGHAN v. DORRIS.—This case, respecting the location of a fence, was tried at the last sitting of the Chancery Court, and the defendant was ordered to move his fence back to where the original fence stood. This he contends he has done. The case is still proceeding.—Mr. Z. A. Lush, Q.C., and Messrs. Dennistoun & Hall for the township; Mr. D. W. Dumble for defendant.

A Vexed Clergyman.

Even the patience of Job would become exhausted were he a preacher and endeavoring to interest his audience while they were keeping up an incessant coughing, making it impossible for him to be heard. Yet, how very easy can all this be avoided by simply using Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Trial Bottle given away at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store.—2.

Personal: To Men Only!

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dry's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

THE sudden changes in our Canadian climate are certainly conducive to lung, throat and chest affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is no reason why consumption should be so prevalent. Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

BAXTER'S MANDRAKE BITTERS never fail to cure Constipation and regulate the Bowels.

SALT IN EASTERN ONTARIO.

The Mysterious Article Found on a Farm on Amherst Island.

We had to-day a talk with Mr. Allen Wemp, Amherst Island, who has a salt well upon his premises, lot 64, second concession of Amherst Island, that is attracting considerable attention. Some days ago, in search of spring water, he was engaged in blasting a rock, some ten or twelve feet from the surface of the ground. A hole had been drilled in the rock preparatory to the entrance of a blast, when water appeared in such quantities as to necessitate the suspension of operations. A couple of days after, wards the water was tested, and found to be extremely salty. A half pail of it was boiled and yielded two tea cups of salt, of a very fine quality, equal to the best table article in the market. The well was pumped dry, but in ten minutes a foot of water accumulated in the bottom; it came out of the hole with a gush, and Mr. Wemp heard a noise like that of a mighty rush of water below the perforated stone. A second hole was drilled with the same result, and from another quart of water 3 oz. of salt were obtained. Mr. Wemp has sent samples of the water, which is as clear as crystal, to experts in Montreal and Toronto, and to Rathbun & Son, whose opinions and analyses are awaited with much interest.—Kingston Whig.

W. T. HART, Esq., 128 Amherst street, Montreal, in speaking of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, says he found it to operate successfully after only two doses, and he had tried other Remedies with the same child without success. Charles Blaine, 384 Plessis street: "If you want the best Worm medicine, get Dr. Smith's. It performed miracles in my family. Mrs. Shirlow, 130 Nazareth street, says it acted like a charm on her little boy and she would not be without it. Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy removes stomach and seat or pin worms from child or adult, without the use of other medicine.

An endless Variety of new Ties and Scarfs to select from, at Andrew McNeil's.

NOW!

Now is the time to make changes in your UNDERWEAR! Don't put it off until you get chilled, but do it right NOW, thereby saving your health, and maybe your life. It is a mistaken idea that some people have to put off as long as possible or just, when the thermometer goes down below zero to put on their underwear. Be prepared in time, and when the chilled northern blast comes you are safe. Another word of advice, if you have not yet laid in your stock of underwear, half-hose, gloves, mitts and everything needed in your wardrobe, go to T. DOLAN & CO. at once, where you will be served right.

CUPID'S CAPTIVES.

Marriage of Dr. G. S. Ryerson and Miss Mary Amelia Crowther.

There was a large and brilliant assemblage in St. Peter's church yesterday morning, to witness the solemnization of the marriage of Dr. George S. Ryerson to Miss Mary Amelia, second daughter of Mr. John Crowther, both of this city. Long before the hour named there was scarcely a seat in the edifice vacant, and later on it was almost impossible to find standing room. Shortly before noon there was a flutter amongst the fair sex, who formed a majority of those present, as the bride and bridesmaids entered. Some light have heard a pin drop, but just then the deep-voiced organ pealed forth, and the bride advanced to the altar, where the bridegroom and groomsmen awaited them. Then, as the music ceased, the beautiful ceremony prescribed by the Episcopal Church for such occasions, was proceeded with by the Ven. Archbishop Boddy.

After the ceremony the party drove to the residence of the bride's father, Jarvis street, where the wedding banquet was partaken of. The usual toasts followed, after which a considerable time was spent by the guests in examining and admiring the numerous handbells and costly presents which were displayed in one of the parlors. To enumerate all would be out of the question. They included, however, many articles both useful and ornamental, and were presented by a host of friends in this and other cities.

The bride was attired in cream satin and overdress of brocade satin trimmed with lace and clusters of orange blossoms, and jeanne and diamond ornaments.

The bridesmaids were:—Miss Torrance, dress of pink surah silk, trimmed with cream lace and pink roses; hat of cream plush and feather; basket of natural flowers.

Miss Fraser, Cobourg, dress of cream surah silk, trimmed with cream lace and pink roses; hat of cream plush and feather; basket of natural flowers.

Miss Esthabe, blue surah silk, trimmed with cream lace and forget-me-nots and roses; hat of cream plush and blue feathers; basket of flowers.

Miss Sarah Patterson, dress of white surah silk trimmed with lace and roses; hat, white plush feathers; basket of natural flowers.

Miss Isabel Gilmore (niece of the groom), dress of cream silk's velvet trimmed with lace; blue sash; hat, blue plush and cream feathers; basket of natural flowers.

The groomsmen were:—Dr. Allan Balms, "best" man; Dr. Gerald O'Reilly, Fergus; Mr. J. Crowther, jr. (brother of the bride), Mr. H. Gamble, and Master William Mulock. —Mail.

PORT HOPE.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—The Times says that the Committee on Town Property met on Monday, to consider the proposed enlargement of the Town Hall. An amicable agreement was come to, and it was decided to go on with the work at once. The Hall will be enlarged to the east, and improvements made in the butter market. Already several applications have been received by parties wishing to rent the Hall when completed.

CAMPBELLFORD.

A NEW CHURCH.—The Herald says that the steeple of the new Methodist Church, here, was raised into its place, on Saturday last. The steeple and tower together from top to bottom, measure 100 feet.

EXPORTS OF CATTLE. Mr. William Whittson made another exportation of live stock, last week, which he purchased from the farmers of this locality. The shipment consisted of 236 sheep, 83 hogs, and 20 cattle. They were sent to Brighton and purchased by Mr. Thos. Johns, who shipped them to the American market.

HAUTINGS.

RIFLE MATCHES.—From the Star we learn that at the rifle matches on Friday the cup was won by Sergeant R. Howard.

KICKED BY A COW.—Mrs. John Tracy was kicked by a cow last Saturday evening and was seriously hurt.

EPISCOPAL VISITATION.—MORAGY, Jamot, the newly appointed Bishop of Peterborough, paid a short visit to this part of his diocese last Wednesday. The visit was not of an official nature we understand.

A NEW INDUSTRY.—The exportation of apples is likely to spring up in this neighborhood, the first car load of the fruit being shipped direct to Glasgow on Wednesday last, by Mr. Simonds, of Cobourg.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

LIBERTY OF THE PRESS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16.—The various Estates in the Finland Diet, except the peasant representatives, have petitioned the Czar to permit the introduction next session of a bill granting full liberty to the press in Finland. They refer to the loyalty and tranquillity of the Finns.

THE FRENCH IN AFRICA.

TUNIS, Nov. 16.—The French are preparing an expedition of 800 men to punish the murderers of the men completing the mission of Col. Flatters. The French intend to cut off all communication with Tamarica. The actual attack will be made next year.

JOYCE MURDER TRIAL.

DUBLIN, Nov. 16.—The trial of Casey was resumed to-day. The court room was almost empty. The approvers Philip and Thomas Casey swore positively to Patrick Casey's presence in the party who visited the Joyce's house by the prisoner's command. The approver Casey stated that two men, Kelly and Nes, were the authors of the whole plot for the murder of the Joyce family. At this time the court was crowded, and the evidence caused a sensation.

THE WESTPHALIA DISASTER.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The officer who commanded the boat sent in search of the steamer which collided with the Westphalia says the boat seen by a channel pilot on Tuesday cannot have been his; it may have been one belonging to the sunken steamer.

ATTACK ON A HOUSE.

DUBLIN, Nov. 16.—Forty armed men attacked a magistrate's house at Magill's Castle yesterday and took two guns.

MILITARY MOVEMENTS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16.—The government has warned the newspapers against making any reference to the construction of military railways and the movements of the troops towards the Russo-Austrian frontier.

WAR IMMINENT.

VIENNA, Nov. 16.—The report of the Hungarian Committee on the Foreign Office budget was presented in the delegations to-day. The committee expressed a conviction that an Austro-Russian war was sooner or later inevitable. The budget was thereupon adopted. A speech made by Herr Plener, a prominent member of the Reichstag, created a great sensation. It was a long exhortation to the government to avoid anything calculated to bring on a war. It is evident Herr Plener possesses weighty information regarding the relations of Austria and Russia.

WILL DO IT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 16.—Despite the refusal of England to accept the despatch of a Turkish commissioner to Egypt during the continuance of Earl Dufferin's mission, the Porte still adheres to its original intention to send a commissioner.

PROF. PALMER'S PARTY.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Mr. Gladstone states that there are hopes of securing most, if not all, of the persons implicated in the massacre of Prof. Palmer and his party.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

From Despatches to the Review.

AMERICAN.

DISAPPEARED.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17.—The discharged employee who made charges against the manager of the mint, which were being investigated, has disappeared.

SORGHUM SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The report of the National Academy of Sciences to the Commission of Agriculture, states that sorghum yields in its juice, when taken in the proper stage of development, about as much cane sugar as the cane in tropical regions. An analysis showed an average of 88.57 per cent. of the weight of stripped stalks in juice.

A REVENGEFUL YOUTH.

BLANCKVILLE, N.Y., Nov. 17.—It has been discovered that the Presbyterian Church and parsonage recently burned, were fired by the oldest son of an ex-Congressman. The boy attended the pastor's school, and had a grudge against the pastor. He has disappeared.

SEEKING INCORPORATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—It is stated that a special Minister will be sent to the United States from Nicaragua with a view of promoting the passage of an act of incorporation for the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua.

INTERNAL TAXATION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—It is said that Congressman Kelly, who came here to urge the Secretary of the Treasury, and the President to recommend to Congress the immediate repeal of a large share of the interest taxes and legislation, fixing a near date for the abolition of the system of internal taxation, has returned home considerably discouraged.

A Home Hint.

Young children cannot be scolded into self-restraint or self-control. Whether children shall learn to quietly meet the many events constantly occurring, and that are somewhat startling, or whether they shall become uncontrollably agitated and excited, depends on the parents, especially the mother. The practice of self-restraint before children is the best teaching the young can have. If, when a bug or large moth malar flies into a room, the mother screams and rushes for some one to put the intruder out, or, finding no one, with much alarm, and starts and screams, tries to put it out herself, she cannot be surprised if her children do the same, and with greater alarm and excitement. The same lack of self-control in these small matters will grow with their growth and strengthen with their strength, and leave them totally unprepared to meet the more serious and important demands upon them which eventually come to all. —Mrs. H. W. Becker.

Morrell's Acid Phosphate.

FOR ALCOHOLISM.

DR. P. P. GILMARTIN, Detroit, says: "I have found it very satisfactory in its effects, notably in the prostration attendant upon alcoholism."

Before purchasing your Under-clothing call and inspect the Extensive Range, at Andrew McNeill's.

The Largest Land-Owner.

The late Daniel Murphy was the largest land-owner in the world, as he was possessed, at the time of his death, of some 13,000,000 acres. A San Jose correspondent of the San Francisco Call, furnishes the following statement:—"Daniel Murphy was the first white man that ever gazed on the placid bosom of Truckee lake. It was the Murphy party who christened Truckee river and Truckee lake, both being called after their Indian guide. The deceased leaves a widow and two children—his oldest daughter, Mrs. Chapman, having died several years ago. Daniel, jr., is now about twenty-two years old. Deceased spent the greater part of his time in Nevada, Arizona, and Mexico, for several years giving personal attention to his large stock interests in the valleys and ranges of those places. His business ever since he came to California has been stock-raising. He first had large tracts in the south and of this country, and as his herds grew he went into the San Joaquin Valley. The "no fence" law forced him to take his cattle to Nevada. He owned also about 200,000 acres in the State when he died, and 5,000,000 acres in the State of Durango, Mexico, and large tracts in Arizona, and was at the time of his death the largest land-owner in the world. The main railroad running through Mexico will go through his land. Only a few weeks ago he, with another gentleman, purchased the great Don Juan Foster ranch, fronting on the southern coast, paying therefor $450,000. He had also, it is stated, just completed arrangements for the entire purchase of the cattle interests of William Dumphy, of San Francisco. Daniel Murphy, like all of Martin Murphy's family, was very widely known on the coast and generally liked. He was unpretentious, good-natured, and warm-hearted.

The Realism of an Actor's Life.

The life of an actor is by no means the honey-combed affair that the silly school boys and romantic school girls think, is the opinion aired by "Joe" Howard in the Chicago News. Male and female, they struggle against the tide, forced to appear at their best, regardless of headache or heartache. What a comical position it must be for an impecunious actor, fearfully hard up, his salary anticipated, his future even mortgaged, and he cast in the role of a banker, playing a prince, counterfeiting a potentate. But no romance dreamed of in the wildest imagination can equal the sober facts and the dull realities of the stage itself. One of the brightest, merriest, smartest woman I ever knew, whose line is that of the laughing comedienne, was compelled, by necessity and the carelessness of a manager, to provide an under-study, to appear in the role of a rollicking, laughing, high-daddy widow, the very night on which her brother died in her arms for the two nights following, and the matinee of the week; this with his dead body reposing in the coffin, she on the stage creating screams of laughter, the body at home surrounded by weeping mourners. I don't know whether the people of to-day read Dickens or not, but if they want to find a pretty picture of the everyday life of the average actor, man or woman, let them read that beautiful story of the clown and his dying baby. That may have been a fancy sketch, but it was based on Dickens' knowledge of the realities behind the stage. It is not gold that glitters on the stage, and "property fowl," as Mrs. Jarvis remarks, do not make a very satisfactory meal.

Minnesota Land Frauds.

The Northwestern Lumberman says:—The Commissioner of the general land office is exerting himself actively and determinedly to root out the pre-emption fraud in the Duluth and St. Cloud land districts of Minnesota. There is a ring operating there which he proposes to break up. He proposes that while his tenure of office lasts not another acre of land shall be illegally obtained. Since the removal of the registrar and receiver at Duluth, the commissioner ordered hearings in a large number of supposed fraudulent pre-emption cases. Hearings in 55 cases were had before the land officials, none of the original pre-emptors appearing. Parties who claimed to be innocent purchasers from the pre-emptors appeared and cross-examined the witnesses for the government. The testimony showed that the pre-emptors had not attempted to comply with the law in the way of settlement. The emphatic action of the department has alarmed many of the swindlers, and in later pre-emption filings, the parties had public notice, they failed to appear and make proof of their entries. The department will hereafter cancel entries where false affidavits have been made. This course will have a direct effect on the parties who advance funds to the tools for the accomplishment of the fraud, and they will be the heaviest losers. It is the intention to indict for violation of law and for perjury those persons who have been found in the hearings to have filed the fraudulent proofs.

In Toronto.

Since the removal of Dr. M. Souville's Throat and Lung Institute to his new quarters, 173 Church street, hundreds suffering from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and many diseases of the throat and lungs have received treatment by his new and wonderful instrument, the spirometer, which conveys medicines in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased. Physicians and sufferers can try it free. Poor people bearing certificates will be furnished with spirometer free. Write enclosing stamp for pamphlet giving full particulars, to Dr. M. Souville, a leading surgeon of the French army, 173 Church street Toronto, or 13 Phillips' Square, Montreal.

"TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' EXPERIENCE," says an eminent Physician, convinces me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness of the generative organs is to repair the waste by giving Brain and Nerve Foods, and of all the remedies I have used Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. This remedy is now sold by all our Druggists at 50 cts. per box, or 6 for $2.50, and on receipt of an order for 12 boxes, accompanied with $3.00, addressed to Mack's Magnetic Medicine Co., Windsor, Ont., they will forward the goods free by mail, and send their "written guarantee" to refund the money, if the treatment does not effect a cure. See ad't in another column.

THERE is no better cough medicine in the world than the preparation known as "Pectoral." It promptly cures all throat, lung and chest affections. Its good effects can be felt after the first dose. It soothes, warms and unobscures the bronchial tubes, affording immediate relief and a speedy cure. Have you got a cough or cold? Then try it. For sale everywhere, 1400 St. John.

'XMAS CARDS.

It is very evident that the excitement which generally accompanies the Xmas Card trade is commencing to abate, and before long there will be a boiling enthusiasm over these goods beyond anything seen in the past.

This Year will Cap All.

We do not advise purchasing at present, because you will be so delighted with the cards, that if you do, you will look at them so much, that when Xmas comes you will be sick of them. However, our stock has been in a month; it is tremendous, comprising cards from every manufacturer, who sent their samples last season. Our assortment therefore cannot be beaten. If you should wish to see them they will be ready next Tuesday.

The Review announces that the Ontario Legislature has been summoned for the despatch of business on Wednesday, the 15th of December.

Regarding the same matter the World says: "But why this early date?" asked a reporter of a well known lawyer who is said to enjoy the confidence of the party.

"Well," said he, "you don't know what scheme Sir John will devise before June, and as we have the inside track just now, the sooner we get to the work of the session, lay down our policy on provincial rights, and, if possible, compel the opposition to show their hand, the better for us. We will then be able to go to the country in February if we wish, or in June if our leaders think it wiser."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Proprietors of the Review beg to announce that they have secured and are now having prepared for them a life-like likeness of the Right Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald K. C. B.; P. C.; etc., with fac-simile of signature. Size 13x15 inches, suitable for framing, for presentation to all yearly subscribers to the Daily or Weekly Review who pay their subscriptions in advance. It is expected that copies will be ready for delivery in the course of a few days, and as soon as they are one will be presented to every one upon payment of their subscription for either paper up to the 31st December, 1882. As the number of copies ordered is limited, and orders cannot be easily repeated, the Publishers will not hold themselves bound to supply copies to subscribers paying their subscriptions after the 1st February next.

THE TRUE REGULATORS.

WHILE we cannot but regret, in the interest of our own St. Lawrence route, that the people of the State of New York have declared in favor of free canals, and that as a consequence all tolls on the Erie Canal will at once be abolished, yet we cannot deny that the decision at which they have arrived is eminently in their own interest and that of the people of the north-western states, and, to a certain extent, in the interest of the producers of lumber and barley in Ontario. As our readers are aware, the Review, even when it was laughed at for so doing, maintained that the best if not the only satisfactory regulator of freight rates was our water ways, and the events of each succeeding year have only served to confirm this conviction and to prove that those who are most intimately concerned in this matter are coming more and more to the same way of thinking. Certainly in adopting an amendment to their constitution providing for free canals the people of the empire state and the chief commercial city of the continent, have given the most substantial evidence in their power, and that too, in spite of the opposition of their powerful railway corporations, that they are of the opinion that the water ways are an important, if not the best freight regulator. In Great Britain too, we find the same feeling gaining ground, notwithstanding that country has more miles of railway to the square mile than any other country in the world.

During the last or rather present session of the Imperial Parliament a select committee was appointed to enquire into the subject of railway rates and fares, and as a result of their investigations they presented a report recommending among other things "That Parliament do not sanction any further control, direct, or indirect, of canal navigation by a railway company."

To understand, and fully appreciate this recommendation, it is necessary that the reader should bear in mind that nearly all the canals of that country are at present leased to, and worked by, those railway corporations with whom they competed, and that if the recommendation of the committee be acted upon the canals will return to their natural and proper position of competitors with the railways for the carriage of heavy freight as soon as the present leases expire. That such a result would have a beneficial effect upon freight rates cannot be doubted, seeing that the railway companies in order to secure control of them have leased them at rentals which pay the owners thereof higher dividends than the railways pay their own stockholders, and that they (the railways),

Under circumstances such as those to which we have just referred, we need scarcely say that we hold it to be the duty of our statesmen to avail themselves of every available opportunity of developing and improving our water ways whether they be in our older or newer provinces.

While a "free" Erie is no doubt calculated and intended to injure the St. Lawrence route, we have little fear of the ultimate result now that our own inland and natural competitor with the Erie Canal is fairly under way under the name of the Trent Valley Canal. Taken in conjunction with the recent action of the State of New York, and in conjunction with the deplorable results which have followed the attempt to use vessels adapted to the wants of the Welland Canal on our great lakes, it is clear that it is the duty of the Dominion Government and Parliament in the interests of humanity, as well as of the St. Lawrence route, to push the Trent Valley Canal on to an early completion.

THE FUTURE PRIME MINISTER.

Lord Dufferin Expected to be Mr. Gladstone's Successor.

There are those who think, and not without good reason, that Lord Dufferin is the Prime Minister of the future. If the British Empire is to continue composed of its forty odd dependencies, it will demand, in view of their progressive development, a controlling power exercised with great skill and address, intimately acquainted with them, in broad and generous sympathy with their diverse and diverse desires and needs, and at the same time capable of dealing with foreign countries in a firm, yet most conciliatory spirit. Now, where is the British subject who combines all this in so high a degree as Lord Dufferin? He seems to felicitously blend the brilliant qualities and sympathetic nature of his mother with the prudent Scotch-Irish traits of his native Ulster which has produced so many men of force. His father died when his son was a boy, from an overdose of mercury, on a Dublin packet. Lord Dufferin, as only child, became the sole object on which a very gifted mother concentrated her energies and affections, and what she gave was most carefully returned. Never were even French mother and son more devoted friends than these. For some years after attaining his majority he was simply a brilliant man of society, a universal favorite—a little laughed at in very early days for ineffective affectations—and the delight of his country from his boyhood. In fact, very few persons then had any idea that he was going to prove himself, as years were on, about the ablest man, in point of tact and address, in the service of the Crown. His conciliatory powers were first called into play in Egypt in 1880, and it was then, perhaps, that he gained an insight into the best modes of dealing with Orientals. After that he had an experience in official and parliamentary life in London. The splendid success of his Canadian career is fresh in the public memory. In Ireland, where he was a very fine estate, on which we have not heard of trouble, even in these troublous times, he is beloved on all hands, and got his name from Canada men of all creeds and parties united in that hot-bed of Orangemen and Tories, Belfast, which returns no liberal member, to do honour to a nobleman, who has steadily and consistently supported the measures of a Liberal Administration. And in addition to all his stateship Lord Dufferin is a man of letters, a man of society, a man of the world, in its best sense, than whom no one would, as first minister of the Crown, know better how to discharge the State and social functions of that great office with a dignity and splendour such as would command him to the English House of Commons, with whom, whether Whig or Tory, he is a prime favorite, while he has a man who has shown himself eminently fitted to discharge all social duties with grace, dignity and address. Were Mr. Gladstone to be removed to-morrow, the best interests of the British Empire, no matter in what quarter of the globe, could be placed in no better hands than those of the gifted Irishman who, after six months of unceasing worry at Constantinople, has gone, by way of a refreshing change, out of the Turkish frying-pan into the Egyptian fire. Not until the recent peace of Turkish political history are thrown open to the public will people realize not merely all that Lord Dufferin has done, but which is half the battle in all diplomacy, all he has prevented being done.—*N. A Comedy of Errors.

A remarkable case is on trial at Erie, Pa., in which it is alleged that a youth named George Grimes, who is charged with outraging an esteemed old German lady, has a double, or exact counterpart, who is the actual perpetrator of the crime laid at Grimes' door. The resemblance extends even to the clothes and hair, as well as features of the accused. To-day a number of reliable citizens swore positively that Grimes was the man beyond all doubt, and an equal number of equally reliable citizens testified that the man was in another place at the time of the affair. A more remarkable case was never set up in the courts here. Grimes is backed by the Young Men's Christian Association of Erie and Titusville, who firmly believe he is a victim of this case. The latest sensational feature reported is that it is the double who is in custody, and not the Grimes set out in the indictment.

Live and Dressed Weight of Cattle.
Messrs. Swan, of Edinburgh, the well known cattle dealers, write as follows regarding the proportion of the beef netted to the live weight of cattle: "We should say that well finished two year old cattle will yield sixty to sixty-two lbs. of beef for one hundred lbs. live weight. The primer the quality and the younger the animals the more beef is given. For a finished three year old bullock we should say from fifty-eight to sixty-one lbs. of beef per hundred lbs. live weight. We calculate that Canadian fat cattle will yield fifty-five to fifty-eight lbs., according to quality. In weighing them alive, in order to get at the dead weight, they should be fasted twelve hours, or, if weight full, or after being fed and watered, a deduction of five per cent on the account should be taken from the gross live weight."

Two Samaritans in a Car.

"We stepped rather suddenly," said Dr. Rains, "when the two trains met on the track just this side of Rome yesterday. For my part, I went feet foremost under the seat that was just in front of where I was sitting. The most singular thing that I witnessed was done just across the aisle from me. There were two men, sitting one directly behind the other, and in front of them was an unoccupied seat. When the engines struck, the man in front turned a complete somersault and lit in the vacant seat just exactly as he sat in the other seat. The other man performed exactly the same feat, and lit in the seat lately occupied by his neighbour."—Atlantic Constitution.

A Narrow Escape for Royalty.

Lord Charles Somerset finding after the bombardment of Alexandria that one of the "Condor's" shells had gone right through the roof of Fort Marabout, and thinking that it had not been charged, the gallant commander thrust a lighted candle into the fuse hole. Lord Charles then determined to present the shell to the Prince of Wales, and sent it to the Nordendfeldt works to be cut in two. Water was poured over it and was stirred in with a copper rod, but the shell had put up with a good deal and felt that it must really draw the line at being stirred with a copper rod. So it exploded, and the stirrer was seriously, if not fatally injured.

Terrific Poisoning Fatality.

A dreadful calamity has happened in the family of Mr. William Trimble, an old resident of Solina. It appears that the family were suffering slightly from colds, and before retiring for the night Mrs. Trimble prepared some herb tea, from which Mr. Trimble and his two daughters (Maggie and Ida) partook rather freely and then were soon prostrated. Dr. J. Mitchell and Dr. J. W. McLaughlin were summoned as soon as possible and every effort was made to counteract what was at once pronounced to be poison in the system. All three suffered extremely, and Maggie died the next morning. Mr. Trimble also succumbed. He was about 60 years of age. Maggie, the deceased daughter, is about 25, and Ida, who will probably recover, is about 18. Among the herbs from which the tea was made is supposed to be the deadly nightshade.

Free Canals in New York.

The Northwestern Lumberman says:—The result of the late election in New York insures free canals in that state. This is of great significance to the lumber trade of the Saginaw district, and all points in the East, as well as to the trade of Canada. The abrogation of tolls on the Erie canal and its collateral water-ways will cheapen freights, and thereby reduce the price of pine lumber in Albany, New York, Boston, and all places east, depend on Michigan pine. Indirectly it may have a good effect on Chicago trade, for the Saginaw and eastern Michigan lumbermen were making ready for working some of their coarse lumber into the Chicago market, for the reason that Canadian lumber of the coarser grades has become a damaging competitor in the eastern markets, and the Saginaw men desire a western outlet for their inferior stock, which is now increasing in the annual percentage of their output.

Woman's True Friend.

A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly those complaints and weaknesses so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are woman's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial always proves our assertion. They are pleasant to the taste, and only cost fifty cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists.—2.

W. T. HART, Esq., 128 Amherst street, Montreal, in speaking of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, says he found it to operate successfully after only two doses, and he had tried other Remedies with the same child without success. Charles Blaise, 384 Pleasant street: "If you want the best Worm medicine, get Dr. Smith's. It performed miracles in my family. Mrs. Shirlow, 180 Nazareth street, says it acted like a charm on her little boy and she would not be without it. Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy removes stomach and seat or pin worms from child or adult, without the use of other medicine."

THE sudden changes in our Canadian climate are certainly conducive to lung, throat and chest affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is no reason why consumption should be so prevalent. Dr. Osborn's Pulmonary Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Cells.
Two men were accommodated with lodgings in the cells last night by the constables.

Dr. Wild's Lecture.
We willingly accept the explanation and amendable of the Port Hope Times in regard to the report of Dr. Wild's lecture on "Jeremiah in Ireland."

Comfort in Cold Weather.
Good Knitted Woolen Socks and Stockings, Mittens, Cardigan Jackets, Wool Hoods, Knitted Goods, Underclothing, etc., all of very excellent quality, and a varied assortment to look through, at surprisingly low prices, at Groux & Sullivan's.

Week of Prayer.
The services in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms will be conducted this evening by Col. Haultain. Subject—"The Work at the Construction Camps." Col. Haultain has taken part in the work at the camps on the railway line, and his remarks on it will be very interesting.

Entertainment.
Our readers should bear in mind the entertainment this evening in the George Street Methodist Church School Room. In addition to the scenes from Indian life we may mention among the tableaux one representing an episode in the career of Mary Queen of Scots. The entertainment will commence at eight o'clock.

Their Hands Fall.
The Brandon Sun says: The process of "jumping" has almost become a mania, and, to such an extent has the practice been carried that, during the past few weeks Mr. Clement-Smith and his assistants have had scarcely any time for the transaction of any other business.
The land office is daily besieged by land hunters, and its walls covered with notices to the party who made the original entry.

Brought Match.
The Globe says that the match at draughts between Mr. McLaren, of Peterborough, and Mr.
Fletcher, of Toronto, appears to have had an unpleasant termination. According to statements made Mr. McLaren had won the first two games, and the third was a draw, when Mr. Fletcher informed his opponent that it was no use to continue further as he was unable to procure backers to put up the required amount of money as stakes.

Stock Sales.
Two very important sales of stock are to take place next week, of which our farmers and stock dealers should take heed. The first will be on Monday, on the premises of Mr. Ephraim Jackson, lot 8, con. 2, Smith, beginning at ten o'clock. The second will be held on Wednesday at ten o'clock, on the Kinsaid Farm, lot 10, con.
9, North Monaghan. Catalogues of both sales can be obtained from the auctioneer, Mr. Chas.
Stapleton.

The Weather.
The weather last night was the most wintry in appearance that we have yet had, and "the beautiful" covered the streets this morning.
To-day the weather is moderate and clearing.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong easterly to moderate winds; cloudy weather, with rain and snow, followed by clearing weather at night; not much change in temperature.

They Say It Is Positively True
That Smith is telling the people, and the people are telling everybody that to secure the very best oysters buy the J. B. L. and J. L. & Co's Selects, as they are without doubt the finest oysters packed for eating raw or frying, and for stewing buy the Diamond Brand. Cold weather having now fairly set in, oysters are improving in quality with a downward tendency in price:—

Diamond Brand only 30c per Can

J. B. L. Selects " 40c " "
J. L. & Co's (Blue Points) " 50c " "

PULP MANUFACTURE.

Messrs. Osborne & Co.'s Mill—A New Industry on Dickson's Race.

One of the improvements made on Dickson's race this year is nothing less than the establishment of a new industry. We refer to the pulp factory of Messrs. Osborne & Co., which is now ready to begin full operation, with the exception of a small amount of machinery which needs adjusting. This will be done at once, and the mill will probably be in full blast within a week. However, pulp has already been made there. Last week the mill was started and a fine sample of pulp turned out, and on Tuesday this was repeated. The pulp is described as being of the first quality, and one experienced paper manufacturer on seeing it at once left an order for a large amount.

The factory is situated at the north end of the bridge which crosses the river at Dickson's dam, and is in the village of Ashburnham.
While approaching the river on this side, a glimpse is caught of the building, which looks very unpretentious, but on closer inspection and once inside it appears like what it is—a hive of industry. Mr. C. W. Allen has superintended the work on the mill from the commencement at the foundation of the building.
He has had a large experience in this work, and planned and constructed four pulp mills previous to this one, but he says that this is as good and even better than any he has previously had anything to do with.

The building is 40x60, and is trussed and supported by rods. The walls are well built and filled in, and altogether the building is a solid and substantial one. The water power is excellent, there being a head of twelve feet of water.
The flume is a very large one, 24 feet by 75 feet, and, as the foreman remarked, there is none better in Canada. The motive power is supplied by four large Leffel turbine water wheels, 54 inches in diameter. Three of the wheels drive six large grinders, one wheel running two grinders, and the power of the fourth is reserved for the other machinery. The first story of the building is filled with rapidly revolving wheels and belts, and on this floor the principal part of the machinery is stationed—the pumps, saws and screens. On the upper story are the grinders and "wet machine." An elevator driven by the water power carries the wood from the sawing machine in the first story to the second story, where it is placed in the grinders and ground into dust, from which it passes to the other machines and is finished and turned out a good quality of pulp.

Outside of the factory ample arrangements have been made for convenience. A store-house has been erected in front of the mill in which any surplus stock of pulp, or pulp for shipment, may be stored. Close to this storehouse, and a few feet from the mill, a branch from the Grand Junction Railway is laid. On this branch shipments can be made and wood for the factory can be brought to the door. The mode of lighting the mill is unique, the light being supplied by gas generated from coal oil. Each lamp or torch is a gas works in itself. The coal oil is contained in an iron vessel about the size of and resembling a milk pan, and from this an iron tube extends downwards about two feet and then straight out about a foot, on the end of which is the gas burner. A small cup under the burner holds a small piece of asbestos soaked in coal oil, and this is lighted and heats the burner to such an extent that gas is generated and ignited. Then the flame which gives the light generates the gas which feeds itself. The light supplied is clear and bright, and a few of these miniature gas houses light up the factory like day. There is no smoke from the flames, and it burns in all respects like ordinary gas.

The pulp mill is one of the chief industries established this year. Great improvements have been made along Dickson's race, including the buildings for McKee's parlour frame factory and Forsyth's pump and fanning mill factory, the enlargement of Brodie's woollen mill and extensive improvements made in Haultain's mill, and this pulp factory is one of the principal additions to the industries established on this race.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Autumn Sittings of the Chancery Division—Monaghan vs. Dobbin.

NORTH MONAGHAN vs. DOBBIN.—Judgment for defendant, the township to pay the costs of the suit incurred since the order of Justice Boyd.—Mr. Z. A. Lash, Q. C., and Messrs. Denison & Hall for plaintiff;
Mr. D. W. Dumble for defendant.

Missionary Meeting.

A missionary meeting was held in the Bible Christian Church, Murray street, on Thursday evening. The Rev. Mr. Joffe occupied the chair, and addresses were delivered by the Rev.
Messrs. R. Allen and W. Lambert, the deputies, the Rev. John Shaw and the Rev. J. W. Butcher. The meeting was a successful one—more so financially than that of last year.

A Fine Delivery Wagon.

A new delivery wagon which Mr. G. C.
Rogers, of the Otonabee Mills, has on the rounds is well got up, and is really a fine one.
It is a double wagon, made by Mr. T. Fitzgerald, and in it Johnston's patent gear is used.
The four springs run across the wagon, parallel with the axle, and it will carry a very heavy load, and runs one-fourth smoother than an ordinary wagon. The box is nicely painted and gold lettered. Mr. Rogers' increasing business compels him to keep two and three delivery wagons on the go now.

Big Barley.

The Hastings Star says:—
"A Peterborough exchange noticed last week, as something unusual, a car load of barley, weighing 52 pounds to the bushel, and which was pronounced to be the best sample ever brought to that town. Our buyers, here, can beat that sample all hollow, they having several car loads in store which lift the beam to the tune of 53 pounds per bushel."

This is heavy barley, no doubt, but we are still ahead, Mr. B. Green, as we noticed a day or two ago, having purchased barley for Mr.
Wrighton which weighed 54 pounds to the bushel.

IT MAY BE LAW, BUT IS IT JUSTICE?

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I see in your issue to-night that a boy who stole thirteen dollars, got fined $10 or two months. Does it not look like giving the boy three if he will give up ten? A novel way to deal with a thief; quite an encouragement for a larger amount; steal a hundred, get fined eighty, twenty in pocket. Enrich the town treasury, but the unfortunate one that loses the money gets nothing. It may be law, but is it justice?
Yours, &c.,
HENRY ROSSITER.

How it Works.—Malarial Diseases, so prevalent in the Spring and Fall, such as Ague, Chill Fever, Bilious Fever, &c., depend upon an inactive state of the liver, bowels, skin, kidneys, etc., for did these outlets of morbid poisons matter free the system properly, no sickness would result. Burdock Blood Bitters effectually

Large vs. Small Stores.

That a large business can be conducted under cool admirably less expense than a small one—difference in receipts considered—the commercial world offers abundant proof. And no where can better illustration of the truth of this be found than with us.
We have a large establishment, and are offering goods at prices FIVE TO TWENTY PER CENT LOWER than those asked by other houses for fabrics and workmanship of similar quality. This is not a mere assertion, a visit to our house will prove.
It is the aggregate of sales, and not the profit on a single transaction, which enables us to undersell smaller competitors. This aggregate of sales—rather a patronage commensurate with our facilities—is what we confidently looked forward to at the outset. And we have been favoured with it daily. Our stock comprises everything that may be desired in the way of CLOTHING, and GENERAL DRY GOODS.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1892.

THE VALUE OF GLOBE STATEMENTS.

The Globe of Wednesday said:—
"There is no foundation for the rumour that a Cabinet Council has decided in favour of an early meeting of the Ontario Legislature and a dissolution of Parliament in February next."

The Globe of Friday announced that "the Executive Council of this Province" had "decided that the Provincial Legislature should be called together for the despatch of business on Wednesday, the 14th of December."

BEDEVILLE.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—The Intelligence says that about 5:30 on Tuesday evening, as Mrs.
Eugene McMahon was proceeding home, she was followed by an unknown man who, as she was walking along John Street above the Presbyterian church, snatched from her hand a small satchel, which contained about three dollars. The thief then ran down the street.

ENHARMON.

From Our Own Correspondent.
COLD WEATHER.—On Saturday morning,
Nov. 18, at sunrise the thermometer was only one degree above zero. Pretty keen that, so early in November.

The Canada Pacific.

An answer to the demand that the Dominion Government was going to allow the Grand Trunk Railway to cross the frontier into Manitoba, has come in a practical form—the disallowance of railway charters not within the competence of the local legislature. It requires but little reflection to convince any candid minded person that no other course was open to the government. The contract with the Pacific Railway company cannot be violated by one of the parties to it; and if the government were disposed to be false to its engagement, the courts would certainly enforce the contract. It is unfortunate that the Pacific Railway company should have acquired a monopoly for a long term of years; but the restriction is part of the price we pay for the railway. It is more child's play on the part of the legislature of Manitoba to continue to assume the assumption of authority, in respect to these charters, which it does not possess.
We must all submit to constitutional restraints; and any attempt of a province to usurp rights which do not belong to it, must necessarily be put down in the interests of constitutional government.—Monetary Times.

A Noted Tramp.

The Superlative Tramp of the world, says the New York Tribune, died near Sydney, New South Wales, a few days ago. He was Christian Frederick Schaefer by name, and by birth a Hessian. Though afflicted with a spinal complaint and a delicate constitution, he was a wanderer upon the face of the earth to an extent which the wandering Jew never conceived of,
and he must serve for all time as a model in his line. He never asked for or would accept money, saying that he had no use for it so long as he could beg food and clothes. It is supposed that he had walked more than 180,000 miles, in making successively the tour of Germany, France, Spain, Northern Africa, Turkey, Italy, Greece, England, the United States, New Zealand and Australia. Occasionally, when absolute necessity required, as, for instance, on ship-board, he would do a little work, but his apparent feebleness always excited pity, and he was saved him from hard labor. He was honest and harmless; thousands of people, the world over, thought kindly of him; when he fell sick he was tenderly nursed, and when he died his body received a decent burial. It is thought that he was a little wrong in the head, and his last days were spent in a lunatic asylum.—
Harpers Weekly.

Battery vs. Battery.

One of the finest things done in the battle of Tel-el-Kebir was the plucky conduct of a battery of artillery. An enemy's battery of six guns had been playing upon our advance, when three squadrons of cavalry were ordered to charge and take it. The cavalry could not get through the trenches, when one of our field batteries came up, and by hook or crook got across. They got in rear of the enemy, unlimbered, came into action, and fired six rounds of case-shot at forty yards into the enemy's battery, which had a murderous effect. Every Egyptian gunner was killed, and every man of the escort; the rest surrendered. This is about the only case on record of one battery charging and actually capturing another.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE MURDERED PROFESSOR.
SUZ, Nov. 17.—A Bedouin led the party searching for the Palmer expedition to a place near where Professor Palmer was murdered, and Palmer's bags, containing $1,300 in gold, were found buried in the ground.

THE PRUSSIAN DIET.
BERLIN, Nov. 17.—After the reading of the budget the Prussian diet will adjourn until the middle of January.

NEW REGULATION.
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Before the rules of procedure are disposed of in committee, Gladstone will submit the new regulation for the election of a chairman of the committee.

FRAUDULENT ADVERTISING.
THE HAGUE, Nov. 17.—Dr. Edward Gantz, American delegate to the Socialist Congress here in 1891, has been sentenced to two years, on a charge of obtaining money by a fraudulent advertisement.

LARGE FIRE.
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The premises of Wm.
Whitely, one of the principal London drapers was damaged by fire last evening to the extent of £100,000.

THE OPPOSITION LEADER.
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Northcote will go to the Mediterranean shortly for the benefit of his health. During his absence, Sir Richard Ashtoncross will act as leader of the Opposition.

SUPPRESSING EMBASSIES.
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The correspondent of the Standard in Paris says he hears from an authentic source that the Russian government has decided to suppress all its embassies and legations in Germany with the exception of those at Berlin and Stuttgart.

STRIKING PRINTERS.
VIENNA, Nov. 17.—The strike of the printers is rapidly spreading, and several newspapers have been compelled to stop publication. The municipal authorities are trying to persuade the men to reduce their demands.

AMERICAN.

A BATTLE IN A BALL ROOM.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—Towards the termination of a ball given by the Union Pleasure Club yesterday morning, a melee occurred in which over 100 men participated. Knives and pistols were freely used. Thomas Wuegan was seriously stabbed, and Thomas Wheeden and James Doyle probably fatally wounded.

FREIGHT RATES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The joint executive committee of trunk lines has voted an advance in east bound freight rates of five cents per one hundred pounds. This will make the rate from Chicago to New York on grain thirty cents, and provisions thirty-five. The new rates go into effect on December 1st.

THREE MURDERS IN TEXAS.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, Nov. 16.—Sheriff Nelson, of Kerr county, was killed on Wednesday by W. Baker, whom he was attempting to arrest. John Haynes was murdered at Twoby Station, on Wednesday night, by Jose Salazar, a Mexican. Henry Watson was murdered in Cherokee County, on Wednesday, and robbed of several thousand dollars.

AN UNUSUAL STORM.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—There was a heavy autumn storm throughout the entire country, resulting almost in the complete interruption of telegraphic communication, which it is impossible to maintain more than a few seconds uninterruptedly. The storm is said to be the fiercest known in a long time. In New England a heavy snow storm set in this morning. The earth is already covered with five or six inches of it.

Revolutionary Cruelty.

A Cincinnati despatch says: The house of Edward Halyrd, a miser and hermit, aged 80, living in a lonely spot in Spencer township, was entered Friday night by four masked burglars.
They dragged him from his bed and demanded money. He refused to tell where he had it concealed, and they beat and kicked and threatened his life. He still refused to divulge where the treasure was, when one man, tall and heavy, put the heel of his boot on the miser's big toe and turned about on it, tearing off the nail; another lighted newspapers and held the flames against the old man's bare body. He then told them where the $4,000 in Government bonds were concealed. The bonds with the coupons uncut for twenty years are valued at $13,000. The burglars also got $300 in cash.
Nothing was known about the affair till Saturday afternoon. Halyrd was found bruised and suffering on a dirty bed, but he refused medical aid. He is worth probably $150,000, and is likely to die from the shock and injuries.

Newspapers as Educators.

At a teachers' meeting in Pennsylvania the other day, Superintendent Lucky, of the Pittsburg public schools, opposed the use of the spelling book. When a word stood by itself it was dead, he said; when put into a sentence it had life; and a spelling book generally did more harm than good. He ridiculed the popular method of teaching elocution, and declared that pupils could deliver the speeches of Webster, Calhoun and Clay finely, but when asked to read a newspaper could not do so intelligently. He advocated the reading of newspapers in schools, and stated that in the Pittsburg public schools the geography was only a book of reference, the daily papers being the means by which geography was taught.
Scholars thus associated places and events readily, and were not likely to forget either.

Mothers! Mothers!

Are you disturbed at night or broke of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of teething teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WISLLOW'S SCOTTISH SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians, and nurses in the United States. Send every where. 25 cents a bottle.

THE QUEEN AND THE TROOPS.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Queen to-day reviewed 6,000 troops who participated in the Egyptian campaign. The troops afterwards marched through several streets, which were all gaily decorated and filled with immense crowds of spectators. There was extraordinary enthusiasm. There will be illuminations tonight.

AMERICAN.

SMALL POX.
CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—It is said that the health officer has been making false reports of the number of small pox cases here. The reports indicate a much smaller number of cases than is shown by the books of the department.
Since the disease appeared there have been 4,000 cases and 1,500 deaths. It is supposed that the health officer wanted to create the impression that he was riding the city of the pox and prevent the city trade from being injured.

A CREW TO BE ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the captain and part of the crew of the Worcester, which sank the barge in Lake river drawing Capt. Taylor's family.

BURGLARS AT WORK.

NAPIERVILLE, Ill., Nov. 18.—Two burglars entered the house of E. E. Went, early yesterday morning, and on being discovered by the woman folk, who with the children were the only occupants of the house, fired, seriously wounding a five year old daughter of Mr.
Went, and also wounding Miss Kate Gambine in the head and arm. They then escaped. It is not thought that the wounds will prove fatal.

ROBBING A CITY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Tribune's Poughkeepsie despatch says that a cessation has been created by Diamond, city attorney, calling upon certain city officials to make good alleged deficiencies in their accounts. The largest demand is for $27,000 upon the bondsmen of the city treasurer George, who died in Europe.
George's temporary successor, Heath, is alleged to be short $412. Willis, the present treasurer, is asked to make up an alleged deficiency of $1,880. The city chamberlain is included in the list. Mr. O'Brien, city attorney in 1870, is said to be deficient $688 and his successor Thorn, $1,500. Lee, city clerk, was found to be deficient $500, which he has since repaid to the city. All this is the result of an investigation begun by the common council some time ago. The total deficiency is $35,000, but all the books are not yet examined. No one apparently will believe that Willis and the other officials would knowingly defraud the city of a dollar, though no satisfactory explanation has yet been made regarding the same unaccounted for.

CLEVELAND'S MAJORITY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Tribune says that the official vote on the 57th count, with the estimates of the vote in the other three counties, give Cleveland a plurality of 192,981, which will not be materially changed by the State Board Canvassers, unless there is an unusually large number of imperfect votes to be allowed to Folger and Cleveland.

THE CUBAN REFUGEES.

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 18.—The Cuban refugees, when arrested, had $20,000 with which they arranged their escape from Cadiz.

BURNED TO DEATH.

'XMAS CARDS.

It is very evident that the excitement which generally accompanies the 'Xmas Card trade is commencing to diminish, and before long there will be a boiling enthusiasm over these goods beyond anything seen in the past.

This Year will Cap All.

We do not advise purchasing at present, because you will be so delighted with the cards, that if you do, you will look at them so much, that when 'Xmas comes you will be sick of them. However, our stock has been in a month; it is tremendous, comprising cards from every manufacturer, who sent their samples into Canada. Our assortment therefore cannot be beaten. If you should wish to see them they will be ready next Tuesday.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1882.

THE SPOIL SYSTEM—WHITHER ARE WE DRIFTING?

THAT the spoils system is an inalienable evil, and incompatible with purity, is a statement which will receive very general assent in theory, however much it may be ignored in practice. While, happily for Canada, it has not as yet attained to anything like the dimensions here which it has attained in the United States, yet it cannot be denied that it is, with us, a growing evil, and that the rapidly with which it is entwining itself around our political life—especially in this Province—calls for the earnest and serious consideration of our people.

Fortunately it is still true that we have not here the pernicious system in vogue in the States of making a clean sweep of the public officials, with every change of Government, simply because they happen to be the appointees of and sympathizers with the defeated party, but still the good things in the way of appointments falling to the "ins," even during a single Parliamentary term, constitute prizes for party services, whose corrupting influence are not to be despised. With both parties, and in Dominion as well as Provincial appointments, the first and chief consideration in filling vacancies has come to be, not the fitness of the applicants for the position to be filled, but the "services" which he and his friends have rendered, and are likely to render in the future, to the party which controls the appointment. Such being undeniably the considerations which largely control preference to Dominion or Provincial appointments, whatever may be one's opinion with regard to the efficiency of the Civil Service Act, passed last session by the Dominion Parliament, it will scarcely be disputed that it was a step, however small, in the right direction, and that any examination as a preliminary to public preference, is better than none. It is sometimes, and we think it is so in this matter, a very important point gained to get a legislative body to declare itself in favour of the principle of a desired reform, and to place it on the Statute book, and this at least has been done by the Government and supporters of Sir John Macdonald. The principle of examination as a preliminary to appointments to the civil service of the Dominion, having been at last conceded, the advocates of this reform have obtained a standing ground from whence, with perseverance and prudence, they should have little difficulty in obtaining all that is really required to remove these appointments from the miasma of the spoils system.

So much for the position of this matter in the arena of Dominion politics, let us now turn our attention to the course of legislation at Toronto, and see what the Provincial legislature—a body which controls a much larger number of remunerative offices, in proportion to the population governed, than the one at Ottawa—has been doing.

At confederation the appointments of all Sheriffs, Registrars, County Court Clerks, Clerks of the Peace, County Attorneys, and Police Magistrates, were placed at the disposal of the Provincial Government. From the nature of these offices it would, no doubt, be difficult to apply anything like a measure of civil service reform to them, and much fault could not have been found had things been left even as they were, but unhappily such has not been the case during the last decade—as we propose to show.

Before treating, however, of Mr. Mowat's doings in this respect let us refer to the only instance during the government of Mr. Sandfield Macdonald, in which it became necessary to dispose of and provide for the appointment of a considerable number of county officials. During the session of 1870-71 it was deemed advisable in the interest of our public schools to do away with the then system of Township Inspectors and to provide for the appointment of from one to two County Inspectors, according to the number of schools in the county, who should possess certain specified qualifications deemed necessary for the position and whose salaries should be borne jointly by the Province and the counties. Having decided upon this step, the qualifications required and manner of payment, the next thing was to provide for the selection or appointment, from those qualified, of the particular gentlemen who were to occupy these positions. And how was this done? Was it by placing the appointment in the hands of the Lieutenant Governor in Council nominally, but in reality in the hands of the friends of the government of the day in the several counties? No! But by placing these appointments in the hands of the County Councils, simply reserving to the Educational Department the right of dismissing anyone so appointed who failed in the performance of his duty as such Inspector. Could a better scheme have been devised for preventing these appointments from becoming a portion of the spoils system, and the prize of those who had done good service in the interests of the party. We believe not, because even though some county councils may have and may still allow political considerations to influence their selection, yet when such is done it will be equally divided between the "ins" and the "outs," and thus be of no preponderating advantage to either party. In pursuing this course we venture to think the Sandfield Macdonald government and their supporters pursued a policy which commends itself to every one not hoping to gain by the spoils system, and which it is to be regretted has not been followed by their successors. That again was the example set by the first government of Ontario, let us now turn to that of their successors—the Mowat government.

Complaints having been made, no doubt not without some cause, that some of the Division Court officials failed in the performance of their duties, an Inspector was appointed to look after them. Difficulties arose in enforcing the Inspectors' recommendations and securing the removal of inefficient officers under the existing law. A remedy for this should have been found and could easily have been found, by giving the Lieutenant Governor in Council precisely the same power as had been reserved to the Educational Department in the matter of County Inspectors, viz.:—The power of dismissing inefficient officers, and requiring the appointees (the county judges in this case) to find a new man. But such a provision as this did not suit Mr. Mowat or his followers. The right of dismissal under such circumstances would not carry with it the right of appointment and the consequent opportunity of helping their supporters, and the result was that at a single sweep of the pen Mr. Mowat added SIX HUNDRED appointments to the spoils system of Ontario, or an addition of an average of seven appointments to those already at the disposal of Members of the House supporting him and of those who though beaten it would not be wise to forget, or fail to recompense.

But this was by no means the only instance in which Mr. Mowat played into the hands of the "spoils system." There was the license law. Grant for the sake of argument that the Globe's "ward politicians" were unfit to be entrusted with the same powers as the License Commissioners. Could no board but one nominated annually by the political friends of the government of the day be found capable of discharging the same duties? Could not such a board have been constituted from, say, the County Judge, the Warden, the Mayor, the Police Magistrate, the County Attorney, the Sheriff and the County School Inspectors, as such commissioners ex-officio, and would not such a board have been equally free, as a rule, from improper influences as Mr. Mowat's commissioners, and possessed the very great advantage of being comparatively free from even the suspicion of being actuated by political considerations. Then, with such boards in existence, why might not the appointment of inspectors have been left in the hands of the municipalities, giving the commissioners the right to dismiss for inefficiency? Why not, except it be that such a course would have deprived "the friends" in each constituency, no matter how small, of the privilege of saying who shall and who shall not have licenses, and whose houses shall or shall not be occupied as hotels, and deprived the government of the day of the "casual advantages" to be derived from having at their disposal eighty-five appointments worth $400 and over per annum to each of the recipients. The commissioners and inspectors brought into existence by this piece of legislation, and made dependent upon the government of the day for their positions, numbers just another 340!

That is example number two of how the Mowat government have striven, oh, how ardently, to suppress the "insufferable evils" of the spoils system, and to "purify" the political atmosphere of Ontario. But this is not all. At the time of confederation and until the Mowat government discovered that it was incompatible for them to contribute some ten per cent. of the jailors' salaries without having a hand in their appointment, these officials were appointed by and supposed to be responsible to the sheriffs. But in consideration of that ten per cent contribution the jailors have been made government officials, and thus the party in power have been strengthened and the "spoils system" received another blow the wrong way.

But these instances are by no means all of the examples of the love which the Mowat government possesses for the American spoils system—they only illustrate it. In fact, it seems to be the one governing principle of all their actions. To increase their patronage they have assumed the burden of expenditures which should properly fall upon the Dominion, as witness their procedure in the matter of such judges as Judge Peck, of Haliburton. For patronage they are ready "to go to war" with the Dominion, as witness the following resolutions of the Ontario and Dominion Parliaments with reference to the disputed territory: From Ontario resolutions of 24th March, 1882.

"But this House concurs with the government of the Province in recognizing the possible expediency, under all the circumstances, of an immediate reference to the Privy Council of the questions of the award and the boundaries, on the condition (in order to avoid further delay and unnecessary difficulty) that the reference shall be based on the evidence collected and printed for the Arbitrators, with any additional documentary evidence, if such there is; and on the further condition that, pending the reference, the territory, its population and lands, shall, by the legislative consent of all parties be subject in all respects to the laws of this Province, including the jurisdiction of its Legislature and Government."

From Resolution of House of Commons of April the 4th 1882.

"That in the opinion of this House it is expedient that the western and northern boundaries of the Province of Ontario should be finally settled by a reference, to, and an authoritative decision by either the Supreme Court of Canada or the judicial committee of the Privy Council in Great Britain, or by the Supreme Court in the first place, subject to a final submission to the judicial committee as the Province of Ontario may choose; . . . and that the said reference should be based on the evidence collected and printed with any additional documentary evidence, if such there is, and that pending the reference the administration of the lands shall be entrusted to a joint commission appointed by the governments of Canada and Ontario."

Now we submit the last resolution is a practical and substantial acceptance of what the Ontario Legislature approved in the first quoted resolution so far as the reference to the Privy Council and the evidence upon which the reference shall take place is concerned, leaving the ONLY matter to be settled between the two Governments, the management of the territory pending the reference. Mr. Mowat demands that the whole thing shall be handed over to him and his obedient following in the Legislature. Sir John Macdonald says no, but, having no improper ends to gain and not considering the "patronage" involved in its management necessary to the keeping of my followers together I will meet you halfway and agree to place the management of the territory in the hands of a joint commission appointed by both of us. Could anything be fairer or more reasonable? We think not, and we hazard the opinion that were it not for political reasons, for the hope that by keeping this matter unsettled it will overshadow other important matters as to which he cannot render a satisfactory account to the electors, Mr. Mowat would have immediately intimated his willingness to accept so reasonable a compromise. As it is however he stands before the country as refusing to take the boundary question before the Privy Council simply because HE cannot have the sole control of the patronage of the management of the disputed territory while the reference is pending! Reader, when you feel disposed to condemn the spirit that killed Garfield, and to thank Providence that the same spirit does not prevail in Canada, be not over boastful, but rather remember this boundary embroglio, and the more than thousand offices whose patronage has been added to the Ontario spoils system within the last ten years, and go and do penance on the part of your Province for the very same kind of sin. In fact go and pick the mote out of your own eye before you attempt to take the beam out of your neighbor's eye.

Woman's True Friend.

A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly by those complaints and weaknesses so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are woman's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial always proves our assertion. They are pleasant to the taste, and only cost fifty cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists.—2.

W. T. HART, Esq., 128 Amherst street, Montreal, in speaking of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, says he found it to operate successfully after only two doses, and he had tried other remedies with the same child without success. Charles Blais, 384 Plessis street: "If you want the best Worm medicine, get Dr. Smith's. It performed miracles in my family. Mrs. Shidow, 130 Nassau street, says it acted like a charm on her little boy and she would not be without it. Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy removes stomach and seat or pin worms from child or adult, without the use of other medicine.

THE sudden changes in our Canadian climate are certainly conducive to lung, throat and chest affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is no reason why consumption should be so prevalent. Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

PARTY MEN AND PAPERS.
Rev. Dr. King on the Political Morality of the Country.

As already stated in the World, Rev. Dr. King in his sermon at St. James's Square Presbyterian Church on Thanksgiving Day, preached a sermon in behalf of truthfulness, having special reference to the political and public morals of the country. Alluding to the failure of people to recognize the services of public men, and the tendency to impute interested motives to them, the reverend gentleman said:

What is wrong then, in the conduct of public affairs? How are the great principles of morality disregarded or violated therein? I answer, by the conspicuous absence of generosity in their treatment of one another, by men of opposite politics; even, of common fairness in the means employed to damage a political opponent, and by the frequent use of deliberate misrepresentation, of charges of corrupt motive on the most meagre evidence, or on no evidence at all, and of low, virulent, and abusive statements. There are men at once capable and upright in both the political parties of the state. . . . But important services rendered to the state is ignored or deprecated; mistakes, such as all commit, are exaggerated and paraded on all occasions, as evidence of incapacity, or of something worse; legislative action is misrepresented and public utterances are distorted to suit party exigencies, and to crown all, a stream of abuse, often childish in its weakness, sometimes scoundrel in its malignity, is poured forth, to the pain of all right minded people.

I cannot help thinking that there is on all hands a lack of generosity, if not in our public men, at least in their public utterances. Why, I ask, should the first kind word be spoken respecting a political opponent when the grave, closing over him, makes him no longer formidable, or when, after years of honest and capable service, he retires to a less prominent position in the ranks of his party, and that slow recognition of worth be made, only when it can be used at the same time to reflect obliquely on one still more favored?

The evils of which I complain, as affecting the political life of the country, come out in their most pronounced form in the secular press, or that portion of it which acts as the organs of the respective parties. . . . In many respects Toronto has reason to be proud of its daily press. It will compare more than favorably with that of any city of its size and advancement. But where party issues are involved it is not generous and it is not truthful. It is often untruthful in its statements of facts, and unjust in its treatment of persons.

Reading for some time both papers, and with the view of ascertaining their moral tone, I have found, no doubt many of you have found, where political and party issues were involved, a great amount of reckless assertion, conjectures put forth as facts, unwelcome facts suppressed or disguised, the position of an opponent misrepresented, a false trust given to his argument, an inference fastened on it, which the argument does not fairly admit, and which the opponent would be the first to disavow—in a word, all those liberties with truth, which, if practiced in private life or in business, would not so much destroy all confidence and good feeling as break up society, the misrepresentation is in some instances so transparent that it is scarcely less an insult to the intelligence of the reader than it is an offence to his conscience.

What are some of the results? First, fair-minded men, men who value truth more than party, men who do not believe that either party or country can be benefited by falsehood, become disgusted with political life, and men of high principle who, happily for us, cling to it, have a degree of mortification to endure which is wholly unnecessary, and which might well be spared.

Second, the usefulness of the press as an instrument of political discussion is very much impaired. At the bottom of all really useful discussion there must be honesty in the statement of facts and the weighing of arguments, a disposition to take a full, rounded view of the question, to make full allowance for the considerations which are made against the view advocated, as well as a clear statement of the preponderant reasons which compel its adoption. But when an organ of opinion allows itself, in the supposed interests of party, to suppress facts, to distort statements, to misrepresent arguments, who does not see that its usefulness as an instrument of discussion is to that extent impaired? It has to that extent lost public confidence, and deserved to lose it.

Third, another and most painful result of the liberties taken with truth in our daily press is to lessen the natural and proper dislike of falsehood in the public mind. At the foundation of almost all that is best in the human character is the love of truth, and what must ever go with it, the hatred of lies. It has always appeared to me to be the very soil of goodness. I cannot regard it, therefore, as anything less than a very serious calamity to have the minds of our people—nearly all of them newspaper readers—made familiar with untruth, finding it served up with the morning paper, if not every day, yet once or twice a week, at the breakfast table. In your name and in my own I wish to protest against it—to protest against it because it is wicked and to protest against it because it is weak, to protest against it when it is employed against us or against the party, whatever that may be, to which we belong, to protest doubly against it when it is employed for us, professedly in our interest, or in the interest of our party. I wish to put in a claim for the observance of truth, in discussions on the platform and in discussions in the press, let the effect of it be what it may. Its effect, indeed, must be always wholesome. The party or the policy which needs the support of misrepresentation will

SULPHOLINE LOTION—An EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption that will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vesicle as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcules which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION—A FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all skin diseases. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its healthy action on the human skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Starlin, and every year it is used more and more favorably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with skin disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Council Meeting.

According to adjournment, a meeting of the Town Council will be held on Monday evening in the Council Chamber, at 7.30 o'clock.

Lost a Wheel.

The steamer Cruiser lost a wheel at Young's Point on Friday, and was brought to anchor there.

Week of Prayer.

The services in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms will be conducted this evening by the Rev. Mr. Manning. Subject—"The Bright Future of the Lord's People Described."

Personal.

The Belleville Ontario says:—"Mr. H. Owens has sold out his interest in the pump business here to Messrs. Hodge & Dancy, who have opened their show rooms on the market square. Mr. Owens will continue the manufacture of pumps in Peterborough."

Personal.

The Midland Press says:—"Mr. Fred Thompson, lately head machinist in the British Canadian Co.'s shops here, has accepted an offer at increased salary from Mr. Hamilton, of Peterborough. In Fred he secures a steady young man of good abilities."

The Two Johns.

This evening Hyde & Bohman's Greatest and Only Consolidation will give an entertainment in Bradburn's Opera House, introducing their four great comedians in the funny comedy, "The Two Johns." Their full company of dramatic and specialty artists will take part in a grand olio of novelties.

Murray Canal.

The Trenton Courier says:—"The Murray Canal is now being dug across the road from Trenton to the Carrying Place. Quite a piece of the canal south of the road is flooded. The woods being pretty well cleared from shore to shore, one standing on the Carrying Place road can see the whole canal as it is to be. The number of shanties and temporary structures that have sprung up in the vicinity give the scene quite a pioneer air."

The Market.

There was a large attendance on the market this morning, the walks were lined with teams and filled with buyers, and the butter market was also filled. Butter sold at from 22 to 24, eggs 22, potatoes 75, turkeys 45 to 75, geese 45 to 50, chickens 35 to 45, and hogs $7.25 to $7.75. The price of grain was not much changed, but was a little higher than on Wednesday. Fall wheat 90 to 92, spring wheat 90 to 95, Arncliffe wheat 75 to 82, No. 1 barley 65, No. 2 barley 60, No. 3 barley 50 to 55, oats 42 to 43, peas 73 to 75, and rye 55 to 58. Hay 80 to 110.

Entertainment.

An entertainment given by the young ladies of George Street Methodist Church on Friday evening was not very largely attended, but was enjoyed by those who were present. The programme consisted of solos, quartettes, readings, recitations and an exhibition of ventriloquism by Mr. W. Dixon. Two readings were illustrated by two of these representations, and "Mary, Queen of Scots," was illustrated by three good tableaux. The tableaux in the tableaux were well got up, and the positions assumed were very suitable. The Rev. John Shaw occupied the chair.

Railway Notes.

The Grand Trunk mail train from the west did not connect with the Midland at Port Hope this morning, and consequently the western mail and papers did not arrive here at noon.

An engine ran into and wrecked a car on the Grand Trunk line in Port Hope on Friday night.

The bridge across Pigeon creek at Onemee, for the line of the "Missing Link," was completed on Friday. Track laying will be the next move at that end of the line.

"Missing Link" circles are agitated over a marriage which it is said will take place on Monday.

The amount of money paid out in Peterborough each month for men engaged on the construction of the two railways the "Missing Link" and the Ontario and Quebec aggregates a large sum, for the last month, ending on the 15th of November, there was paid out in Peterborough for men and teams engaged on the construction of these lines, $38,100.

POLICE COURT.

DROCK.

SATURDAY, Nov. 18.—Three disciples of Bacchus appeared before Mr. Menzies, J. P., to have justice dealt out to them. Robert Burns was charged with having been drunk. He was fined $1 and costs. One dollar was all he still retained of $15 which filled his purse yesterday, and having deposited that in the Court he was allowed to go.

DROCK AND DISORDERLY.

John Burns, in addition to being drunk, was charged with having acted in a disorderly manner on the streets. He was fined $1 and costs or ten days in jail, and as fifty cents was the extent of his fortune he was committed.

TWO CHARGES.

James Malloy was charged with having been drunk and disorderly, and with interfering with the constable in the discharge of his duty. He presented a sorry picture, having in addition to his nose too heavy clothing, a coat of mud from his feet to his head. He pleaded guilty to both charges, remarking that he did not know what he had done. A mark on Constable Adams' leg, however, showed plainly what his teeth could do. On the first charge he was fined $1 and costs, and on the other he was remanded till Monday.

Burned in a Car.

A large number of gas fittings for St. John's Church were among the articles burned in an express car which caught fire on the Grand Trunk a few nights ago. Other articles belonging to merchants in Peterborough met the same fate, and the Express Company is now calling for the invoices.

The Weather.

Last night was quite frosty, and this morning was cold and foggy. To-day the weather is milder and clear. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly easterly; fair weather, and slightly higher temperature.

Aurora Borealis.

On Friday evening at about six o'clock a magnificent display of aurora borealis appeared in the northern heavens near the horizon. It first developed like a small segment of a circle surrounded by a brilliant fringe of light. Suddenly the margin separated into countless concentric arches, whose motions were astonishingly rapid in the change of their forms, breaking into streams of strong light and spreading into columns and arches, and alternating with undulating motions. One column was of a light crimson colour at the base, and rose towards the dome of the sky a dark red. One moment the arches were a beautiful pink tint faintly lined with amber, and the next mighty columns of fiery light flashing, lightning like, all over the hemisphere. The brilliant display continued for hours, and at midnight was a grand and beautiful sight. But our weak words cannot describe the glorious spectacle. As was said by one nearly 3,000 years ago, "The heavens declare the glory of the Lord, and the firmament sheweth his handiwork."

They Say It Is Positively True.

That Smith is telling the people, and the people are telling everybody that to secure the very best oysters buy the J. B. L. and J. L. & Co's Selects, as they are without doubt the finest oysters packed for eating raw or frying, and for stewing buy the Diamond Brand. Cold weather having now fairly set in, oysters are improving in quality with a downward tendency in price:—

Diamond Brand only 20c per Can Selects 35c " "
J. B. L. Selects 40c " "
J. L. & Co's (Blue Points) 50c " "
Bulls from 40 to 50 cents per quart. Quotations every day at SMITH'S MARKET. 6d114.

A Word for the Children.

It is a great mistake people often make in bringing up children to be suspicious of them; in letting them see they are not trusted, and that a good chance is all they supposed to be wanting on the child's part that mischief may be done. School teachers sometimes make this grave mistake also. If you wish a child to be trustworthy, you must trust him; show him by all your words and actions, that you have faith in his truth and honour. It is time enough for punishment and reproof when you have positive evidence of his guilt. It would be considered unpardonable cruelty to whip a child until his flesh was raw and bleeding from the lash; but many a child has received a deep wound, of a more serious nature, when he has been unjustly accused of evil he has not committed; when his truth has been doubted, his honour assailed, and his whole heart and soul made to bleed and ache from sore that are not visible to the eye, and for which he can find no sympathy or redress. Liberated flesh is easier to heal than a lacerated heart; nor has it such a hardening or brutalizing influence. Hints and insinuations and meaningless threats have damaged many a good intentioned child.

How the Chinese Make Dwarf Trees.

We have all known from childhood how the Chinese cramp their women's feet, and so manage to make them keepers at home; but how they manage to grow miniature pines and oaks in flower pots for half a century, has already been much of a secret. They aim first and last at the seat of vigorous growth, endeavoring to weaken it as much as may be consistent with the preservation of life. Take a young plant—say a young seedling or cutting of a cedar—when only two or three inches high, cut off its tap root as soon as it has other rootlets to live upon, and replant it in a shallow earthen pot or pan. The end of the tap root is generally made to rest upon a stone within it. Alluvial clay is then put into the pot, much of it in bits the size of beans, and just enough in kind and quantity to furnish a scanty nourishment to the plant. Water enough is given to keep it in growth, but not enough to excite a vigorous habit. So likewise in the application of light and heat. As the Chinese pride themselves on the shape of their miniature trees, they use strings, wires, and pegs, and various other mechanical contrivances to promote symmetry of habit, or to fashion their pots into odd, fancy figures.

Large vs. Small Stores.

That a large business can be conducted under considerably less expense than a small one—difference in receipts considered—the commercial world offers abundant proof. And no where can better illustration of the truth of this be found than with us. We have a large establishment, and are offering goods at prices FIVE TO TWENTY PER CENT LOWER than those asked by other houses for fabrics and workmanship of similar quality. That this is not a mere assertion, a visit to our house will prove. It is the aggregate of sales, and not the profit on a single transaction, which enables us to undersell smaller competitors. This aggregate of sales—rather a patronage commensurate with our facilities—is what we confidently look forward to at the outset. And we have been favoured with it daily. Our stock comprises everything that may be desired in the way of CLOTHING, and GENERAL DRY GOODS.

THE COLD TO-DAY!

Some of the Remarkable Cold Winters in the Past.

The following statistics of the good old winters are curious. In 408 the Black Sea was entirely frozen over. In 761 not only the Black Sea but the Straits of the Dardanelles were frozen over; the snow in some places rose fifty feet high. In 822 the great rivers of Europe—the Danube and Elbe, &c.—were so hard frozen as to bear heavy waggons for a month. In 860 the Adriatic was frozen. In 991 everything was frozen; the crops totally failed, and famine and pestilence closed the year. In 1067 the most of the travellers were frozen to death on the roads.
In 1153 the Po was frozen from Cremona to the sea; the wine casks were burst and even the trees split by the action of the frost, with immense noise. In 1156 the Danube was frozen to the bottom, and remained long in that state. In 1216 the crops wholly failed in Germany; wheat, which some years before sold in England at six shillings the quarter, rose to £2. In 1259 the crops failed in Scotland, and such a famine ensued that the poor were reduced to feed on grass, and many perished miserably in the fields. The successive winters of 1432-33-34 were uncommonly severe. In 1468 the wine distributed to the soldiers in Flanders was so cold with hatchets. In 1684 the winter was excessively cold. Most of the bollies were killed. Coaches drove along the Thames, the ice of which was eleven inches thick. In 1709 occurred a cold winter. The frosts penetrated three yards into the ground. In 1715 the hoths were erected and fired along the Thames. In 1744 and 1745 the strongest alps in England, exposed to the air, was covered in less than fifteen minutes with ice an eighth of an inch thick. In 1809, and again in 1822, the winters were remarkably cold. In 1814 there was a fair on the frozen Thames.—

Fanning the Flame.

The Evening (Irish) Canadian says:—The industry with which the Globe fans the flames of rebellion in Manitoba recalls the course pursued by that journal during the Riel insurrection. It patted the insurgents upon the back until Riel fatally committed himself, and then it turned around and assailed the Premier of Ontario, John Sandfield Macdonald, because he did not secure the punishment of rebels with whom he had no more to do than the man in the moon. But Sandfield was a Catholic, and the Globe was bidding desperately for the Orange vote. The cry materially aided in promoting Mr. Macdonald's subsequent defeat, and everybody remembers the solemn faces that his successors performed in offering for the arrest of Riel and his associates a reward which they never intended to and never did pay. We counsel our fellow-countrymen to be chary about accepting the Globe's partisan advice at this juncture.

A Shower of Red Dust.

On the night of the 22nd ult. a wind partaking of the character of a hurricane was felt as far as Meila. We are informed that it was impossible for people to retain their feet. From 1 o'clock on the morning of the 23rd a copious shower of red dust, supposed to have been raised by the wind at Cachendo, commenced to fall at Mellendo and lasted until 3 p.m. When day broke, the port presented a curious spectacle.
The streets, roofs, trees and sea foam were stained red, just as if some invisible hand had done it during the night.—Chilren Times.

Jews at Tiszazsar, to sift and put an end to a

THE GLASGOW BANK FAILURE.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—In the case of the City of Glasgow Bank which failed four years ago, liquidation has just been accomplished. Every penny of the bank's vast debt has been paid, company for the benefit of the still solvent shareholders. The liquidators paid off fifty-five millions of claims, of which nearly half came out of the pockets of the shareholders.

AUSTRIA AND RUSSIA.

VIENNA, Nov. 18.—The recent reports expressing fears of an Austro-Russian war have not been confirmed by anything which has transpired since their publication. The parties connected with the committee on the Foreign Office budget, who at the sitting of the Austrian delegation on Tuesday intimated the possibility of war, are unofficial personages, and their utterances are not regarded as authoritative.

AFFAIRS IN SPAIN.

MADRID, Nov. 18.—Ministerial papers state that while the Ministry are conscious of the great importance of the adhesion of the Republican party to the throne, they cannot admit the principle of reform of the constitution. Some Republican journals continue to violently attack the new party.

THE KILMARNHAM TREATY.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The News states that there is very slight probability that the motion for a committee to investigate the release of Farnell, Dillon and O'Kelly will prevail. There are points in Missouri, Colorado and to San Francisco. The cut in freight enables shippers to send wheat from all points in Minnesota to Minneapolis to be manufactured and reshipped as flour to Chicago or Milwaukee for 124 cents per 100 pounds; millstuffs to Chicago at 74 cts., and flour 30 cents per barrel. Passenger rates to and from the most interior points of Minnesota and to and from Sioux City are reduced to 20 cents each way, and from many points in Minnesota to Chicago for $1. The manager of the road thinks the war will last longer than was formerly anticipated.

ANARCHISTS IN LYONS.

LYONS, Nov. 18.—Seventy-five persons, three of whom are foreigners, were arrested to-day charged with being members of an association formed for the purpose of forming a strike amongst workmen, obtaining a general division of property, and destroying sentiments of patriotism in the people.

AMERICAN. COLLISION AT SEA.

DELEWARE BREAKWATER, Del., Nov. 19.—The steamer Algiers, from New Orleans for New York, arrived this afternoon and reports a collision with the schooner W. Lawwhite, with coal, from Alexander for Providence, at 1 a.m., east of Five Fathom Bank. The schooner was struck amidships and sunk in 15 or 20 minutes.
The crew escaped by cutting a boat from the deck and boarding the steamer. The steamer's bow was broken under the water line by the collision, one compartment filling with water. The steamer was saved by her bulkhead, and otherwise escaped danger.

THE SKIRMISHERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The final meeting of the subscribers to the Fenian skirmishing fund was held this afternoon. The committee on investigation made a report, supplementing it with a demand that they be accorded the privilege of producing proof to substantiate their charge before the salary tribunal, or if trustees decide public proof. The report sets forth that of all the money spent ostensibly for the skim-ishing fund, only two items had the remotest connection with the skirmishing project. These refer to the purchase of two rams, costing $36, 350, and Breelin's charges for superintendence and construction of the same.

WILL DIE OF HIS BURNS.

STRACON, Nov. 18.—Alvin Getman got drunk at Peble last night, and on the way home fell in the roadway. After putting a lighted pipe in his pocket he went to sleep. His clothing took fire, and when he presented himself at the house of a neighbor this morning he had no clothing on except the wristbands of his shirt and a few inches of pantaloons tucked into his boots. He will die of his burns.

FATALITY SCALDED.

DETROIT, Nov. 18.—Robert S. Fleck, a workman employed in the Walkerville (Ont.) sugar refinery, was dangerously scalded yesterday.
He was doing some repairing among the steam pipes, and by some mismanagement turned on the steam. At the time he turned it on he was bending over the open end of the pipe, out of which the steam rushed, scalding his hands, arms, breast, and face very badly. In taking off his clothes about half the skin of his body peeled off, together with particles of flesh, and most of his finger nails dropped off. He is an Irishman lately from the Old Country, and it is said his wife and family are on the way to this country to join him. It is not probable he will live.

A RAILWAY WAR.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 20.—A slashing cut in freight to Chicago and a reduction on flour shipments from Minneapolis to half the figure formerly prevailing. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St.

Paul cut the passenger and freight rates from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Chicago and Milwaukee, and from all points reached by the company's lines in Minnesota and Nebraska and to points in Missouri, Colorado and to San

THE DIALLOWED RAILWAYS.

THE agitation of a portion of the people of Manitoba against the disallowance of the railways, if not very well founded, is at least not altogether unnatural, but the same cannot be said of the unpatriotic efforts of the Ontario Reform press to aggravate the trouble, and to misrepresent the facts.

The people of Emerson, as we learn from the International, have had their meeting to protest against the disallowance, and we will quote two of the resolutions that were passed, as they throw considerable light upon one branch of the question.

It was moved by Mr. F. E. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Tennant:—

"Resolved that in the opinion of this meeting the disallowance of purely Provincial Railway Legislation, as pursued in the last instance by the Dominion Government, should be made the subject of a memorial to the Imperial Government, and that this meeting do appoint a committee to act in concert with other points interested, in having prepared, at the earliest possible date, and duly signed, such memorial, and the same forwarded in such manner as may be deemed most effectual to Imperial authorities."

Now with the exception of the assumption that the Dominion Government acted as described, we can fully agree with Mr. Burnham in this. We hold with Mr. Burnham that "purely Provincial Railway Legislation" should not be disallowed by the Dominion authorities, and we believe like him that if the rights of any province are infringed, an appeal to the Imperial authorities is an excellent means for obtaining redress. But let us pass on to the very next resolution.

It was moved by Mr. Muchmor and seconded by Mr. Molloy:—

"That whereas assurances have been received from the Grand Trunk Railway Company, our own great Canadian road, that, in the event of the Emerson and North-Western Railway charter being sustained, they were willing and anxious to build and operate the road, and give us connecting line as well as connection with their present system to the seaboard, the Dominion Government, through their action in disallowing this charter, are responsible for keeping the Grand Trunk Railway out of this Province; and therefore this meeting condemns in the strongest manner possible this action of the Federal Government, in depriving the Province of competing railway connection, in opening up and developing the trade of the great country."

So this is the description of the "purely Provincial Railway," by its own friends. The Grand Trunk, it appears, had agreed to build and operate this "purely" local line. We are not aware that the Grand Trunk Railway Company is any more "our own great Canadian road" than the Canada Pacific, if so much, but certainly it is not a Manitoba local road. This acknowledged extension of the Grand Trunk has therefore to be treated by the Federal authorities not as a local work of the Province of Manitoba, but as part of a great Canadian through line. It was not the Federal Government that deprived Manitoba of this competing railway connection, by the recent disallowance of Provincial legislation, but the people of Canada who made the bargain with the Pacific Syndicate, which was endorsed by the Province of Manitoba through its representatives in the House of Commons, in the Canadian Senate, and in the Provincial Legislature. As was said by the mover of another resolution protesting against disallowance, passed at the same meeting:—

"Both parties had invariably assumed the same attitude toward this railway enterprise. Both Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Alexander Mackenzie had advanced the same reasons for refusing the same charter, so that both parties were to be regarded as respecting this railway from the same standpoint."

The prevention of such competition for a time was in fact part of the bargain by which the construction of the Canada Pacific Railway with all its attendant benefits was secured, and having obtained the benefit it would be disgraceful to repudiate the payment.

As regards the other Bills disallowed, the case is even stronger, for under them the traffic might have been diverted, not to a rival Canadian line, but to the railway system of the States, thus building them up at the expense of this country. Canada did not burden itself with the expense of securing the Northwest, and opening it for settlement by a costly railway, for the benefit of Chicago and other cities of the United States.

The fact is that this agitation is originated and fomented by political malcontents, speculators in railway charters, and men interested in localities that are jealous of Winnipeg, while they are followed by a crowd of new-comers, who are not well informed as to the merits of the case, and who never thought of Manitoba till it was opened for them by the very railway company, whose payment for the service thus rendered they now dispute. We do not hear of indignation meetings in Winnipeg.

INTERNETIONAL PRESSEKON.

Telegraph Business as a Standstill—an Electrical Storm.

Those whose business called them to the telegraph offices of the Great North-Western and Canada Mutual Telegraph Companies to-day were surprised to learn that the business of transmitting telegrams was for the time being temporarily suspended, on account of what the telegraph gentlemen were pleased to call an "electrical storm." Early this morning a disturbance was noticed on the wires which gradually increased until about nine o'clock when it was so bad that it was impossible to transmit signals. From this hour until about one o'clock the entire telegraph business of the city was practically suspended. The "anoraks" extended pretty generally all over Canada and the United States, and was especially felt on the cables between this country and Europe. The theory is that the atmosphere is so charged with electricity that it draws away from the wires the electricity that is generated by the batteries which furnish them with their power and leaves them like so many "clothes lines" or "wire fences." The disturbance caused a great deal of delay to business. Slight disturbances of this kind are occasionally noticed especially during the time that what are known as the Northern Lights are visible in the heavens. The wires are for a few moments charged with more than their usual amount of electricity, and then a few moments later all the electricity departs, and leaves the wires completely discharged of electricity. It is likely that heavy weather will follow the electrical storm.

Our reporter called upon a gentleman who is well known as an electrician and who gave the following opinion on the subject: The latest astronomical theory is that at periods of about eleven years the conjunction of the minor planets affect the solar atmosphere, causing sun spots to be very marked. This results in profound electrical disturbances. At such times the auroral display is very brilliant. Even the ripening powers of the solar beams are affected, as the years of the famine in India and China have been observed to keep some sort of parallel with the phenomena named; so that the old faith in astrology, whereby the planets were held to have an influence over human destiny had a basis of truth in it. The present electrical display may be owing to these causes, but as to that he could not be positive. Electrical displays appear to be more violent every second or third year, and in all cases the Aurora is generally marked. It has been particularly so of late, and this disturbance has, he believed, been looked for. We in fact may look upon it as the direct result of the brilliant display of the late summer. The effect of such disturbances on the telegraph wires is sometimes very curious, the wires surrounding the magnets being sometimes completely melted, and often the line can be worked with the batteries disconnected.—Montreal Witness, Nov. 17.

NORWOOD.

DAKEBOUR SHOOTING.—The Register says that a drunken man fired two shots from a gun at some inoffensive boy, without doing them harm, and was allowed to walk off.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Mr. Alex. Patterson, while engaged in working on Mr. McDonald's contract near this village, on Tuesday last, had his arm fractured above the elbow by the kick of a vicious horse. The fracture is pronounced a very bad one by medical men.

SUCCESSFUL HUNT.—Capt. Gifford and party, of Coburg, passed through here on Friday last on their way home from the back lakes. Although they had only been absent a little over a week, they succeeded in capturing 12 deer and 2 bears. One of the bears weighed 700 pounds.

STEAM SAW MILL.—The Norwood Steam Saw Mill is again "humming." The new proprietor, Mr. Brown, has had it thoroughly overhauled and refitted, and is now in a position to execute all orders entrusted to his care with despatch. As will be seen by large posters he requires 500,000 saw-logs, and a large quantity of single timber.

THE QUARRY.—The quarry situated north of the mill-pond now presents a lively appearance. About 40 masons are engaged in taking out stone for the abutments of the Ontario & Quebec Railway bridges which are to be built in this village. A derrick capable of lifting a 2 ton stone has been built and is working by horse-power. Where the bridges are to be built the scene is equally lively, a large number of men being engaged in fitting the ground for the masons, building derricks, &c.

LANSDOW.

BIG CONTRACT.—The Warder says that Mr. Thor. Walters, of this town, and Mr. Neely, of Onemee, have the contract for repairing the harbour at Port Hope. This is a heavy contract, and will not be finished till next fall. Last week Mr. Walters was down there making preliminary arrangements for the work, and has now a large number of men engaged in getting out timber at different points along the Midland.

NEW CHURCH.—At a meeting of the building committee of St. Paul's church in Mr. Hedges' office Monday evening, it was decided to begin preliminaries for the erection of a new church edifice at once. The new church is to be built on the site of the present one, and will cost $12,000 when completed. Of this amount $8,000 have already been raised, so that no difficulty will be experienced in obtaining the amount. The building committee further decided to offer a premium of $200 for the best plan and style of architecture of the proposed new edifice.

Vast Tract of Agricultural Land.

Mr. J. C. Langelier, a brother of Mayor Langelier, has just delivered a very interesting lecture in Quebec, on the southern water-shed of Hudson's Bay. Mr. Langelier contends that at least 244,000 square miles of that vast region consists of good agricultural lands, susceptible of the highest cultivation, and as good, if not better, than any in the fertile belt of the Saskatchewan; that an area of at least 200,000,000 acres there is clothed with timber fit for export and local consumption, as well as capable of being easily driven from the height of land by water to James Bay; that mines of the greatest economic value exist in abundance, and that the climate of James Bay throughout its cultivable extent is as fine and even warmer than Manitoba, resembling more that of this Province, but with less damp and fog than in this district. He claims that the quantity of cultivable land around James Bay, as well as the development of its mineral and forest resources is capable of sustaining a population of thirty million souls.

Ontario's Interest.

The independent Toronto Telegram, which is always disposed to criticize the Canada Pacific Railway contract, says:—

"We must keep in mind this fact, in discussing the Manitoba railway question, that the lands in the North-west were purchased by Canada, and that the Pacific railway is being built by Canadian money, not for the benefit of Chicago and St. Paul, but for the benefit of Toronto and Montreal, and every other Canadian city. If the main line is tapped by local lines carrying off to the United States the traffic which should find its way down to Ontario and Quebec, it will not give Ontario and Quebec much of a return for the money they have spent in acquiring the route."—and building the road. The people were told in the railway was first projected that it would be of immense advantage to old Canada, by carrying all the grain grown in the North-west half of the main line, and all the supplies required taken up by the same route. If the main line is to be tapped the grain will be carried off to the States, and the supplies will come from the same quarter. It will be seen, therefore, that Ontario has a close interest in the subject."

W. T. HART, Esq., 128 Amherst street, Montreal, in speaking of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, says he found it to operate successfully after only two doses, and he had tried other Remedies with the same child without success. Charles Blake, 384 Plessis street: "If you want the best Worm medicine, get Dr. Smith's. It performed miracles in my family. Mrs. Shriver, 130 Nazareth street, says it acted like a charm on her little boy and she would not be without it. Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy removes stomach and seat or pin worms from child or adult, without the use of other medicine."

THE sudden changes in our Canadian climate are certainly causing, chest and lung affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is no reason why consumption should be so prevalent. Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Council Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the Council Chamber.

The Churches.

The churches were all well attended yesterday, both morning and evening. The Rev. Mr. Avant, of Robinson, preached in St. John's at both services.

Personal.

Mr. A. White, Traffic Manager of the Midland Railway, and Mrs. White, sailed in the Allan royal mail steamer Parisian, from Quebec to Liverpool, on Saturday. We wish them bon voyage.

Railway Notes.

The Norwood Express says that Messrs. Robinson and Rock, of that village, have received the contract for fencing and supplying the ties for twenty-five miles of the Ontario and Quebec Railway.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is clear and cool. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—North-easterly to south-easterly winds, generally fair weather and stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Vagrancy.

On Friday Mr. T. Menzies, J. P., and Mr. A. Rutherford, J. P., held a Magistrate's Court in the gaol, and committed Patrick Glynn to gaol for six months for vagrancy. He has been serving a term in the gaol for vagrancy, and the time for which he was committed had expired, and he was recommitted at his own request, as he is helpless.

Stolen.

On Saturday night two Frenchmen, who have been working on the Ontario and Quebec Railway, near Bethany, came into town and complained to the police that a fellow workman, also a Frenchman, had stolen from one of them the sum of $52. They followed the supposed thief to town and located him, but the police were not able to do anything at the time as they had no authority for acting, and the victim was not positive as to the identity of the thief. The money was stolen from one of the boarding houses and was taken from a carpet bag.

Another Railway Scheme.

An agitation for a branch railway from the Ontario and Quebec has been going on in Warkworth for some time. A report to the Toronto papers says that a large and influential meeting was held in that village on Thursday, C. A. Mallory, reeve, in the chair, to take into consideration the best scheme for the construction of a railroad from some point on the Ontario and Quebec railway, near Norwood, to Presque Isle harbor on Lake Ontario. Messrs. Cochran and Ferris, members of the Dominion and Local Houses from the county, were present, and addressed the meeting. Committees were appointed to confer with the committees of other municipalities respecting bonuses, etc. The meeting throughout was unanimous in favor of the proposed scheme.

Lacrosse.

The Mail, in giving a resume of the lacrosse record of this season, speaks thus of the division of this Province into districts and the establishment of championship medals in connection therewith:—

"That the creation of these championships was a wise step has been proved by the enthusiasm aroused in the various districts regarding them, and it is scarcely premature to say that their establishment marks an era in the progress of lacrosse. Besides the possession of the challenge medals, which are in themselves handsome and valuable properties, the holders have a recognized title carrying with it a standing in the district to which they belong which could not be obtained apart from the Association championship."

Matches were played in the four districts for the championship medals, and they are now held by the following clubs:—The Central Ontario medal by the Peterboroughs, of Peterborough; the Southern, by the Brants of Brantford; the Western, by the Excelsiors, of Brampton; and the Eastern, by the Young Canadians, of Cornwall.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Autumn Sessions of the Chancery Division.—The Session Ended.

GREEN vs. BRADBURN.—Action to get possession of fifty acres of land, and to compel the measurement of the same. Judgment for plaintiff.—Mr. G. T. Blackstock and Mr. J. Green for plaintiff; Mr. Z. A. Leach, Q.C., and Messrs. Edmonson and Wood for defendant.

CHOWAT vs. WILSON.—Judgment for the plaintiff.—Messrs. Poussette & Roger for plaintiff; Messrs. Edmonson & Wood for defendant.

FITZGERALD vs. FITZGERALD.—Stands until the spring sitting of the court.—Mr. E. B. Edwards for plaintiff; Messrs. Edmonson & Wood for adult defendants, and Mr. Z. A. Leach, Q.C., and Messrs. Dennistoun & Hall for infant defendants.

BENNETT vs. ROBINSON.—Referred to the Master.—Mr. E. B. Edwards for plaintiff; Messrs. Edmonson & Wood for defendant Robinson, and Mr. W. H. Moore for defendant Elliott.

This ends the cases before the court at this sitting.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Nov. 20.—Mr. Menzies, J. P., and Mr. W. C. Nicholls, J. P., occupied the bench.

DROWN.

John Carroll pleaded guilty to a charge preferred against him for having been drunk on Saturday, and was fined $1 and costs or ten days in gaol.

ASSAULT.

Thos. Sanderson was charged by John Moore with having assaulted the complainant on the market by shoving him and throwing him back. Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for Mr. Moore. Sanderson pleaded not guilty. The complainant and defendant gave evidence, and judgment was reserved.

UP ON REMAND.

James Malloy was brought up on remand on a charge of interfering with Constable Adams while in the discharge of his duty. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge on Saturday.

Mr. G. M. Roger appeared for the prisoner, and through his efforts the prisoner was only fined $10 or one month in gaol. The fine was paid.

For Bridges.

Mr. Powers, Mr. H. J. Boomer's foreman, on Saturday purchased $3,000 worth of standing pine, near Garden Hill, for use on the bridges of the road.

Runaway.

The horses attached to the Stewart House hack took a run on Saturday evening on their own account, but were stopped at Mr. Dolan's store. They came in dangerous proximity to the plate glass windows. The horses and hack were uninjured.

Brought.

Mr. G. Fletcher writes to the Toronto papers stating that the draught match with Mr. McLaurin did not fall through because he could not find backers, but because he could not spare time from his business to play in the day time and that Mr. McLaurin declined to play at night.

How at Cavanville.

On Friday and Saturday some of the Italian labourers on the Ontario and Quebec Railway, working in the vicinity of Cavanville, probably to celebrate their first pay day, engaged in a free fight, in which their favourite weapon, the knife, was freely used. Some five or six were stabbed, one rather seriously. Our informant states that they took possession of a hotel after firing a number of shots from revolvers, and having consumed all the liquor on the premises they acted more like demons than human beings.

Hyde & Bohman's "Great and Only" Consolidation.

Hyde & Bohman's "Great and Only" Consolidation appeared in Bradburn's Opera House on Saturday night. The portion of the performance which pleased the large audience most was the tumbling and acrobatic feats, and if such performances deserve applause at all, they certainly merited all the applause they received, and more too, if the house would have stood it. The short "Comedy of Errors" called the "Two Johns" was very laughable. The idea was taken from the Shakespearian comedy, although, of course, the situations were different. It excited much laughter and was very well acted. The bicycle performance was very good, some of the feats being very difficult, but it was evident that this part of the programme could not be fully carried out on the small stage. The singing was passable, but one or two of the songs could have been left out of the programme with propriety, and they would not have been missed. The dancing was also very good, at least portions of it, although it, too, was tainted with characteristics calculated to please the occupants of the gallery only. If a small portion of the programme was expanded, it would be an amusing and harmless performance.

Sir Garnet Wolseley's Foresight.

Lord Northbrook thus referred in his Liverpool speech to the foresight of General Wolseley:—"One thing I dare say those who are here present do not know, but I know it and can speak to it from my own knowledge—namely, that before Sir Garnet Wolseley left this country he placed his finger on the map of Egypt—I saw him do it myself—and on that place, Tel-el-Kebir, and he said, "That is the place where the action will be fought." And a more extraordinary thing still, he said to a friend of mine, in whom I have the utmost confidence, that the action would be fought on the 13th of September, and the action was fought on the 13th of September. Those operations in Egypt have not been an accident. The removal of the base from Alexandria to Ismailia was not thought of in a moment. The plan was formed in England, and Sir Garnet Wolseley has carried out the first plan he had of the campaign. One thing more relating to the general operation of the campaign. I think that the manner in which Sir Garnet Wolseley took advantage of his victory is perhaps more remarkable even than the victory itself."

Narrow Escape from Suffocation.

The family of Mr. Green, on Sherbourne street, narrowly escaped suffocation last night by the gas escaping from a coal stove. It appears that one of the family before retiring emptied a scuttle of coal into a stove in the dining room, and not properly replacing the cover a vacant space was left, through which the coal gas escaped during the night. This was conveyed up the stairway and into a bedroom in which some of the ladies of the family were sleeping, the door having been left open to admit the heat. About midnight one of the ladies awoke, and detecting the presence of gas endeavored to rouse her companion, when she found she was speechless. She then pushed her with her arm until she awoke. Immediately jumping out of bed the lady opened the window and fell senseless to the floor. By this time the whole family had been aroused, and medical aid was immediately summoned. The physician on his arrival administered restoratives, and left the patients in a fair way of recovering, though it is expected that they will be confined to their rooms for a couple of days at least.—Toronto Canadian.

Large vs. Small Stores.

That a large business can be conducted under considerably less expense than a small one—difference in receipts considered—the commercial world offers abundant proof. And no where can better illustration of the truth of this be found than with us. We have a large establishment, and are offering goods at prices FIVE TO TWENTY PER CENT LOWER than those asked by other houses for fabrics and workmanship of similar quality. That this is not a mere assertion, a visit to our house will prove. It is the aggregate of sales, and not the profit on a single transaction, which enables us to undersell smaller competitors. This aggregate of sales—rather a patronage commensurate with our facilities—is what we confidently looked forward to at the outset. And we have been favoured with it daily. Our stock comprises everything that may be desired in the way of CLOTHING, and GENERAL DRY GOODS.

A DRUNKEN MURDER.

A Brawl at Hawbury, Oxford, Ends in the Death of a Man.

NORWICH, Nov. 20.—The residents of Hawbury, southeast of this point, are greatly excited over a fatal affray which occurred there on Friday evening last, the victim being Daniel Budd, blacksmith, aged 48, who carried on business opposite the Matheson House, Hawbury.

George Shinton, a young man of questionable reputation, having been at the scene, came to Hawbury lately to work at Schooley's mill. He confined his operations, however, to drinking more or less heavily, and on the evening in question Budd and Shinton appear to have been drinking somewhat heavily. Another bottle of whiskey was purchased, and soon afterwards the neighbors heard them fighting in the blacksmith shop. Later on the door opened suddenly and Shinton rushed therefrom, Budd clinging to his foot. Shinton was seen to kick or push with his foot while Budd was on all fours. Shinton left him, and on the arrival of Mr. Armstrong and some boarders from the hotel, Budd had breathed his last. An inquest held by the coroner closed this afternoon, and Shinton was committed for trial on the charge of murder.

A GIANTIC OUTLAY.

The Canada Pacific Railway Spending One Million Dollars per Week.

A gentleman intimately acquainted with the affairs of the Canada Pacific Railway, informed a Star reporter to-day, that this Mammoth Corporation was expending at the rate of one million dollars a week just now, and employed close on four thousand men. "Regarding all the rumours you hear about the purchase of the North Shore Railway by it," he continued,
"the Pacific people are desirous of having the road, but only under very exceptional circumstances. The President, Mr. George Stephen, who is well-known as an able and conservative financier, fully realizes the magnitude of the undertaking they have on hand, and he has put his foot right down upon assuming any disbursements outside of the engagements already made, even to the extent of a few thousand dollars, so that the company will not purchase the road unless under the arrangement whereby, for the present at least, only a fair interest on the purchase price is demanded."—Montreal Star.

PORT HOPE.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—The Guide says that Mr.
Scutthorp was engaged with his men, between seven and eight o'clock on Monday morning, loading peas on the steamer Norseman, from his elevator. The Midland railway track runs in front of the elevator, and a temporary platform was placed across the track which is required to be removed when a train is passing.
A car loaded with grain was shunted on the track—which is a deep grade—and Mr. Scutthorp and his men had to remove the platform, and which was done in time, but Mr. S. observed a block on the rail which if not removed would have thrown off the car. He ran to take the block away and succeeded in doing so, but had not time to get out of the way himself, and was crushed between the elevator and the passing car into a space of about nine inches, breaking his arm and crushing in his breast. As soon as possible he was removed to the residence of his half-brother, where he lingered in great pain until half-past eleven. He was conscious until the last moment. He sent for his wife who got to his bedside some time before he breathed his last.

FIRE BUGS AGAIN.—An attempt was made about three o'clock on Sunday morning to fire
Mr. Chan's brick factory on Cavan street, but the fire was discovered and extinguished.
Mr. Chan's loss was covered by insurance, but the building, owned by the Barrett estate, was not insured.

BELLEVILLE.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—The Intelligence says that an alarming accident occurred on Friday evening at the residence of Ald. Dickson, the result of which will prove serious. Miss Jewie, a child of seven years, was going up stairs with a lighted lamp in her hand, and when near the top turned to speak to her sister, whom she imagined was following her. In doing so, she missed her footing and fell down the stairs.
The old lady, who accompanied her to the child's clothing, Miss Crawford, the child's aunt, went to the little one's assistance and in her endeavor to quench the fire, was very severely burned about both hands and wrists; indeed one of her hands is so badly burned that she may lose it. The child's injuries are slight but had it not been for the courage shown by Miss Crawford, very serious consequences might have arisen.

MR. DAVITT DENOUNCED.

DUBLIN, Nov. 20.—Ten thousand persons attended the meeting of the Irish National League at Tulse yesterday. Among the speakers were Messrs. Sullivan and O'Reilly, members of Parliament. The latter referred to what he called the efforts of Mr. Davitt to split the Irish party, and said they were tantamount to stabbing Ireland in the back. He threatened to resign his seat if the country wavered in its at-ers to take advantage of the Arrears of Rent Act. Votes of confidence in the speakers were ant had been evicted, was shot while returning from a fair, receiving two bullets in the head, from the effects of which he is dying.

RUSSIA'S INTRIGUES.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—It is believed Baron De Giers, tempting to form a coalition in opposition to the English Eastern policy, and especially with reference to the Egyptian question. He will go to Vienna to see the Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs.

by the city of Westminster in the Westminster Aquarium. It was a splendid spectacle. Among the speakers were the Duke of Connaught and Cambridge, the Lord Mayor and Lord Alington Percy.

concluded yesterday at Brooklyn in the suit of W. F. G. Shaw, late city editor of the WHEAT CORNERS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The board of trade has appointed a committee to recommend a course of action relative to corners. It is admitted that the rule recently passed and under which

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The coroner's jury in the case of the employees who lost their lives at the Park theatre fire, censured the inspector of material.

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE

No. 19. There still remain to be noticed the following payments, viz:

	1871.	1881.
Railway subsidies.....	$205,528	$205,528
Municipal fund.....	68,884	21,081
Land improvement fund.....	94,258	9,449
Surplus distribution.....		8,183
Common school fund.....		25,609
Stationary office.....	92	5,261

Of the $205,528 paid for railway subsidies in 1881, $153,909 was on account of annual payments, all of which will continue to be called for, for the next ten years, and many of them for well nigh the next twenty years. As on the 31st December, 1881, there were still outstanding obligations of this kind it will be very safe to assume that this Province will have to provide for at least the next ten years a sum of $200,000 per annum, and that too over and above anything else that may be called upon to pay on account of the grant of $605,000 promised to the proposed road to connect with the Canada Pacific.

So far as the other items mentioned are concerned, the amount payable under these headings is dependent upon the amount received in each year from certain classes of lands which were sold under certain conditions or set apart for certain purposes. The payment of $25,000 on account of the Common School Fund in, it is to be noted, the first payment of the kind made since confederation, on account of liability to the Province of Quebec which cannot fall much short of, if it does not exceed, $500,000, and to which we shall have occasion to refer more fully in due time.

No. 20. We have now gone over the several items of expenditure during the last year for which we have the public accounts, or, it would seem, are to have them before the general election, and compared them with those of the last year under the Sandfield Macdonald government. But before leaving this part of our subject let us briefly summarize the expenditures of 1881 which, if proper and economical, should be and must be continuous, whether borne by the Province or the Municipalities:

Consolidated Fund expenditure.....	$2,107,978
Open accounts for Maintenance of.....
Public Institutions and Works.....	109,000
Railway Subsidies per annum.....	200,000
Total.....	$2,407,978

Say two million four hundred thousand dollars per annum. Now we should like to have some friend of Mr. Mowat take up these figures and show wherein they can be reduced without injury to the country or without condemning Mr. Mowat's expenditure as extravagant. One thing is clear, they have either got to admit that the necessary regular expenditure of the Province has reached the sum of $2,400,000 per annum or that the Mowat government is extravagant. They can take which ever horn of the dilemma they like.

TELL US THE TRUTH.

It seems impossible for the London Post to deal with a political opponent in either a truthful or a manly way. As it says, we have three or four times charged it with misrepresentation, in stating that the N.P. has increased the price of agricultural implements. We did point out this falsehood in consequence of a challenge from the Post to give an instance of its thus perverting the truth, and though eight months have elapsed, it has never found space either to explain or retract its untruth, which it virtually admitted in this cowardly way. It could not indeed maintain the truth of its statement, for it would learn from Lindsay's answer, as we did from those in Peterborough, that agricultural implements are cheaper, instead of dearer. Now, however, thinking that the facts are forgotten, it pretends to believe that our assurance applies to its subsequent quotations from the Globe of the carefully selected testimony of manufacturers, so grossly fabricated in many instances that those misrepresented gave a flat contradiction to these dishonest reports. And then to make a diversion the Post falsely accuses us of "garbling" these manufactured reports, in evident ignorance of the meaning of the word, which certainly does not apply to such a course as ours, since we stated plainly that those selected and doctored opinions were hostile to the N.P. but that even these unfriendly witnesses could not help making admissions, which we quoted, telling in favor of the present tariff, such unwilling testimony always being considered especially strong evidence, whether in or out of a law court.

Now for a fifth time we will ask the Post whether it is true that agricultural implements are dearer at present than before the N.P. in Lindsay—they are certainly cheaper in Peterborough. A straightforward answer would be easy, but we shall probably have another sneaking evasion.

Councillor PATERSON read the following report of the Finance Committee:

The Finance Committee beg to report, and recommend the payment of the following accounts, when certified to:

Wm. Hamilton.....	$124.50
J. R. Hamilton.....	24.00
Talbot & Co.....	25.00
R. White.....	15.00
J. Z. Rogers.....	108.75

They also recommend that Mr. F. McAuliffe be granted fifteen dollars.

All which is respectfully submitted,
W. PATERSON, Jr.,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

MONEY REQUIRED.

Councillor PATERSON introduced a by-law to authorize the Mayor and Treasurer to borrow money for the use of the town until the taxes are collected, the amount borrowed not to exceed $15,000.

The Council went into Committee on the By-law. Councillor DOUGLAS in the chair.

The Committee passed the By-law and rose and reported.

The By-law was then read a third time and passed.

AN ACCOUNT.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor PATERSON,—That M. O'Donnell be paid $300 on his contract for watering streets.—Carried.

A SALVAGE CORPS.

Councillor MENZIES moved, seconded by Councillor MENZIES,—That the Fire Committee be authorized to form a salvage corps.—Carried.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE,—That a sum not to exceed $30 be expended on the approaches to the Smith street bridge.—Carried.

STREET REPAIRS.

Councillor DOUGLAS moved, seconded by Councillor WILSON,—That a further sum be expended on Downey street, to open water tables.

Councillor DOUGLAS, in answer to Councillor MENZIES, said that the work would cost about $25 or $30.

Councillor RICHARDSON could not support the motion, as there was work in the north and which needed attention more urgently.

Councillor DENNE raised the point of order that it required notice, and it was, on motion, referred to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

Councillor DENNE called for the yeas and nays, and they were taken as follows:

YEAS—Councillors Cahill, McNaughton, Paterson, Wilson, Douglas and Rutherford.

NAYS—Councillors Menzies, Denne and Richardson.

THANKS TO THE TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor McNaughton,—That the thanks of the Council be tendered to the Great North-Western Telegraph Company, for removing the telegraph poles from George Street, in compliance with a request of the Council.—Carried.

THE POLICE CELLS.

Councillor RUTHERFORD called attention to the Police cells. He understood they were infested with rats.

The CHIEF CONSTABLE said the cells needed re-flooring. He considered that the cells were not fit to put any person in.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor MENZIES,—That the Chief Constable be instructed to have the police cells repaired, and cleared of rats, if possible.—Carried.

THE TAX BILLS.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor PATERSON,—That the collector of taxes be instructed to deliver the tax bills, as in previous years.—Carried.

THE MARKET.

Councillor PATERSON called attention to the market house. He was informed by the Market Inspector that it was difficult getting up and down the stairs.

Councillor MENZIES thought the Town Trust Commissioners should attend to it.

Councillor CAHILL did not think it advisable to spend money on that building this year, as it might be removed altogether next year.

Councillor McNaughton asked if the Market

Clerk should measure the wood sold on the market.

The MARKET CLERK said that the greater part of the wood was sold by the load. He measured the wood sold on the market.

Councillor DENNE said that the small scales on which pork and butter were weighed should be moved from where they are, as they obstruct the passage around the building.

The Council adjourned for two weeks.

He Deserved a Better Fate.

Charles T. Vassant, who was killed on the Pennsylvania railroad the other evening, was the hero of one of the most gallant episodes of the late American civil war. He had the colors of his regiment at Ball's Bluff, and when, during a desperate charge, his colors were shot, he bore him from the field, and then returned, amid a hail of bullets, to rescue the flag. Five times it was captured by the rebels, and rescued by Vassant in a hand-to-hand struggle. At last he broke away with the flag and reached the river. His enemies were at his very heels, but he plunged into the water, dived to the bottom, placed the flag under a stone, and then swam to the other shore and escaped. Afterwards he revisited the spot, and succeeded in finding and restoring to the regiment the flag he had so desperately defended.

W. T. HART, Esq., 128 Amherst street, Montreal, in speaking of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, says he found it to operate successfully after only two doses, and he had tried other Remedies with the same child without success. Charles Blake, 384 Pleasant street: "If you want the best Worm medicine, get Dr. Smith's. It performed miracles in my family. Mrs. Shirrow, 130 Nazareth street, says it acted like a charm on her little boy and she would not be without it. Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy removes stomach and seat or pin worms from child or adult, without the use of other medicine.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Home Again.

Mr. O'Meara, Barrister, has returned to town after a brief absence, and will be found at his office as usual.

Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Gilbert will conduct the Bible Class in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. Subject:—"The Lord's Prayer."

The Waterworks.

Pipes to carry water from the waterworks mains into the buildings are being put in at many business places on George street. Care is taken to obstruct the streets as little as possible while digging the trenches for this purpose.

Personal.

The many friends of the Rev. D. J. Macdonnell will be pleased to learn that he has returned from a trip across the ocean and that his physicians in Scotland pronounced him completely cured, only requiring care to restore his general health.

The Municipal Nominations.

The law provides that when the last Monday in December is Christmas Day, the nomination for candidates for the office of Mayor and Councillors shall take place on the preceding Friday. Therefore the nominations this year, as Christmas falls on Monday, will take place on Friday, December 22nd.

The Weather.

Last night was a beautifully clear night, but cool. To-day the weather is cool and cloudy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh southerly to westerly winds; generally fair and slightly milder weather, with possibly a few local showers.

Smith's Market.

Oysters Fresh and direct from Baltimore three times per week at bottom prices, with a liberal discount off by the dozen or by the gallon. Fresh White Fish, Trout, Haddock and Cod. Finnan Haddies, Bloaters, Kippered Mackerel, Cod Stakes, &c. Bologna Sausage, Spiced Bacon, Ham, Poultry and Game. Fruit, Apples, Pears, Grapes, Cranberries and a general assortment of Canned Goods. Fresh Vegetables of all kinds. Don't fail to buy our Oysters and compare the price, freshness, quality and bulk with others selling at higher figures.

The Market scales.

There were two or three matters brought up in the Council on Monday evening which need attending to at once. One of these is the market scales on which hogs and tub butter are weighed. Being situated on the walk around the market building, and every market day now there being a large number of hogs and tubs to weigh, this sidewalk is almost completely blocked all the morning, and often not a little jostling and shoving takes place, one case of the kind which occurred on Saturday having found its way into the Police Court. Councillor Dennis should follow up his remarks on the question by proposing a remedy.

Railway Notes.

The Kingston Whip says that the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company have arranged to cross Sharbot's Lake by the Kingston & Pembroke Railway viaduct, paying the latter Company, we understand, $14,000 for this privilege. The Ontario and Quebec Railway crosses the Kingston and Pembroke track just east of the crossing, and runs on the west side of local road across the embankment. The Ontario and Quebec Company will build up their side of the crossing next the water with cut stone, and will make a most substantial piece of work.

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—A short time ago, the City Council, at the instance of Ald. Dickson, passed a resolution complaining of the manner in which the Midland Railway was affecting the interests of the city. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to Mr. G. A. Cox, President of the Road, and to-day a letter was received from him, stating that a new time table was in contemplation by which the morning train would be due to arrive here at ten o'clock. He thanked the hour of departure named in the Council's request (6 o'clock) was too late, but he was willing to meet the committee of the Council had named to act on the question and hold conference.

POLICE COURT.

THE LIQUOR LAW.

TUESDAY, Nov. 21.—Mr. Menzies and Mr. Nicholls presided. John Sullivan and T. Cavanagh were charged by Inspector Leary with selling liquor after hours on the evening of Saturday, November 11th. They pleaded guilty and were fined $20 and costs each.

DROWN.

John Hammett pleaded guilty to the charge of having been found drunk, and urged the Magistrate to allow him to go. He was fined $1 and costs or seven days in goal. He could not remember how many times he had been convicted, but thought it was probably about ten times.

Thomas Cherry was called upon to answer to the same charge. "Ah, I suppose I'm guilty, sir," he said, waving his hand with a mournfully tragic air. Fined $1 and costs or seven days.

Michael Colby admitted having been drunk and received a similar sentence—$1 and costs or seven days.

Mechanics' Institute.

The quarterly meeting of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute was held at the Institute on Monday evening with Mr. F. T. Lewis, Vice President, in the chair. Among other business it was determined to add to the reading room list the following periodicals:—The London Spectator, the English Mechanic, Dr. Van Nostrand's Electric Engineering, and the St. Nicholas Magazine. At a meeting of the directors Mr. Law was added to the board to fill a vacancy.

Reported Robberies.

Three cases of robbery have been reported to the town constables within the past few days, besides one which we noticed yesterday. At an early hour on Monday morning Constable Adams discovered a man sitting in the steps leading to the city office. On being asked what he was doing there, the man said that he had just come from Norwood—that a man had robbed him of his money in that village and he had followed him here. Whether these reported robberies are true or not, no clue has been obtained to the thieves.

Horse Training.

Those interested in the training and care of horses will be pleased to learn that Prof. J. G. McPherson, in company with Mr. Wm. McCoskey, will visit Peterborough again on the 27th and 28th of November. They will give a free exhibition on the streets in the afternoon with their trained horses "Mexican Chief" and "Phoenix," driving them without bridles or lines, after which a class will be formed, so that those who wish can acquire the new theory of handling a colt without abuse or injury to the mouth. Prof. McPherson's patent check and rope harness are good models.

Five Fresh Deep Sea Oysters At Darcy's Restaurant and Oyster Parlour.

Suicide Through a Mistake.

Some weeks ago a young gentleman of good parts and great promise, the eldest son of a well-known Buchanan banker, Mr. Rosenthal, blew his brains out because he had the misfortune to lose the sum of $2,000 lent—about £200—between his father's house and the Chief Post Office, whither he had been confined to convey that amount in bank notes to be registered and despatched to one of Mr. Rosenthal's correspondents at Jersey. Four days after the funeral of this unfortunate youth his sorrowing mother was examining the clothes worn by him at the time of his suicide, when her fingers encountered a hard substance within the lining of his overcoat. This substance, on further investigation, turned out to be the sum of money supposed to have been lost. The bank notes had been enclosed in an envelope, duly sealed and prepared for registration according to the Roumanian postal regulations. Young Rosenthal had thrust the envelope into the inner breast pocket of his coat, and it had slipped down between the cloth and lining through a hole in the pocket, of which the poor fellow was either ignorant or unmindful. When, on arriving at the Post Office, he missed the money, he became violently agitated, and hurried home in the hope that he might have left it behind him. The anguish of mind which he experienced upon finding that hope frustrated probably prevented him from ever thinking of subjecting his garments to a careful examination; he rushed up to his bedroom, locked the door, and ended his life by his own hand a few seconds later. The horror of this ghastly tragedy has, of course, been deeply intensified by the discovery that there really had been no cause for the agony of despair which prompted young Rosenthal to commit suicide.—London Telegraph.

The Land Regulations.

Mr. Blake, in a recent speech delivered in the Eastern Townships, said: "We hear a great deal from the government about the thousands that are rushing into the Northwest. Well, I hope they are correct; but I would ask how many of the thousands stay there? Many are driven out of the country by the iniquitous land regulations, and become settlers in the neighboring Republic."

Mr. Blake's character is too high to permit one to think that he does not believe what he says. The only theory upon which his statements can be accounted for is that he is too apt to believe the Toronto Globe. If the Dominion land regulations are iniquitous, those in force in the United States are simply barbarous. Here, the settler obtains his patent in three years or even less. There, he must act up to the settlement duties for five years. With us, those duties are less onerous, and the settlement fees or payments smaller. Here, the settler may take up two homesteads; there, the double-homestead system is unknown. Here, speculative squatting is prohibited; there, it is invited with condign punishment. In every particular, and looking at them from every aspect, the Dominion regulations are more liberal and generous than those in force across the line. Furthermore, the freight rates here are lower than those levied by any railroad in the American Northwest. The advantages are all in favor of settlement in Canada; and it is reasonably safe to say that those advantages would be more generally appreciated, if the Reform leaders in their speeches would treat their own country as well as they treat the neighboring Republic.—Windsor Times.

Large vs. Small Stores.

That a large business can be conducted under considerably less expense than a small one—difference in receipts considered—the commercial world offers abundant proof. And no where can better illustration of the truth of this be found than with us. We have a large establishment, and are offering goods at prices FIVE TO TWENTY PER CENT LOWER than those asked by other houses for fabrics and workmanship of similar quality. That this is not a mere assertion, a visit to our house will prove. It is the aggregate of sales, and not the profit on a single transaction, which enables us to under-sell smaller competitors. This aggregate of sales—or rather a patronage commensurate with our facilities—is what we confidently looked forward to at the outset. And we have been favored with it daily. Our stock comprises everything that may be desired in the way of CLOTHING, and GENERAL DRY GOODS.

ATTENTED MURDER.

A Young Man Shoots Another and then Shoots Himself.

A young Englishman named Cissid Lister, aged 20, has been in this country about nine months, working amongst farmers through the township until last September, when he left for the United States, previous to which he was arrested for larceny and found guilty, and served a short term in prison. When arrested he had on his person a loaded revolver, which was confiscated. It came he returned from the States last Saturday and purchased a seven-shot revolver of 38 calibre from P. M. Eckerly, of the town. Sunday evening he proceeded to Stanford and was seen watching around the village church for some one he wanted to see.

Not being able to find them he went to the house of Thomas Smith, a carpenter, and asked for Mr. Smith's son Clarence, aged 16, who was living at home and an old companion of Lister's, accompanied him across the road, after being requested by Lister to do so. When about 150 yards from the house, he mentioned to young Smith that he had been buying another new revolver, and took the weapon out of his pocket and showed it to Smith, pointing the barrel at him and saying, "I am going to shoot you." Lister then fired, the ball taking effect in the front of the right ear, and glanced towards the nose, and the supposition of the physician is it passed out of the nostril, as it can't be located. Young Smith, immediately after the shot was fired, ran toward his father's house. Lister pursued him, and when he was about 100 yards from the house, he fired again, the ball passing through the skull and lodging in the region of the brain. Where he fell was about thirty yards from where he shot young Smith, directly in front of Temperance Hall. The father of Smith, who was returning home from church, saw the flash of both shots, and hurried to the scene, and found his son stifling the flow of blood from the wound with his handkerchief. The doctors say there is hope for Smith's recovery, but not much chance for Lister.

WASHINGTON'S POLICY.

We quote from the report of an interview with Alderman Monkton by the Reform Winnipeg Sun, the following very sensible remarks by that gentleman:—

"I think that the recent disallowance of our Manitoba Railway Act is the best interest, not alone of Winnipeg but of the whole province. The C. P. R. is a great evil, and as long as it is in the Eastern Provinces. They are providing railway accommodation for the North-West at a speed unexampled in any country at any time, although having many obstacles to contend with. Every citizen of this province who comes and sees the government in transferring the building of the line to a private company, and were clamorous to have such a bargain made. The policy of both the Reform and Conservative Administrations in the Dominion Parliament was to secure the building of a national line, and to divert our freight and passenger traffic from American into Canadian channels. And this policy should be maintained. So long as the spirit of the C. P. R. contract is maintained and upheld in its integrity by the Dominion Parliament, that Parliament will see that only fair rates are charged by the company; but just as soon as competition is allowed, the contract will be broken and the C. P. R. will charge what rates they please, because it is foolish to talk about the benefit of competing rates in face of the pooling arrangements we know of being made between railway companies. Observe the rates charged by the Northern Pacific and the St. Paul, M., and M. railways. They are competing lines. Take away government control of rates, as we would do by allowing other railways to come in, and the whole North-West will be at the mercy of the railway companies. Both the government and the C. P. R. have kept faith with Winnipeg, and have done much to build it up, and I think it would be a shattering attitude and a suicidal policy on our part to favour non-disallowance of these charters. If the Province will set to work and build local railways to our leading cities and towns, they will be building up, improving, and rendering more wealthy and influential our Province and country than by allowing our trade to be carried away into American territory at intervals of every fifteen or twenty miles along our borders. This would not alone draw away our trade, but would also weaken and paralyze our efforts to build up large and important towns. The trouble with our young North-Westerners is that we have got along too well. We have got proud and are disposed to stifle the hands that have lifted us up. I believe the only way we can hope to build up and sustain a true and permanent national life is by upholding, maintaining, and controlling a national railway line running through the centre of our territory—in building local lines on either side connecting with it—centering our local trade in the heart of our country, and providing a line for our necessary exports and imports at fair rates. No opposition has been shown by the Dominion Government to a national railway line running to the building of which, I think, we should devote our early attention."

A STRANGE ASSAULT.

DATON, Ohio, Nov. 22.—Miss Sophie Lowry, daughter of the late Colonel Lowry, was passing along the street last evening. Michael Shafer, liquor seller, sent a savage dog on her, which tore her dress. Shafer then struck her several times with his fist about the head and breast. Her screams brought help and Shafer was arrested. It is said that the reason for the assault was that she pushed open his shop door. Miss Lowry is one of the most respected ladies in Dayton and there is intense excitement among her friends. She was not seriously injured.

THURLOW WEED DEAD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Thurlow Weed died this morning at 8:55 o'clock.

A JEWELRY THIEF.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 22.—Great excitement was caused here in Chicago yesterday by the arrest of D. E. Hale, formerly manager of the Chicago Clearing House, and his wife on a charge of robbing several jewelry establishments here. Mrs. Hale was formerly the wife of a burglar now in prison. Hale fell in love with her while her husband was being tried for robbing Hale's house and took her home as governor. Shortly afterwards his wife died and he married her sister, who had obtained a divorce. Hale lost his position on account of the scandal connected with his marriage. Soon after marrying Hale the woman was arrested on a charge of robbing a jewelry store. Shortly after her arrival here his wife visited several jewelry stores and stole jewelry while giving out to have expensive goods sent to a false address. The woman was arrested on a train. She threw the jewelry into the car stove, where it was destroyed. She says her husband is innocent.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 22.—The National Grange yesterday adopted resolutions demanding that grain gambling be repressed by law, and expelling all leadership in policy except that which tends to the advancement of the material interests of the people through the exercise of virtues that dignify and uphold citizenship. The strong political spirit of the resolution caused much discussion and created much comment.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A member of the Tariff Commission is reported as saying that the Commission will recommend practically the maintenance of the protective rates of duty. In some cases they will advise that the rates be raised and in others they will be lowered. The Commission will not greatly disturb the duties on iron and manufacturers of iron, but will recommend a reduction in the duties on steel rails and sugar. Inequalities and incongruities in the schedules will be pointed out, and charges recommended in the duties levied and collected under the treasury decision. The Commission will recommend the abolition of the entire system of internal taxation, the taxes on whiskey, tobacco, and all other products which contributed last year to make the revenue $145,000,000. The Commission was not empowered to investigate the internal revenue. The report that the Commission of internal revenue will recommend a reduction in the taxation to the extent of eighty millions is contradicted.

A POLICE AFFAIR.

DETROIT, Nov. 22.—The new police board yesterday supported superintendent McKenna and preferred charges against him. As he refused to appear for trial they declared him delinquent from the force. They unsuccessfully attempted to get into the commissioner's office, which was barricaded and held by McKenna. They then met in the Mayor's office and John Quigley was elected Superintendent. McKenna and the police still hold the station house. The new Superintendent was directed to call the members of the force before him and suspend those who do not recognize his authority.

DECORATING THE TROOPS.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Three hundred and seventy decorations were presented to the troops at Windsor to-day, including those given to the Indian contingent. The Prince of Wales and nearly all the members of the royal family were present at the ceremony. The Queen, in conferring the decorations, said:—"I have called you here to-day to express my best thanks for the gallantry and devotion you displayed in the short but decisive campaign in Egypt, and to say how proud I am of my soldiers and sailors, who add fresh laurels to those already obtained in previous campaigns, and of their devotion to their Queen and country." At the close of the Queen's address, which was delivered with beautiful emphasis, the three lines of men retired, leaving the Queen facing the commander of the expedition and the naval brigade. The conferring of the decorations then commenced.

THE POWERS AND EGYPT.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Reports are current in diplomatic circles that the Porte has been making efforts within the past few days to ascertain the sentiments of the government of France in regard to the project of having the European council reassemble at Constantinople to take action on matters in Egypt. No definite information can be obtained as to the view the French government has taken, but the belief is general that they will wait until some other power assumes the initiative before coming to any decision.

The remaining four prisoners were then put forward, and Mr. Malloy on their behalf pleaded "guilty." Old Michael Casey burst into tears and betrayed great emotion. The other prisoners betrayed a stolid demeanor. Judge Barry sentenced them all to be hanged on December 15th.

INQUIRY BURIED.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Towards the close of the evening session of the Commons yesterday, Mr. Gladstone moved the adjournment of the debate on the procedure rules in redemption of his promise to give Mr. Yorke an opportunity to move for the appointment of a committee of enquiry into the release of Michael Farrell, Dillon, and O'Kelly from Kilmainham gaol. Mr. Labouchere by opposing the motion for an adjournment talked out Mr. Yorke's motion. Mr. Gladstone at length refused to grant a further opportunity of discussing the Kilmainham affair.

AMERICAN.

A STRANGE CASE.

READING, Pa., Nov. 21.—In Lebanon county Mrs. Christiana Reitenbush, aged 44, became afflicted with hemorrhages; blood issued from all portions of her body, her lower limbs and arms, and worked its way under the skin. Gradually she turned black, the congealed blood acting like India ink pricked into the skin. After suffering several weeks she turned as black as a negro, and died of blood poisoning.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

DETROIT, Nov. 21.—A. P. Pijet, of Ishpeming, was killed and his body blown to atoms by an explosion of giant powder on Wednesday. It is customary to throw out the powder by placing it in a large tin pail, which is suspended by a hook and let down into a barrel of hot water. When the water gets cool it has been the custom to heat it by putting a red hot iron rail into the barrel. It is supposed that during the last act the rail touched the pail of powder, thus causing the explosion.

LABOUR TROUBLES.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 21.—There is an unusual agitation in labour circles here. The coal mines are out, and firm for four cents for digging. This has been conceded by a few firms, but the main body of the men have refused to notice. The president of the National Coal Miners' Association expresses the opinion that the difficulties will all be settled in a few days.

THE DUBUQUOIS AWARD.

THE "Reform" organ and notably the Globe have attacked the Halifax Herald for the following utterance:—

"If it is any satisfaction to our contemporary we have no hesitation in saying that in case the Dominion should come to Ontario territory valued by the Globe at $150,000,000, without showing in the clearest manner that it belonged to Ontario at the time of Confederation, we should certainly join Mr. Macdonald in demanding an equivalent for the other Provinces. And why not?"

Why not indeed? Ontario had certain legal limits on entering the Dominion, and the treaty the territory that is rightfully hers, neither more nor less. This the other Provinces are quite willing that she should have as soon as it is authoritatively settled. This very contention of the Globe is a clear admission that the Dominion does not belong to Ontario at the time of Confederation, but is a question, which is a matter of law, by a competent tribunal. Such a decision would show the matter and would be acquiesced in by the other members of the confederation, which certainly would not be the case with an arrangement between the Province of Ontario and an Ontario Premier of the Dominion, whether it were Mr. Macdonald or Sir John Macdonald, even if the bargain were ratified by the Canadian Parliament under their leadership. Apart from the legal question, such a transaction would be the signal for other Provinces to press their claims for extension or other advantages upon the government. To quote again from the Halifax Herald:—

"Ontario has legal boundaries defined by an Imperial statute. Let these boundaries be determined by some competent tribunal to deal with the question, and all Canada—on at least the Liberal Conservative portion of it—will be content."

Thus alone can the question be settled finally, legally and with general approval. Thus alone can Ontario obtain her full rights, which Mr. Macdonald would sacrifice to retain a political cry.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Globe, in reviewing a work by Mr. Henry Grey, says:—

"This little work will be indispensable to all who desire to make a thorough study of the literary production of that pure and cheerful writer in the English language, SIR WALTER SCOTT."

This is the opinion of the Globe, an expressed, not in its editorials, but in its literary columns, where it has no political purpose to serve. Out upon such hypocrisy!

That well-known temperance advocate, the Thunder Bay, commenting upon an editorial circular to legislate the survey, says:—

"We will gladly cooperate with any temperance organization that has for its purpose the regulation, restriction or even prohibition of the liquor traffic, but we most decidedly object to become a party to the furtherance of any political scheme which will use temperance as a lever to lift themselves into power, into certain temperance legislation, and then by the means of appointing officials to enforce that legislation, nullify and stultify it entirely."

The Winnipeg Free Press, the leading Reform paper of Manitoba, does not agree with its Ontario confreres who are preaching repudiation or rebellion. It says:—

"What the people of Manitoba demand is that the monopoly claims must be repudiated—not by repudiating the bargain, for the honor of the Dominion and the rights of the Syndicate, who solemnly entered into it, require that it should be strictly observed, but by treating with the Company for that one of their numerous privileges."

For Winnipeg.

The Thunder Bay Examiner says:—Coal is selling to-day in Winnipeg, the metropolis of the North West, at $12.25 delivered. Only three weeks ago the same coal was fetching $12.75 per ton, and this time last season, from $12 to $12.50. This great change is brought about by the opening of the Thunder Bay branch of the C. P. R., and the consequent reduction in freight rates thus giving one of the greatest boons to both rich and poor of that city that has yet been conferred upon them, and no doubt but that next season as good an effect will be produced in relation to lumber, as those engaged in supplying the lumber from the Georgian Bay markets are fully alive to the great advantages offered them, and are making arrangements for the shipment of large consignments at the opening of navigation. Mr. Geo. Graham is foremost on the field in the matter of supplying this lumber to the western market. He will have between two and three million feet here before the close of the season, all of which he will get over the line of the C. P. R. during the coming winter.

MANITOBA WOODS.

How They Differ from the Pine Forests of Ontario.

At this season of the year, when the mosquitoes have disappeared, a quiet walk in the woods of Manitoba is exceedingly interesting to anyone who loved a stroll in the great forests of Ontario, and a close observation as to the differences which exist between the trees of this country and those of the great timber belt of the eastern provinces must ever afford matter for agreeable contemplation. In Ontario the woods are usually composed of maples, elms, beeches, basswoods, with a proportion of evergreens, the hemlock and balsam being the most common, except where the pine flourishes. The undergrowth is mostly of the same species as the larger trees, unless on low ground, where blue holly may be discovered.

In this country, as much of the land is wholly destitute of timber, nature seems to take delight in crowding together along the rivers and lakes an infinite variety of trees, bushes, and vines. The water helps to protect them from the great fires which periodically sweep the plains, and the thickness of the grove enables the trees and bushes to give each other shelter from the cold winds and intense frosts of winter. As the traveler advances towards the woods he will notice the wild fringe of hazel, wild cherry, small poplar, buffalo berry, and scrub oak which encircle the trees that compose the larger forest. At this season of the year the hazel bushes are loaded with nuts of good size and fine flavor, and in many spots a two bushel bag could be filled in a very short time. When the wanderer enters the thicker shade amongst the larger trees he will everywhere observe the heavy rich red clusters of the high bush cranberry, the fruit being in such profusion that a large basket can be filled in an hour. A peculiarity of these berries is their readiness to hang in bunches on the bushes long after the winter sets in, the juice and flavor being improved by the frost.

The principal tree in the Manitoba woods is the poplar, the next in importance is the oak, and near the rivers will be noticed large elms. A very beautiful tree is the ash-leaved maple. Its fresh green leaves open out early in the spring. It is a most vigorous grower, and bears transplanting remarkably well. Were its qualities known it would be valued as an ornamental tree in any northern country. In the spring the ash-leaved maple yields a sweet sap, from which excellent sugar can be made, the chief trouble being that at the time the sap flows the flooding of the river makes it difficult to reach the trees. On the shores of the streams which enter the Red river, and especially near their mouths, hardwood grows in great abundance, and ironwood of a large size can be met with. In this district these trees are not found, although sometimes good ash can be discovered; a few white birch occupy a place in the woods, and occasionally grow to a good size, but the tree is not common. Partridges, rabbits, bluejays, chickadees, chipmunks, and red squirrels are plentiful in the bush, and, excepting the chipmunks, are to be noticed even in the winter months. Black squirrels are not found in Manitoba.—Pilot Mount Signal.

VALUE OF THE TIMBER.

It is related in the Brandon Reporter, which is a strong supporter of the Hardy and Pardon, that Mr. Jan M. Hall, formerly of Princeton, has made a great fortune out of lumber operations in Manitoba. He has not only put about $200,000 in his pocket by lumbering, but he has also $500,000 worth of timber, and still holds more than that amount in mills, etc. Everyone, of course, will applaud the enterprise of Mr. Hall. It is by the operations of such pushing men that the solid resources of the Province can be developed and brought into practical value. But while private individuals can thus "make their pile" out of the timber which they acquire, how are the Government improving their opportunities in the same premises? At the last sale that was held at the west end for as low as $50 per acre, much of the land brought higher prices, but no portion of it brought anything like its money's worth. As was lately remarked by a Western paper, every foot of standing pine now-a-days represents gold. But judging from the reckless way in which our best timber has been given up, they are regarded by our people as silver and not gold. These pine lands are the last great store of capital upon which the people of Ontario have to depend. If they are frittered away as ridiculously low prices, it is clear that the management of these lands must be under the control of some very wise and experienced person, or some very honest and patriotic person, who will be able to draw upon the people's property in the way that has been done. The last, however, that we ought to expect, is that the lands should be sold with by the government or to return to the people for the proportion of their just value. That is the only way to make it worth the government's while to make it worth the people's while to have to draw upon these valuable reserves at all. It would pay the country far better to let them stand for a few years longer. But the impetuosity of the Hardy and Pardon government, acting from expediency in every department, seems to make it necessary for them to draw upon the people's property in the way that has been done. The last, however, that we ought to expect, is that the lands should be sold with by the government or to return to the people for the proportion of their just value. That is the only way to make it worth the government's while to make it worth the people's while to have to draw upon these valuable reserves at all. Another Reversion.
When and where will inventions cease? As the wheel of man is ever propounding new theories, and bringing to light inventions which excite admiration and confer untold benefits upon the community at large, we need never be surprised at anything now-a-days. Electric lighting is as yet in its infancy, although it has now been adopted in most large towns, throughout, we might say, the world. Its latest application is the cream of novelty, and might almost be adopted were it not given on good authority, which says:—"An interesting experiment has been made in Paris by M. Magnin, a member of the Academie d'Aerostation. A small balloon, measuring about 100 cubic feet, and filled with pure hydrogen, was sent up, being held captive by a rope containing two copper wires. A Swan incandescent light having been placed in the gas attached to the top of the balloon, was lighted, and the whole aerial machine, which was quite translucent, was splendidly illuminated. It was shown by systematic interruptions that the dots and dashes of the Morse system could be imitated for giving military signals at a great distance."—North Wales Chronicle.

WAS IT AN ACCIDENT?

An Incident of the Late Death of Mr. Howard J. Logan.

On the night preceding the death of Mr. Howard J. Logan, at the General Hospital, while in a delirious state, he gave utterance to some statements which, taken in connection with the intelligence of the drowning of his brother, since received here, were most remarkable. Speaking at intervals, he said: "I have a brother at sea!" "A storm is coming on!" "Will the vessel be able to weather the storm?" "The waves are so high, I don't know!" "Oh! that he were safe on land!" Mr. Logan wandered off on different matters, but again and again he returned to the subject of his absent brother, often repeating one or other of the sentences above quoted. His own wife, who was present at the bedside, said that in the thought of the dire calamity that threatened the life of his brother. Once or twice he started up and enquired anxiously of the nurse whether the storm was abating, and on her replying in the affirmative his mind seemed greatly relieved, but only for a few moments, when he would again start up and renew his inquiries. It appeared as though he knew of the peril in which his brother was placed—that, in fact, at times, he could actually see that brother's danger, and would vainly have sent aid to him. This is the more remarkable from the fact that the brother for whom he expressed such anxiety was actually drowned, as stated in Friday's Star, and the coincidence must have happened within a very short time from that at which Mr. Logan, in his hallucination, fancied he saw the storm raging and his brother in peril. The above facts are vouched for by the nurse who attended Mr. Logan, and she supplemented her statement by saying that she never attended a more exemplary patient.—Montreal Star.

A CURIOUS FRANK OF NATURE.

An interesting human monster at Geneva has now attained the interesting age of five years, with two heads, four arms, two chests, one body, two legs, and two names—Jean and Jacques. The right leg belongs to Jean, for Jacques feels nothing when it is pinched; and the left leg, which is Jacques' property, has a club foot. They play with each other and have illnesses on their own account, but they are so intimately connected that Jacques cannot fall to sleep in himself the old song that "when I die, the neighbors cry, and bury brother John."

A CURE FOR HEADACHE.—Thousands are suffering martyrdom to this distressing trouble. If you have pure and properly vitalized blood coursing through your veins; if the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels act rightly, you will never experience headache. Bantock Blood Purifier will effect this desirable condition, if properly used. Try it.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—Twenty-five cents expended to your druggist for a bottle of Haggard's Yellow Oil will allow you to cure more diseases than many dollars spent for ordinary medicines would do. Yellow Oil cures Rheumatism, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, Sore Throat, Chaps, Blistering, and all other skin diseases, and all Lameness.

W. T. HARR, Esq., 128 Ashurst street, Montreal, in speaking of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, says he found it to operate successfully after only two doses, and he had tried other Remedies with the same child without success. Charles Blaine, 254 Platte street: "If you want the best Worm medicine, get Dr. Smith's. It performed wonders in my family. Mrs. Blaine, 139 N. 10th street, says it acted like a charm on her little boy and she would not be without it. Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy removes stomach and liver worms from child or adult, without the use of other medicine."

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate winds, mostly westerly and north-westerly. Fair weather, not much change in temperature.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Fred. R. Wren's Mammoth Double Uncle Tom's Cabin Company will produce this play in Bradburn's Opera House this evening, with their Tennessee coloured singers, blood hounds, trick donkey, &c. They were greeted by a full house on their appearance here a few weeks ago.

Theatrical.

In Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday evening Fred. R. Wren's Company produced the play "The Two Orphans." There was a fair attendance, although it was hardly as large as on the occasion of the previous visit, which was perhaps on account of the concert party which was felt as to what play would be put on the boards. The play itself is a very good one, as presented by this Company, and the characters are well conceived and drawn. Of the actors Fred. R. Wren took the first place, and was by all odds the best in the troupe. In the character of "Pierrot" he received loud applause, and as the cripple "Pierre" he showed that he was capable of more difficult acting. Miss Addie Brownson rendered the part of the blind orphan "Louise" with a simplicity and truthfulness to life that placed her as the best female artist in the Company. The heartless beggar woman "Madame Frohard" was well acted and pleased the audience greatly. These are all that need to be especially mentioned. To-night, as will be seen by advertisement, the Company will perform the drama Uncle Tom's Cabin.

A Fire Alarm.

A discussion having arisen on the communication of Chief Rutherford of the Fire Brigade, in the Council on Monday evening, on the inefficiency of the fire alarm and the time lost in sounding an alarm and finding out its location, it might be well to consider the suggestions contained in the following from the Bradford Courier:—

"A system that would not cost more than three or four hundred dollars yearly, and one which would answer fully as well the purpose of the more costly electric alarm as used in all American and Canadian cities, should be adopted. Why not utilize the telephone? Its practical use is now fully assured; and if it can be used successfully as a means of quick communication for commercial purposes, what is there to prevent its adoption as a means of giving the alarm in case of fire? Telephones could be erected in the different wards of the city to connect with the Engine House and City Hall, and men drilled to understand its working who could at a moment's notice, when the necessity arises, telephone to headquarters the exact location of the fire, the time taken would occupy no more than thirty or forty seconds, and by that time the fire brigade would be on the ground ready for action, and this plan would unquestionably be the means of saving thousands of dollars yearly."

I. O. G. T.

Friendship Lodge No. 146, I. O. G. T., held a regular weekly meeting in their hall on Monday evening, when there was a very perceptible increased attendance. Old members are returning in numbers and the Lodge is to be congratulated on the results of the improvement of the hall, which forms, in a great measure, the attraction. The room has been shortened, the walls have been whitened and painted. A beautiful carpet has been laid upon the floor, new pedestals have been added, and handsome damask curtains have been hung to the windows, so that the room is made very attractive, affording comfort as well as convenience. The officers installed for the current quarter are:—

Bro. James Stratton..... P. W. C. T.
Bro. D. V. Gladman..... W. C. T.
Sister Minnie Croft..... W. Vice T.
Bro. Rev. John Shaw..... W. Chaplain.
Bro. Wm. Rutherford..... W. Secretary.
Sister Lizzy G. Heather..... W. Assistant.
Sister M. A. Gillespie..... W. F. S.
Bro. Thos. Gillespie..... W. Treasurer.
Bro. James Logan..... W. Marshal.
Sister Frankie Campbell..... W. D. M.
Bro. F. H. Bom..... W. I. O.

This Lodge proposes to give an oyster social early in December, and from the programme it may be expected fully to maintain the prestige of the Lodge for giving first-class entertainment.

Town Council Meeting.

A special meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening in the council chamber, at 7 o'clock.

The Market.

There was a large attendance at the market this morning. The prices of produce remained at about the same figures as on Saturday. Dressed hogs sold at from $4.75 to $7.50 and beef from $5.00 to $6.50. The price of grain was unchanged.

The Late D. G. Hutton.

There will be a general feeling of regret at the news of the death of Mr. D. G. Hutton, which took place this morning about half past eight o'clock. The loss of Mr. Hutton will be severely felt, not only by his relatives and friends, but by the whole community.

American Cancer Association.

We learn that three out of four of the Committees of the Association, having the matter in hand, have decided in favor of Stony Lake as the place for the camp of 1883, the other member having not yet been heard from. The question may therefore be considered as practically decided, and our cancells should see to it that all needed preparations are made for a large turn out at Camp.

A Standover.

A correspondent of the Montreal Witness, who signs himself a "A Believer in Prayer," but who does not show much regard for truth, calls our account of Miss Tracey's case "a fairy tale," and ascribes its appearance to the "vile habit of concocting sensational stories." As to the facts of the case our reporter gave a plain statement of the strange phenomena that he had himself witnessed and carefully scrutinized, and as to the girl's subsequent account of what had passed in her own mind, he simply reported her own words, leaving the public to form its own opinion of this singular case. "Believers in prayer" should not indulge in falsehood and slander, or they will be apt to be considered hypocrites rather than believers.

Smith's Market.

Oysters Fresh and direct from Baltimore three times per week at bottom prices, with a liberal discount off by the dozen or by the gallon. Fresh White Fish, Trout, Haddock and Cod. Pinned Haddies, Bloaters, Kipperd Mackerel, Cod Stalks, &c. Bologna Sausage, Spiced Bacon, Ham, Poultry and Game. Fruit, Apples, Pears, Grapes, Cranberries and a general assortment of Canned Goods. Fresh Vegetables of all kinds. Don't fail to buy our Oysters and compare the price, freshness, quality and bulk with others selling at higher figures.

Railway Notes.

A siding has been put in on the line of the Midland Railway, which runs across Simcoe street to Mr. Stevenson's elevator, approaching the elevator from the north. This makes a connection with the branch formerly put in, so that cars can enter the siding and load or unload at the elevator, and pass on to the main line without backing out. Cars brought up on the Grand Junction or Lakeside lines can be taken to the elevator without first having to be drawn up to the station to reach the switch. The bridge at the crossing of the "Missing Link" and Smith street is nearly completed. Track laying has begun at this end of the "Missing Link."

In the Chancery Court in Toronto, on Tuesday, the motion on behalf of the Ontario and Quebec Railway to restrain the Central Ontario Railway from crossing their track was enlarged for trial, the parties meantime to be at liberty to continue their works and to make application to the Privy Council for leave to cross the other's railway without prejudice to any right or defence.

Large vs. Small Stores.

That a large business can be conducted under considerably less expense than a small one—difference in receipts considered—the commercial world offers abundant proof. And so where can better illustration of the truth of this be found than with us. We have a large establishment, and are offering goods at prices FIVE TO TWENTY PER CENT LOWER than those asked by other houses for fabrics and workmanship of similar quality. This is not a mere assertion, a visit to our house will prove it. It is the aggregate of sales, and not the profit on a single transaction, which enables us to undersell smaller competitors. This aggregate of sales—rather a patronage commensurate with our facilities—is what we confidently looked forward to at the outset. And we have been favoured with it daily. Our stock comprises everything that may be desired in the way of CLOTHING, and GENERAL DRY GOODS.

THE DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

THE more ignorant or more unfair among our "Reform" journals are endeavoring to make their readers believe that the recent Democratic victory is a sign of reaction in the States in favor of free trade. The truth is that the defeat of the Republicans is due to the disgust of the nation at their corruption and graft-like perversion of their official patronage. It was the suspicion of free trade proclivities in the Democratic party that stood in the way of their earlier success, which did not come till they had submitted themselves to the national will in this manner.

The quotations which are Free Trade advocates are parading as condemning protection, do nothing of the kind with a few insignificant exceptions. Some of these extracts advocate the abrogation or reduction, not of the customs duties, but of the duties, which is a very different thing, and does not involve the question of protection. Other extracts deal with another question, the propriety of continuing to tax the present generation to pay off the war debt, or of leaving a portion of the burden for posterity to shoulder. Such a reduction of taxation does not at all necessarily imply an abandonment of protection, which may be secured for instance quite as effectively by the remission or reduction of taxes upon raw materials, or upon articles not produced in the country.

We are convinced from a careful study of the subject that if the Democrats make Free Trade one of the planks in their platform, they will again miss the victory that will otherwise be theirs in 1884.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Ottawa Free Press says:—"It is really doubtful, after all, whether the wholesale importation of European papers to America is an unmitigated blessing. It would be better far, in our opinion, were the settlement of the country left to the natural process whereby the hardy, adventurous and enterprising people from the old countries would make their way to these shores and fill up the vacant spaces, as was done by our forefathers in the early days." Now all is changed, and we are content to pay the passages of the paupers of Europe to our shores, give them lands, even feed, clothe, build them houses, and supply them with seed and stock. Has it never occurred to the advocates of this system who are robbing themselves and their children of their natural heritage, that they are performing one of the most gigantic pieces of folly ever perpetrated by any people in the world?

Now we do not agree with the Free Press in this, just as we disagreed, as we stated at the time, with the Mail for decrying pauper immigration, believing as we do that we have abundant space and use for all comers, and rejoicing at the thought that these very paupers and their children may be raised in this new country to comfort and affluence. We wonder, however, if the Globe and its imitators (was the Free Press among them?) will visit the article of the Free Press with the same bitter and unfair condemnation as they bestowed upon the Mail.

THE Globe defends the right of the Ontario Government to legislate in the matter of Liquor Licenses on the ground that:—"The municipal councils granted the licenses and passed by-laws respecting them, in old Canada and Nova Scotia at least, for many years before Confederation." Yet the Globe has supported Mr. Mowat in taking the right of granting licenses from the municipalities, in order to confer it upon creatures of his own.

THE Journal of Commerce, which certainly cannot be accused of being a thick and thin supporter of the Macdonald administration, in an article on the disallowance agitation in Manitoba, says:—

"Do these complainants ever reflect on what their condition would be if there were no railway, and if they were left to the means of transportation which formerly existed? Our belief is that the Government is actuated solely by a desire to maintain faith with a company which has undertaken a gigantic and hazardous work in reliance on the honour of the Canadian Parliament and Government."

BELLEVILLE.

KNITTING FACTORY.—The Ottawa says that Messrs. John Henderson and J. Turley have established a knitting factory in the Carman Block, opposite the City Hall. They will only employ fifteen or sixteen hands for the present, but by the beginning of next summer this number it is proposed will be increased to seventy-five or a hundred. They have fifteen machines ready for work now, but the factory will not be in full operation for a few days.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LAKEFIELD OFFICERS.

Two weeks ago I made mention of the fact that Ross & Co. had caused notices forbidding people the use of the waters edge, in the north part of the village, to be posted. At that time it was thought to be simply a joke, though not a very good one. It seems to have been done though in real earnest. Parties in Ross & Co.'s name have been demanding toll or payment for the use of landing places for lumber, wood, etc. These demands and claims to the waters front have raised a discussion of the whole matter of the reservation along the waters edge, and the villagers are now pretty much excited over the matter and seem to be determined to have the public domain promptly protected from encroachment by anyone. The village council will now very shortly at least be compelled to look after the interests of the village in its streets and reservations. The people of Lakefield cannot afford to allow the streets of the village to be encroached upon year after year any longer, and they seem to think that their representatives at the council board should promptly take the lead in looking after the public interests. It will be best for the rate-payers of the village to act carefully and cautiously, but at the same time firmly. No private individual should be allowed the exclusive use of one foot of public property; all will agree to that, but at the same time no private interests should be injured in the least. The whole difficulty arises from an inadvertence in the notes and bonds in the deed from the crown. In the year 1836 a patent was issued from the Crown Lands Department deeding the lands in 18 in the 7th concession and parts of 18 in the 8th concession of Douro, reserving one chain for a road allowance along the front together with free access to the beach for all vessels, boats and persons.

In giving the notes and bonds in the deed referred to these reservations are not mentioned, but the government plan was got out and confirmed by the sale of lots before this deed was given, and so the crown could not have passed the ownership of these reservations if it so intended. The cause contention was set up in 1875 in regard to the concession line between Church street and this reservation, but was abandoned by the parties when it was found untenable and a disclaimer sent to the corporation.

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL REPORT.

The following is a report of the general proficiency standing of the pupils—5th class, 1st Rebecca Sutton; 4th class, 1st Eddie Turner; 3rd class, 1st Henry Brock; 2nd class B, 1st Winifred Pender; class C, 1st Mary Smith; 2nd class A, 1st Ada Irvine; class B, 1st Thomas Caldwell; class C, 1st Annie Hillman. First class, part 2, class A, Cephas Allen; class B, 1st Andrew Smith; class C, 1st Bessie Turley; class D, 1st Andrew Hamilton. Part 1, class A, 1st, Ada Simpson; class B, 1st Mary Gordon; class C, 1st Arthur Boulton; class D, 1st, Edward Loomis.

SPREADING FISH.

It is said that a party of hunters who visited Jack's Lake a short time ago were not satisfied with killing a large number of deer, but actually put the law at defiance by openly spreading fish in that water, and that large numbers of salmon were taken last month from the waters of Stony Lake by parties also from a distance. The incident in the vicinity was very much annoyed about it, and say that it is unfair that while they are compelled to keep the law strangers are allowed to break it with impunity.

HUNTING.

Several of Lakefield's sports are away in the back country at present for the usual fall hunt, and we have been informed that some fine deer have already been taken. Deer appear to be plentiful in the country north of Lakefield this season. The settlers complain bitterly of the large and increasing number of American hunters visiting the back country and killing large numbers of deer and taking them out of the country contrary to law. Some of them, we are informed, threaten to take the law into their own hands if a stop is not put to the practice.

MUNICIPAL.

Everything seems to be very quiet in Lakefield concerning the village council. There are no new candidates for the offices of reeve and councillors for the ensuing year offering as yet. It is generally understood that Mr. R. C. Strickland, our present reeve, will again be a candidate for the office at the next election, and it is quite probable that he will be elected by acclamation as usual.

NAVIGATION.

Navigation has been closed this week, so far as the steamer Cruiser is concerned at least, more on account of there not being a sufficient quantity of water than on account of the severe weather. The stop logs at Backhorn were taken up on Monday to allow the water to come over, but at that time Little Mud Lake was frozen over so that the prospect of the water rising here to any extent is very slight. Large quantities of wood and other products of the forest still remain in Stony Lake awaiting shipment, and the probability is that not much of it will be brought down this fall.

Austrian Rules for Theatres

As a result of early experience, the Government of Austria has adopted some excellent rules regarding theatres. Henceforth the buildings must be detached. Between the auditorium and the stage there must be a wall at least 20 feet high and 18 inches thick placed above the roof for ready use in isolating the stage from the rest of the house in case of fire. The stage must be of sufficient height for the curtain to be raised without being rolled. No one is to be allowed to fire in the theatre, and the stage carpenter's shops, the stage appliances, and the refreshment bars are to be outside the building. The latter rule must be complied with by the managers and owners of the theatres now in existence. All the dresses of the actors and actresses are to be dipped in a preparation which makes them more or less fire-proof, and no explosive matter under any pretence is to be left in the theatre. Very strict provisions are made with regard to the seating of the audience—abundant room must be left for easy exit, and the Prefect of Police is to have the power of deciding how many persons shall be allotted to each theatre. Every manager is to be held personally responsible for the carrying out of these regulations down to the smallest detail, and will be severely punished if upon the first alarm of fire he fails to give the public timely notice for their departure without disorder or panic.

There is no profession in which a man stands more supremely on his merits than in that of journalism. In many other professions it is more a question of influence, of good fortune, or of time, than of actual working capacity. In journalism influence goes for little or nothing, unless there be on the part of the aspirant real efficiency to perform the work that has to be done. There never was greater competition in the press than there is at the present day, and that competition is more likely to become keener than to diminish. It is becoming more and more a question of the survival of the fittest, and special eminence is ever more difficult to obtain. The incompetent and inexperienced, therefore, must inevitably go to the wall. There are many men now occupying the highest ranks of the journalistic profession who have risen from the lowest. As illustrating the various stages of such promotion, it may not be out of place to mention a case in point. We could name the editor of one of the most powerful daily newspapers published in the United Kingdom who began life as a lad on the bottom-most round of the ladder—in the printing office, who, by his own unaided industry and perseverance, entered, through various stages of preferment, upon the work of reporting, and passed from one grade to another in that department till, after a wide experience of provincial and general work, he reached what is in many respects the most important sphere in which that arduous calling is exercised—that of Parliamentary reporter, and who, throughout an extended experience in the Gallery of the House of Commons, acquired a knowledge of political affairs, of the relations of parties and of statesmen and of the intricacies of Parliamentary procedure which must have proved invaluable to him in the subsequent periods of his career. The remaining stages of sub-editorial and editorial work were duly passed through and his present position attained. The majority of our most successful journalists are self-made men. The press is every year becoming a greater power in the land; it is already one of the greatest "resources of civilization," and we might as soon try to get along without steam, or railways, or the post-office as without our newspapers. If we are to have newspapers we must have editors to direct them, and the editors must march with or in advance of the times. There is, therefore, good reason to hope that better things are in store for the coming generations of journalists than these have been for those that are now. It is performed miracles in my family. Mrs. Shrew, 120 Nazareth street, says it acted like a charm on her little boy and she would not be without it. Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy removes stomach and seat or pin worms from child or adult, without the use of other medicine.

W. T. HART, Esq., 128 Amherst street, Montreal, in speaking of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, says he found it to operate successfully after only two doses, and he had tried other Remedies with the same child without success. Charles Blake, 284 Pleasant street. If you want the best Worm medicine, get Dr. Smith's. It performed miracles in my family. Mrs. Shrew, 120 Nazareth street, says it acted like a charm on her little boy and she would not be without it. New departures in the business line are con-

these new departures are in a direction that will greatly benefit the trade. The latest that we noticed was sixteen large cases of goods being

Worms, Germany, imported direct by Mr. Mac-

4 feet square, and closely packed with vases of all sizes and varieties, handsome toilet sets and a splendid lot of cups and saucers, and being im-

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."
Fred. R. Wren's Double Company produced
"Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday night. The attendance was not large, which was not very surprising, as the play is not one that will draw a large audience every few weeks, and it is only a short time since it was played here by the same company. As produced by Wren's Company it is almost entirely a burlesque, the amusing parts being the most prominent and the pathetic is rarely introduced. And although "Uncle Tom" is almost too much worn out to do duty on the stage now, it is not improved by this new method, as the amusing parts are not sufficiently ludicrous to please those who love burlesque, while those who still cling to the old "Uncle Tom" are disgusted. The principal incidents of the new play is the fit of fright with which the two lawyers Marks are seized, and the frequent and entirely unnecessary use that is made of the revolver. Loud bluster and crude jokes are the staples of the play, in which the little "Eva" is the only redeeming feature, and this part was taken by a sweet and bright little girl, who was really a sunbeam in the darkness.

SYMPATHY EXPRESSED

BY THE COUNCIL FOR THE FAMILY OF THE LATE POLICE MAGISTRATE.

Mr. Hutton's Services and Public Spirit Recognized and Eulogized by the Members
—A Mark of Respect.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Wednesday evening.
PRESENT—His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors Cahill, Kelly, Paterson, Poussette, Menzies and Dendie.

WHY THE MEETING WAS CALLED.

The Mayor said that the cause of this meeting was a melancholy fact of which they had all heard—the death of Mr. Hutton, Police Magistrate. It was usual on the death of a public officer for the Council to show their respect for him by attending the funeral in a body, and this meeting was called in order to arrange for attending Mr. Hutton's funeral.

A LOSS TO THE TOWN.

Councillor Poussette then moved, seconded
by Councillor Dendie:—

That in the death of David George Hutton, Esquire, the Town of Peterborough has lost a citizen who was always amongst the foremost in every enterprise calculated to promote the welfare of the people. His zeal and energy were the motive power of many a scheme set on foot for the benefit of the public, and his views upon such matters were invariably regarded with marked respect.

In his position of Police Magistrate, which he occupied for upwards of eleven years, his conduct was such as to make all persons feel a fitting respect for the law which it was his duty to administer, and all classes of the community were led to consider him pre-eminently
"a just judge."

That this Council have a deep sense of the irreparable loss which his widow and children have suffered in this their bereavement, and tender to them their sympathy and condolence.

That a copy of this resolution be engrossed and transmitted to Mrs. Hutton under the seal of the corporation and the hands of the Mayor and Clerk.

Councillor Poussette, in moving the resolution, said that it was fitting, when a public officer like Mr. Hutton passed away, that the Council should recognize in a public manner the service he has rendered to the people. The only public position Mr. Hutton had occupied was a judicial one, but he had been ready at all times to assist by his advice and aid every enterprise brought forward for the benefit of the public. The people had generally felt that they could rely on him for valuable assistance when required. The waterworks system was largely due to his zeal and energy, as were also many other public works. He therefore took a melancholy satisfaction in moving the resolution.

Councillor Dendie endorsed the remarks made by Councillor Poussette.

Councillor Cahill said that every member would endorse the sentiments of the resolution and the remarks which Councillor Poussette had made. The only public position Mr.
Hutton had held was a judicial one, but it would be admitted by all that his judgments in that capacity were impartial and rendered without fear or favour.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

A TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Councillor Kelly moved, seconded by Councillor Menzies,—"That this Council attend
the funeral of the late D. G. Hutton,
Esq., in a body, as a mark of respect.—Carried.
The Council then adjourned.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

A TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Councillor Kelly moved, seconded by Councillor Menzies,—"That this Council attend
the funeral of the late D. G. Hutton,
Esq., in a body, as a mark of respect.—Carried.
The Council then adjourned.

The weather.

The weather to-day is damp and cloudy. Snow fell to-day, which melted as it came down.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—
Fresh to strong winds; cloudy weather, with areas of snow or rain.

Personal.

The despatch of Sir Garnet Wolseley after the battle of Tel-el-Kebir has now been published at length. He says that Gen. Sir H. T.
Macpherson, commanding the Indian contin-gent, speaks in high terms of his staff, whose names are given, among them appearing that of Major A. C. Toker, Bengal Staff Corps, Deputy-
Assistant Adjutant General. Major G.
R. A. Denon, in command of the 4th Dragoon Guards, is also mentioned with approval.

Ashburnham School Board.

A meeting of the School Trustees of the village of Ashburnham was held on the evening of Tuesday last. The Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Chairman, presided, and all the members were present. Several applications were read from teachers, offering their services for 1883. Mr.
Arthur T. Emerson was appointed head master for the coming year at a salary of $500;
Miss Jennie Smith, teacher senior department, re-appointed, salary $250, and Miss Annie Smith, junior department, salary $200. Mr.
Emerson, who is a graduate of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, holds a first-class certificate and is recommended highly, and the school will no doubt prosper under his management. The other teachers have been employed by the Board before, and are recognized as efficient teachers.

Presentation.

On the occasion of the marriage of Mr. John Corkery, who has for some years held the situation of book-keeper to T. Dolan & Co., the employees of that firm united in presenting him with a beautiful tea service of china, as a mark of their esteem and good wishes for his happiness. In this respect all who know Mr.
Corkery concur, as besides the personal qualifications which insure him social friends, he is always ready to do good public services, as for instance his zealous attention to his duties as Secretary of the Separate School Board and as one of the directors of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute. As a consistent Conservative he also always does his full share for the promotion of good government. Our readers, we are sure, will unite with us in congratulations and best wishes for the happiness of Mr.
Corkery and his bride.

OLD-FELLOWSHIP.

The Re-opening of an Old Institution of 28
Years Ago.

Arrangements are so far completed that the re-opening of the old Otosabee Lodge of Odd-fellows, No. 13, will, it is expected, take place about the second week in December. The elegant hall in Mr. Clouston's new block, corner of George and Hunter streets, has been fitted up in such a tasteful manner as to make it second to none; it only requires to be seen to elicit the most lavish praise. The fresco work and painting was done by Mr. Watson & Son, under the direct supervision of Mr. G. B. Sprague, whose superior taste and good judgment has been displayed to perfection. The furniture is being manufactured by Mr. D. Bellaghem, and will be a credit to his extensive establishment.
All the appointments are the best that can be secured. The re-opening ceremonies promise to be very imposing; the Grand Master and Grand Secretary have been officially invited to be present, and will be tendered a reception and dinner. We hope to be able to give fuller particulars of the reconstitution of this old Peterborough Association with which many of the first members and wealthiest citizens have again identified themselves.

That Dancing Challenge.

The following letter, in answer to Mr. L. F.
Carpenter's dancing challenge, appears in the Toronto World:—

Sir,—Regarding Mr. L. F. Carpenter's challenge in the Peterborough Review to dance all corners for a purse of $100 to $500. Now Mr. Carpenter only mentions the particular steps in which he shines. Let him have the courage to add the Highland Fling in genuine costume and I will gladly accept his conditions. If he will accept my offer to dance my specialties I will take him up on his own challenge.
E. C. BILL.

Free of Charge.

All persons suffering from Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, are requested to call at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store and get a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, free of charge, which will convince them of its wonderful merits and show what a regular dollar-size bottle will do. Call early.—3

One dose of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters will relieve Sick Headache. One bottle effects a cure. Price 25c. per bottle.

SUM, safe and effectual, that old remedy, Downs' Elixir, for the cure of Coughs and Colds.

The sudden changes in our Canadian climate
are certainly conducive to lung, throat and chest
affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is no reason why consumption should be so prevalent. Dr. Cassell's Expectorant Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It
loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough.
Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

"TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' EXPERIENCE," says an eminent Physician, convinces me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness
of the generative organs is to repair the waste
by giving Brain and Nerve Foods, and of all the remedies I have used Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. This remedy is now sold by all our Druggists at 50 cts. per box, or 6 for $2.50, and on receipt of an order for 12 boxes, accompanied with $5.00, advanced to Mack's Magnetic Medicine Co., Windsor, Ont., they will forward the goods free by mail, and send their "written guarantee" to refund the money,
if the treatment does not effect a cure. See

Needing a New Suit!

A BOY'S COMPLAINT!

That boy needs a new suit. The one he has on is not only too thin but worn out. One or two neat patches are permissible on an otherwise good suit; but not enough of them to make the suit resemble a map of the Crown Lands timber limitation. Your boy may derive a great deal of satisfaction from wearing such a kaleidoscopic attire, but we doubt if you don't suppose you look back a score of years and recall the anguish
you would have felt in associating with better dressed companions, in such attire. But admitting that you did wear such clothing—is that any reason why your boy should? Times have changed since then, changed for the better, too. Boys are more thought of now, and their wants better provided for. He needs a new suit and there is not any good reason why he should not have it. Get him an overcoat as well; make a man of him. The outlay will pay. Let him feel that he is comfortable and of consequence as well. About prices: Dealing with us is a protection against outrageous prices
and the proper way to secure low prices and find value is to deal with us. But don't forget the boy's clothes all the same.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1882.

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.

No. 21. Before taking up and dealing with the Provincial Revenue it will facilitate an understanding of the items with which we shall have to deal if we first explain the nature of some of them, and particularly what is known as the Common School Fund.

So long ago as in 1869 there was set apart 1,000,000 acres of land in this province, the proceeds of which were to be devoted to the creation of a fund which "should not be alienated for any purpose whatsoever" but the income from the investment of which should be devoted to the support of common schools in the whole Province of Canada. In 1872, with the view of encouraging the settlement of these and other lands, it was provided that one-fourth of the purchase money should be returned to the local municipalities, as collected, for expenditure on local improvements, and thus was created what is known as the Land Improvement Fund. From 1869 down to the 31st March, 1881, all these common school lands were sold subject to this condition. Since that time, however, the whole of the proceeds derived therefrom, less a deduction of six per cent. for collection and management, belongs to the common school fund. According to the award of the arbitrator appointed in accordance with the Confederation Act, the amount of this fund in the hands of the Dominion on the 1st July, 1879, was $1,735,234.47, less the sum of $124,686.18 there of belonging to the Land Improvement Fund, leaving the net amount at its credit at that date $1,610,548.29. For some reason, for which we have failed to note any explanation, Mr. A. C. Wood in his budget speech of February, 1880, estimates the amount in the hands of the Dominion at $1,320,960.34, and we shall submit the latter sum to be the correct amount. By their award the arbitrators besides maintaining the amount on hand, also declared:—

First. That this fund SHALL continue to be held by the Dominion, and that the income realized therefrom shall be apportioned equally between and paid over to Ontario and Quebec in the same proportions as their respective populations bear to each other at the then last preceding census.

Second. That the monies received and to be received by Ontario on account of these lands, after deducting therefrom the share according to the Land Improvement Fund and six per cent. for cost of management "SHALL be paid over to the Dominion," to be by it invested and the income derived therefrom divided between the two Provinces in the same manner as that derived from the sum already in their hands.

That was the decision of the arbitrators, and the provisions of an award that has been held binding by the highest court in the realm—the Privy Council—and in accordance with which the Dominion government is distributing, year by year, between the two Provinces a sum equal to five per cent. on the amount in their hands. The Province of Ontario, however, has pursued a different course, and instead of paying over year by year the amounts collected, as ordered by the award, they have been practically treated as ordinary revenue, with no other object, so far as we can see, than to "pull the wool" over the people's eyes as to the actual financial state of the Province.

As the amount of money and the liability involved are considerable, let us state for the information of the reader that up to the 31st December, 1881, this Province has received from common school lands the sum of $1,053,980; that up to the same date it had paid thereon on account of the Land Improvement Fund the sum of $174,383, and that it is entitled to deduct therefrom as compensation for collection $63,238, leaving still at the credit of this fund in the hands of the Province $816,359, and of which something over $800,000 should have been paid over to the Dominion unless Mr. Mowat proposes to repudiate or to get out of the road the award to which we have referred.

But this is not our only liability arising out of the manner in which Mr. Mowat has been dealing with this fund. According to the award these monies should have been paid over to the Dominion for investment as they were received. Had this been done, Quebec would have been receiving its share of the income accruing from such investments, and for the loss of which Ontario is unquestionably liable to Quebec. In order to arrive at an approximate estimate of what our liability to Quebec is, on this account we have taken these receipts year by year, deducted therefrom the six per cent allowed us for collection and our payments to the Land Improvement Fund, and dealt with the balance as properly payable to the Dominion. Doing this and assuming that the Dominion would have credited the Province with five per cent thereon, we find that the annual payments therefrom would have aggregated on the 31st December 1881, the amount of $354,120, and of which Quebec would have received $150,380. But as the payment of this sum should have been made from year to year, as it accrued Quebec has a second claim against us for the four years which have elapsed by their non-payment at the proper times, and valuing this late at five per cent per annum, simply interest, we find that we owe her the further sum of $41,355—therefore, which bring our total direct liability to Quebec for interest on the monies belonging to this fund that we have retained, contrary to the terms of the award, to $191,565 less $36,000 paid Quebec on account in 1881. If these calculations be fairly correct, and we believe we are, then it is apparent that, if the award is to be carried out, this Province has not provided something like one million dollars to square accounts with the common school fund.

But even if the award is not to be carried out and the fund is to be abolished, as Mr. Mowat's colleagues, on several occasions have hinted, our liability to Quebec would make a serious item upon our share of that portion of the funds in the hands of the Dominion. Suppose this fund is to be divided between Ontario and Quebec now, we would independent of any collections made in 1882, and independent of the collections still to be made, have to pay over to Quebec:

Interest on collections in arrears.....$165,565

Share of collections to 31st Dec. 81.....326,383

Total liability to Quebec.....$491,948

Against this we would be entitled to receive from the Dominion as our share of the monies in their hands, the sum of $391,301, thus leaving our net interest in this fund (say) $300,000. But such a settlement is not only contrary to the award creating the fund, contrary to the award of the arbitrators (and arbitrators' awards are very sacred things in the estimation of Mr. Mowat) but contrary to the interests of this Province. As everybody knows, Ontario is increasing in population faster than Quebec, and as a consequence after each census we become entitled to a larger share of this fund. For instance under the census of 1871 our share of the monies in the hands of the Dominion was but $273,573 as compared with $391,301, under the last census. This being the case, and this relative growth of Ontario being likely to continue, it is manifestly contrary to our interest to have this fund divided now, or indeed at any future time, inasmuch as the older we grow the larger and more important will become the income which it will yield us. Should it be divided, and spent as it is certain to be, the people will never regret it but once—not that it will be forever. We cannot help noting that these figures may have something to do with the claims which apparently is largely attributable to the Ontario Government for not having before this arrived at a settlement of accounts with Quebec.

THE TELEPHONE.

Scheme for Extending the System Through-out Canada.

The telephone is, unknown to the general public, gradually and quietly bringing the remotest corners of civilization in the Dominion within reach of one another, and before long Montreal merchants, seated in their offices, will be able to hold conversation with their agents and others they may have business with in Toronto and the cities of Western Ontario. With the progress which has been made by the telephone, it is not impossible by any means that the present growing system will extend all over the country. During the latter part of the summer the Bell Telephone Company has been considering the many independent systems of persons in Western Ontario cities, and a service extending from Hamilton to Chatham, a distance of 200 miles, has just been completed. This service takes in Keweenaw and all the other places between the two extremes of the line. At present a number of cities out of the Dominion of the telephone are being organized with it. The main line will continue to be extended westward by connecting the system at Napawan, Trenton, Belleville, Brockville, Kingston, and intermediate towns. From Kingston the line will be continued to Ottawa, and brought on from there to Montreal. It is also probable that the line will be carried through to Quebec. The authorities of the Bell Telephone Company say that the system will not be completed immediately, but that the carrying out of the scheme in its entirety is only a matter of time. The distance for which the telephone is being organized, may be serviceable, is believed to be within the reach of the power of persons speaking at the telephone of Hamilton can be heard by the operators at Chatham, 200 miles distant, as plainly as if they were speaking a message from one of the telephones of the local exchange.—Montreal Star.

The Flow of Water Through Pipes.

In Engineering are reported briefly some experiments made by W. F. Stanley in the endeavor to discover the mode of flow of water in pipes. His aim was to show that "liquids move by rolling contact upon or past the resisting surfaces of the pipe, and not by a sliding, gliding or shearing action." This question of the movement of the particles of flowing water, both in open channels and in closed pipes, is of the utmost importance in the determination of the velocity for flow. The true law of frictional resistance has not yet been discovered, and every formula which has been framed from experimental resources under one set of conditions has failed when applied to other conditions. We believe that this is due to imperfect knowledge of the internal movement of the liquid particles, and consequently false assumptions with regard to the effect of irregularities in the wet surface of the channel. Experiments in the direction in which Mr. Stanley seems to be working will be of great value if the experimenter will carefully observe the facts developed and will not begin to theorize too soon and endeavor to make the facts fit his theories.—Mechanical News.

W. T. HARR, Esq., 128 Amherst street, Montreal, in speaking of Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy, says he found it to operate successfully after only two doses, and he had tried other Remedies with the same child without success. Charles Blaine, 384 Plessis street: "If you want the best Worm medicine, get Dr. Smith's. It performed miracles in my family. Mrs. Shielow, 180 Nazareth street, says it acted like a charm on her little boy and she would not be without it. Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy removes stomach and seat or pin worms from child or adult, without the use of other medicines.

REMARKS.

The Star Press is still striving to make people believe that Mr. Mackenzie would not have protected the C. P. R. against being tapped by independent lines running to the frontier, had he been in power. Mr. Mackenzie! It might be plain to every man of sense, would not have undertaken the construction of the Georgian Bay and Thunder Bay branches had he contemplated allowing independent branches to divert the trade and traffic of the Prairie section, say, at Portage la Prairie. Nor is it at all reasonable to suppose, when he offered $4,000,000 acres of land as a gift, actually amounting to not less than $25,000,000 to our private company that would take the work on his hands that he intended to destroy the eastern division from Manitoba to Lake Nipissing by permitting independent lines to tap the road at Winnipeg or at any point west of this.

Do Not Be Deceived.

In these times of quick medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. They invariably cure Stomach and Liver Complaints, Biliousness, Headaches and Urinary difficulties. We have seen many speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by Taylor & Macdonald.—5

MR. J. R. GEMSON, druggist, St. Catharines, writes that he finds an ever-increasing sale for Burdock Blood Bitters, and adds that he can, without hesitancy, recommend it. Burdock Blood Bitters is the grand specific for all diseases of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys.

Mrs. Wm. Allan, of Astor, says she has never been without a bottle of Haggard's Yellow Oil in the house for the last twenty years, and would not be for ten times the cost; adding that she has never known it to fail for Colds and Croup, Sore Throat, Stiff Neck, Burns, Scalds, etc. We can only say, "if any one doubts its efficacy, refer them to me."

The new Roman Catholic Church at Burnley was consecrated by His Lordship Bishop James on Sunday, the 19th of November.

The Council Chamber.
Gas lights have been put in the Council Chamber at the desk of the Clerk and at the Mayor's chair. This was a needed improvement, and as the fixtures have been handsomely painted they will be highly ornamental as well as useful.

S. O. G. T.
The entertainment to be given by Peterborough Lodge No. 240, I. O. G. T. has been postponed from Monday, the 27th inst., to Monday, the 4th of December. Tickets issued for the former date will be good for the latter one.

Shortland.
We would call the attention of young men, and women too, for that matter, to the advertisement which appears in our columns, from a gentleman who is duly qualified to teach shortland, and who is desirous of obtaining pupils.
Shortland is a most useful acquisition, not merely for journalists, but in many other occupations, and such an opportunity should not be missed.

A Forgery.
It turns out that the letter published in the Toronto World, in answer to Mr. L. F. Carpenter's challenge, and quoted by us, was a forgery, as Mr. Hill states that he did not sign it, neither did he authorize anyone to sign it for him. It may have been intended for a joke, but it was one which no one should have practiced, and it is to be hoped that the effort being made to discover the perpetrator of the deed may be successful. It is a most dishonest thing to forge another person's name, even if it is not done to defraud him.

Mr. Mattson's Funeral.
The funeral of the late D. G. Mattson, Esq., Police Magistrate, took place on Thursday afternoon. The members of the Town Council and the Peterborough Law Association attended in a body, as a tribute of respect to the deceased gentleman. The following were the pall bearers: Messrs. C. Stapleton, George Stethem, Jas. Stevenson, John E. Belcher, J.
M. Irwin and Jas. Campbell. The remains were followed to the Little Lake Cemetery by a very large number of friends and acquaintances, and as the cortege passed down George street the shops of business were closed and business suspended. The funeral procession was a large one, and included many of the most prominent citizens of Peterborough.

The Cavanville Row.
The Millbrook Messenger says that Edward Hutton, who was stabbed in the row of the navvies at Cavanville, was only saved from death by the knife striking a rib. On Saturday a number of the navvies were arrested at a brook station for disorderly conduct, and on Monday they were brought before the Magistrate and seven of them fined $3 and costs. One, Timothy Griffin, not being able to pay the fine, was committed to jail for twenty days. Some of them were arrested on a charge, and John Dennehy, for carrying a revolver, was fined $20 and costs, which he paid. The other cases were dismissed for want of sufficient evidence to convict. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the man who stabbed Edward Sutton, but he succeeded in making his escape.

POLICE COURT.

MAYOR'S CASE.

FRIDAY, Nov. 24.—Judgment was given in the case of LaCrosse v. McIntyre, for assault, the defendant being fined $1 and costs.
Judgment was also rendered in the case of McIntyre v. Henderson, for assault. The defendant was fined $1 and $3 costs.

Town Council Meeting.
A special meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening in the Council Chamber at 7.30 o'clock, in reference to the Midland Railway and Bethune street.

The Weather.
The weather to-day is stormy and disagreeable.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—
High winds and strong gales, veering to west and northwest; cloudy, with rain, followed by considerably colder weather and snow storm.

Personal.
Mr. F. W. G. Hankins has been called to the bar and sworn in as a barrister and solicitor.
At the recent annual meeting at Montreal, of the Y. M. C. A. we notice that Mr. J. Mar-ray Smith, who is so well known in Peterborough, was elected President.

At the Law Society examinations at Toronto,
Mr. J. M. Quinn, of Peterborough, was admitted as an articled clerk.

The Market.
Judgment in the case of Moore v. Henderson was rendered at the Police Court this morning.
This was a case of assault, the offence having been committed at the scales on the market used for weighing hogs and tub butter. The defendant was using the scales, and the plaintiff tried to pass when Henderson shoved him back. The judgment, which was signed by Thos. Maclean, J. P., and Wm. O. Nicholls, J. P., contained the following recommendation:—

"We would recommend the Town Trust Commissioners, who have charge of the market property, to have the entrance to the side of the market house having the weigh scales closed up, so as to prevent any person or persons going that way while the buyers are using the scales for weighing their purchases. If this had been done this suit would never have been brought, as persons could not have got in the way of the weighers."

The Entrance to Toronto.
The case of the Ontario and Quebec Railway vs. the Grand Trunk came up in the Queen's Bench Division, Toronto, on Thursday. The Court gave the following account of it:—

"Judgment on motion by the plaintiff to refer to arbitration the question of compensation, etc., rendered necessary by the proposed crossing of the defendant's line of rail by the plaintiff's road near Carleton. Cause was shown to the motion on the grounds that the plaintiff, under their charter, have no right to enter the city from the west, nor can they enter the city as they intended by their proposed junction with the Credit Valley. Order made, referring the question to the arbitration of Judge Sinclair, and Messrs.
Wragge and Walter Sheehy, Esqs., sitting at the Court of Ours, that the plaintiff have the right to enter the city, and may do so by junction with the Credit Valley. Held, also, that the plaintiff, under the charter, may enter the city on any side, and may lay their line wherever they like within the county of York."

The Ontario and Quebec.
The Montreal Herald says that Mr. Hugh Ryan, the contractor for the Ontario and Quebec railway, has given a representative of the Herald some information as to this new project.
It will make the distance 300 miles between Toronto and Montreal. One-third of it is already graded, and it is expected that by this time next year the entire track will be laid.
Over 2,000 men and 1,000 horses are at present employed on it. The posts, ties, and fencing materials are being got out, and tenders will shortly be asked for rails. The road will be an important feeder to the Canadian Pacific Railway system, and as a through route will afford additional facilities for travel and transport of almost incalculable value. It will run at a distance of from thirty to forty miles from the Grand Trunk, reaching a section that previously has had no direct communication east or west.
The line will connect with the Canadian Pacific system at Perth, and will be run in as direct a line as the topographical nature of the country will allow. From Perth a line will lead to Smith's Falls, and by the Old Canada Central, now the Canadian Pacific Railway, pass through Ottawa to Montreal. A new line has also been surveyed from Smith's Falls to Montreal, which, running round the mountain to opposite Caughnawaga, where the new rail-bridge is proposed, will give to the great Canadian Pacific an outlet to the American and lower province ports. The entrance into Toronto will be by 2,900 feet of trestle work, some of it 150 feet high.

Vaccinating a Train Load of Passengers.
The New York Express train on the Erie Railroad, passing out at noon, was held at Elmira, Nov. 23, till physicians could vaccinate all the passengers not already safe from contact with small-pox, as a passenger afflicted with symptoms of that disease was taken from the train at Hornellsville.

A Good Investment.—Twenty-five cents expended for your druggist for a bottle of Hag-yard's Yellow Oil will save many pains and cure many diseases than many dollars spent for ordinary medicines would do. Yellow Oil cures
Rheumatism, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, Sore
Throat, Croup, Stiff Joints, Contracted Cords,
and all Lameness and Inflammation.

A Cure for Headache.—Thousands are suffering martyrs to this distressing trouble. If you have pure and properly vitallized blood circulating through your veins; if the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels act rightly, you will never experience headache. Burdock Blood Bitters will effect this desirable condition, if properly used. Try it.

The sudden changes in our Canadian climate
are certainly conducive to lung, throat and chest
affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is no reason why consumption
should be so prevalent. Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs,
colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It
loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough.
Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

Malacca Canal.

A proposal was lately made, it is known, to cut the Peninsula of Malacca, so as to relieve ships of the necessity of passing round by Singapore in going from Indian to Chinese waters or vice versa. An eminent engineer, M. Dru, read a paper on the subject at the Geographical Congress in Venice. Since then a visit of reconnoissance has been undertaken to the Peninsula of Kraw by M. Deloche, and Dr. Harmand, French Consul, and Commissioner to the King of Siam, who have lately returned. Thanks to the map of war and the elephants put at their disposal by the Siamese Government, the travellers went successfully up the Tobompong, traversed the Isthmus by Tassan, reconnoitred the Pak Toban of Kraw to Maras, and examined the surrounding country. The entire course of the future canal has been satisfactorily surveyed, and the conclusions arrived at are highly favorable to the execution of the project.

Needing a New Suit?

A BOY'S COMPLAINT!

That boy needs a new suit. The one he has on is not only too thin but worn out. One or two neat patches are permissible on an otherwise
good suit; but not enough of them to make the suit resemble a map of the Crown Lands timber limits. Your boy may desire a grand deal of satisfaction from wearing such a Kaleidoscope attire, but we doubt it if you don't. Suppose you look back a score of years and recall the anguish
you would have felt in associating with better dressed companions, in such attire. But admitting that you did wear such clothing—is that any reason why your boy should? Times have changed since then, changed for the better, too. Boys are more thought of now, and their wants better provided for. He needs a new suit and there is not any good reason why he should not have it. Get him an overcoat as well; make a man of him. The outlay will pay. Let him feel that he is comfortable and of consequence as well. About prices: Dealing with us is a protection against outrageous prices
and the proper way to secure low prices and find value is to deal with us. But don't forget the boy's clothes all the same.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1892.

A HANDSOME TESTIMONIAL.

In the window of Messrs. Tully & Co's drug store may be seen a beautiful and valuable piece of plate bearing the following inscription:—
"Presented to Dr. Halliday on a slight testimonial of respect and esteem, by the inhabitants of Grafton and vicinity, October, 1892."

It consists of a very handsome epergne of artistic design. On a massive pedestal are seated two female figures of silver, with flowing drapery of gold, and bearing wreaths of flowers. Between them rises a stem supporting a pair of shell-shaped dishes of gold and silver, above them being a similar dish of corresponding design, the whole being surmounted by a vase for flowers in rich cut glass.

The Grafton Sentinel-Sun says of this presentation:—"Last week the many friends of Dr. Halliday, who removed recently from Grafton to Peterborough, took advantage of his visit to his old village to present him with an address and testimonial. The presentation was made by Mr. J. J. Gifford, and must have convinced the worthy doctor that, although his business has taken him from their midst, yet he has many warm friends in this vicinity by whom he will not soon be forgotten. The following was the address read:—
To Dr. James J. Halliday:—

DEAR SIR,—We are very glad to meet you on the present occasion and we are sure that you will find it to express the deep regret which we all feel at your removal from amongst us. The high sense which we entertain of your upright and honorable course of life during the many years of our pleasant intercourse equally serves to make us feel the loss the more keenly, and in order to give expression to the regrets which we feel at the severing of our connections, I have been deputed by your many friends in Grafton and vicinity to present you with this testimonial as a slight token of kind respect and esteem for your many excellent qualities, both socially and professionally, and seeing that you have removed to a larger field of professional duty, we trust that you will receive such a measure of public patronage as your merits so justly deserve. And now, in one more bidding you farewell, we hope and trust that you yourself, Mrs. Halliday and family, may continue to enjoy a large measure of health and happiness, with the attendant blessing.

Signed on behalf of the subscribers,
JAMES GILLARD.

To which Dr. Halliday replied as follows:—
MY DEAR SIR,—Allow me to thank you, and through you, my many kind friends for the very handsome testimonial you have given me to-night. I feel, sir, how inadequate my words are to convey my thanks to you, or sufficiently express my feelings on this occasion, but so far as words enable me to do so, I heartily thank you, not only for this pleasant evening, but also for all your many acts of kindness to me and mine in the past. I also thank you for the kind expressions and good wishes to myself, Mrs. Halliday, and family, contained in the address which you have just read to me. Believe me, sir, I shall ever prize this present as it deserves, and the above and beyond any value I set on it from its own intrinsic worth, shall I ever hold dear the remembrance of the kind feelings which prompted my friends to give it.

When I left here last spring I left so hurriedly that I was only able to say good-bye to comparatively few of my old friends and patients, and to them was unable to express what I felt as parting. Believe me it was no light matter for me to sever the ties and associations which bound me to this place, to leave my old friends and go to a new place to form new friends, new ties, new associations.

We had been friends for years, not only friends dear to my patients, but to my family. I had been your physician, tried and trusted by you, and from all your kindness to me I know I was loved also. I had attended many of you through serious illnesses, some through illnesses which had brought them to the verge of the grave, when it seemed as if the weight of a feather would decide which way the trembling balance should turn. Whether the "silver cord" should be loosed and the golden bowl be broken, or whether they should again be mercifully restored to health and strength, to their families, and to their accustomed places, and when they were restored to health, I rejoiced with them and returned thanks to the Giver of all good that He had permitted me to be the honored instrument of His superior power. Beside others I had stood in their hours of deepest sorrow and affliction. Thus, my friends, rejoicing together and sorrowing together, we became very dear, and I assure you I felt the parting keenly.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND.
LONDON, Nov. 24.—It has been officially reported to the government that widespread distress is feared in Ireland this winter. The district most seriously affected through want of employment on the farms and the failure of the potato crop are Sligo, Ballina, Swinford, and the greater portion of Galway. There is much destitution in West Clare and Connacht. Owing to the continuously heavy demands upon Irishmen in America to support the Land League, there has been a considerable decrease in their remittances. This has reduced many to the condition of being unable to purchase new seed.

ARABI AND HIS TRIAL.

CAIRO, Nov. 24.—The impression is gaining ground among the European residents that the Egyptian Government has no sincere intention of pushing Arabi's trial to a conclusion, notwithstanding its emphatic statements to the contrary. It is an open secret that negotiations are pending between the palace here and Yildiz, having for their object the discontinuance of all proceedings against Arabi. It is believed that the whole scheme of the trial is merely a ploy to gain time until a plot which is said to have been concerted between the Sultan, the Khedive, and Arabi, can be perfected. Colour to this belief is given by the recent demand of the troops being organized for service in the Sudan that Arabi be placed at their head. The Sultan is credited with having instigated the troops to ask this, and it is pretty generally believed that the request of the troops will be complied with, if possible. Arabi and El El Mehdi, the so-called false prophet, are said to have a perfect understanding, and should Arabi be released and placed in command of the Sudan expedition, the result would be the unity of the Egyptian forces against all foreigners. While the story appears improbable, it has gained considerable credence.

CONDITION HOPELESS.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The condition of the Archbishop of Canterbury is declared to be hopeless. His physicians are united in the opinion that there is no possibility of his recovery.

EXCITEMENT IN CAIRO.

CAIRO, Nov. 24.—Excitement has been caused there owing to reports of recruits refusing to proceed to the Sudan unless they go under the command of Arabi Pasha.

BRITISH SOLDIERS ATTACKED.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Some British soldiers were severely wounded at the Helwan sulphur baths. Their assailants escaped.

PRINCE ALFRED ILL.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Duke of Edinburgh was seized with a serious attack of illness on Thursday night, culminating in a cold of the severest description, attended by very high fever. His physician remained with him all night, and the Duchess never left the room. He was somewhat better this evening.

THE RHINE RISING.

BIERICH, Prussia, Nov. 24.—The river Rhine is rapidly rising. Its banks here and at Rodens are now under water, and navigation is suspended.

SHRINE ROBBED.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Thieves broke into the cathedral of St. Denis, near Paris, this afternoon, and stole a quantity of gold and silver objects, including precious relics and crowns of historical value. The articles stolen from the cathedral of St. Denis to-day were valued at 100,000 francs.

THE PORTE AND MONTENEGRO.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 24.—The Porte has telegraphed to the powers drawing attention to the armaments of Montenegro, and several of them have replied that they have no information regarding the matter, but have sent instructions to their agents at Cettinge.

MURDERED HIS AUNT.

HAVANA, Ill., Nov. 24.—Theodore Gardner, aged 19, confesses that he choked his aunt, Mrs. Waller, to death a few miles from here the other day. The woman's husband was arrested on suspicion. Gardner says he quarrelled with his aunt. The woman and her husband had lived unhappily and the latter gave the former money to go to Germany. Most of the money was found on Gardner.

ELOPEMENT.

GRAM LAKE, Mich., Nov. 24.—The young wife of Andrew Brewer eloped with John Holland, an old married man who has a large family. The couple have gone to England.

THREE-QUARTERS TIME.

READING, Pa., Nov. 24.—Reports from the Schuylkill coal region indicate that owing to the accumulation at shipping points, the miners will be put on three-quarters time during December, after which until the opening of Spring only such portions of the colliers will be kept working as are necessary to supply the regular winter trade.

AHEAD OF THE HANGMAN.

SWETSBURN, Que., Nov. 24.—William Richards, who was to have been hanged to-day, committed suicide by cutting his throat at 3 o'clock this morning. He died an hour later. Since his sentence he has had watches night and day, and how he managed to commit the suicide is as yet a mystery. Richards was condemned to death for the murder of an immigrant named Jackson at Abercorn station, near here.

ILLITERATE POPULATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A special census bulletin just issued shows that in the United States there are 4,223,451 persons of 10 years of age and upwards who are unable to read, and 6,229,968 who are unable to write. The illiteracy is confined principally to the Southern States.

A FATAL FIRE.

PROVIDENCE, Pa., Nov. 24.—The wife of James Ruddy lost her life in a fire while trying to secure $1,000.

Mother's Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night or wake of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, get once and get a bottle of MRS. WINGLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you as soon that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians, and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle.

CORONA, Nov. 25.—The West Shore Railway Commission yesterday awarded Mrs. Walsh $37,000 for damages. The railway will appeal from their decision.

ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Nov. 25.—A dozen prisoners in the House of Correction yesterday made an unsuccessful attempt to escape. Gaoler Scott, who resisted them, is seriously hurt.

A CRUEL FATHER.

HUDSON, Mass., Nov. 25.—Jno. Phillips, a leading member of the Baptist Church, has left town, fearing that his neighbors would lynch him for striking a 15 year old daughter to the waist and beating her with a heavy stick until the blood flowed. The daughter's offense was falling to return from a visit to a relative, at the time specified.

THE TAX ON WHISKY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The Tribune's Washington dispatch says that it is safe to predict that Congressmen Kelly will not succeed in his plan of abolishing the internal revenue system. A number of Democrats oppose it as a protectionist device, and it seems to meet with opposition and ridicule among the Republicans. It is safe to predict that the tax on whisky will not be abolished. All the Republican members from the west are in the strongest sense that the tax on whisky must be maintained.

LEGAL OPINION WANTED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The great extent of certification or acceptance of checks during the stock flurry in New York recently has revived the interest in the recent call of the controller of currency upon the attorney general for his opinion upon the subject. The attorney general has been giving his personal attention to the question, and his opinion is looked for daily.

KILLED IN A FIGHT.

ROCKHILL, N. C., Nov. 25.—Lewis Pettigrew and Sandy Workman yesterday had a fight on account of a woman. Workman had a stick and Pettigrew no arms. Pettigrew split Workman's side from his shoulder to his stomach, killing him. He was arrested.

A THIEF'S CONFESSION.

WINTERBORN, Iowa, Nov. 25.—Fred Wilson, aged 20, confesses that he planned, and two notorious rascals perpetrated the extensive robbery which recently caused great excitement in this region. His accomplice and a young woman in whose father's house he had stayed, and to whom he made costly presents, were also arrested. Wilson was well thought of until he committed foray last winter.

THE OIL GAMBLING CRAZE.

OIL CITY, Nov. 25.—The excitement on the oil exchange yesterday was tremendous. Among the losers were many laborers, mechanics, clerks and boys, and even women and shop-girls who were carrying thousands of barrels or more on small margins with the savings of years. Men who had lost all were seen with blanched faces, and several women were crying bitterly.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of the Smith Medicine Co. We are certain that thousands of mothers will hail with joy the advent of such a company. Their work medicine has been tested and found as described, a great boon to suffering humanity. In the case of tapeworm we have been shown one measuring 80 feet, one of 32 feet, and one 14 feet, which have been passed from the bowels of three different individuals, after taking a few doses of Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy. Thousands of testimonials are in possession of these gentlemen, showing clearly that their work medicine are all that they claim them to be. —Montreal Post.

"TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' EXPERIENCE," says an eminent Physician, convince me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness of the generative organs is to repair the waste by giving Brain and Nerve Food, and of all the remedies I have used Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. This remedy is now sold by all our Druggists at 50 cts. per box, or 6 for $2.50, and on receipt of an order for 12 boxes, accompanied with $5.00, addressed to Mack's Magnetic Medicine Co., Windsor, Ont., they will forward the goods free by mail, and send their "written guarantee" to refund the money, if the treatment does not effect a cure. See adv't in another column.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Oyster Supper.

An oyster supper and Bazaar will be held in Carwell Hall, opposite the Mechanics' Institute, Water street, on Tuesday evening, the 28th inst. Tickets of admission 25 cents. Prize tickets (no blanks) which may draw a prize worth $1, ten cents each.

The Lakeside Dam.

The Ottawa Citizen of November 24th says: "Mr. A. F. Wood, of Madoc, brother of the Provincial Treasurer, and Mr. J. A. Wilkinson, of Cobourg, valuers of land on the Trent Valley Canal route, were in the city yesterday and had an interview with the Minister of Railways in reference to the appropriation of the Lakeside Dam for canal purposes. The Government have decided to become owners of the property, the present owner to be secured in the water power."

The Weather.

The sun was shining to-day, although the weather was partly cloudy and cool. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh northwesterly to southwesterly winds; fair weather, and slightly lower temperature.

Presentation.

On Tuesday, the 21st of November, the official staff of the "Missing Link" presented Mr. J. W. Baker with a very handsome water pitcher on his return from Montreal with his bride. The presentation was accompanied with an address expressive of the esteem in which Mr. Baker was held by his colleagues and of their good wishes for his future. The presentation was a pleasant surprise to Mr. Baker.

The Market.

There was a large attendance on the market this morning. The walks on the square were lined with vehicles, and the inside market was crowded. Prices were not materially changed. Butter 24, potatoes 75, chickens 45 to 50, ducks 50, geese 45 to 60, turkeys 60 to 75, dressed hogs 67.50 to 72.50. The price of grain remains about the same. Wheat 92 to 97, barley 45 to 60, oats 42 to 45, peas 74 to 76, and rye 55 to 58. One load of rye sold at 57.

Wants Repairing.

A good many of the ratepayers who reside in the neighborhood of Brock and Rutledge street, as well as those who have been in the habit of attending St. Andrew's Church, would like to know how it is that the sidewalk referred to has been allowed to get into the disgraceful state of repair in which it now is. We fancy if something is not done at once the would-be Councilors for 1883 will hear more about it than they bargained for.

Charged With Theft.

A man named Owen Phillips, who has been working on the "Missing Link," was arrested on Friday afternoon on a charge of stealing a revolver. It is alleged that he went into Mr. Becker's office, and while he was there the clerk had occasion to go upstairs. When he returned Phillips was going out, and the revolver, which had been lying on the safe, was gone. An officer was sent for and Phillips afterwards gave up the revolver. He was this morning committed to goal to stand his trial.

Lacrosse.

—Muddy crossings.
—Beautiful weather.
—Xmas, with all its mirth is only one month distant.
—The Fire Brigade Band are practicing new and choice Christmas music.
—An organ recital is talked of, to take place shortly, in St. John's Church.
—Drunks and theft cases are becoming quite numerous. What is this?
—Dressed hogs are plentiful on the market. They were not educated although dressed; they were dead.
—There were a large number of passengers on the noon train. Mr. Geo. A. Cox returned from Toronto.
—The butter market was crowded to-day. One stairway for ascent and descent is hardly enough.
—The Lindsay Post advances the theory that the brilliant light witnessed recently in the northern sky was caused by the thousands of bright new silver half dollars which the services and post-men were tossing about the streets of Peterborough which caused the reflection on the sky.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

THE PATRONS ASSEMBLE FOR THE THIRD TIME IN ONE WEEK.

Railway Matters Discussed—The Midland Company's Rights on Bethune Street—Referred to a Committee.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Friday evening.

PRESENT—His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors Alford, Cahill, Denne, Douglas, McNaughton, Menzies, Paterson, Poussette and Wilson.

THE OBJECT OF THE MEETING.

The Mayor said the meeting had been called to consider only one matter, and that was the railway switch on Bethune street, concerning which a petition had been sent in. He wished Mr. Cox to be present, but he was away from town.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Crown Lands Department, in reference to the conditions on which the land known as the "south reserve" was granted to the town.—Finance Committee.

From the Minister of Railways and Canals, acknowledging the receipt of a memorial from the Council.—Received.

From R. Kingan and others, calling the attention of the Council to the intention of the Midland Railway Company to construct a part of the line to Omemee on Bethune street and to make use of that street in such a way as to very greatly affect the value of their property there, and begging the Council to take steps to protect their interests.

THE RAILWAY AND THE STREETS.

Mr. B. KINGAN was, on motion, heard by the Council. There appeared to him, he said, to be no necessity for the company to choose the route they had for the Omemee branch. The line came very near the doors of the petitioners, and it occurred to them that the railway authorities might have come to the owners of the property and made some arrangement with them. Speaking for himself, he said that his property would be injured. A double track would run the entire length of and very close to his property. It would be impossible for him to improve the front of his property by building, and buildings were profitable in Peterborough now. As this line would be a through one trains would be running night and day.

Councillor MENZIES—What would be the amount of damage done to your property by the railway company?

Mr. KINGAN begged Councillor Menzies' pardon, but he thought that that would be a matter between himself and the railway company. It would be a dangerous place for a train to pass, and there would also be the nuisance of whistling, noise and smoke. It could not be charged that they were persecuting the railway. All would admit that if their property was injured they were entitled to compensation.

Mr. B. ROWE was also heard. The railway, he said, had been a nuisance for a number of years, and the nuisance was increasing. When permission was granted to build the line on Bethune street at the time it was constructed to Lakeside, it was understood that only two trains a day would be run. If the "Missing Link" trains ran on it there would be a further increase of the nuisance. It would lower the value of property, and the owners should be compensated. The siding which had been put in on Bethune street, and the habit of leaving cars standing there, was also a nuisance. The Council had granted the company permission to build the line, and who should the property owners look to but the Council?

Mr. W. DUMBLE, on motion, was heard, and complained of the cars passing and re-passing his block while being shunted. He contended that the shunting of trains from the corner of Sherbrooke street to Dalhousie street, was a greater nuisance than that the petition complained of. Since the track had been raised the annoyance was worse. He did not complain of the regular trains passing in and out, but only of the shunting. The Company should buy land on which to shunt their cars.

The Mayor—The difficulty is a by-law was passed granting them that privilege.

Councillor DUNLOP—Were the trains running there when you bought that property?

Mr. DUMBLE—Yes, but not to the same extent.

Councillor McNAUGHTON said it would be disastrous to the town if they were too hard on the railway.

Mr. E. B. EDWARDS, Town Solicitor, was asked for his opinion. The question, he said, resolved itself into this, Whether the by-law allowing the Railway Company the use of Bethune street was sufficient to allow them to use it also for a branch line. A railway company had no right to run a line along a street without the permission of the Council. It appeared to him that it was not contemplated by the Council when they passed the by-law, that the company should run a main line on the street, but only the road to Lakeside.

The Mayor—Could private individuals institute proceedings?
Mr. EDWARDS said that such proceedings were usually instituted by the corporation interested. Private individuals could only take proceedings in so far as they sustained injury. The By-law did not limit the number of trains to be run on the road. If the By-law gave the company permission to use the street for one purpose, and they used it for another, they would have to make arrangements therefor. He understood that the company were going to run the Lakeside branch on the other side of the river, and use the one on Bethune street for the through line only.

Councillor CAHILL said that if the railway was there when Mr. Dumble bought his property, and the circumstances had changed, he should receive compensation as well as those living north of Simcoe street.

Councillor POUSSETTE said that it was absurd to think that because the railway company only ran one train a day at the time they were given permission to use the street they could only do so still. It must have been contemplated that the business would increase. If the railway purchased a right of way from individuals they would not have to pay for injury done to adjacent property on which the line did not run, and it seemed to him to be the same with the street. He could not see that they had any claim now because the business of the railway had increased.

The Mayor—The petition complains of the additional line.

Councillor POUSSETTE said that the Act gave them power to connect the Omemee line with the main line, and he thought that they would be allowed to run on the street the short distance necessary to make the connection. If the company applied to the Council for permission to do so, they should protect the interest of those living there, but until they made such an application the Council could do nothing.

Councillor DUNLOP thought that there was no reason why private individuals should suffer to put money into the pocket of a rich corporation. Mr. Cox was a reasonable man, and if the matter was explained to him he would make a satisfactory arrangement.
Councillor DENNE thought Councillor Douglas was right. There was a difference of opinion as to whether private individuals could take proceedings.

Mr. EDWARDS said he only looked into the right of the town to take action. He did not consider the right of private individuals.

Councillor PATERSON moved, seconded by Councillor CAHILL,—That the petition of Mr. Kingan and others, complaining against the Midland Railway Company, be referred to the Town Solicitor and the Street and Bridge Committee, with power to take legal advice if necessary, and to consider such steps as may be necessary to protect the interests of the ratepayers, and report to the Council.

Councillor CAHILL—That will include Mr. Dumble's complaint.

The motion was carried and the Council adjourned.

Needing a New Suit!

A BOY'S COMPLAINT!

That boy needs a new suit. The one he has on is not only too thin but worn out. One or two neat patches are permissible on an otherwise good suit; but not enough of them to make the suit resemble a map of the Crown Lands timber limits. Your boy may derive a great deal of satisfaction from wearing such a Kaleidoscope attire, but we doubt if you don't. Suppose you look back a score of years and recall the anguish your wife would have felt in associating with better dressed companions, in such attire. But admitting that you did wear such clothing—is that any reason why your boy should? Times have changed since then, changed for the better, too. Boys are more thought of now, and their wants better provided for. He needs a new suit and there is not any good reason why he should not have it. Get him an overcoat as well; make a man of him. The outlay will pay. Let him feel that he is comfortable and of consequence as well. About prices? Dealing with us is a protection against outrageous prices and the proper way to secure low prices and real value is to deal with us. But don't forget the boy's clothes all the same.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1892.

MONTREAL.

Special to the Review, Nov. 27.
A BOMB MIGHTY fired into a Wagner palace car as the Central Vermont train emerged from the Victoria Bridge on Saturday night. Fortunately the bullet went over the heads of the passengers and lodged near the roof. There is no clue to the perpetrator of the act.
THE LOCAL STOCK MARKET was a shade better this morning.

An Ingenious Forger.

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—A curious use made of an autograph was shown to-day to the judge in the Court of Appeals. A Mr. Kelly was accused of having torn a leaf from his sister's autograph album, and written above the name of J.
Taylor a promise to pay $2,000. Kelly was recently convicted by a jury in Sherbrooke, and asked for a reserve case. This having been granted, Chief Justice Sir A. A. Dorion and their Honours Monk, Tassier, and Crow took the ground that the indictment should have stated that the promissory note was "for the payment of money." This had not been done by the Crown prosecutor.
Therefore, the prisoner was discharged.
Doubtless the people of Sherbrooke will hereafter take care to place their autographs at the top of the page when they write autographs for ladies. When inspectors can go the length of procuring money from an autograph, signs should be careful where they place it.

Bismarck's Boots.

Herr Von Bismarck had a shoemaker who had often broken faith with him, despite his most solemn promises, and he at length resolved to put up a stop to this sort of thing. One morning at 6 o'clock a messenger was dispatched to the dilatory shoemaker with the simple question: "Are Herr Von Bismarck's boots done?" Being answered in the negative the messenger departed, but in ten minutes there was another ring at the shop door. A second messenger thrust in his head with the inquiry:
"Are Herr Von Bismarck's boots ready?"
And so it went on every ten minutes, the same question all the day, through until evening, when at last the boots were finished.
Never again did the shoemaker keep Bismarck waiting for his boots.

Railway Collision.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 25.—Yesterday afternoon by the breaking of an axle six Intercolonial railway coal cars were demolished at the new mill, on the northern division. About 12 o'clock last night, as an engine was returning from the west, she ran into the Pullman of the train bound from Quebec to St. John, when near Newcastle. The tender was foremost, and it went about one quarter way through the Pullman. No passengers were hurt. The engine driver and fireman and a brakeman who were on the engine were terribly scalded and have since died. The Pullman was badly damaged, and the colliding engine was also injured.

A BIG INVESTMENT.—G. M. Everett, of Forest, states that Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam still holds its own amongst the many cough medicines in the market. He says that he has sold it for nearly sixteen years, and the sales are steadily increasing. One family has purchased over 50 bottles for various members and friends.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of the Smith Medicine Co. We are certain that thousands of mothers will hail with joy the advent of such a company. Their work medicine has been tested and found as described, a great boon to suffering humanity. In the case of tapeworm we have been shown one measuring 90 feet, one of 32 feet, and one 14 feet, which have been passed from the bowels of three different individuals, after taking a few doses of Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy. Thousands of testimonials are in possession of these gentlemen, showing clearly that their work medicine are all that they claim them to be.—Montreal Post.

"TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' EXPERIENCE," says an eminent Physician, convinces me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness
of the generative organs is to repair the waste
by giving Brain and Nerve Foods, and of all the remedies I have used Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. This remedy is now sold by all our Druggists at 50 cts. per box, or 6 for $2.50, and on receipt of an order for 12 boxes, accompanied with $5.00, addressed to Mack's
Magnetic Medicine Co., Windsor, Ont., they
will forward the goods free by mail, and send their "written guarantee" to refund the money,
if the treatment does not effect a cure. See advt in another column.

A DETECTIVE SHOT.
DUBLIN, Nov. 25.—Eastwood and Cox and another detective were in the neighbourhood of Sackville street watching a party of men suspected of being Fenians when four shots were fired at the officers, one wounding Cox. Eastwood captured the man and shot one of them named Dowling. He is not expected to recover.
He was among a group of ten men, one of whom, who ought to be a soldier, who threatened to bayonet him. A third man is in custody. The men had just come out of a public-house frequented by Fenians.

THE UNCROWNED EMPEROR.
ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 25.—The Czar will remove to the capital soon to remain during the winter. The recent visit here of the Emperor and Empress was attended by extraordinary precautions. The police were posted every six yards. Duellists were massed at the corner of each street, and the soldiers were drawn up outside the barracks.

PRIVATE EXECUTIONS.
COPENHAGEN, Nov. 25.—In consequence of the recent terrible scene at a public execution here, the Danish government has introduced a bill in the legislature providing that the use of the guillotine shall be private within the walls of the gaol.

APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY.
BERLIN, Nov. 25.—It is generally reported that the German Reichstag will be dissolved because the Government considers it impossible to conduct public business amicably with the Prussian Parliament. The Government believes a new election would result very favourably for them.

THE SOUDAN REBELS.
LONDON, Nov. 25.—A telegram from the governor of the Sudan announces that the rebels have been defeated at Darwer with great loss.
Much plunder was taken.

AN OTTOMAN GRIEVANCE.
CONSTANTINOPLE.—The Vakit states that the shores of the Red Sea, as far as the Gulf of Bassora, are Ottoman territory, and that sales of land to foreigners by native tribes are in contradiction of the imperial decree. Special agents will shortly be despatched to prevent the natives being deceived by evil disposed persons.

THE ROUMANIAN SUCCESSION.
BUCHAREST, Nov. 25.—In the Chamber of Deputies M. Cilescu raised the question of the succession to the throne. The President of the Council replied that the question had been settled, as Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern had renounced his rights to the crown of Roumania, in favour of his eldest son, and the latter would shortly take up his residence in Roumania.

THE ANARCHISTS.
PARIS, Nov. 25.—Two workmen were arrested at Lyons yesterday in connection with the anarchist movement. There have been further discoveries of dynamite.

A COLLISION.
LONDON, Nov. 25.—The Peninsular and Oriental line steamer Malra has been beached in the Swan roads after a collision with a steamer of the Clan line.

CAR WORKS BURNED.
LONDON, Nov. 25.—The car works of the London and North-Western railway at Wolyer-ton were burned to-day. Loss, £100,000. Three hundred men are thrown out of employment.

deceptively beaten by a gang of men at Clara-morris.

AMERICAN.

WEED'S FUNERAL.

ALBANY, Nov. 25.—The remains of Thurlow
Weed have arrived and were taken to St.
Peter's Church. The coffin was opened and the remains viewed by an immense crowd.

CHILDREN TOUR TO EUROPE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A London cable to the United Press says the German papers express the opinion that the continental tour of the Right Hon. Hugh Childers, Secretary of War, is undertaken for thwarting the mission of M. de Giers, the Russian Foreign Minister, and consider the reported illness of Mr. Childers a mere subterfuge.

THE OIL BUBBLE PRICKED.

BRADFORD, Nov. 25.—It is stated that the oil and suffering that prevail in the oil country is without parallel in the history of the trade.
The actual loss to the oil region by the decline of Thursday and Friday, and the depression in the value of stocks and property is estimated at $15,000,000. One large producer lost nearly $100,000 on a single transaction.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

DETROIT, Nov. 25.—At Manistee the trial of Philip Hunter, charged with the murder of Henry Weston in July last, is progressing. The trial is attracting many spectators, owing to the long residence of the deceased in Manistee.
The defendant has lived there but a few months, and came from Canada. He is a carpenter and about 38 or 40 years of age.

A SCHOONER LOST.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 25.—A despatch received here late this evening from Chicago gives the following details of the loss of the schooner Collingwood on Lake Michigan in Thursday's hurricane. The schooner loaded telegaph poles at St. Helen for Chicago. She had a crew of eight men, including Capt. Willets, of Kingston, Ont., part owner. When five miles north of Milwaukee and twenty miles from shore, the vessel went to pieces, and the captain, with four men, were lost. The remainder of the crew were picked up late on Friday night, off Grand Haven, by the propeller Wiscoonin. They had been over thirty hours on a raft twelve feet square, at the mercy of wind and wave.

STAR ROUTERS REMOVED.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—On the report of the Attorney the President this evening ordered the removal of the Marshal of the District of Columbia, Chas. E. Henry; Postmaster D. B.
Alinger; Assistant Postmaster M. M. Parker;
M. D. Helm, foreman of Congressional Record; and George E. Spencer, one of the Government Directors of the Union Pacific Railway, on the ground that they interfered with the administration of justice in the Star Route cases. The summary action of the President has given rise to rumors as to what may be expected in the same line in future. It seems agreed that District Attorney Corbhill will be removed and George Bliss substituted. Strict secrecy is being observed by persons well informed, and the rumors cannot be verified. The announcement of the removals fell like a thunderbolt on the parties concerned, as they had not the slightest intimation that such action was contemplated.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

AFFAIRS IN TURKEY.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 27.—Turkey refuses the cession of any territory on the Red Sea to any power. Derwish Pasha, who gave a satisfactory explanation touching the charge of ancourageing Arabi, has been released. Tassier and Kiamil Pasha have been arrested. The former was lately entrusted with a special mission to Vienna.

A DEPUTY DEAD.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Barnet du Vernier, a well-known radical deputy from Lyons, is dead.

THE TRADE UNIONS.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Two thousand members of the French Trade Unions yesterday extended greeting to twelve delegates from the English Unions, who came to Paris to represent the views of the English in favor of the tunnel.

AN OBNOXIOUS DECISION.

ROME, Nov. 25.—A posthumous circular issued in connection with the action of Signor Marti-nacci against the papal majordomo before the Court of Appeal, which confirmed the decision of the court of first instance, that the jurisdiction of the Italian tribunals extended within the walls of the Vatican, declares that the sentence of the Roman tribunal is a violation of the extra-territorial character of the Vatican and an insult to the Pope.

AMERICAN.

OBITU.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 27.—Ex-Federal and ex-Confederate Senator Robt. W. Barnwell, is dead, aged 81.

TRADE IN SAND.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 27.—On Long Island only four firms with a capital of $80,000 were engaged in the sand business which existed five years ago. The capital invested in the business at present exceeds two millions. An average of 4,500 tons of sand is shipped to New York daily.

FOLGER RESIGNED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The World's Washington despatch says that Folger has offered and the President has accepted his resignation as Secretary of the Treasury, to take effect on December 15th. It is understood that Folger, after his resignation, will take up his residence in New York City, as counsel of the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company. All speculation as to his probable successor in the Treasury would be premature.

BLACK AND WHITE.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Nov. 27.—The town is excited over the discovery that Owen Turner, a jet black negro, and Malinda Gormond (white) were recently married by Bala, a colored clergyman. The party who obtained the license swore that both persons were colored. Miss Gormond is of a respectable family. Bala and the married pair have absconded.

THE REACTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Herald's Bradford, Pa. despatch says the most of the bitter feeling entertained throughout the oil region is against the men of the Anchor Line Company, and their supposed agents are accused of having conspired to produce the recent disastrous loss movement. Many small speculators lost all their money, and threats are freely made to do damage to the alleged originators of the movement. J. A. Cadwallader, superintendent of the Anchor Company, was approached on Saturday by an angry producer, who exclaimed, "you scoundrel, you have ruined me and caused all this trouble. If your wife were not with you I would blow your brains out."
A despatch from Warren says that Cadwallader and his family have left town in a close carriage.

AM EMPHATIC DENIAL.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 27.—Marshall Henry is reported as saying: "Any charge that I have been in sympathy with the criminals, or in any way aided with defendants in the Star Route Case, is simply infamously."

A MILLIONAIRE'S FALL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—John Jobin, ex-President of the Hudson River Railway, formerly a millionaire and a power on Wall street, was arrested on Saturday for drunkenness.
Yesterday he was discharged with a reprimand.
He lost his wealth between 1885 and 1890, and has since been a hard drinker.

SUICIDE.

DENVER, Nov. 27.—Hans Shepard yesterday shot and killed himself on a train near Canon City. He had been suffering from brain fever and was going east for medical treatment.

DROWNED.

CANTON, N. Y., Nov. 27.—On Saturday night Thos. Quinn fell from the state bridge and was drowned. His cries were heard for half a mile. A large crowd assembled, but could not rescue him. He leaves a wife and six children.

UTICA INSANE ASYLUM.

POKESFILL, Nov. 27.—Jan. Silkman, of Yonkers, obtained from Judge Barnard on Saturday an order to take a physician and visit Utica asylum with a view of examining the mental condition of Miss Clara Lathrop, of Rochester.
In the case of C. C. Stanton, also an inmate of the asylum, Silkman obtained a writ of habeas

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Annual Sermon.

The annual sermon to the members of the St. Andrew's Society was preached on Sunday evening in St. Andrew's Church, by the Rev. Alex. Bell.

Personal.

The Rev. John Shaw, of Peterborough, will occupy the Methodist pulpit in Port Hope on Sunday next, on the occasion of the Sunday School anniversary.

Vote of Thanks.

At a meeting of McWilliams Lodge of True Blues last week, a vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. John Shaw for the special sermon delivered on the 5th of November.

Business.

Three harness shops in Peterborough have just completed an order for heavy draft harnesses for use on the construction of the line of the Canada Pacific Railway in the North-west Territory.

Our Police Court.

Now that a new Police Magistrate has been appointed it will not be out of place to call attention to the services of Mr. Thomas Menzies, J. P., who has assiduously and satisfactorily performed the duties of the Police Court for some little time past, in consequence of the illness of the late Police Magistrate.

The Weather.

Yesterday was very stormy, and snow fell nearly all day. To-day the weather is clear and cold. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows: Strong north westerly to northerly winds; clearing, colder weather.

That sidewalk.

The bad sidewalk to which reference was made in Saturday evening's issue was repaired on Saturday afternoon before we went to press. A couple of other places need attention, then the sidewalk would be complete. As a matter of fact, the statement made by the Mayor at a recent meeting of the Council that the sidewalks in Peterborough are kept in a better state of repair than those of any other town is strictly true, and although those who reside near a spot that needs repairing are apt to grumble in the hope that it will receive attention sooner, our Street Inspector does his duty faithfully. He cannot have his men in two or three places at once, but when a job is done it is well done.

Surprise Party.

On the evening of Friday last a number of friends from Otonabee waited upon the Rev. E. J. Stobo at his residence to express Christian sympathy for him in his prolonged illness, and to acknowledge in a tangible way the spiritual benefit received from his ministry. Mr. William Rutherford was spokesman for the party, and in their name presented Mr. Stobo with a purse of money. Mr. Stobo made a very feeling reply; using terms that what was done to the least of Christ's servants he regarded as done unto Himself. A very agreeable evening was spent with the family, and they were made feel that they are not without a large circle of well-wishers in town and country. Mr. Stobo is in hopes that he will soon be able to resume active work. He has been in very feeble health for about eighteen months.

A Lesson.

Not a great deal of snow has as yet fallen, but a lesson may be learned from the little experience of winter which it has afforded, even if former winters were forgotten. When it first falls on the sidewalk it looks innocent enough and even beautiful, and as the sun's rays take effect it melts rapidly and seems about to all run off. But before this is done the sun goes down, and Jack Frost takes the matter in hand and the snow and water forms a very dangerous trap, upon which it is not safe to venture on unimpaired life. When it first falls, the beautiful may please those of a poetical fancy, but in its congealed state it is apt to cause lacerations, very expensive and containing strong similes. It is not yet so much as would be called poetical or proper. In fact, it is liable to crack a good many skulls. The moral is that snow should be removed from the sidewalk as soon as it falls.

Very Choler!

That is the verdict given on this Darcy Oyster.

POLICE COURT.

THIEF.

SATURDAY, Nov. 25.—Owen Phillips was charged with stealing a revolver on Friday from the office of Mr. Beemer. He pleaded not guilty.

Some evidence was taken and the prisoner was committed for trial.

DRUNK.

Hugh McDonald was charged with having been found drunk in a public place. With an expressive nod of the head he acknowledged the charge, and was fined $1 and costs.

MONDAY, Nov. 27.—Mr. Thos. Menzies, J. P., and Mr. W. C. Nicholls, J. P., presided on the bench.

DRUNK.

John Moys, of Monaghan, seventy years of age, was charged with being drunk and disorderly on Saturday. He admitted that he had been drinking and said that he might have used bad language. He was allowed to go, on promising to leave town at once.

FAST DRIVING.

Robert Orde, of Otonabee, was charged with driving at a furious rate of speed on the street. He was fined $1 and $3 costs, which he paid.

St. Andrew's Day.

Thursday next being St. Andrew's Day, prayers will be held in St. John's Church at 10 o'clock a. m.

Fur Farm.

We have seen at Mr. Lech's some unusually fine furs and a most beautiful lot of otter and beaver skins, which he bought himself direct from the trappers in the back country, this fall. Now is the time to give orders. It will be seen that in this district we are not dependent upon the Hudson's Bay Company.

Jubilee Singers.

We are happy to learn that arrangements have been made for the Plak University Jubilee Singers, to give another performance on January 11th 1883. The programme will be entirely new so that those who heard them recently and were then delighted will have something fresh to enjoy. This news will be hailed with generally satisfaction.

The Police Magistrate.

Mr. D. W. Dumble has been gazetted as Police Magistrate of Peterborough to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. D. G. Hutton. This appointment meets with general approval, as it is considered that Mr. Dumble is well qualified to fill the position. Mr. Dumble has always shown himself to be public-spirited and enterprising, and we hope that, like his predecessor, he will still find time to devote a portion of his energies to the furtherance of any project that aims to benefit our town.

Smith's Market.

Oysters Fresh and direct from Baltimore three times per week at bottom prices, with a liberal discount off by the dozen or by the gallon. Fresh White Fish, Trout, Haddock and Cod. Finesse Haddies, Bloaters, Kipperd Mackerel, Cod Stake, &c. Bologna Sausage, Spiced Bacon, Hams, Poultry and Game. Fruit, Apples, Peas, Grapes, Cranberries and a general assortment of Canned Goods. Fresh Vegetables of all kinds. Don't fail to buy our Oysters and compare the price, freshness, quality and bulk with others selling at higher prices.

Five Beauties.

There passed through town to-day, en route for the stables of Mr. Charles D. Moore, Smith, we venture to think, five of the finest two year old steers which ever trod the streets of Peterborough. Two of them were bred by Mr. Grandy, of Manvers, the other three by Mr. Dundas, of Cavan, and the five weighed 6,000 or an average of 1,212 lbs. each—a weight which few three year old steers attain. Mr. Moore purchased them for stall feeding, and by the time they reach three years of age will no doubt kick the beam at weights which will be exceedingly hard to beat, age considered.

Railway Notes.

The Campbellford Herald says that Mr. Thos. Landon has just completed and opened a fine large hotel at Hord's station.

The Norwood Register says that about fifty Italians arrived at the Indian River last week to work on the Ontario and Quebec.

The men on McDonald's contract, says the same paper, commence work at 8.00 a. m. and quit at 5 p. m.

The track laying on the Toronto and Ottawa railway was completed from Madoc to Bridgewater on Thursday the 23rd of November. The inhabitants of Bridgewater celebrated the event by a picnic and an excursion over the newly-laid line to Madoc.

Larceny.

Snow. The boys are sharpening their skates. Sleigh bells jingle merrily on the streets.

Services in the churches were well attended yesterday although it was stormy.

A drunken man was arrested on Saturday evening and sent to the cells until this morning.

An eastern contemporary published daily a column of "driftwood." It consists chiefly of water-logged wit.

If each person should shovel the snow off the sidewalk in front of his property, who should attend to the crossings?

FENELON FALLS.

THE PULP MILL.—The Gazette says that a telegram has been received from Mr. J. R. Scott, of Napawan, stating that he will be in Fenelon Falls on Friday, and we hope to be able to announce in next week's Gazette that terms have been agreed upon between himself and the corporation, and that the erection of the chemical pulp mill in this village is to be commenced at an early date.

Why Should Not Women Whistle?

If the mere act of whistling can help and cheer a man so much, why should it be denied a woman? If whistling will drive away the blues and be company for a lonesome person, surely women have much more need of its service than their brothers, for to them come many more such occasions than to men. There are many who have not the gift of song. Why should they not whistle as they rock the cradle or perform their household duties, or accompany themselves on the piano? But there is a physical or hygienic advantage in whistling which should excuse it against all the canons of propriety or "good form."

It is often remarked that the average girl is narrow-chested, and in that respect compares unfavorably with her brother. May this not be due in some measure to the habit of whistling which every boy acquires as soon as he arrives at the dignity of pants, and girls seldom do? Let any one try for five minutes the inhaling and exhaling of the breath as it occurs in the act of whistling, and the effect on the lungs and chest cannot fail to be noticed. A daily practice of this kind would be of more benefit than all the patent inspirators and chest expanders in the market.—Phrenological Journal.

A CHARI, of Sterling, in a recent letter states that he met with an accident some time ago, by which one of his knees was severely injured. A few applications of Hazard's Yellow Oil afforded immediate and complete relief.

DAVEY & CLARK, Druggists, Renfrew, date of June 3rd, write:—"Burdock Blood Bitters, though comparatively a new preparation, has taken the lead in this locality as a blood purifier, our sales of it being equal to that of all other medicines used for the purpose during the last year."

The sudden changes in our Canadian climate are certainly conducive to lung, throat and chest affections, but by the prompt use of the proper remedy there is no reason why consumption should be so prevalent. Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops never fail to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, pain or oppression of the chest, and all pulmonary affections. It loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. Sold every where in large bottles at 50 cents.

Needing a New Suit!

A BOY'S COMPLAINT!

That boy needs a new suit. The one he has on is not only too thin but worn out. One or two neat patches are permissible on an otherwise good suit; but not enough of them to make the suit resemble a map of the Crown Lands timber limits. Your boy may derive a great deal of satisfaction from wearing such a Kaleidoscope of attire, but we doubt if you don't. Suppose you look back a score of years and recall the an-ush you would have felt in associating with better dressed companions, in such attire. But admitting that you did wear such clothing, is that any reason why your boy should? Times have changed since then, changed for the better, too. Boys are more thought of now, and their wants better provided for. He needs a new suit and there is not any good reason why he should not have it. Get him an overcoat as well; make a man of him. The outlay will pay. Let him feel that he is comfortable and of consequence as well. About prices: Dealing with us is a protection against outrageous prices and the proper way to secure low prices and find value is to deal with us. But don't forget the boy's clothes all the same.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1883.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Bank.

The flooding of the curling and skating rink was commenced on Monday, and the managers expect to have the ice in proper condition for sport by the end of the week, should the weather permit.

Missionary Meeting.

St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, holds its annual missionary meeting on Thursday at half-past seven p. m. Excellent addresses may be expected, the chief speakers, among others who have promised to attend, being the Pastor of Cavan and the Incumbent of Lakeside. All are invited.

Lioness Victrola Meeting.

The licensed victuallers of the town and county of Peterborough met last night at the Oriental Hotel to elect delegates to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Trade Benevolent Association to be held at Toronto on December 12th and 13th. Mr. H. Calcutt was chosen to represent the county and Mr. W. Croft to represent the town of Peterborough.

Oyster Supper.

The oyster supper and bazaar in the hall of the Carwell Lodge, I. O. G. T., on Tuesday evening was attended by a large number of persons, and was a pronounced success, financially and otherwise. Many expressions of satisfaction were made in reference to the gifts at the bazaar. This evening they will give an oyster social, at which the admission fee will be 10 cents.

The Weather.

The weather continues cloudy, and the wind cold. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Strong winds and moderate gales from the north-east and north-west; cloudy to fair weather, with areas of light snow; not much change in temperature.

An Accident.

This forenoon at about 10 o'clock, while some men were engaged in moving a building on Charlotte street, James Bradley met with an accident. A heavy pry was placed under the building and the men were pulling down on it, when it slipped and fell across Mr. Bradley's chest, bringing him to the ground. No bones appeared to be broken, but he was otherwise injured, and he was taken to Dr. King, who attended to his injuries.

Anniversary Tea.

A tea-meeting was held on Tuesday evening in the Bible Christian Church, Ashburnham, in connection with the anniversary of that church. There was a large attendance, and the tea was of the usual excellent quality. Addresses were delivered by the Rev. Mr. Jolliffe, of Peterborough, and the Rev. Mr. Copeland, of Port Hope, who was formerly pastor of the church. The choir rendered several musical selections in a good style, and the meeting altogether was a successful one.

The Telegraph Poles.

In accordance with the request of the Council, the unsightly telegraph poles have been removed off the principal streets, and only those now remain that are absolutely necessary to carry the wires. In passing the votes of thanks, the Council should not have forgotten Mr. Alex. Filiver, the company's repurser here, under whose direct supervision the work was done to the entire satisfaction of both the company and the public at large. Only half a dozen poles now remain on Simcoe street, but as these have been purchased by the Telephone Company, the Telegraph Company have no further control over them. Upwards of one hundred and fifty poles were removed within the corporation alone, a work of considerable magnitude, considering the very short interruption to the telegraphic service was praiseworthy.

Lacerations.

—Blank at the Police Court.
—Two tramps in the cells last night.
—There was an average attendance at the market this forenoon.

—The curlers are again about getting ice as the ice would be if they had it.
—A diminutive male attached to an antiquated 6th cart was one of the oddities on the market this morning.

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY.

The Peterborough Pork Packing House—Operations Commenced.

Work has been commenced in the Peterborough Pork Packing House, and although all the arrangements inside the building and about it are not yet completed, about one hundred hogs have been cut up and are being cured.

The establishment is owned by Mr. George Matthews, of Lindsay, who carries on a similar industry in that town, and has had a large experience in the business. The building was put up by Mr. Geo. Nelson, contractor, and is situated on George street, near Wolfe street, on the bank of the river. The situation is a good one and will be very convenient for the purpose. The main building is a large one, one hundred by fifty feet, two stories high with a basement, and is built of red brick with white brick ornamentation. It is very substantially built, and is much more ornamental than one would expect in a building for this purpose, being indeed a handsome edifice.

The entrance to the establishment is on George street. The front part of the first story is at present used for a store room, and contains a large number of dressed hogs and barrels of salt. This part, as the business increases, will be monopolized for the purpose of cutting and preparing the hogs in. In the eastern half of the first story the hogs are cut up and the bones extracted. This, though quickly done, needs an expert hand and a thorough knowledge of the business. In the first place the dressed hogs are placed on a bench, beheaded, split down the centre in halves and the spine cut off. The sides are then placed on another bench, and the bones taken out. The ribs are first stripped off, with some meat adhering to them, and then an incision is made at the shoulder blade. An iron prepared for the purpose is inserted, and all the meat pared away from the bone of the shoulder blade, which is extracted perfectly clean, without a vestige of meat remaining on it. The shank is then taken out, and the side of pork is converted into long, clear bacon, without a bone in it. Then it is put into a "chute," and sent down to the basement, as are also the hams. The floor in this part of the building where the cutting up is done, is corked and perfectly tight, which will be more appreciated by the workmen in the summer, when the hogs will be slaughtered at the building and brought right in for curing.

The basement is the full size of the building. In it the sides of bacon are salted and cured ready for the market, and the hams are also cured. The hams are all dry salted, and put into dry tanks and sugar cured. There are eleven of these tanks in the basement, each of which will hold one hundred and eighty hams. From the tanks in the basement the hams will be either sent up to the highest story or taken to the smoke house. In the eastern end of the basement the floor is of brick, on which the curing will be done in the summer. An ice house will be erected between the main building and the river, 40 feet square and 30 feet high, in which ice will be stored to be used in the process of curing in the summer.

From the cellar or basement the hams will be taken to the highest story by means of an elevator (which is not yet constructed), where they will be "white dried," that is, they will, in place of being smoked, be dried by means of hot air. Another apartment in this story will be used for the purpose of thawing out frozen hogs by steam.

On the first floor of the building there is an apartment used for making sausage in. In this room the boiler and engine are stationed, and by them the sausage machine is driven. The cutting machine has four knives, and the meat is placed in a large revolving iron tub, and as it turns around and comes under the four knives it is chopped into sausage meat. This machine will cut up about 60 pounds of meat in fifteen minutes. In the same apartment there is a large iron tank with hollow sides (manufactured at Mr. W. Hamilton's foundry), into which the hog's fat is placed and boiled by steam, the steam being carried from the boiler by a pipe into the hollow sides of the tank. From this tank the lard is removed into a cooler, and from the latter into a lard press, where it is made ready for sale.

An engine house will be built in the spring at the south side of the main building, and a new engine and boiler, of 35 or 20 horse power, will be put in.

The smoke house is a brick building detached from the main establishment. The furnace is in a brick basement, and is covered by an arch of brick in which are several holes through which the smoke passes into the apartment above where the hams are suspended from the joists. The arch is so arranged that if the hams at one end are cured first, the holes in that end will be closed and the smoke shut off.

Mr. W. E. Matthews, son of the proprietor, has charge of the establishment at present, and appears to understand his business. In erecting this building Mr. Matthews has brought all his experience to bear upon it, so as to have it arranged in the best manner possible for the business. Next summer hogs will be slaughtered at the establishment, in a slaughter house yet to be built. Last summer Mr. Matthews shipped live hogs from here to Lindsay, but next summer he will do so slaughtering there, as this establishment is better adapted for the purpose, and the hogs will be shipped in the other direction—from Lindsay to Peterborough. Thus there will be a good market for hogs in Peterborough all the year round, and in this the establishment will be an important addition to the industries of the town, besides the employment which it will give and its importance because it is a business which will cause a considerable export trade. We wish success to the new industry.

Needing a New Suit!

A BOY'S COMPLAINT!

That boy needs a new suit. The one he has on is not only too thin but worn out. One or two neat patches are permissible on an otherwise good suit; but not enough of them to make the suit resemble a map of the Crown Lands timber lands. Your boy may derive a great deal of satisfaction from wearing such a kaleidoscopic attire, but we doubt if it does. Suppose you look back a score of years and recall the anguish you would have felt in associating with better dressed companions, in such attire. But admitting that you did wear such clothing—in that any reason why your boy should? Times have changed since then, changed for the better, too. Boys are more thoughtful of new, and their wants better provided for. He needs a new suit and there is not any good reason why he should not have it. Get him an overcoat as well; make a man of him. The outlay will pay. Let him feel that he is comfortable and of consequence as well. About prices: Dealing with us is a protection against outrageous prices and the proper way to secure low prices and find value is to deal with us. But don't forget the boy's clothes all the same.

$14,885.77 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $5,890.41; and the aggregate traffic to date is $202,923.03, being an increase of $29,619.15 over 1881.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is mild and cloudy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 10 a. m. to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh north westerly to south westerly winds; generally fair weather with flurries of snow in some localities; stationary or slightly higher temperature.

W. H. C. A. Rooms.

The reading room of the Young Men's Christian Association has been furnished with a new and handsome carpet, and several pictures now adorn the walls. This is a pleasing evidence of the prosperity of the Association, and of the attention that is given to this part of the institution. The reading room is an important factor of their work; it is furnished with a large number of religious and other journals, and with this addition to its appearance it will be still more attractive to young men, who will find it a pleasant and profitable place to spend some hours of the evenings of each week.

Coasting.

Our daily exchanges have all joined as with one voice in a protest against the coasting business. This is usual at this time of the year, and the warnings to the boys with the hand sleigh come as regularly with the first fall of snow as do the poetical effusions on the beautiful. But these warnings are not given without a reason. It is a dangerous practice for the boys who engage in it, as well as for those who have to use the sidewalks on which the sleds are taken. One place where coasting has been practised during the past few days is particularly dangerous, and that is on Brock street, on the descent east of St. Andrew's church. The hand sleighs come swiftly down to the railway track, and there is the double danger of the sleighs catching on the rails and throwing its occupants and of passing locomotives. It would be an unpleasant duty to have to chronicle the breakage of any boys' limbs by this practice, and they should take the warning and desist before accidents occur.

Advertising and Business.

Our local merchants are evidently alive to their interests, as will be readily seen from the unusually large quantity of advertisements that are to be seen in the columns of the REVIEW. If a business man is doing a good trade and wishes to retain his custom, he must advertise. By bringing his wares before the public he not only gains custom, but the confidence of those who read his advertisement and then go and purchase of him. No man can expect to do a thriving business—no matter what the nature of that business may be—unless he makes a liberal use of printers' ink. People who read the local papers do not throw them to one side after potting the contents of editorial, local and other matter, but they peruse the advertising columns, and if they see a man's advertisement that enlightens them on the prices of their everyday wants, and one that will tell them where to go for bargains, etc., then they communicate the news to others—if not by handing them their paper, by personally telling them of the benefits to be derived from men who advertise. Our merchants in Peterborough are therefore wise in advertising in the way they do, and we have no doubt they reap a rich reward in doing so.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Nov. 29.—Mr. Thomas Manson,
J. P., dealt out justice to the offenders.

DROCK.

Robert Fraser admitted having partaken too freely of the bowl, and was fined $1 with costs or seven days gaol.

Edward McMahon acknowledged that he had been drunk, and pleaded earnestly to be allowed to go because it was his first offence, but the Magistrate could not be melted by such arguments, and fined him $1 or seven days in gaol.

Bartholomew McMahon also pleaded guilty to the charge of having been drunk, and his sister's name did not save him from the consequences of his deed, as his appearance was not in accord with the name. Fine, $1 or seven days in gaol.

None of the prisoners had the currency to pay their fines, so warrants of commitment were made out and they were escorted up the hill.

An Assembly.

An assembly will be held in the Casino House this evening, under the auspices of the clerks of the town. The young men—and those who attend with them—will no doubt enjoy a pleasant evening.

Railway Note.

The Napanee, Tamworth, and Quebec Company have decided to go on and build the road, and with that end in view will make application to the Ontario Legislature for a special Act, extending the time for completing the work to the 15th of September, 1884.

Personal.

Among those registered at the Oriental Hotel to-day are Mr. Geo. McMullen, of the Central Ontario Railway, and Mr. Thos. H. St. John, of Peking, China.

The announcement of the marriage of Mr. H.
J. Stapleton and Miss D. Ufford appears in another column. We beg to offer to Mr. Stapleton and bride our congratulations and good wishes.

Incidents.

—St. Andrew's Day.
—The last day of November.
—Thanksgiving day across the line.
—Three prisoners in the cells last night.
—Three drunks at the Police Court this morning.

—Twenty-four well-filled mail bags were taken from the noon mail train to the Post Office.

—The Collector is delivering the tax notices municipal Christmas cards.

Gas Meters Inspected.

One hundred gas meters, for the new gas works at Lindsay, which were shipped from England, were re-shipped to Peterborough to be inspected by Mr. T. Cahill, Gas Inspector, there being no gas inspection office in Lindsay.
The work of inspecting the meters has been completed. The gas company were not obliged to leave the expense, but it is evidently their interest to give their customers every satisfaction, and they therefore deserve encouragement.

A Bad Tem.

On Wednesday night a number of "Mining Lark" parties were driving out to their work, after a journey in town, one of the number named McMahon, was thrown from the wagon at the corner of Hunter and Aymer streets, and fell heavily against a large stone near the sidewalk. With a drunken man's luck he escaped with a slight cut, and being insensible he was laid on the sidewalk to await his recovery, which soon took place. In the meantime officer Pigeon arrived at the scene, and conveyed his prisoner to the cells, where he remained until this morning, when after an interview with J.
P. Manson he went to gaol for seven days.

Sole Fixed Upon.

The date of the re-opening of the old Otter-shoe Lodge of Odd Fellows No. 13, first established in Peterborough, 11th March 1846, has been definitely fixed for the 6th or 8th prox, repairs having been received by the Secretary, from the M. W. Grand Master and Grand Secretary appointing either the above dates as being agreeable to them. It is expected that part of the re-opening ceremonies will take place in the afternoon, the re-institution, installation &c. &c., between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock, and from 5 to 6 o'clock the magnificent new hall of this Lodge will be thrown open to the public for inspection. Visitors are cordially invited; invitations will be extended to the surrounding Lodges in the district, and it is expected delegations of the leading members of the several Lodges will be present, preparations for their entertainment having been already made. The furnishing of the new hall will be thoroughly completed in a couple of days, and should be seen, as it may be said, it surpasses anything in town. We shall endeavor to give a full and complete report of the furnishings and appointments when completed. All the old members of this Lodge of 1846-50 who can prove themselves, are invited to be present at the re-opening.

"Very Obedient"

That is the verdict given on Tom. Darcy's Oyster's.

Law Officers' Orders.

HALIFAX, Nov. 29.—The suit in equity as to the ownership of the Salmon River gold mine is still pending. The Lookhart party obtained an injunction from a judge in equity to prevent the Mott party from continuing the work. Two of the sheriff's deputies, who were sent down to enforce the order, telegraph from Sheet Harbor that while on their way to the mines yesterday they were waylaid by forty or fifty men, who fell upon them, beat and robbed them, and threw them into the river, whence they escaped with difficulty.

Sugar Case.

On Monday last we were shown by Mr.
Robt. Bell, Jr., of Hensall, a sample of syrup, which he manufactured from amber sugar cane.
The syrup was very bright, and resembled honey very much, and is a very superior article to that sold in the stores. He says that he and his partner have this year manufactured 800 gallons, and that if the cane were properly cultivated it would produce 300 gallons to the acre.
He says the farmers in this section have not given it the attention they would have had it not been that it was a new industry, and were all afraid to risk it, but it is thought after this year nearly every farmer in the country will more or less employ themselves in the cultivation of amber sugar cane. There is no crop that will pay better, for the average yield to the acre is twenty tons, and the cane is sold at $5 a ton, thus realizing $100 per acre, while the cost is worth 70 cents a bushel. The cost of manufacturing the article is 20 cents a gallon, which, after being prepared, is sold at 70 cents per gallon. We believe the two gentlemen are going more extensively into the business next year, as it is their intention to add greatly to their machinery, and also put in steam, for they have hitherto been running the affair by hand.—Enter Times.

Needing a New Suit!

A BOY'S COMPLAINT!

That boy needs a new suit. The one he has on is not only too thin but worn out. One or two neat patterns are permissible on an otherwise good suit; but not enough of them to make the suit resemble a map of the Crown Lands timber limits. Your boy may derive a great deal of satisfaction from wearing such a Kaleidoscope attention, but we doubt if it don't. Suppose you look back a score of years and recall the anguish
you would have felt in associating with better dressed companions, in such attire. But admitting that you did wear such clothing—is it not easy to see why your boy should? Times have changed since then, changed for the better, too. Boys are more thoughtful of now, and their wants better provided for. He needs a new suit and there is not any good reason why he should not have it. Get him an overcoat as well; make a man of him. The outlet will pay. Let him feel that he is comfortable and of consequence as well. About prices: Dealing with us is a protection against outrageous prices,
and the proper way to secure low prices and find value is to deal with us. But don't forget the boy's clothes all the same.

o'clock on Thursday evening, and the firemen turned out promptly and had the hose carts out of the sheds in a few minutes, but before the engine was got out it was learned that its services were not required. The alarm was caused by a lamp being upset in Mr. Duncan Cameron's tailor shop. The oil became ignited, but the fire was extinguished before it did much damage.

A Change.
A welcome change to the train men, has been made in the running of the trains on the Peterborough branch of the Midland, Conductor Riley now runs until noon, when he gives way to Conductor Darke, who runs the trains during the remainder of the day. Conductor Morris finishes his day's work when he arrives here at night and his train is then taken to Millbrook and returns by conductor Riley.
Messrs. Riley and Darke change week about, making the work even.

Dr. Allen's Death.
A telegram from Calcutta this morning conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of Dr. Arthur Allen, who removed from Peterborough to his home near Hamilton a few weeks ago. Dr. Allen has been suffering from fever, and died at about 8 o'clock this morning.
He had long been a resident of Peterborough, and practiced in his profession here for about a year, after completing his studies in England.
He gave promise of rising in the medical profession, and was greatly admired for his social qualities, and his relatives will have the deep sympathy of a large circle of friends.

solved not to pay the bill, as classes heretofore have not been required to do so. The Principal of the institution determined that the right of the opposition should be suspended for immoral conduct. The announcement created a storm in the college. The class yesterday resolved that if suspension was insisted upon, there should be an open revolt. The principal was immovable in his decision and three hundred students locked up their rooms and marched from the college to an hotel, where they say will remain until Tuesday, when the full Board will meet.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1882.

AULD SCOTLAND'S SONS

HOMAGE TO ANDREW'S DAY BY THE ANNUAL DINNER.

Members of the Society, Assembly of the Phalan House—An Evening Pleasantly Spent—Toasts, Songs and Speeches.

St. Andrew's Day was not allowed to pass this year without a fitting celebration. Scotchmen and the descendants of Scotchmen—priestpally members of the St. Andrew's Society—met on Thursday evening at the Phalan House, where the day was honored by a banquet.

A large number sat down to the table, which was set out with tempting viands of all kinds. The spread showed that Mr. Sturgeon knew how to prepare for such an occasion, and the genial host received many compliments during the evening on his ability as a caterer.

The part of the entertainment having received full justice, toasts were proposed, songs sung, and speeches made, and a very pleasant time was enjoyed.

Mr. Thos. Telford, President of the St.
Andrew's Society, occupied the Chair; Mr.
John Patterson, 1st Vice President, occupied the 1st Vice Chair, and Mr. A. Howie, 2nd Vice President, the 2nd Vice Chair.

The first toast proposed was "The Queen,"
by the Chairman.

Song—"God Save the Queen."

The VICE CHAIRMAN proposed "His Excellency the Governor General and the Princess Louisa."

Song—"Hail to the Chief," from Scott's
"Lady of the Lake," by Mr. D. D. Galloway.

The CHAIRMAN proposed "The Day and all who honor it."

Mr. W. Telford responded, and hoped that all present would be long spared to see the return of the day and to honour it.

Dr. KIRKLAND also responded, and said that, although born in the Emerald Isle, he had Scotch blood in his veins. He believed in Scotchmen's high days as those; it took them time to pass their boyhood days, and they were loyal to Canada on account of it.

The CHAIRMAN proposed "The Day and all who honor it." The President of the Bank of England was a Scotchman, as was also the Archbishop of Canterbury, whose severe illness was now mended, and Mr. Gladstone had Scotch blood in his veins.

This country had been ruled by Scotchmen for last twenty years, but he added pleasantly, he believed it was time that Canadians took their place.

Song—"Allister McAllister," by Mr. H.
Howie.

The 2nd VICE CHAIRMAN proposed "The Harvest and Barley of Scotland." He said that Scotland had, had barley, and it still had barley, as was shown recently in Egypt.

Song—"Scotland for Me," by Mr. Galloway.

Mr. W. Telford, the Bard of the Society, then read the following lines composed for the occasion:

SCOT, WAD YE NA LIKE TO GANG BACK?
LEAVE FOR THE FORTHBRIDGE ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY, NOVEMBER 26, 1882.

O wad ye no like to gang back,
To Scotia's warlike land,
Another wee bit back to tak'
O' your auld native land;
There in the hills o' Scotland
A lather's work I wad
To view again that dear auld spot
Before death shuts his eye.

How quick your true Scotch heart wad beat,
Big tears o' joy down fa'
And ye wad leap wi' supple foot
Tae the bonnie o' the braes;
To stand auld Scotia's hills a-new,
The land o' life's first spring,
There where the auld Scotch mill ye drew,
First heard your father sing.

How ye wad rub your eyes, I wad,
Like a youth at early morn,
To view again the old thatched cot,
That dear spot ye were born;
And wad again that wimplin' burn
As waded your youthful feet,
Or climb the craggy steep windin' burn
And see the primrose sweet.

To peep into the auld drake house,
Where ye learned your A B C,
And claved at times to shift the loom,
Playin' marbles on your knees;
To stand up the hill among the trees,
And see the auld mill race,
A wimplin' burn in brichtest bloom
O' Scotia's auld native land.

To tread again that glen glen
Where your fatherland auld,
Step gently on the soil which them
Drank up their dear native's blood;
With throbbin' heart's desire
Wad ye na' that auld mill race,
That old stone marks some dear to thee,
Laid in that auld kirkyard.

Auld friends, auld cronies meet again,
With them ye auld did play,
Dance thairne the mair, those that remain
Thair heads are turning gray;
For lik true foot I'll pledge my vow—
As his wish if ye please—
Tae that ye may tread Scotia's knowe
Ane mair before he does.

Though regular sleep may be his lot,
He still has to be that thatched cot,
The auld mill race, the auld mill race,
Though he has mair o' good and gear,
His thoughts are a' the time o' the auld
When he auld o' his mill race.

Mr. Thos. Telford, 1st Vice Pres., is only but a blaw on earth,
Love, and he is a' the time,
For the auld mill race, the auld mill race,
The auld mill race, the auld mill race,
The auld mill race, the auld mill race,
The auld mill race, the auld mill race,
The auld mill race, the auld mill race.

Though we can gear die, and aye gear,
Some heads both gear and gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear.

Perhaps we gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear,
Let us gear gear gear gear.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON proposed "The House of Commons and the Local Legislature." There was, he said, in the House of Commons men of every class, who acted laws for the benefit of the Dominion, and there were men equally as good in the Local Legislature. He coupled Dr. Kirkland's name with the toast.

On KIRKLAND said that when he first began to attend festive occasions like the present, he was usually called upon to reply to the toast of the Scotchmen and volunteers, but he was thinking out into new lines, and this was new to him. He was not, in the full sense of the word, a politician. His only object in going into public life was to support good measures, no matter which party introduced them. He believed there was a deliberative body to the world of which Scotchmen were the House of Commons, and he referred particularly to the Hon. E. Blake and Sir Charles Tupper. Canada was making rapid strides towards becoming a nation second to none. The finances of this Province were in a good condition, and although he was a Conservative, he believed that good legislation had been passed by the Ontario Government. But he did not want to talk politics, and he again thanked them for the manner in which they had honored the toast.

Mr. W. CURRIE proposed "The Mayor and the Corporation of Peterborough." This town, he said, had a Mayor who looked closely after the affairs, and good men at the Council Board, and the consequence was that the affairs of the town were in a prosperous condition.

The CHAIRMAN said that he had received a telegram from the Mayor, who was called away on business, expressing regret because he could not be present.

Song—"Fanny and Maggie," by Mr. Howie, and "When the Auld Men Come Home," by Mr. Henry Howie.

The CHAIRMAN proposed "The Army, Navy and Volunteers."

Mr. J. R. STRATTON responded, referring to the record of services of the British army and navy, and returning thanks on behalf of the volunteers.

Song—"The Battle of the Baltic," by Mr.
Galloway.

The CHAIRMAN proposed "The Learned Professors."

Dr. KIRKLAND said that the weight of responding to these learned professions was almost too great for him. He referred to the educational institutions of Canada, which had supplied the country with able men in the learned professions, and returned thanks for the way in which the toast was received.

Dr. KIRKLAND proposed "The Press." There was no need to propose with greater pleasure. The press of Canada was ahead of the times, and would shape the destiny of Canada, which would have a glorious future.
In Peterborough they had the most progressive press in the country. The DAILY EVENING RE-VIEW was one of the most enterprising newspapers in Canada, and the Standard had recently received congratulations from the entire press of the Province.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, of the Standard, responded, and returned thanks for the terms in which the toast had been proposed and received. The press of Peterborough, he believed, was conducted fairly and honorably.

Mr. E. R. ARTHUR, of the REVIEW, also responded. Although a native Canadian, he could join in such celebrations, as they taught Canadian lessons of patriotism and love for their native country.

"The Ladies" was also proposed and duly received.

Song—"Wouldn't I Like to Marry," by Mr.
Howie.

"The Host and Hostess," was the next toast given.

Mr. SHOWER responded briefly.

Song—"The Heather Hills," by Mr. Howie, and "John Barleycorn," by Mr. J. Irving.

"The President and Officers of the St. Andrew's Society," was responded to by Mr. Thos.
Telford, President, Mr. John Patterson, Mr. W.
Currie, and Mr. Howie.

"The Auld Scotchmen," was proposed by Mr.
Currie.

Mr. Howie and Mr. J. R. STRATTON responded, the latter on behalf of the Masons, Oddfe-lows, United Workmen, and Foresters.

"God Save the Queen," and "Auld Lang Syne," were then sung, and the company dispersed.

This celebration was more largely attended than that of last year, and was one with which all who took part were well pleased.

Politics and Business.

Some men don't seem to understand the differences between political assertions and business facts. Three or four days before election a Baltimore lawyer made a political speech in a country village, being a red-hot republican he naturally gave the democratic party the best he had, and among other things asserted that in case of democratic success the country would have to pay the confederate bonds. Two or three days after election a man walked into the lawyer's office, opened a valise and took from it $200,000 of red bonds and said:
"What are they worth?" "Four cents a piece," said the democratic party lawyer.
"What of that?" "But don't the country have to pay these bonds?" "Not by a jugful." The bond-holder looked steadily at the lawyer for a long while and then slowly said: "Well by gum!
After sixty-six of a republican who listened to your speech and voted the democratic ticket in order to realize on our bonds, you now tell me that you didn't mean what you said!"—Wall Street News.

Needing a New Suit!

A BOY'S COMPLAINT!

That boy needs a new suit. The one he has on is not only too thin but worn out. One or two neat patches are permissible on an otherwise
good suit; but not enough of them to make the suit resemble a map of the Crown Lands timber limits. Your boy may derive a great deal of satisfaction from wearing such a Kaleidoscope attire, but we doubt if it does him good. Suppose you look back a score of years and recall the anguish
you would have felt in associating with better dressed companions, in such attire. But admitting that you did wear such clothing—is that any reason why your boy should? Times have changed since then, changed for the better, too. Boys are more thoughtful of now, and their wants better provided for. He needs a new suit and there is not any good reason why he should not have it. Get him an overcoat as well; make a map of him. The outlet will pay. Let him feel that he is comfortable and of consequence as well. About prices: Dealing with us is a protection against outrageous prices
and the proper way to secure low prices and find value is to deal with us. But don't forget the boy's clothes all the same.

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE

No. 25.—The item which will be found under the heading of Grammar School Lands, is of much the same character as the one last explained. So long ago as in the second year of her present Majesty's reign there was set apart 200,000 acres of land, the proceeds of which were to be devoted to forming a permanent fund, the income from which should be devoted to Grammar School education in Upper Canada, and to this end it was enacted, and the Act is still in force, that there should be paid, in the first place, $400 per annum to the teachers of the Senior Grammar Schools in each county if the number of scholars exceeded ten. If not, then only an annual allowance of $200 per annum, and that the residue (if any) should be divided between the several counties and cities of Ontario for the same object, on the basis of their respective populations. And in accordance with these provisions, the arbitrators appointed under the Confederation Act ordered that the $212,700 then to the credit of this fund in the hands of the Dominion, should be paid over to Ontario, for the purpose for which it was created, and in compliance with that order we have received from year to year from the Dominion interest at the rate of five per cent. on that amount. By reference to the public accounts for Ontario, we find that there has been received from Grammar School Lands since Confederation, and up to the 31st December, 1881, the sum of $181,000. Out of this there has accrued and been paid to the Dominion interest the sum of $9,037, and the Province is no doubt entitled to deduct therefrom, as in the case of the Common School Lands, six per cent. for management, which would amount to $7,220 and would leave the net amount belonging to the Grammar School Fund in the hands of the Province $174,000—there being still a small balance due the Land Improvement Fund. Were this last named sum added to that in the hands of the Dominion, or held as an investment for the purpose for which the fund was created, as it should be until the Legislature otherwise orders, the total amount of principal now to the credit of the Upper Canada Grammar School Fund would be $425,000, which at five per cent. would yield an annual income sufficient to pay $400 per annum to the Senior Grammar Schools in every county in the Province, and leave a residue of about $8,000 per annum for distribution. It is well that these facts, with regard to these two funds, should be borne in mind, inasmuch as every county which we are placing to their credit was practically at their credit on the 1st of July, 1867, when we took up home-keeping as a separate Province.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Hamilton Times is in accord with the Globe in its dirty work of vilifying our judiciary, because the judge will not consent to register the contradictory decree of Mr. Morant and his colleagues. It speaks of "the view of the Supreme Court which is in accord with the policy of the Dominion Government." If our Supreme Court is so corrupt and so unjust as is here represented, which we utterly decline to believe on such evidence, what can we think of Mr. Macdonald and his Administration who established the Court and appointed the judges who are thus described?

The Belleville Ontario informs us that a contemporary, which it does not name, remarks:—"The National Policy offers farmers throughout Canada to occupy far more of their valuable time in bed than they did in former years, and for this reason that light has greatly advanced in price. Hence the old adage runs thus: 'Early to bed and late to rise, makes a man wealthy, healthy, and remarkably unwise.'"

Both the Ontario and its anonymous contemporary should know that the National Policy Tariff has not advanced the duty on coal at one cent above what it was under Mr. Mackenzie, who, though a free trader, had no objection to a little protection when it was for his own supporters and constituents.

We find the following important admission in the Globe:—

"The Globe is perfectly aware that the Legislature of Manitoba consented to recognize the Pacific Ranges with respect to its new territory. It is also aware that the last disallowed charter over the new as well as the old limits."

This admission shows that the disallowance is perfectly justified if upon this ground alone, and also how utterly unjustifiable are its incentives to rebellion in Manitoba.

A HASTY ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

The Hamilton Spectator says:—Our amiable and pious city contemporary, the Canada Christian Advocate, makes tardily and only partial retraction of its statements about the interview between the delegates from the Ontario Trade's Benevolent Association and Sir John Macdonald. It says:—

"Two weeks ago we published, by request, a resolution passed at a meeting of the Toronto Branch of the Dominion Temperance Alliance, supporting it to be founded in fact. Since its publication, however, we have ascertained that so far as it related to seeking the influence of Sir John Macdonald to extend the laws of Saturday night liquor selling, it was based merely on supposition."

And the Advocate prints Sir John's letter. We have already called the Advocate's attention to the fact that before its said "retraction" statement had been published a letter had appeared in the Spectator, the Mail, the Globe and many other journals, signed by the five members of the delegation, positively denying that the Saturday night question was discussed at the interview. There was no hint of it in the wide world able to say that it was discussed, or who would be so bold as to say that it was discussed."

Yet the Advocate persisted in believing a rumor rather than the positive declaration of five respectable witnesses. It is the method in which the Advocate generally does evidence for and against the temperance cause."

It is satisfactory to know that the Advocate holds the authors of the resolution which it has retracted responsible for its error. It says:—

"It is now in order for the Toronto branch of the Dominion Alliance to decide why they passed a resolution, that had no foundation in fact, and thus misled those who had no other view than the promotion of the temperance cause."

It is safe to affirm that the T. R. O. T. D. A. will make no explanation. Its members desire to propagate G. K. principles. Compared with Christian temperance is a small account and credit to society.

We would have a better opinion of the Advocate had it made some retraction of the head words it applied to the Spectator, based upon the untruthful report and the untruthful resolution.

ENGLISH LAND COMPANY.

Under this heading the Peterborough Independent publishes the following correspondence in regard to the Canadian Land and Emigration Company:—

Mr. Ross, of Quebec, has been for some time past negotiating for the purchase of nine townships of the English Company. His first offer was refused, but the second offer was entitled to more consideration. The following is a copy of the letter addressed to the Company making the offer:—

New York, Oct. 5, 1882.
"DEAR SIR:—I am instructed by James S. Ross, Esq., of Quebec, to make the following offer for the Canadian Land and Emigration Company:—

The price offered is eighty thousand dollars payable as follows: He will assume the liabilities and the interest from 1st July, 1882, (amount exclusive of interest) $20,000. He will pay cash on signing the papers $20,000. Balance $40,000 in three equal annual instalments, viz., $10,000 twelve months from the date of signing the papers; $10,000 twenty-four months from the date of signing the papers, and $20,000 thirty-six months from date of signing the papers, all interest at the rate of 5 per cent. annum, payable semi-annually on unstated amounts."

The property is all the real property of the County of Haliburton, say in the nine townships of Dymock, Harcourt, Galloway, Harbison, Ely, Dudgey, Clyde, Hawke and Bruden, being about 250,000 acres, including all mills, houses and other improvements in which the Company has any interest, and personal property of all kinds on the premises in the County of Haliburton. Also claims against persons, rights of all kinds, maps, plans, field notes, and all other documents relating to the lands, also a payment in advance by South of $5,000, and all existing timber licenses and interests therein up to 1st of October, 1882, and thereafter, excepting amounts payable by Irwin & Boyd, and Brown & Weston on account of past timber dues, say for 1881-2.

As soon as this offer is accepted the documents may be prepared for signature, and the transaction carried out.

Yours, &c.,
P. N. WATSON.

This letter was addressed to Major Evans of Toronto, and his colleagues, the Company's Commissioners, who in forwarding the offer to the members in England expressed their opinion as follows:—

"We now forward you an offer we have obtained from Mr. Stevenson, on behalf of James S. Ross, Esq., of Quebec, for the Canadian Land and Emigration Company's property. The offer may appear small, but when it is remembered that it is very questionable whether it is safe to anticipate the sale of lands in any quantity, and the certainty of the timber revenue coming to an end shortly, it seems reasonable that it should not be thrown aside without being examined in all its aspects. As it presents itself to us it would seem that this offer ensures the shareholders from any further calls, and also admits of some small return of paid up capital."

"Should the Company continue to hold the property, it is doubtful whether in the space of three or four years, the expense will be able to be met by timber revenue and sale of lands, it will be necessary to buy a call of unpaid stock. And even after doing so, and holding on, it is impossible the property would enhance sufficiently in value to obtain a better return to the shareholders than they would under the present circumstances."

"It is true the taxes may be reduced and some more railway debentures paid off so as to reduce expenses, but still, looking at this in the most favorable light, we feel that better terms would even then be likely to be realized. Under these circumstances, after the opportunity we have had during the last two years of thoroughly convincing ourselves of the value of the property, we have no hesitation in recommending to your Board the acceptance of Mr. Ross's offer."

The following is an extract from a letter of one of the selectors of the Company in Toronto:—

"The inferior pine and the hardwood left would yield an income only by the Company starting new industries, which would involve an investment of fresh capital, and would be successful only if looked after by men who thoroughly understood the work."

"I suppose the shareholders would hardly risk any more money in a venture which would be doubtful."

"I have not much confidence in the Company being able to sell these lands to small buyers; not only are the surrounding free grant lands a bar to this, but every one who wants land is looking towards the North-West prairie to invest."

"It seems to me that in view of the danger of the decreasing revenue and the inability of the Company, that they cannot afford to remain inactive, and that either they must spend money in making the small pine and hardwood productive or sell."

This subject is now under consideration in England.

CANADA'S GREAT STATESMAN.

For obvious reasons we attach no credit to the rumor mentioned in the following extract from the New York World that Sir John Macdonald is to be appointed Governor-General of Canada at the expiration of the Marquis of Lorne's term of office, but we quote it to show how well our great Canadian statesman is appreciated abroad. The World says:—

"Rumors have reached the capital of the Dominion, though they have not as yet got into print, that at the expiration of the Marquis of Lorne's term, a year hence, the Governorship of Canada will, for the first time, be bestowed upon a Canadian—Sir John A. Macdonald, the present Premier. The Governor of Durham, North and Durham should be an able and accomplished statesman, and the Canadians may justly claim that the extent of their territory, the importance of its interests, especially at this stage of its development, and the closeness of their relations with the adjoining Republics are all reasons why the Vice-regal office should be devolved upon some one more familiar with the country than the administrator from Australia, the West Indies or Hong Kong whom the Colonial office would be sure to select under the old system. Sir John A. Macdonald is in his sixty-seventh year; he entered public life in 1834, and for the last quarter of a century he has been almost without interruption at the head of the political life of the Dominion. He is the only Canadian statesman of really national reputation, and his clever and faithful colleagues have never crossed the water. Sir Alexander Gait is perhaps the only Canadian who could be placed in the same category with 'John A.' but he is not of Canadian birth, and his acquaintance with the Americans in 1868 and the Indians in 1880 might be considered to be disadvantageous. Upon this point the 'Knight of Kington' has an unimpeachable record as an unwavering advocate of British connection and as the most active laborer in the work of confederation. After dispensing the patronage of the government for twenty years he remains a poor man, with little more than his official salary and the income guaranteed him by the members of the party which would have been called out to support him but for his official standing. His wife's name and his own reputation as a being if anything the reverse of the politician of the two-furish an adequate answer to the charges of the Duke of Albany to succeed his brother-in-law, and as the time is near at hand when Canada must show her destiny and become independent in form as well as in fact, no wiser or more graceful transition could be made of an administrator during the transition period than that which is in the hands of the Dominion. He is well informed has already been determined upon by Mr. Gladstone."

True to Her Trust.

Too much cannot be said of the ever faithful wife and mother, constantly watching and caring for her dear ones, never neglecting a single duty in their behalf. When they are afflicted by disease, and the system should have a thorough cleansing, the stomach and bowels regulated, blood purified, and morbid poisons exterminated, she must know that Electric Bitters are the only remedy. They are the best and purest medicine in the world and only cost fifty cents. Sold by all druggists.—

DAVE & CLARE, Druggists, Renfrew, date of June 2nd, write:—"Barlock Blood Bitters, taken comparatively a new preparation, has taken the lead in this locality as a blood purifier, our sales of it being equal to that of all other medicines used for the purpose during the last year."

A SECRET.—The secret of beauty lies in pure blood and with it without Blood Bitters the other is impossible. Barlock Blood Bitters is the grand key that unlocks all the secretions, and opens the avenue to health by purifying and regulating all the organs to a proper action. It cures all Venereal Diseases, acts on the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Skin and Bowels, and brings the bloom of health to the pallid cheek.

KENDALL'S SPKIN CURE.
The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain to be effective and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,
Presiding Elder of the M. A. District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 25th, 1880.
Dr. J. J. Kendall & Co., Quebec:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your cure, and with it, about a horse of mine named by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with it then a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither are the hams he found.

Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Dr. J. J. Kendall & Co., Quebec:—In reply to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have returned two more spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one. Don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse right months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no longer to be lame or hot. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, the sale will be very large.

Respectfully yours,

Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to such every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, and lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism, in man and for any purpose for which a salve is used for man or horse. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, not only child and old obtain relief in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. We readily have your money with much unsolicited evidence to our knowledge, for best as well as man.

Noticed Work for Women.

Is it any more dignified to bury keep one's life in her doing "shop-work," as a seamstress, than to serve in a kitchen and have a comfortable home? Yet a false pride keeps many a girl or woman from a position in domestic service that would be advantageous both to herself and to the household in which she served.

While this is the case we have no muddled sentiment to waste over the wear of oppressed seamstresses. The "Song of the Shirt" is very pathetic, but the woman who sang it, if she lived in this country, could have a comfortable home, could decently clothe herself, and could save fifty dollars every year, if she could be persuaded to forsake her attic for the kitchen, of many a family who are ready to pay liberally for competent service. If she won't, out of any false pride, she deserves the "poverty, hunger, and dirt" which she brings upon herself.

What is true here is true throughout all the range of occupations. Any honest employment can be dignified, and happy shall we be when society recognizes this. Let us quote once more: "The only just standard by which the worth of any woman's life can be measured is to be found, not in the more or less favorable circumstances of her condition, nor yet in the visible amount of labour she may or may not have accomplished, but in the loyalty of her womanhood to the most ennobling instincts and principles of our common humanity."—Illustrated

INCENDIARISM.

INCENDIARISM.—Incendiaries are at work in the city. On Sunday night about 8 o'clock a stable on Pinnacle street and a shed on Great St. James street, opposite Brown's foundry, in which a large quantity of lumber belonging to J. & J. Brown, and a lot of railway construction plant owned by Mr. A. B. Brown, were destroyed, was set fire to and destroyed. Some of the property was also damaged. The losses are—A. B. Brown, $3,000, insured in the Imperial for $1,000; J. & J. Brown, $200 on shed and $200 on lumber; John Doyle, $50 on stable no insurance; James Cooper, household articles in stable $150, uninsured; Wm. Turkey, on stable, $150; Joseph Smith, on dwelling, $100.
Later in the night an attempt was made to fire the stable in the rear of the Albion Hotel by igniting a bundle of hay and putting it through a window into the building. This material burned fortunately with no other result than that of charring the woodwork.

NO CONFIRMATION!

SPEAKING OF the disavowal of Mr. McLean's River and Stream Bill the Belleville Ontario says:—

"The act in question provided that when one party had constructed dams, slides &c., thus rendering navigable streams that were before non-navigable, others desirous of using such improvements were to pay for such use a sum to be agreed upon by arbitration."

This is simply a falsehood. The disavowed bill says "The Lieutenant Governor in Council may fix the amount" and it does not contain one word about "arbitration," which is not provided for, either directly or indirectly. As this bill was passed for the very purpose of transferring the use of Mr. McLean's property to Mr. Caldwell, this provision means that Mr.
McLean and his colleagues wish, fortunately in view, to fix the tolls that their friend and supporter Mr. Caldwell is to pay to their opponent Mr. McLean for that gentleman's private property. What important "arbitration" they would be, and how safe Mr. McLean's interests would be in their hands.

The very fact of such a falsification being attempted by the Ontario shows that even the supporters of Mr. McLean's Administration cannot justify this nefarious transaction in all its naked enormity. But even if it were correct in its statements and it were true that an impartial arbitration was provided for, this would merely reduce the gravity of the wrong that would still exist. Whether in the British Islands, in the Dominion of Canada, or in the other colonies and dependencies of the Empire, or in the United States, it is an inalienable privilege that even the meanest individual shall not be deprived of his property even for the public good except by paying him right from him.
It is probable that Mr. McLean, himself, will be allowed to trample upon this ancient right which we have inherited from our forefathers.
Why even the lands of our Indians are not appropriated by the Crown without their consent in solemn treaty and the payment of compensation. Are the rights of the Red men to be held less sacred than those of the Red men?

THE STREAMS BILL

The Independent Toronto Telegram says:—
"The best step the Ontario Government can take, now that the Supreme Court has given judgment in favour of Mr. McLean, is to pass the Act appropriating his property, so far as the bed of the streams is concerned, paying him whatever it is worth. He bought the land from the Government in good faith, and the improvements made were made at his own expense and for his own advantage. It was not in accordance with the principles of equity to compel him to allow others to use a private stream which was not accessible in a state of nature, but which he had made accessible. The Legislature proposed to compensate him by allowing him to collect tolls from those who used the stream for floating their logs; but it is plain that this was a mistake, and that if the Legislature considered it advisable to make the stream a public waterway it should have appropriated it in the public interest and given Mr. McLean whatever compensation he was entitled to. This is the plan followed when it is necessary to appropriate land for railways and public buildings, and a great deal of litigation and expense would have been avoided if it had been followed by the Legislature when the Streams Bill was passed. To continue passing the Streams Bill after it has been disavowed and after so high an authority as the Supreme Court has decided that it is bad law seems to be a waste of time. If the square is a public necessity, let the Legislature appropriate it, paying a fair compensation; if it is not, let the Legislature let it alone, leaving the litigants to fight it out in the courts between themselves. If we must raise the cry of provincial rights let us at least see to it that it is based on justice and equity, and that no man shall be able to say that he has been unjustly dealt with by the Legislature."

LIQUOR TRAFFIC RESTRICTIONS.

The Bradford Telegram says:—"The facts that the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald was the first to impose restrictions on Saturday night liquor selling, that his Government was the first to limit the number of licensees, that his Government was the first to prohibit the sale of liquor in the North-west territories, and that he now declares that it is not the intention of his Government to remove the present restrictions on the liquor traffic in any province in the Dominion, ought to be enough certainly to stamp the falsehood upon the Globe and the lesser lights, which seek to impress upon the public mind that he intends to interfere in some way with the present restrictions on the liquor traffic, seeing they were all imposed before Mr. Crooks was heard of as a public man."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It seems that Sir John Macdonald and Mr.
Macdougall, not content with taking office respondent into their councils, have also extended their confidence to the Ottawa Free Press, and have even gone so far as to inform it of the amount of contributions they intend to levy.
Either our leaders are very careless to whom they confide, or, what is far more probable, the Free Press, with its usual disregard for truth, is inventing and circulating a malicious falsehood.

Nowhere have all the ten points of the Liberal Conservative convention of this and last year by the friends of Mr. McLean, that gentleman with his usual consistency has called a convention in the interests of Mr. Oliver McLean for the 3rd and 4th of January next, of course it will be a "great success" in the columns of the Globe. Why, the 1882 session conventions and inquiries and hostile and division court clerks, will of themselves make a respectable (?) convention.

It is a noteworthy fact that the friends and supporters of Mr. McLean in discussing the financial position have abandoned comparisons with the figures of 1871—the last year of Mr.
Sandfield Macdonald's Government—and have betaken themselves to comparing Mr. McLean's last year with Mr. McLean's first year, and that first year too not being that of the present Government under Mr. Blake, but the one following Mr. McLean's descent from the bench.
Has Mr. Blake fallen so low in their estimation, that they deem it advisable to set themselves at all responsibility for his doings?

The notorious Ottawa correspondent of the Globe says:—

"As a result of the conference between Sir
John Macdonald and Messrs. Macdougall, Southey, and others, it is understood that the Tory organs have been ordered to make no further reference to the 'Maclean' question."

Of course one among "the others" was this scoundrel correspondent, who no doubt aided in arriving at the decision. We cannot quite understand why Sir John is taking counsel with a Globe correspondent in such matters.

The Independent Toronto Telegram says:—
speaking of the recent defeat of the Republicans in the States, says:—

"The present result is a striking and staggering rebuke to the party that has borne rule in the great republic for over twenty years, and that might have ruled for twenty years more had it been honest. Does this lesson apply to Canada at all? Forty years ago William Lyon Macdonald and Robert Baldwin led the Canadian party of great moral ideas and carried Reform. Can their successors continue to live on the reputation of their by-gone days, as Reformers who can find nothing new to reform, even destroying people's rights which Baldwin fixed upon the statute book. We shall see."

REPUTATION CONSIDERED.

The Winnipeg Times says:—
"The incident recently put suggested for the 'wrecks of Manitoba' is the Reputation of the Syndicate contract. Who would repudiate it?
Not this Province; it is not a Provincial but Dominion contract. And how could it be repudiated? The Dominion, it is true, could disown the engagements to which it binds them, but the courts would be open to the Syndicate, and we should be made to pay money for breach of contract. Lastly, who would repudiate it? We at least could not, and it is safe to say the Eastern Provinces would not, for violation of the agreement would warrant the Syndicate in refusing to build the division from Superior to Lake Nipissing, thus leaving the East without direct connection with the Northwest. Repudiation, is impossible, and it would ruin us if it were possible. 'Reputation' is a misfortune to a people as to an individual;
but reputation is mutable."

The State of Virginia has been guilty of repudiation in "making" her bonds, a capitulation for defending her creditors by declining to pay the face value of principal and interest, and she is a reproach to her sister States. What can the Eastern Provinces think of Manitoba honour while the air is filled with our threats to repudiate the Syndicate agreement, under which we have proposed so amazingly, and to repudiate also that understanding which was the condition upon which they began the construction of the road? The most valuable of Manitoba interests is the preservation of her future, and that can only be done by preserving her present engagements, in letter as well as in spirit."

The Railways of the World.

The railroads of the world, it seems, have grown from 4,000 miles of road in 1840 to 240,- 500 miles on December 31st, 1881. The system, which in 1840 was confined to the United States and a few countries in Europe, is now spread to all quarters of the globe. Between 1840 and 1880 there were 19,200 miles of railroad built in Europe and America. In the decade following Asia, Africa, and Australia witnessed the advent of the iron horse, and the total increase in railroad mileage in the whole world in that decade was 43,200 miles. Between 1860 and 1870 there were added 63,200 more miles, and in the last decade the increase was 125,000, making the world's total railroad mileage at the close of 1880 amount to 222,000 miles. To this 12,000 miles were added in 1881, of which the United States alone contributed 11,141 miles. Of the 240,500 miles of railroad at the close of 1881, North and South America are credited with 132,186 miles; Europe, 104,000 miles; Asia,
10,774 miles; Australia and adjacent islands,
5,481 miles; Africa, 2,147 miles. The United States is the country in extent of railroad in Germany, which had 21,446 miles. Great Britain comes next, with 18,261 miles; France next, with 17,112 miles. Russia has 14,700 miles.
The United States at the close of 1881 had within 4,000 miles as much railroad as all of Europe. The total footing for the year will be not less than 19,000 miles. In less than three years there will be as many or more miles of railroad in the United States as in all the rest of the world besides.—Exchange.

Rev. Dr. Fott, pastor of the St. James Street Methodist Church, Montreal, and formerly of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, met with a serious accident on Friday last by being thrown from a carriage by a runaway at Montreal. He received internal injuries which caused him great pain. He is at present confined to his bed, but it is thought he will recover in about a fortnight. Mrs. Fott, who was also thrown from the vehicle, escaped with a few bruises.

THE MARQUIS AND THE FARMER.

Interview Between a Surprised Nebraska Farmer and Lord Lorne.

The following letter, descriptive of an interview of a Nebraska farmer with the Marquis of Lorne, is published by the Nebraska Herald:—
VALLEY STATION, DOUGLAS COUNTY,
Nebraska, October 6, 1882.

DEAR SIR,—I have had a visit from the Marquis of Lorne, the Governor-General of Canada. Along with him were the Princess Louise and suite, who were on a tour through the country to the Rocky mountains. They came up to my house and stayed for three hours, and the Princess took a sketch of my whole place—farm house, stables, wire fence and all the traces I had planted myself about three years since. The Marquis and the Princess both shook hands with me when they came up, but did not say who they were for more than an hour. He asked me when I came home. I told him I came from Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, Scotland. He said he was a countryman of mine, and Lady Campbell, his sister, was a countrywoman of mine. So then he asked me how long I had been in this country; so I told him I had been six years; and he asked me if the farm was in cultivation when I came to it. I said so, it was all wild prairie. I asked him how long he had been in this country. He said he had been four years. I said:—Where have you been putting yourself all these four years?
He said he had been in Canada. I have a large picture of the Prince of Wales and of the Princess of Wales in a very fine black walnut frame. He looked all around the room, and then he said:—You have got my wife's brother here. Your wife's brother? Do you know who that is, sir? Yes I do, he said. Well I ran out of the house to look at the Princess Louise, for I had seen her before. Then I came back and he said:—I am talking to the Marquis of Lorne and don't know it. Then I was astonished of myself after the way I had spoken to him, and he laughed at me and told me then that he was the Governor-General of Canada.
Then he asked me what family I had. I said I had two sons here, 18 and 20 years old. "Then," he said, "if you will send these over to me in British Columbia, I will give you 250 acres of the best land that is in that country for nothing."
He took my address and asked me if I would come. I said I would think about it.
He said he would write to me from his last week to see if I had made up my mind to come, and he sent me about 400 pamphlets to distribute among farmers in my neighborhood. I have given the conversation as spoken by the Marquis and myself, but in very brief words. I am, etc.,
JOHN REID.

There is a chance now of being able to describe with precision the actual and intrinsic value of an individual. The perfect man, says the unerring Bond street oracle, is exactly 13 squared, or 169. Men are then divided into 169 distinct grades, and if the doctor's notation becomes generally used we will have a most convenient method of giving the capacity and ability of individuals. An ordinary man about town would probably rank at 50; Smith at 47 and Brown at 46. Bond street is the first place on record where men have been squared and cubed, and received down to their third and fourth roots. The oracle in that street holding forth on apparently infallible testimony with as much precision and alacrity as a college boy can solve a quadratic equation.—World.

Bond Street's Acid Phosphate

IS DIFERENTIAL.

Dr. A. Jenkins, Great Falls, N. H., says:—
"I have prescribed it and can testify to its exceedingly almost specific virtues in cases of dyspepsia, nervousness and morbid vigilance or wakefulness."

Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh and consumption in its first stage are treated at the International Therapeutic and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, where the Syringium is used, an instrument invented by Dr. M. Bonville of Paris, and on-side surgeon of the French army, which conveys the medicine in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased. Suitable constitutional treatment is used when required. Communications and a trial of the Syringium free. Poor people bearing certificates furnished with the instrument free. When not convenient to visit the office write, enclosing stamps, for samples giving full particulars to International Therapeutic and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, or 13

Phillips square, Montreal.

A SCARF.—The secret of beauty lies in pure blood and good health; without the one the other is impossible. Burdock Blood Bitters is the grand key that unlocks all the secretions, and opens the avenue to health by purifying and regulating all the organs to a proper action.
It cures all Scrofulous Diseases, such as the Blood, Liver, Kidney, Skin and Bowels, and brings the bloom of health to the pallid cheek.

"TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' EXPERIENCE," says an eminent Physician, convinces me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness
of the generative organs is to repair the waste of the system by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, and all the remedies I have used. Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. This remedy is now sold by all our Druggists at 50 cts. per box, or 6 for $2.50, and on receipt of an order for 12 boxes,
accompanied with $5.00, addressed to Mack's
Magnetic Medicine Co., Windsor, Ont., they
will forward the goods free by mail, and send their "written guarantee" to refund the money,
if the treatment does not effect a cure. See

COUNTY COURT.

The December Sessions of the General Sessions of the Peace.

The General Sessions of the Peace opened on Tuesday afternoon in the Court House, His Honour Judge Denison presiding.

The following composed the Grand Jury:—
JOHN FEARL, Foreman.
Geo. A. Harvey,
J. Hunter,
Henry Long,
John Lockhart,
Joe McKee,
Robt. Graham,
Wm. Millar.

There were two civil jury cases and five criminal cases on the docket.

QUEEN v. MCILROY.—A charge of stealing preferred against McIlroy. In the absence of a witness the prosecution was not ready to proceed, and the prisoner was admitted to bail on giving bonds for $200, to insure his appearance at the next General Session. Mr. C. A. Weller for the Crown; Mr. E. B. Edwards for the prisoner.

ABUSING THEIR POWER.

The Bradford Telegram says:—
“After Mr. McLaren filed the bill in Chancery, and during the progress of the suit in Chancery, he was repeatedly threatened by the Honorable the Commissioner of Crown Lands for the Province of Ontario, that unless he abandoned his rights in the streams before mentioned, the government of Ontario (meaning the Honorable the Commissioner of Crown Lands) would cancel the license which Mr. McLaren held for getting out timber on the limits tributary to the streams in contention, and the Commissioner threatened by each threat to force Mr. McLaren to discontinue legal proceedings, which he refused to do. We venture to say no greater outrage than this was ever perpetrated by any government in the world upon a private individual for asserting his legal rights in a court of law.”

RECEIVED.

FIRE BOSS STILL AT WORK.—Another incendiary attempt was made on Monday night, a wooden box filled with matches and wrapped in oiled paper having been set fire to and placed against the door of Ford's gunshop, Front street. At about 10 p. m. the flames were seen by a passer-by, who put it out.

RAILWAY SHASE-UP.—While one of the men employed on the Grand Trunk Railway here was oiling an engine he inadvertently pulled the lever and the engine started ahead, crashing into another locomotive and badly wrecking it. Becoming excited he reversed his engine to such an extent that it backed up into a third one on the same track, and the result is three badly damaged engines.

The Validity of Contracts.

The Winnipeg Times, writing in regard to the advocates of annexation to the States says:—
“These people doubtless believe that, once in the Union, Manitoba could do as she pleased. But the war finally and definitely settled the vexed question of State rights—the Union is greater than any State, and Greenway is as dead as Locust. Moreover, contracts, such as that entered into between the Dominion Government and the Syndicate, are sacred, and the line. The constitution prohibits the impairing of the validity of the contracts, and the Supreme Court of the United States long ago held that State Legislatures cannot enact laws in violation of that provision. If any of Mr. Greenway's friends are thinking of ‘looking to Washington,’ let them first consider these things.”

DAVE & CLARE, Druggists, Renfrew, date of June 2nd, write:—“Burdock Blood Bitters, which has been sold in this locality as a blood purifier, or as a cure for all kinds of blood diseases, is a cheap and worthless preparation, and is not a medicine used for the purposes during the last year.”

A BLOOD PURIFIER.—G. M. Everett, of Forest, states that Haggart's Pectoral Balsam still holds its own amongst the many cough medicines in the market. He says that he has sold it for nearly sixteen years, and the sales are steadily increasing. One family has purchased over 50 bottles for various members and friends.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE SENTENCES.

MR. PARNELL DEFENDED.
LONDON, Dec. 5.—Miss Parnell publishes a long letter declaring untrue the statement of Mr. Healy, published in the United States, asserting that Mr. Parnell in February ordered the arrest of the editor of the “Free Press” and that this order was disobeyed by the Ladies' Land League.

A STEAMER ASHORE.
LONDON, Dec. 5.—The British steamer Strathmore, from Savannah for Bremen, is ashore at Calcutta, Netherlands. She has lost her cargo.

WAR PREPARATIONS.
COTTAGE, Dec. 5.—The Official Gazette states that the measures of defense being taken by Montenegro are in view of a possible attack on the principality. The difficult situation in which Montenegro is left by the Berlin treaty compels her to maintain warlike efficiency.

LETTERS FROM ARAB.
LONDON, Dec. 5.—Arab has written to Mr. Wilfred Blunt saying he would prefer to live at Damascus, or, if that was impossible, in London. In a published letter Arab expresses contentment at his lot, for he knows his misfortune have been the means of securing for the country he loves the liberty and prosperity it deserves. He says he feels confident that when England has carried out her good work she will permit him to return. He will soon learn that he was no rebel when he set himself at the head of the people, who wanted nothing but justice.

THE MADAGASCAR QUESTION.
PARIS, Dec. 5.—The cruiser Flore has been ordered to prepare to proceed to Madagascar. M. Ducloux and the English ambassador held a conference yesterday on the Madagascar question. It is said England is disposed to recognize the rights accorded to France by the treaty of 1868 with Madagascar.

TRUE BILLS FOUND.
DUBLIN, Dec. 5.—The grand jury has found true bills against Patrick Higgins, Thomas Higgins, and Michael Finn, charged with the murder of the two Huddys, Lord Ardill's clerks. The trials begin on Thursday. The grand jury has also found true bills against the three men charged with the assassination of Detective Cox, and the man who tried to assassinate Judge Lawson.

DELINQUENT JURORS.
DUBLIN, Dec. 5.—Only one hundred and seven jurors appeared at the Dublin winter assizes to-day, out of two hundred who had been summoned. The court strongly condemned the absence for attending assizes, which their public duties, and fined each absenter £20, but provided for the remission of the fine in case the absentees were able to make out a case entitling them to exemption.

THE AUSTRIAN BUDGET.
VIENNA, Dec. 5.—In the Reichsrath to-day the Austrian budget for 1883 was submitted. The budget for 1883, showing a deficit of 31,600,000 florins.

AMERICAN SCENE AT A TRIAL.
CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—In the trial of the woman Struella, charged with murdering Stiles yesterday, the defendant told at great length a large number of tales by the depositions, and finally fell from her chair in hysterical convulsions, which required half a dozen men to restrain. With her shrieks ringing through the room she was removed and the court adjourned.

KILLED IN A SEWER.
BUFFALO, Dec. 5.—While two men named Henry Rodman and William Yager were working in a sewer to-day one of the sides caved in, burying them. Their fellow-workmen set vigorously to work to rescue them, but before they were dug out Rodman was dead and Yager severely injured.

ANOTHER THEATRICAL TRAGEDY.
MILWAUKEE, Ill., Dec. 5.—During a rehearsal of an amateur dramatic club yesterday, where guns were used in one of the acts, John Pearl shot and killed his brother James.

AN ECCEBTRIC SUICIDE.
BALTIMORE, N. C., Dec. 5.—James Bradley, a negro, was about to marry a woman in this county, when two other women claiming to be his wives appeared. Bradley thereupon went to a cotton gin and threw himself into a half-filled box which pressed cotton into bales. Some days afterwards the bale was opened and Greenville and Bradley's dead body was found in it crushed flat.

Barred in a Shanty.
COTTAGE, Dec. 5.—On Thursday evening a frightful catastrophe took place near here. Some twenty men, who have been constructing a drain through that section, occupied the old shanty near by for a sleeping room. On the evening in question the shanty took fire from a defective stove-pipe, and being old and dry burned to ashes in such a short time that three of the inmates were unable to escape, and were burned to a crisp.

River Pirates.
Many of the mill men doing business on the Ohio river are the necessity of uniform laws, in the states bordering on the river, bearing on timber stealing. Timber thieves are abundant and the laws in many cases are inadequate for their punishment. If a man enter the barn of a lumber manufacturer and steal his horse, it is a common understanding that he ought to be punished, and laws are framed to that end, but the same man can pick up logs belonging to other parties, and, if detected, goes really scot-free. This is all wrong, and known to be wrong by the law makers of the different states as well as by the mill men themselves. It was proposed by a manufacturer who recently visited the lumbermen, that a convention of the river mill men be called and action taken to induce the passage of the necessary laws in the legislatures of the several states, and that the laws be uniform. Everything that these river pirates can lay their hands on they spirit away. One gentleman lost $2,000 worth of chains and ropes in rafting, which is only a single instance of several that could be named. If the mill men would men be called and action taken to induce the passage of the necessary laws in the legislatures of the several states, and that the laws be uniform. A COMPARISON.

It is said that comparisons are odious, and no doubt this is often so in the eyes of those who are placed in a disadvantageous light, by being compared with others. In spite of this, however, we will venture to draw a comparison as to an important matter between the two governments with which we are more immediately concerned, namely those of the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Ontario.

The point to which we wish to draw attention is the Civil Service, and more especially the question of patronage as connected with it. It is of great importance that the public service should be efficiently and economically performed, but it is hardly less important that the appointments to it should be made in a manner which will not encourage an abuse of the patronage.

The administration of Sir John Macdonald has proved themselves to be the true Reformers in this as in other respects. They were not content to follow the example of Mr. Macdonald and his colleagues, who took good care not to direct themselves of any patronage, and after their ravages in opposition threw cold water on the efforts of private members to introduce Civil Service reforms. The present Government at Ottawa has not only passed an excellent measure upon this subject, but it has inaugurated and carried out the system of examinations by an independent board, so as to secure efficient public servants, even though the plan, as it is developed, must necessarily curtail the patronage.

With Sir John and his ministry the interests of the country have been considered paramount to those of the party.

Now if we look at Toronto we shall find the same question treated in a widely different manner. Mr. Morat and his colleagues have not directed themselves of any patronage, but they have greedily snatched at all they could appropriate. Though they had the better example of Mr. J. R. Macdonald before them, they have steadily persisted in their own partisan course. They have corrupted patronage from the County Councils, Town Councils, School Boards, County Judges, Sheriffs, and from every municipal local institution upon whom powers they could trench. Any appointments that could increase their patronage and add to their army of political electioneering agents they have seized with a avidity, and have flung from the local authorities.

Thus compared, who can doubt which is the patriotic and which the partisan administration?

AN IMPORTANT OPINION.

The Canada Law Journal, which is the recognized organ of the legal profession, is entirely non-political and has never been suspected of any partisan bias, writes as follows of the recent decision of the Supreme Court in the case of McLaren v. Caldwell:-

"More than a year ago (ante vol. 17, p. 301) we did not scruple to denounce the legislation which has come before the Courts, in the case of McLaren v. Caldwell. The Supreme Court, which has just upheld the majority judgment of the Court of Appeal, was so impressed with the inequity of the measure, as to say that it was not possible to attribute to the Legislature an intention so 'unreasonable and unjust,' and giving that body credit for a desire to do justice, decided that it never intended, and therefore had not in law interfered with the enjoyment of Mr. McLaren's rights as a private citizen. The Court was unanimous and it is to be hoped for the credit of the country, that there will be an end of a very questionable piece of legislation; and those that were concerned in it should thank the Supreme Court for this giving them a loop-hole to creep out of."

Madame Mason's Will.

The will of the late Madame Mason, of Montreal, leaves $15,000 a year to her sons and large annual sums to their children, while the bulk of her property will go to her great grandchildren. The following are heirs to the amount of $10,000:- Mr. Armand Mason and Madame De Chastelain, of Paris, children of the late Mr. Wilfrid Mason; Mr. J. E. Mason and Mrs. R. Mason, of Terrebonne, children of the late Hon. Mr. Mason; Mr. J. P. Mason, also of Terrebonne; Hon. L. R. Mason and Mr. Louis Mason, the two children of the late Mr. H. Mason, of Montreal; Madame E. Roseau and Madame Leon Douvroul.

A STRANGE ADVENTURE.

How a Lakeside Pig Went in Search of Truth—A Harrow Range.

From a Correspondent.

Lakeside is becoming quite noted for big crops of potatoes, large turnips, length of standing grain, etc., etc., and one quite expects in about three weeks to read in the items of the "Lakeside News" that spring chickens have come to hand. It is seldom, however, that a more miraculous escape from severe injury or perhaps death has been recorded than that which took place on Tuesday, Nov. 28th, on a farm occupied by a Mr. Robt. Alford about a mile from the famous village. On that day Mr. Alford and his two sons, George and William, were blasting their well, which had gone dry, and which is between twenty-one and twenty-two feet deep, and is in the middle of the house. After dinner William went to a spring a few rods from the house to water the cattle, Mr. Alford to the barn to throw them out some feed, and George to the bottom of the well, drilling. A small gate leading from the garden to the barnyard had been left open, and a spring pig 75 or 80 pounds weight took advantage of this circumstance to survey the premises. While exploring the woodshed it took a "header" down the well, right on top of poor George, who, even if he had seen it coming, would have had no chance to escape. The noise the pig had made in its curiosity to examine everything had attracted the attention of Mr. Alford, who was in the house, and who opened the back door just in time to see the pig disappear down the well. She called "George" two or three times, but received no answer. Listening, she heard a moan. She then ran to the barn to find her husband. When they reached the house George was sitting by the well's mouth holding his head. Beyond a scratch over one eye and a rather dazed look there was nothing apparently the matter with him, and he only complained of headache. When his parents had somewhat recovered from their sudden shock, William was sent to a neighbor's for a rope and for help to pull the pig up. Mr. Alford went down the well and to his surprise found the pig alive too. After two ropes were tied on it and Mr. Alford had come up out of the well the pig was drawn up. When about half way up one rope slipped, but as the other seemed secure the drawing up was proceeded with. When the pig was within four feet of the surface it began to struggle (up to that moment it had been perfectly quiet), the second rope gave way, and piggy went right down again, "and on" like a bag of wheat. A dull thud was heard, then all was quiet. Another surprise; the pig was found still alive, and the ropes being tied more securely he was brought to the surface. The moment he was fairly out of the well he made a bolt, and ran the full length of the rope which was held by one of the party. When he was within his hind legs looked slightly, very slightly cramped, and he ran to the trough and began to feed, as if nothing at all was the matter with him.

Next morning George was able to work, and the pig appeared quite well, and what renders it more extraordinary still is that in neither case had there been applied St. Jacobs Oil.

RAILWAY FACILITY.

Mr. George A. Cox, President of the Midland Railway Company, visited Lakeside on Friday last and held a consultation with some of the leading villagers with regard to granting better railway accommodation to the village and vicinity. To meet the wishes of the people and the requirements of the travelling public Mr. Cox decided to build at once an engine house in Lakeside, giving an evening and morning train. Mr. Cox made a visit to the Masson Strickland's new sawmill and appeared to be much pleased with the improvements made during the last summer. Quite a number of the business men of the village accompanied Mr. Cox to the station. Upon his leaving on the 2:10 train Mr. Strickland, our correspondent, called for three cheers for Mr. Cox, which was heartily responded to by all present.

OFF THE TRACK.

On Saturday last the engine of the noon train, on coming into the village, ran off the track at the switch at Horner's siding. No very great damage was done, as the train was going quite slowly at the time. The engine was got on the track again the same evening.

BATHING.

A WONDERFUL ESCAPE.—The Star says that Mr. T. Connelly's little daughter Grace fell down two flights of stairs in the new hotel on Thursday night and escaped with a few bruises.

THE POST OFFICE.—The new post office is being fitted up with lock boxes and drawers, a convenience which, no doubt, our merchants and business men will not be slow to avail themselves of.

A PREMATURE BLAST.—After escaping the dangers of the mine war in the brigade camp at Cobourg, 845 Sharp came within an ace of having his head blown off by a premature blast, while digging a well for Mr. T. Harley on Thursday last. 845 carries his jaw in a sling.

LOST AND FOUND.—Mr. Noonan's team and sleigh disappeared from one of the hotel sheds last Friday night and were said to have been driven off by some one. That was the story the young men who had them in charge told on his arrival at Mr. No. 10, and as the sleigh was found on the journey on foot. The team was found on the track near the railway bridge by the section men the following morning, and from appearances had been there all night.

ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, CATARRH and consumption in its first stage are treated at the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, where the Splanometer is used, an instrument invented by Dr. M. Bourville of Paris, and an-acute surgeon of the French army, which conveys the medicine in the form of cold inhalations to the parts diseased. Suitable constitutional treatment is used when required. Consultations and a trial of the Splanometer free. Four people bearing certificates furnished with the instrument free. When not convenient to visit the office write, enclosing stamp, for pamphlet giving full particulars to International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, or 13 Phillips square, Montreal.

F. J. Cheney & Co., proprietors Hall's Catarrh Cure, offer $100 reward for any case of Catarrh that can't be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure.—For sale by John McKee, druggist.

"Man must work and women weep, So runs the world away!" But they need not weep so much if they use Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," which cures all the painful maladies peculiar to women. Sold by druggists.

UNDoubtedly the best medicine to keep on hand for Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and Pulmonary troubles generally, is Haggard's "Pectoral Balm." It will not cure Consumption, but it will ease those troublesome conditions leading there to.

"TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' EXPERIENCE," says an eminent Physician, convinces me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness of the general system is to repeat the words, "I give Brain and Nerve Food," and of all the remedies I have used Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. This remedy is now sold by all our Druggists at 50 cts. per box, or 6 for $2.50, and on receipt of an order for 12 boxes, accompanied with $5.00, addressed to Mack's Magnetic Medicine Co., Windsor, Ont., they will forward the goods free by mail, and send you a copy of their valuable book, "Nervous Exhaustion," if the treatment does not effect a cure. See ad't in another column.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

"Very Chokey"
That is the verdict given on Tom. Dancy's Oyster.

Pocket Purities
For 1883 have now arrived at the REVIEW stationery store.

The Collie.
One tramp caught and found shelter in the cells last night. There were no prisoners to keep him company, and there was a blank at the Police Court this morning.

Common Association.
The Kingston Daily News says:—
"Next year the American Cancer Association will camp at Stony Lake, near Peterborough, Ont. The Minister of Ontario has granted the freedom of the Ontario to all American cancer patients who intend participating."

Our Weather Prophet.
On December 2nd Mr. H. G. Vassar wrote as follows regarding the weather:—
"Generally calm, mild weather, with mist or drizzle, on Tuesday, and probably unfavorable for observation. A cold day will follow on the 9th and 10th."

Legal.
The following report of an appeal case appears in the Globe:—
"Midland Railway v. Ontario Rolling Mills Co., B. B. Oates, Q. C., and Ledford (Hamilton) moved on behalf of the defendants to enter a verdict for the plaintiffs on their case in chief. One tried at Peterborough before Oates, J., without a jury, and resulted for the plaintiffs. J. E. Kerr, Q. C., showed cause. Judgment reserved."

Midland Railway Traffic Returns.
The traffic of the above railway for the week ending December 2nd, 1882, was as follows:—
Passengers and mail, $5,214.37; freight, $11,900.00; Total, $17,114.37; as compared with $14,021.00 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $3,093.37; and the aggregate traffic to date is $200,740.00, being an increase of $200,474.02 over 1881.

The Weather.
To-day has been cold and very stormy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 10 a. m. to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to heavy gales from the southwest and northwest; cloudy, decidedly colder weather, with snow. The approaching cold spell will probably freeze up most of the harbors in Ontario.

A Painful Accident.
Mrs. Bacon, who resides on King street, met with a very painful accident on Tuesday. She fell on the floor on a piece of wood, and fractured her arm and dislocated the elbow joint. Dr. King was called, and performed the difficult operation of setting the fractured arm and dislocated joint. The fracture being close to the elbow made it all the more painful. The patient is now doing well.

Warrior.
The ladies of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, intend holding a sale of fancy and useful articles in Bradburn's Hall on Wednesday and Thursday next, the 13th and 14th of December. Refreshments will be served each day—dinner from 12.30 to 2 p. m. and supper from 6 to 8. The doors will be opened from noon. This bazaar provides a good opportunity for persons to procure useful Christmas presents.

The Legion of Honor.
On the evening of Tuesday, the 12th of December, Frank L. Gardner's company will produce the military drama "The Legion of Honor, or The Wife's Secret" in Bradburn's Hall. The Legion of Honor is an order instituted under the French Republic, in 1803, by Napoleon, as a recompense for military or civil services. As worn it consists of a cross of ten points of white enamel edged with gold; the points are connected with a wreath of laurel proper and in the centre within an aureole charged with the words "Napoleon III., Empereur des Français" in his hand of the Emperor. No ignoble punishment can be imposed on a member of the Legion of Honor. Of the play in New York the World says it is one of the most striking known to the modern stage, and the Graphic says that the article was called before the curtain seven times and that it was an immediate success.

SCIENTIFIC FLOUR MILLING.
Mr. G. C. Rogers' Mill—The latest improvements Adopted, with Good Results.

We have been intending for some time to give our readers a description of the mill of Mr. George C. Rogers since he has adopted the Gradual Reduction principle of making flour but we have not had time to make the inspection necessary to give a full description of this first-class mill until this week when we went over it all from basement to attic, and we will now try to teach our readers a little of the way in which the manufacture of flour is carried on at present. As most of our readers are aware, the old way to make flour was to run the wheat between a pair of very heavy stones and grind it as close as possible, and then sift the chop through sals covered with silk. This is called low grinding, and the grain only goes through one operation. But in the Gradual Reduction principle, as the name implies, the grain is gradually reduced from a berry of wheat until there is nothing left of it but the bare bran. There are several ways of doing this now in vogue. There is the Full Roller Mill, the Jonathan Mill's system of discs of chilled iron, and the system of gradual reduction on mill stones and rollers combined. Mr. Rogers has adopted a combination of some of these methods, as best suited to his trade, and the many different varieties of wheat he has to grind, as spring and fall wheat are grown here in about equal quantities.

After the grain is thoroughly cleaned by going through first a large chaff machine where all the rough dust and dirt are taken off, then to a separator, and last of all to a large brush machine which thoroughly polishes the whole berry. After going through all these machines one would think that no more dust or dirt remained in the wheat, but after the wheat goes through a Jonathan Mill's machine, which splits the grain longitudinally through the awns, and is dusted on a reel covered with wire cloth, a bluish dirt comes out which is called seam dirt. No brush or any other machine can do this, so the grain has to be split in this way to liberate this dirt, which would otherwise be in the flour. The next reduction is done upon two pairs of 4 ft. 4 in. stones. These stones do not grind close enough to cut up the bran, which is afterwards cleaned upon two pairs of corrugated rolls. There are also two pairs of smooth rolls for tellings of purities, all being manufactured by Goldie & McCallum, of Galt. These rolls are of very fine workmanship, and we believe that the above firm is the only one in Canada that manufactures the rolls entirely. After the bran is all separated the remaining product of the wheat is then sent to the reels, and the flour dusted out of it. After the flour is all out of this, what remains is called middlings, and consists of broken particles of wheat, bran, etc., and this has now to be separated, which is done upon machines called purifiers, which consist of revolving rollers covered with silk. While the middlings are passing over these rollers they are subject to a strong current of air, which draws off all the impurities, and renders the middlings fit for still further reduction, which is done upon two pairs of mill stones, the product being sent to a sals of bolle, and the flour from this operation goes under the name of "Patent Flour," and is the strongest, whitest and best flour made.

We have now described how flour is made, and we will briefly give a description of the mill and its surroundings. The mill faces Kingston street, Ashburnham, and consists of the mill proper, which is a solid stone structure, 40x20, low stories high, with basement and attic. On the west side there is a lean-to for storing flour, empty barrels, etc., and on the east side is the Outcast Mill, which is twenty feet wide and sixty feet long. Upon entering the mill one is struck by the arrangement of the wheat cleaning machinery, which is all situated in this flat instead of in the basement, as is the case with most mills. The Jonathan Mill's machine, four runs of stones, four pairs of rolls, three large purifiers and the reeling rollers are all on this flat. The mill is driven by five iron water wheels, situated in the basement, which give ample power. Upon the second flat are two Garden City purifiers, and a large chest of ten rollers commencing in this flat and running through to the top story. On the next flat is a consolidated purifier, and exhaust fan from the stones and bran dust. On the next flat are the top of the bolle, the scaling rolls, dust catcher, dust rooms, head of the elevators, etc. Besides the space occupied by the machinery there is room in the mill for storage for about 20,000 bushels of grain. On the east side of the mill the Midland Railway, which is doing all it can to help manufacturers, has placed a switch in the mill yard so that grain can be run directly into the cars from the mill elevator, which has a capacity of 1,200 bushels an hour. On the other hand grain can be shovelled directly into the mill hopper from the cars, and then be taken into the mill without further handling. Mr. Rogers has used the advantages that he has in buying barley, etc., for Wm. Claxton, Esq., on commission, and has handled about 200,000 bushels of grain for him during the last fifteen months. This has been done without all interfering with the work of the mill proper. Besides this 125 cars of mill product, consisting of flour and mill feed, have been shipped from the siding during the past three months. There is also another elevator on the east side of the track, with a capacity of 10,000 bushels. We also noticed the great facilities farmers have for unloading, they having nothing to do but to stand their grain upon the edge of the wagon or sleigh. The mill has a present and in advance all the flour that can be manufactured this week, and has had to refuse some large orders.

The office is situated opposite the mill, and adjoining it is a large flour and feed store. In connection with the mill two teams are kept for doing the town delivering and loading out. The mill is under the management of Edward Pakenham, who superintended the changing of the mill to this system, assisted by a competent staff of millers, packers, etc. Mr. Charles N. Brown manages the scales, and "Charley" is a great favorite with the farmers. The office and feed store are located after by Mr. James Buchanan.

A visit to this mill will amply repay those who take an interest in manufactures. It is a great advantage to the community to have such enterprising and progressive business men in it, for the benefits of such an important industry are widely spread. We are sure our readers, recognizing this fact, will agree with us in hoping that Mr. Rogers will reap a handsome remuneration from his enterprise.

Why The People Come Back to Us!

In our trade in CLOTHING of that character that carrying—my young man—once we never see him again? Not probable. Not is it likely to lose that character.
When a young man needs CLOTHING he wants something like a stock, a department, to select from. Don't you get that with us? He wants his clothes well put together and run no risk of unnecessary expenditure, either, or at least have it come upon him unexpectedly. He doesn't care for some like whip-cords in his pants legs, or his coat collar, showing inches of room behind his neck. This touching clothing. Another word here, we'd say. Don't jump to the conclusion that we don't keep certain goods because you don't see them mentioned in our advertisements. If you do you'll make a mistake. It's impossible, where we have so varied a stock of goods, to make mention of them all. We can only tell in mention some at all. So don't limit your ideas of our stock to our advertisements. As for what we say in them much more remains unsaid. There's nothing new, desirable or fashionable we haven't got. TRY US.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

"Very Choice?"

That is the verdict given on Tom. Derry's Oyster.

Peaked Bait

For 1882 has now arrived at the REVIEW stationary store.

The "Missing Link"

The work on the line of the "Missing Link" progresses steadily. The rails have been laid at the Ontario end of the line for about a mile and a half—across the bridge. At this end the rails are laid from the Junction at South street to Park street, and the bridge at the South street crossing has been completed.

The Girls

The girls were completed last night by three persons who had not the necessary money to pay for a night's lodging. Two of them were young men, rather smart looking, and the third was an old man over fifty years of age, who was crippled with paralysis. The old man appeared in the Police Court this morning on a charge of vagrancy.

Lecture To-night

Our readers should not forget the lecture in Bentley's Hall to-night by Prof. Bryce, on "Outstanding Diseases—their causes and prevention." Prof. Bryce is an acknowledged authority on this very important subject, and the public should show that they appreciate the action of the Mechanics' Institute, in inviting him here.

The Weather

To-day has been clear and cold. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 10
a. m. to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Decreasing westerly winds; fair, cold weather, with occasional snow flurries; stationary or lower temperature.

Railway Notes

The trunk of the Ontario Central has been laid beyond the village of Frankford, and Chilhelm's Mills will be reached in a few days.The Post says that Mr. R. A. Hay, engineer of the Midland Railway, passed through Lindsay on Wednesday going north over the Victoria to Kilmarnock, where he will lay out a siding which is to be built to connect the Dixon car-mill at that point with the main line.

A Collision

There was a slight accident reported early on the northern section of the Midland Railway on Thursday. The train from the north arrived at the 7 o'clock train from Port Hope at Cambridge station, five miles north of Lindsay. The storm was raging, and the atmosphere so thick with the flying snow that a person could not see a rod before him; in consequence of which the two trains mentioned above collided, damaging the engines of both trains. But we are happy to learn that no one was hurt.

The Missing Link

The ice on the skating rink will be ready for the commencement of the sport to-morrow.
Great pains have been taken in getting a good foundation for the ice, and better ice has never been had in the rink than has been secured this season. By first covering the ground with a shallow bed of water and allowing it to freeze, gradually adding to its thickness, a solid bed of ice has been formed, which is in excellent condition. This is the earliest that the rink has been opened in any season, and those who patronize it will have a month longer for sport than last year.

Ontario Lodge, I. O. O. F.

The M. W. Grand Master, Henry Robertson,
Esq., and the Grand Secretary, J. B. King, Esq., were met at the Midland station on the arrival of the noon train by the following deputation representing the Ontario Lodge, viz: Mr. Wm. Clinton, Mr. James Stevenson, Dr. R. W. Bell, Mr. John McKee, Chairman of the reception committee, and Mr. H. H. Smith, Master of Peterborough. These were also present a large number of the members of the Lodge. They drove to the Calico House where the Grand Officers were quartered. At 5 p.m.
the Lodge assembled, and once more Ontario Lodge No 15 was placed on the active roll of the Grand Lodge. The ceremony of re-initiating was unusually grand and imposing. There is to be a grand banquet this evening at the Calico House. We will give full particulars to-morrow. The hall will be open to visitors from 5 o'clock to 8 this afternoon.

POLICE COURT.

VAGRANCY.

FRIDAY, Dec. 8.—John Carroll was on the 20th of November sent to goal for ten days for being drunk. Previous to that he had received a night's lodging in the cells. This morning he appeared in Court charged with vagrancy.
He claimed that he had been working on the railway. After a series of questions had been answered, he was allowed to go, the Magistrate at the same time informing him that he must go to work at once, for if he came before him again he would send him up for six months.

Opening of the Rink.

The rink will be opened for the season tomorrow at two o'clock. Reasonable admission as last year, to be had at A. L. Davis, Thomas Munro and Miss Jenkins.

Personnel.

The English papers contain a long list of the honours and promotions bestowed for the Egyptian campaign. Among others Major George Ramsay Alford Dimes of the 4th Dragoon Guards, and Major Alister Champion Taylor of the Bengal Staff Corps, have been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. Col. Dimes has also received Her Majesty's permission to accept the third class of the Order of Medjidie, and Col. Taylor and Major M. Olmsted, of the Bengal Staff Corps, to accept the fourth class of the Order of Ousemanieh, for distinguished services before the enemy.Among the arrivals to-day were Henry Robertson, Esq., Collingwood, Grand Master, and J. B. King, Esq., Toronto, Secretary of the Oddfellows, who are stopping at the Calico House.

Santa Claus' Headquarters.

The rooms and property of Bentley's Fancy Goods Store, during the past year, must be very gratifying to the proprietor. Mr.
Bentley came to Peterborough about a year ago, an entire stranger, to succeed Mr. Austin in the business, and by his practical knowledge, together with his obliging manner, he has already built up a thriving trade. Anyone following a walk into his store just now will be astonished at the extent and variety of fancy goods which he has piled up for the approaching holidays. Still they continue to arrive daily and are packed away upstairs and downstairs, so that the premises have the appearance of having been recently taken possession of by Santa Claus' Headquarters. We have no room here to enumerate, where the display and assortment is as vast and varied, but as Bentley's will undoubtedly be one of the most popular resorts of those in quest of presents for the holidays, our readers will most likely call and go for themselves. As many of our readers is convenient should call and do their purchasing as early as possible, in order to save the rush and wait on Christmas week.

Our Visitors for Christmas.

We find in The American Opinions the following interesting communication:—BETTER CANADA.—I have voted to hold the annual meeting next year in Canada for many reasons, but especially because it will be possible, and especially delightful, to combine both things and the "Spectator" Islands, so far as the eastern members are concerned. These who have several weeks to spare can make a most delightful cruise, by crossing from Quebec to Port Hope and thence by way of Lindsay on the Great Northern Railway to Peterborough. This is no longer than to Lake Huron. Launch canoe in the Saginaw River, thence through Georgian Lake, Bass Lake, Pigeon Lake and on through the chain to Stoney Lake. After the meeting, return by way of Rice Lake and Peterborough; through Trent River to Bay of Quinte, to Kingston, to Thousand Islands—taking cano from Okauch. This would give a most delightful cruise of at least two or three weeks, but it could be much shortened for those who have not so much time or who prefer spending a week among the Thousand Islands. Such a one could go direct to Lake Huron, and after the meeting pass through Rice Lake and Trent River to Thousand Islands, or if preferable, take car to Kingston from Peterborough and from there the islands may him for such time as he may desire to spend among them. The fishing in the Ontario lakes is of the best, Lake Huron especially noted, and the trip I propose would give every variety of amusement from running rapids and catch salmon to the best of lake fishing with a swimming towards what. We do not hesitate to predict in the next number a rough touting of the map of the route I propose, as that all would easily understand the many advantages and possibilities.
Yours very truly,
R. A. OLIVER.

SPECIAL SERVICE.—On Wednesday night a series of special services held in the 4th Line Church were brought to a close. The services were conducted by the Rev. T. Fox, Methodist Minister, and were very successful, many persons being added to the membership of the church.
The 6th of December, the evening on which the meetings were closed, being the anniversary of Mr. Fox's natal day, in addition to giving those who united with the church a copy of the rules, he presented each with a copy of a magazine.

Antiquity of the Frame Saw.

A frame saw is shown in a painting of Hercules. The sawyers are at each end, one standing and the other sitting. The bench to which the timber is secured by clamps is supported by four-legged stools. The saw frame is square, and the saw blade is strained in the middle; the teeth stand perpendicular to the plane of the frame. Frame saws were common in Egypt many centuries previous to this time.

A Little Member Burned.

COLLINGWOOD, Dec. 6.—Early this morning a five year old boy named John, who was riding along at the Northern Railway docks, which destroyed all the aft portion of the vessel to the tail, and part of the forward cabin. Workmen were engaged for the last work in stripping the vessel and laying her up, but no one was ascertained as to the cause of the fire. The steamer was scuttled at the docks, and sank in 15 feet of water. Insured in some American

Back to Us!Is our trade in CLOTHING of that character that serving a young man—once you never see him again? Not probable. Nor is it likely to take that character.When a young man needs CLOTHING he wants something like a French, a dandy, to glorified from. Don't you get that right up? He wants his clothes well put together and run no risk of unconvenient ventilation, either; or at least have it come upon him unexpectedly. He doesn't care for some like whip-cords in his pants legs, or his coat collar.
showing inches of skin behind his neck. This laughing clothing. Another word here, we'd say.
Don't jump to the conclusion that we don't keep clothes because you don't see them hanging in our advertisement. If you do, you'll make a mistake. It's impossible, where we have so vast a stock of goods, to make mention of them all. We even may fail to mention some at all. So don't think your ideas of our stock to our advertisement.
As for what we in them much more remains unsaid. There's nothing new, desirable or fashionable we haven't got. TRY US.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN INTERNAL S' HEADS SCURF AND RING DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but which it will cure in a few days, and sometimes to take away, even if it comes past cure. Eruptions of the skin, blotches and pimples, vanish as if by magic; while the certifying skin diseases, "As has plagued the patient for years, however deeply rooted they may be," Sul-pholine "will successfully attack them, and the anatomical which causes these unsightly, irritable, painful eruptions, and always produce a clear, healthy condition of the skin." "Sulpholine" Lotions

S' head, is the most potent remedy to all skin diseases. Making like Sulpholine, it is made of the purest, and is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its healthy action on the Human Skin.SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Marini, and every year it is made more and more extensively to its widely increasing reputation.
Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with skin diseases, should apply Sulpholine as early as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES ON-

A VIOLATION OF NATIONAL GOOD FAITH.

Either the London Advertiser must have been misrepresenting Mr. Hardy or Mr. Hardy must have been perverting the truth. The Advertiser says:—

"Mr. Hardy at St. Thomas said you could pledge a nation only by its good faith, and the one record of direct violation of national faith in our history was contained in the course of the Dominion Government on the boundary award, a solemn and binding agreement entered into to abide by the result of an arbitration mutually agreed upon, and to give the necessary legislation to effect its legality."

If Mr. Hardy said this, he said what he knew to be untrue. Mr. Mackenzie and his colleagues could not pledge the good faith of Canada in the Boundary question, for our constitution does not give the control of such matters to the administration of the day but to the Parliament of Canada. In fact, at the time Mr. Mackenzie did not pretend to pledge the good faith of the country, reserving the final decision, in accordance with law, for the Dominion Parliament, as far as the Canadian side of the bargain was concerned.

Even, however, if Mr. Hardy was correct in his opinion of this question, he would be widely astray as to there being no precedent. If Mr. Hardy is so ignorant of Canadian history, he can very readily obtain information, for he has only to apply to his colleagues and leader, Mr. Mowat, who can give him from personal knowledge a case in point. In consequence of the difficulty of deciding which should be the capital of Canada from among all the rivals for the position, the decision was left to no less a personage than Her Majesty Queen Victoria. The good faith of the nation was pledged to accept her award, not simply by the administration, but by a solemn vote of the Parliament of Canada. The Queen thus invited named Ottawa as the capital. To repudiate the government the acceptance of this award was opposed. Mr. Mowat was among those who voted to violate the pledged faith of Canada, to repudiate the solemn agreement of our parliament, and to insult our Sovereign. But Mr. Mowat went even further than this. The amendment as was intended attracted the support of the discontented advocates of the claims of other cities, and by this roll calling the government was defeated. Then in consequence of this dishonest and disloyal vote of himself and his friends there was a change of ministry and Mr. Mowat took office on the strength of this violation of the good faith of Canada, as pledged by its parliament, and of this insult to Queen Victoria, whose invited award was thus insultingly rejected.

The next time Mr. Hardy wishes to discuss the subject of the violation of the good faith of Canada he would do well to have a little previous conversation with Mr. Mowat.

THE PROVINCIAL TREASURY WITH- DRAWS

IMMEDIATELY following the elections of last June and up to the by-elections of last October, Dame Rumor had it that the Hon. S. C. Wood, "with his usual caution," was the look out for a comfortable refuge from the uncertainties of political life, and especially from the uncertainties of the coming general election, but since the latter event these rumors have ceased and the general impression was that if Mr. Wood ever entertained such an intention, the by-elections would have such a reassuring effect that he would stick to the Provincial Treasury for at least another voyage. In this latter supposition, however, it seems people were mistaken. Whether it be that Mr. Wood does not place the same reliance upon the result of the by-elections as his political friends generally profess to do; whether it be that "omniscience" tells him that neither he nor his colleagues deserve a renewal of that confidence with which the people of this Province have trusted them for the last three Parliaments; whether it be that owing to the recent loss of an influential and energetic supporter he no longer feels secure of his own seat; or whether it be on account of all these things combined, Mr. Wood, by notifying his constituents in South Victoria that he will not again seek their suffrage, has in the most practical manner announced that he at least prefers a bird in the hand to two in the bush. And we believe the future will prove that he has only acted with his usual caution in so doing. Of course, as Mr. Wood, contrary to Reform professions, is to sit and vote in the legislature for another session, with this commission for good appointment as good as in his pocket, we are informed that he has taken this step "solely" for "private reasons," but every one understands that when Mr. Wood steps out of the Provincial Treasury it is intended that he shall step into some comfortable clerical or Registrarship, if nothing better is at hand to give him. And no doubt the best vacancy that occurs between this and the day of polling will be kept open for the double purpose of proving a spur to the faithful to do their duty in the coming contest and to be ready as a place of refuge for the present Provincial Treasurer.

CANOEING ON OUR WATERS.

To the Editor of the Daily Review.

Sir,—Will you kindly permit me space in your columns, to make some suggestions to those of your numerous readers in town and country, who take an interest in nearly sports and pastimes, and to all who are desirous to assist in a matter that would tend to the material interests of our country.

I may assume that everyone who reads the public papers, and particularly yours, knows something about the "American Canoe Association," which, though only formed a few years ago, has already a very large membership, composed for the most part of leading representative men, of nearly every state of the union, and not a few Canadians, the Association being American in the proper sense of the term.

These canoes hold an annual congress in the month of August. Hitherto they have chosen the beautiful and historic Lake George, as their place of meeting—all the members who can must at that time bring their canoes and camp out, hold a regular and about the officers for the coming year. Peterborough was well represented at the last two congresses, thanks for which I believe are particularly due to our esteemed townsman, Mr. R. B. Edwards, who has done so much to encourage canoeing and boating here, and who was elected at the last Congress, Commodore for the current year, an appointment which was accepted by him, as it was doubtless intended, not only as an honor to himself, but through him to Canadians generally, and thus was forged another link in that chain of fellowship, the current basis on which all other mutual interests can be built. The Commodore has not been idle since his appointment, and if he succeeds, as he is likely to do, in inducing the Association to hold their annual meeting in August next on our own Stony Lake, the time will have arrived when the public should come to his assistance, to make the necessary preparations for his guests, in order properly to receive them, and to entertain them when here.

I need not speak of the many advantages which will probably result from the proposed visit, they will be sufficiently apparent to most of your readers. I sympathize, however, that it is the custom of members of the Association to make long cruises each summer in their canoes—and next year if the meeting is held here, they propose to traverse all the waters of the Trent and Otonabee rivers, their lakes and tributaries, and when they return to their respective homes, the centres of the wealth and intelligence of the United States and Canada, it will be with a full knowledge of the capabilities of this part of the Dominion.

Some persons may desire to know beforehand the specific benefits that will be the outcome of all this. I cannot tell them any more than I could have told them when in 1857 I took an active part in getting up the first regatta in Peterborough, that that regatta would suggest to Mr. J. E. Mowat the idea of building the board canoe as an improvement on the log and birch canoes used at that time. Neither would I have been believed if I had told them the perfection that would be attained, as is now the case in their construction; that a new industry would be formed in our town, that these canoes would find their way to every quarter of the globe, and make the name of Peterborough known where else she had never been heard of. Hoping, that my suggestions will meet with your approval, which I think you will agree with me, they deserve.

I am yours truly,

H. T. STRICKLAND.

Peterborough, Dec. 9th, 1882.

[Mr. Strickland and our readers in general will be glad to learn that the proposed visit of the Association to our waters is no longer in doubt, but has been definitely adopted.—ED. REVIEW.]

AMERICAN CANOE ASSOCIATION.

The following is an extract from a letter from Vice Commodore Eillard, of Cincinnati, giving his vote in favor of Stony Lake as the place for the camp in 1883. This makes the decision of the committee unanimous, and finally settles the matter:—

"I have been absent from home for some weeks on an extended shooting and fishing trip, and found your letter awaiting my return. I beg most heartily to assent to the proposition that the next annual convention of the A. C. A. be held at Stony Lake, Canada. I sincerely hope that the meeting may be happy and enthusiastic, and that I can safely promise a strong representation from the Cincinnati Canoe Club. We only hoped our boats on Saturday last, the 2nd inst. Bakers me to be. Yours very faithfully,
Geo. B. ELLARD.

PORT ROPE.

SUPPLEMENTED BY COAL GAS.—The Times says that Mr. John Clarke, who has lately returned from Manitoba, on Sunday night came within an ace of losing his life by suffocation. The coal stove in his house is a new one, and had not been properly registered, and after going to bed and asleep, gas began escaping from it, filling his room. Waking up almost suffocated, he staggered to the window to raise it, but being unable to be turned for the door, but faint and fell as he reached it. He was found there some time afterwards, life all but extinct. The extreme necessity of looking carefully after the regulation of coal stoves is apparent from this.

A Little Romance.

A little romance of "the kind you read about" is connected with the marriage just reported of Count Carl Esterhazy, of Freiburg, Hungary, and Miss Mary Charteris, of Ipswich, England. Last summer Mr. and Mrs. Charteris, with their daughter, were cruising on the Nile, when their boat was upset. Count Esterhazy, who was near by in his yacht, came to their relief and just succeeded in saving the young lady from drowning, while his companions rescued her parents. This was the first meeting of the young couple. Within three months their engagement was announced.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.—Millions of bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have been given away as Trial Bottles of the large size. This enormous outlay would be disastrous to the proprietors, were it not for the rare merits possessed by the wonderful medicine. Call at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store and get a Trial Bottle free, and try for yourself. It never fails to cure.

A Strange Phase of Electricity.

A strange incident occurred a few days ago at a cafe in Philadelphia. A man who had been leaning against the wall suddenly fell sprawling on the floor; another signalled his entrance by screaming that he was paralyzed, and a third who stood at the bar, before he had time to drink his liquor (and that constituted the mystery in his case), dropped on his knees with a howl of rage and pain. One of the persons present had the sense to suggest electricity, and an investigation showed that he was right. A steel screw, from which depended an electric light, had been driven through the lath and plaster so far that it came in contact with an iron girder, and the man whose involuntary action had suggested witchcraft had completed the circuit in their own persons by touching a metal post or the railing of the bar, both of which had metallic connection with the girder.

Do not take pills or powders containing Calomel, at this time of the year, the result may be serious. If you require a dose of physic take Dr. Carter's Stomach and Constipation Bitters; it acts gently on the bowels, purifies the blood, improves the circulation, cleanses the Liver and Kidneys, and speedily cures Biliousness, Headache, Dyspepsia, Indigestion. Search the Drug Stores from one end of Canada to the other, and you cannot find a remedy equal to it. Try it and see it in your families. Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

FATHER LYNCH'S DEPARTURE.

Presented with Addresses and Eulogies to his New Parish.

On Sunday, after the celebration of the morning mass in St. Peter's Cathedral, the Rev. Father Lynch proceeded to his new pastorate in the parish of Lindsay. A large number of his former parishioners in Peterborough and friends formed an escort and accompanied Father Lynch to Lindsay. The escort made up a long procession, in all about forty vehicles being included in it. A very large number of people assembled at the Parish House to witness the departure of their beloved priest, besides those who made up the escort, and Father Lynch had sufficient evidence, in such a proof, that his departure from Peterborough was deeply regretted.

When within five or six miles of Lindsay the escort was met by a number of Father Lynch's new parishioners of that town, who came out to meet and welcome their priest. Thus escorted, he proceeded to the church, at which he arrived at about three o'clock. After services in the church his Lordship Bishop J. J. O'Sullivan, in a brief address, inducted the Rev. Father Lynch into his new parish and church, and introduced to his parishioners. Father Lynch delivered a short address in reply, which was characteristic of his good heart, intelligence, and spiritual ardor.

The greater part of those who escorted the Rev. Father Lynch to Lindsay had him farewell and returned home on Sunday evening, although a few remained until to-day.

THE PRESENTATIONS.

Previous to his departure from Peterborough the Rev. Father Lynch was made the recipient of several very handsome testimonials of esteem and addresses. On Saturday evening a large number of the members of his congregation and other friends assembled at the Parish House for the purpose of making the presentations.

ADDRESSES FROM THE CITIZENS.

On behalf of the Protestant citizens of Peterborough Father Lynch was presented with a beautiful ebony case with a handsome silver ornament of solid gold. The following address, which accompanied the presentation was read by Mr. J. R. Stratton:

Dear Sir,—Your Protestant friends in Peterborough have learned with deep regret, that you, at an early day, to remove from us, to assume the place occupied by the late lamented Father Stafford, and they feel that they would be remiss if they should allow you to leave Peterborough, where you have resided so long, without some token of the esteem in which you have been held by all classes of your fellow citizens during your residence amongst us.

Your many noble qualities of mind and heart, deep piety, genuine charity, and disinterested activity among your people, have been known to their Protestant fellow citizens, and your kind and Christian demeanor towards all who had the pleasure of meeting you, could not but secure the good will of even those who may hold different religious views. Since your mission to Peterborough all have felt an ever increasing cordiality and friendliness between Catholics and Protestants, each learning to cultivate that natural moderation which respects the sincerity and zeal of others, who, we fondly hope, are also animated by motives of piety and zeal, for what each believes to be truth; and your Protestant fellow citizens also attributed to your own moderation and wisdom the modifying influences that have produced such desirable results.

Your fervent zeal, deep piety, and unaffected charity, have commanded the respect of those outside your own church, and produced a deeply impressed attachment and love of those whose spiritual interests you watched over.

You will please except this token of the esteem of your Protestant fellow citizens, and permit them to express a wish that you may live long to enjoy the blessings that must accrue to a life spent in doing good, following the footsteps of your venerated predecessor, and thus continue to promote the principles of Him, whom you, in your labors and piety, serve, and extend and deepen feelings of good will in every sphere in which you may serve your generation.

We are yours very respectfully, on behalf of your Protestant fellow citizens,

R. KIRKEND, M. D.
H. E. BURR, Mayor.

J. J. LEWIS.

The Rev. Father Lynch made a few brief remarks, and at his request Mr. Theo. Kelly read the following reply:

I want to say that the reception of your very kind and flattering address and beautiful present gives me both surprise and joy—indeed, indeed, that I should be deemed worthy of so much kindness at your hands, and joy inexpressible at this crowning evidence of the esteem and Christian toleration and mutual good feeling in this locality—two first fruits of the work of your mission.

You do me over honor in attributing to me so much credit for this happy, and I may say this heavenly state of affairs; because, being, and possibly included as the life of a Roman Catholic Priest, and possibly he, he has neither the time nor the facilities to cultivate such social relationship. But I am delighted to be able to say that the kind and generous toleration of my separated brethren, together with that beautiful, unbigoted and angelic order which religious freedom allows to permeate our whole Canadian social atmosphere, have amply compensated for my shortcomings in this respect. It is true that if I did not succeed in convincing others by my calm reasoning and quiet argument, I do not remember when I ever willfully sought, either in private or public, to wound the feelings by unfriendly assertions or bigoted attacks, and I am now prepared to bear testimony of a full recognition of the same continuance on your part towards me and my flock.

In your kindness and good advice you refer with unhesitating prominence to my humble acts of charity. Here again I am delighted to bear testimony to the noble and generous manner in which all my little charitable undertakings were sponsored and aided by my kind and liberal Protestant fellow citizens. Owing to circumstances, which I did not lie in our power to alter, most of our Roman Catholic fathers came to Canada poor in the world's goods and poor also in spirit, though rich and buoyant in hope. This has left their children somewhat behind in material property, but with their proverbial generosity, together with the kind and generous charity of their Protestant neighbors, I enjoy the consolation of believing that during my long years in Peterborough no fellow citizen has gone to bed cold and hungry for want of a helping hand.

Time will not permit me to reply at length to all of your generous and unreserved remarks, therefore I will briefly say that I thank you most sincerely from the bottom of my heart. I thank not only those present, but all of my Protestant fellow citizens, for all their quotations and kindness towards me, as well as for this tangible expression of good will.

I will ever prize this beautiful gift, not alone for its intrinsic value, which is great, but for the fond memories and associations which are entwined around it, particularly as indicative of the genuine spirit of religious toleration, and the utter absence of religious bigotry during the twenty-three years that I have shaped these my first coming into this town. Yes, gentlemen, I assure you it will be long and fondly preserved among my most cherished mementoes, and wherever duty calls me, it will often come to me as "one longing, lingering look behind."

Again thanking you for your kind address and valuable present,

I am, Sir,

Yours truly,

FATHER LYNCH.

ADDRESS FROM THE CONGREGATION.
On behalf of the congregation of St. Peter's, Father Lynch was then presented with a complete silver tea set. The set was prepared from Mr. E. Munro, and consisted of twelve pieces of silver plate, all elaborately and handsomely ornamented and engraved.

Dr. O'SULLIVAN, on behalf of the congregation, read the following address:—
To the Reverend MICHAEL LYNCH, Parish Priest of Peterborough, Upon the Occasion of his Removal to Lindsay.

Reverend and Very Dear Father:—
The day is not, the dreaded time has come, and though we had fondly hoped and yearned that it might be otherwise, we are brought once more to sternly contemplate the sad reality, that there is nothing permanent in this mundane and ever mutable existence. Some few months ago when our most venerable Bishop, in response to our expressed desire, kindly in the kindness of his heart, graciously consented to your removal to Lindsay, we, his faithful flock, with us, his little flock of such a speedy separation. Now as you are about to leave us, permit us, your people and parishioners, to tender to you as a token of our love and admiration, the faintest measure of our love, gratitude and admiration, the intensity of which must be judged because the English vocabulary fails in words adequate to its proper expression.

When we calmly reflect on the twelve long years you have spent in our midst (besides many years previously spent in the immediate neighborhood) devotedly and selflessly guarding and directing our spiritual progress, as well as evincing the deepest interest in our social, moral and material welfare; now gently chiding or rebuking the poor penitent sinner—now kindly soothing and encouraging the sorrowful and addled penitent—again, leading cheering counsel, and often material aid to the straggling and struggling venturesome—applying the soothing balm of sincere sympathy to the hurtled or broken heart, we owe you the same kind and indulgent father and faithful friend, who rejoiced with us in our prosperity and grieved with us in our adversity.

Did time or space permit us to particularize your many achievements in these years, our knowledge of your natural tendency would prevent it, but as special reasons for our grateful remembrance we may say, the comfortable and commendable offices for our children in their studies, movements in your devotion and zeal in the cause of youthful education, while our present state of poverty, dear balance sheets, and total absence of debt, in the greatest possible tribute to your economic management and financial sense.

Such is our feeling at your leaving us, that we almost grieve you that quiet retirement, domestic rule, and unbroken regularity, so very grateful to old age, and in your case so well merited, and to enjoy which you believe in your principal reason in leaving Peterborough—in this we were with those that truly good and kindly men, our beloved Bishop, whose generous example, humble virtues, and truly kind and paternal solicitude will do so much to amaze our grief, mitigate the bitterness of our regrets, and, we confidently hope, ultimately amply compensate us for the loss we now sustain.

As an earnest of our expressions, we best your acceptance of this plate, and whether used in the communion and table of your lovely home, or more pleasingly and publicly in celebrating friends at your social board, may they ever bring to your mind—and more particularly when petitioning the throne of grace and mercy—Peterborough and its people.

Finally, with vivid recollection of some cherished association applicable to the congregation generally, or to each one personally, with fervent faith attachment, and with a full firm hope in a final future meeting, permits us to say most fondly and fondly, farewell.

Signed on behalf of the congregation,

JOHN O'SULLIVAN, M. D.

The Rev. Father Lynch replied in a few remarks, and said that he would send a written reply to their kind address.

Short addresses were made by Dr. O'Sullivan, Dr. O'Shea, Dr. Kinsaid, and Messrs. T. Cahill, T. Dolan and H. E. Smith, to which Father Lynch replied briefly.

PRESENTATION BY THE CHORUS.

On Thursday evening the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral presented the Rev. Father Lynch with an exceedingly handsome silver water pitcher, accompanied by an address, to which Father Lynch feelingly replied.

To print the weekly Mail, it takes 44 miles of white paper, three feet wide every week. The daily Mail uses up 128 miles of white paper, three feet wide, every six days, and both use 147 miles of paper every week, or 7,592 miles in a year.

An Eagle Story.

An interesting story by a Western paper, of true—a true—important qualification in the consideration of Occidental years—puts the character of the American eagle in a much better light than that in which he has appeared in general to students of natural history. According to this narrative a rancher named Foster recently saw a huge eagle flutter over his barn yard, interested in a fat turkey, and immediately secured his rifle. The first shot broke the eagle's wing, and in its crippled condition it robbled and flapped around uttering screams of pain. The man was watching the result before firing again, when he discovered another eagle coming from a distance. It was evidently a mate of the first one. Like an arrow it flew to the rescue, and examining its wound and seeing its mate would not escape, it took hold of it by its claws and back and flew to the mountain side, where it laid down the victim of the sportive hunter. During the past seven days the mate on the mountain have watched each day regularly, and in yet feeding it upon squirrels, rabbits, birds and mice. Mr. Foster could kill the two birds any day, but has refrained on account of the affection displayed between them. A small American flag will be fastened about the wounded bird, and when it again flies it will carry the emblem of freedom with it to the highest mountain peak.—Boston Journal.

Why The People Come
Back to Us!

Is your trade in CLOTHING that character that serving—a young man—once we have seen him again? Not probable. Nor is it likely to take that character.

When a young man needs CLOTHING he wants something like a stock, a department, to select from. Don't you get that with us? He wants his clothes well put together and run no risk of unnecessary ventilation, either; or at least have it come upon him unperceivedly. It doesn't care for seams like whip-cords in his pants legs, or his coat collar, showing inches of room behind his neck. This touching clothing. Another word here, we'd say. Don't jump to the conclusion that we don't keep certain goods because you don't see them mentioned in our advertisements. If you do you'll make a mistake. It's impossible, where we have so varied a stock of goods, to make mention of them all. We even may fail to mention some at all. So don't limit your ideas of our stock to our advertisements. As for what we may in them much more remain unad. There's nothing new, desirable or fashionable we haven't got. TRY US.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption that will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and continue to do so for the cure of some past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, tanish as if by magic; whilst old, curdling skin diseases, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the organisms which cause these unsightly, loathsome, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—A FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent remedy to all Skin Diseases. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its healthy action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Martin, and every year it is used more and more extensively, "in the widely increasing reputation. As time, however, passed, and Sulpholine's efficacy in the treatment of skin diseases, and especially of the "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the organisms which cause these unsightly, loathsome, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. TUESDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1882.

MORE LIGHT WANTED.

CIRCUMSTANCES have brought under our notice a transaction which will certainly call for considerable explanation to make it redound to the credit of the Municipal Government as guardians of the public interests and as economical managers of the Provincial purse.

The Council of the Agricultural and Arts Association own a building at the corner of Queen and Yonge streets, Toronto, in which they have their offices, and from the fact of which they derive a revenue by way of rental. In March last, the Legislature having just sanctioned the establishment of a Bureau of Statistics, the Council were applied to by Mr. Wood to know if they could not make room for the officers of the Bureau in their building, as there was not a single room to spare in the Parliament buildings. The Council at once and unanimously replied that they would be happy to do all in their power to comply with the request of the government. At that time the first flat and half of the second flat, were under a lease which expired on the first of August last, and the Council at that meeting arranged with the then occupant for a new lease for ten years, of the first and half of the second flat, as so to leave the whole of the second flat available for their own offices and those of the new Bureau, and Mr. Wood was at once informed that the whole of the second flat and half of the third flat was at the disposal of the Bureau less the actual accommodation required for the purpose of the Council—rent free.

At the meeting of the Council held in Kingston in April, a plan was submitted of the alterations required in accordance with the new lease with Mr. Jamieson, the tenant, and for the accommodation of the Bureau. This was approved by the Council and the government was authorized to have the alterations made, on the understanding that the Council would pay for that portion of them which were called for by the lease into which they had entered, and the government for all the rest.

On this understanding the Council gave itself little concern as to what was actually being done, and indeed had no opportunity of judging thereof, inasmuch as they held no meeting in Toronto after March until last week, when although much pleased with the alterations which had been made, they were thunderstruck at having a bill presented to them showing that the expenditure, up to date and required to complete what had been undertaken, amounted to the modest sum of $11,490.21, made up as follows:—

Payments from May to date	$8,508.79
Accounts paid	2,141.07
Work yet to be done, Elevator	650.00
Painting	213.00
Total	$11,510.86
Less material sold	$3.15
	$11,490.21

They were also politely informed that of the above sum $2,061.90 was chargeable to the tenant and that of the balance the Council was expected to hand over a cheque for two thirds thereof, or $6,298.94, and that the Province would generally contribute the other third or $3,149.47.

Naturally the Council wanted more light before passing a bill which instead of altering, would, in a place like Peterborough, erect the building from cellar to garret, and before agreeing to pay a bill which covered expenditures which they had not only never authorized, but about which they had never been consulted. At the request of the Council Mr. Tully, the chief architect, appeared before them, and among other papers submitted on under date of May 3rd, which showed that he estimated the cost of making the alterations required by the plan submitted to the Council at Kingston at $8,000, made up of expenditure on first floor for tenant $1800, on second floor for Bureau $1000, and on third floor for tenant $600. He also, in the same report, estimated the cost of heating the building with steam at $1400, and an elevator for the tenant at $600, bringing his total estimate for work that now reaches nearly $12,000, up to just $6000, or nearly $1,900 less than Mr. Mowat now asks the Council to hand him a cheque for. So far as the heating apparatus is concerned, they never were asked about it, although they do not object to it, seeing that it is stated that the tenant agreed to pay, and one half of its cost is charged to him. With regard to the elevator, as that has been added purely for the accommodation of the tenant, and without any increase of rent therefor on his part, it is obvious that it is the duty of the Council to refuse to contribute a single cent thereto. Taking the whole liberal view of this matter then, the utmost which the Council should have been asked to pay under the circumstances, was the two thirds in the original estimate for the tenant, and amounting to $3000, and one fourth of cost of steam heating, $350. They, however, to leave no just ground of complaint against them, passed a resolution instructing their Treasurer to pay $3000 in full settlement of the Government's claim.

This is a bare statement of facts which cannot be disputed, and we venture to think they disclose a state of affairs which is the reverse of creditable to the members of the Municipal Government, and which calls for the fullest investigation. That a clerk of works, fassman, etc. should be kept dilly dallying over the alteration of a three story building whose first flat is occupied as one shop, for some seven months, at a cost of nearly $12,000, is simply disgraceful and discreditable to the business capacity of the Minister under whose supervision it took place, while the fact that the public money to the tune of over $1000, is being expended for the exclusive accommodation of a tenant who has just entered upon a ten years lease, without any compensation whatever, has, to say the least of it, an exceedingly fishy look. In fact the whole transaction is one with regard to which more light is required, and into which it is to be hoped the opposition during the coming session, so far as Mr. Mowat's "brute majority" will permit, will thoroughly enquire.

THE LATE LIEUT.-COL. HAULTAIN, R. A.

THE late Lieut.-Colonel Haultain, who died at his residence in Peterborough on Saturday, Dec. 9th, was the third son of the late Major-General Haultain, of the Royal Artillery. He was born at Brussels in November, 1821, and had consequently just entered his sixty-second year. He joined the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich in 1837, and received a Lieutenant's commission in the Royal Artillery in 1839; became a Second Captain in 1845; a First Captain in 1854; Major in January, 1860; Lieut.-Colonel in April, 1860, and retired in June of the same year, receiving the value of his commission. Upon his retirement he came to Canada and took up his residence in Peterborough in September of the same year. As the general election of 1861 he was nominated by the Reformers as their candidate in opposition to the late Mr. Conner, and succeeded in defeating that gentleman by a majority of 28. In 1863 another general election took place, when Col. Haultain declined to be a candidate, and Mr. Conner was returned by acclamation. Upon the decease of the latter gentleman in 1864, Col. Haultain again contested the county with the late Mr. Chas. Perry, and was again successful by a majority of 108. Upon the close of that Parliament in 1867, Col. Haultain again retired, and from that time up to the day of his death took no further active part in politics. About the year 1869 he became actively engaged first as agent and then as secretary in the work of the French Canadian Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, and as a consequence removed from Peterborough to Montreal, where he remained until the death of the late Captain Rabidge, R. N., in 1873, when he was appointed Registrar of the County of Peterborough, and of course returned home with his family. Col. Haultain, during his residence in Peterborough, took an active part in all Protestant religious movements, especially those in connection with the Presbyterian church, of which he was an active member and Elder. Being a fluent and agreeable speaker, his services on the platform and in the pulpit were in frequent requisition and invariably cheerfully given in behalf of any object with which he sympathized. He also took an active part in looking after the poor, and as chairman of the Hall Trust, and in connection with the Protestant Home will undoubtedly be much missed in Peterborough. Col. Haultain leaves a widow, four sons and three daughters to mourn his premature and unexpected death, and they have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends, and of the community generally in the irreparable loss with which it has placed an all-wise Providence to visit them. May He who can alone comfort the widow and the fatherless be their guide and comforter in this their great bereavement.

BELLEVILLE.

KICKED BY A HORSE.—The Intelligencer says that on Friday morning, a lad about eleven years of age, son of Mr. Joseph Lashford of Thompsonburg, while attending some horses which were in his father's barn, was kicked by one of the animals and injured severely. The little fellow's face and skull were lacerated in many places and his neck was severely cut. Every attention was paid to him, but his injuries were of such a character that fatal results followed. The boy died this morning at 4.30. The horse which caused the boy's death was owned by Alex. Rutherford. Mr. Lashford has the sympathy of his friends in the loss he has sustained.

DIPHTHERIA.—Diphtheria has caused havoc in the family of Daniel Grant, of Sidney. On Sunday last, one child died and on Monday another followed. Mrs. Grant fell a victim to the disease on Wednesday night and was buried yesterday afternoon. The third and last child, six years of age, died on Friday night. Mr. Grant's sister, Mrs. James Ketcheson, is that she has been placed in an isolated room. Two of Mr. Allen Ketcheson's sons are down with this scourge, as is also Mr. Henry Grant. Daniel Grant's case is critical. Dr. Rockwell, of Frankford, is in daily attendance on him and holds consultations with Dr. Wilson of this city, and Dr. Fawell of Port Hope.

CHESLEY.

SUPPER.—The Harold says that the annual supper of the Omnesse Hook and Ladder Company was held in the Windsor House on Friday evening last. All seemed to enjoy themselves very much.

THE BOSS BROTHMAN.—On Tuesday last Mr. Geo. English, boss sportsman of Omnesse, returned from a five day's hunt, north of Kingston, bringing with him five fine deer. One of these, a large buck, has a most beautiful head-gear which Mr. English says it would take a few dollars to purchase.

Alcohol Sugar and Paper Put from Wood.

Bracconet's process, as described in an Austrian paper, consists in mixing sawdust carefully with an equal weight of sulphuric acid, not allowing the mixture to get hot; and after a while diluting the paste mass with water and heating to boiling. When decomposition is complete, the acid is neutralized with carbonate of lime, and the glucose thus obtained is fermented in the usual manner by adding yeast to it. Owing to the large amount of sulphuric acid required, the results hitherto obtained do not favor its introduction on a large scale. But, on the other hand, the manufacture of spirits may perhaps be profitably combined with paper making.

Very satisfactory results were obtained by Rocket and Mackay by treating wood shavings with hydrochloric acid under pressure. They treated 4,000 pounds of wood with 8,000 pounds of water containing 800 pounds of hydrochloric acid for ten or twelve hours in wooden vats, the mass being kept boiling by live steam. The hot acid dissolves off the increasing material from the wood, which is thereby converted into a dry mass that is easily converted into paper after being washed with water. The acid liquid contains from 20 to 22 per cent. of grape sugar to 100 parts of the dry wood. The liquid is then saturated with chalk, and fermented at 24° to 35° C. (75° to 77° Fahr.). One cubic meter of pine wood weighing 435 to 440 kilos is said to yield 780 to 790 liter per cent. of alcohol (equal to 30 or 40 liters of 60 per cent. spirits), which is worthy of consideration. —Scientific American.

DAUGHTERS, WIVES, Mothers, look to your health! The many painful and weakness diseases from which you suffer, disappearing of a cure, can be remedied by that wonderful regulator and purifying tonic, Dr. Cassell's Blood Purifier. Ask your Druggist for proof.

FURS :: FURS :: FURS!

FIRST PRIZE FURS AND WHERE TO BE FOUND.

Not many houses in the Fur Trade possess the facility for manufacturing FURS as the subscriber. The large quantity of Raw Furs he buys DIRECT FROM THE TRAPPERS enables him to select the choicest material, leaving a surplus for export, hence his success. Who pays the highest price for raw furs? Let the Trappers answer that question, as all have been defeated and left the field who entered in opposition 22 years ago.

By importing European Furs direct, his name is as well known in Leipzig, Germany, as any of the wholesale houses, and noted for not offering dyed Marten for Sable, or dyed Goat Rodes for Bear, nor using any fictitious name in his establishment whereby imitations are sold for real, at often treble their value. Continuing, as commenced, in the same old way of giving a GOOD ARTICLE FOR THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE, any order entrusted must give satisfaction or no sale.

On account of family changes, I have concluded to close the shop formerly occupied by S. Hyman, after New Year's. This stock will be sold at very low prices.

ALLEGED MARRIAGES.

A Man and His Woman With Regard to a

Scandal which leads to their death.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Wm. Eastard, of North

Middlesex, near Alder Gate, was arrested on Wednesday last on a charge of manslaughter.

The prisoner was brought to London by Sgt. Mr

Foster and remained in goal till the 10th instant.

He was arrested at the instance of Governor An derson at Canby village, on Thursday last, on a warrant charging him with causing his wife's death.

It appears his wife, Ann Eastard, was found dead some time since confined in a house at Canby village. At short time ago she was released at her husband's re quest, and returned to live with him.

AN UNLAWFUL MARRIAGE.

She had recovered her reason to a great extent

at the time, but on several occasions she en gaged from the house at night and in her night clothes. She had at the time of her death just returned to the house, and was cold and wet.

She was, prisoner state, attempting to go out again when she encountered to prevent her. In the ensuing struggle she fell against the stove, containing injurious which caused her death. He is said to have informed the neighbors of the fact. The prisoner was at one time a well-known and respected citizen of London.

MR. EASTARD'S DEATH.

On leaving the asylum detained was in a very quiet and favorable condition. After her re turn home she grew worse again. On the night of the 10th she had been rambling about, and came in with her clothing quite wet. He was attempting to take off her stockings and put on dry ones when a struggle ensued, in which she fell. When she was found she was found upon her back, as well as those dis covered elsewhere, indicating that possibly her death was caused by strangulation, and in this view the coroner's jury appeared to have arrived at their decision. It is stated that in trying to hold her by the back of the neck with his hand. The prisoner's version of the circum stances is that for a considerable time past his wife would close his watchfulness and escape from the house at all hours of the day and night, frequently in a state of comparative nudity, so that her life was in constant jeopardy from exposure. On the night of the 10th, when made an effort to change her clothing, when she resisted, and in his attempt she was knocked over, and in falling she struck her head against the stove and sustained pro found her head on the floor. When he proceeded to raise her he found her insens ible and lying at her feet he found she was a corpse. Wm. Eastard was brought to the goal last night, having been committed on a charge of manslaughter by the coroner's jury.

He was arrested as a result of an indictment on his wife's body by Governor James R. Ander son, M.D., at Canby village. A post mortem of the body was made by Drs. Gurn and Stew art, who testified at the inquest. The evidence given by these medical gentlemen showed that the deceased came to her death by the marks dis covered on her body. No documents have been forwarded to this city but the coroner's warrant.

The prisoner Eastard is well known in the city, where he formerly worked. He was known as a quiet, peaceable man.—Globe.

THE PACIFIC PROVINCE.

The Climate of British Columbia—A Happy

Medium.

It has often been our duty to call the attention of the outer part of the world to our beautiful grandeur and sublimity. No land that we have ever visited presents such wealth in the picturesque, and so great as the province of the north pacific such fine and diversified scenery to make a people great, wealthy, and independent. While some people are being persecuted with heat, and others are perishing with cold, we are happy, healthy, and cheerful, in the midst of plenty and rejoicing of the harvest. In fact the case with which people can live in this country has done much to attract a small population, to retard its progress.—B. C. Guardian.

ABOUT THE C. P. R.

The year now closing may be looked back upon with some satisfaction by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The track is now laid to a point 300 miles west of Winnipeg.

Forty-seven miles more are graded, ready for track-laying. This will be completed by the end of the year. Beyond this point, that is to say on the other side of the 100 miles, some 15 miles have been graded in patches, and will be completely graded before spring. Beyond that again 45 miles of heavy work, cutting and fill, in the cañons that run from the Cypress

Hills to the Skekatchewan. Upon this work

Langdon, Shoppard & Co.'s men will be employed all winter. Then, before the end of the year, the track will be put down within 60 miles of Leppold, the name of the town where the railroad crosses the Skekatchewan. But above and beyond this the line is permanently located ten miles westward of the river, and, saving revisions, to Calgary, 180 miles westward of Leppold. From Calgary to the summit of the Rocky Mountains lies a stretch of 150 miles of exceedingly heavy work. This leaves 300 miles to be constructed next year, and apart from the natural difficulties that will hamper the con struction men, their task of supplying Winnipeg will be just as arduous as that of the year any doubt the work will be done. The Sydnor line has gone through harder times than these cañons.

Since the beginning of the present year they have laid 435 miles of track on the main line, 115 miles on their southwestern branch, 25 miles on the new branch to Selkirk, 60 miles of side trunk on the main line, three miles of side trunk on the southwestern branch, and 10 miles of track on the Selkirk branch. Nothing like this has been hitherto known in the annals of railroading. Mr. Van

Horne and Mr. Egan have accomplished a task which, at no remote period, would have been regarded as impossible.

Track laying will be finished on the C. P. R.

Southwestern branch to Manitoba City, Man itoba, 101 miles from Winnipeg, to day, Dec. 15th. Sixty trains will be made to run from Winnipeg to Regina and return, on Mondays, On Tuesdays and Fridays mixed trains will be run to Pembina, Manitoba, re turning on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The operations of the Syndicate from the first have been marked by extraordinary energy, and next year they purpose even to outstrip the wonderful push that has marked their work since they took hold of it a year and a half ago. Mr. Eastard and his associates do not admit more thoroughly than the people of Winnipeg

the mainly manner in which Mr. Van Horne and Mr. Egan have shouldered and carried the colossal burden assumed by the Syndicate.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. ALBANS, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentles:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's

Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it cured a horse of humors caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and

I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, and I discovered that a spavin was the cause.

I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with it cured him in less than a week, and he is now as sound as the best of horses.

Respectfully yours,

P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

BROCKTON, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentles:—In reply to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have received two more spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure,

one very large one, don't know how long the spavin

had been there. I have owned the horse eight months.

It took me four months to take the large one off, and the two for the present one, I have used ten bottles.

The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no trace of humors or rheumatism in man and for any purpose which a medicine is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best medicine for man ever used, and certainly will tell in the effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which will give positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever used with such successful success to our knowledge, for human as well as man.

Price fifty cents, or six bottles for $3.00. All druggists have it, or it can be got for you, or will send to

Mr. W. Croft and Mr. W. Chamberlain, representatives for the town, and Mr. H. Colwell, for the County, went to Toronto this morning to attend the meeting of the Licensed Victuallers of Ontario.

Journalistic.
We learn from the Church Work that the Rev. C. W. Bradshaw, incumbent of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, is to have charge of the "Children's Department," which will be begun in the January number. Mr. Bradshaw has been editing the "Sunday School Lessons," which have appeared in the same periodical.

Season.
The ladies of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, intend holding a sale of fancy and useful articles in Bradburn's Hall on Wednesday and Thursday next, the 13th and 14th of December. Refreshments will be served each day—dinner from 12.30 to 2 p. m. and supper from 6 to 8. The doors will be opened from noon. This bazaar provides a good opportunity for persons to procure useful Christmas presents.

The Happy Season.
The season when every person feels happy approaches—Christmas is near, and everyone wishes to know where they can buy handsome yet not costly presents. Mr. Alex. Graham, of the Right Cent Store, in order to give a lively start to the holiday trade, offers a choice lot of Christmas cards at cost, and has a large assortment of dolls, toys, vases, Japanese ware, albums, motto caps, china ornaments, &c., which he will also sell at cost. A good line in fancy soaps, branches, mirrors, vases, tinware, &c., will be sold very cheaply at a small advance on cost. When about to buy presents during the holiday season bear in mind the Right Cent Store, where the articles are handsome and the prices are low.

Election of Officers.
At the regular meeting of McWilliams Lodge of True Blues on Monday evening, the following officers were elected for the coming year:—
Bro C. W. Robertson, W. M.
"Thos Dunlop, D. M.
"Richard Clegg, Treasurer.
"Wm McDowell, Sec.
"Simon Wels, Asst. Sec.
"Edward Webb, Chaplain.
"Fred Wels, D. of C.
"F. McDowell, G. G.
"F. Walton, O. G.
Committee—Bro. George Reid, Robert McMahon, Wm. Ford, Samuel Davis and Wm. Russell.
After the Lodge closed the members adjourned to the St. James' Hotel, where they were entertained at an oyster supper. The usual loyal toasts were honored, short speeches were made, songs sung, etc., and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

The Legion of Honor.
This evening Frank L. Gardner's company will appear in Bradburn's Opera House in the "Legion of Honor, or the Wife's Secret." The Montreal Gazette, speaking of their appearance in that city, says:—

"The audience present at the performance of the 'Legion of Honor, or the Wife's Secret' last night testified their appreciation of the unusual excellence of the presentation by repeated applause and frequent recalls of the leading artists. The play is, as we have already said, a strong one, and Mr. Gardner's company do it simple justice. Miss Annie Graham's impersonation of 'Elle de Lignieres' we have already had occasion to praise highly. Mr. Wm. H. Griffith as 'Paul de Lignieres' is also one of the features of the presentation, and has rightly called for the hearty applause. Particularly good is the scene with the wife when the secrets of the letters are at last revealed. In this portion both proved themselves consummate artists, and Miss Graham and Mr. Griffith richly merited the spontaneous recall accorded by the audience."

"Very Choice!"
That is the verdict given on Tom. Darcy's Oyster.

First Carnival of the Season.

It has been definitely decided to hold the first Carnival of the season on Friday evening, January 20th, in the rink. The committee appointed is a good one, and we have every reason to believe it will prove to be one of the most successful carnivals ever held in the building. Some new features will be introduced in the evening's entertainment, together with races, and prizes will be given to the best lady and gentleman skater, also for the best dressed gentleman, lady, boy, and girl; in fact the committee seem bent on carrying out to a successful issue their arduous task. They purpose expending a considerable sum in the illumination of the building, so that all the costumes may show to the best advantage. Already twenty dozen Chinese lanterns of various designs and coloring have been ordered. Posters will be fixed in a few days, giving the entire programme of events, together with information about costumes. As the date mentioned is in the holiday week we bespeak a bumper house.

POINT COURT.

DRUNK.

TUESDAY, Dec. 12.—John McCabe, a painter from Fenelon Falls, was not capable of taking care of himself last night and was taken in charge by P. C. Adams. He appeared before the Magistrate this morning, and, while pleading guilty, urged that this was the first time he had appeared in court—in fact, that it was the first time that a policeman had laid a hand on his shoulder.

The Magistrate, believing that "mercy seasons justice," allowed him to go with a warning.

Harvard's Acid Phosphate.

Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cts. to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your Cough. It never fails. Why The People Come Back to Us!

Is our trade in CLOTHING of that character that every man—a young man—once we move on him again? Not probable. Nor is it likely to take that character.

When a young man needs CLOTHING he wants something like a stock, a department, to select from. Don't you get that with us? He wants his clothes well put together and run so risk of unnecessary ventilation; either; or at least have it come upon him unexpectedly. He doesn't care for seams like whip-cords in his pants legs, or his coat collar, showing laces on the back behind his neck. This touching clothing. Another word here, we'd say. Don't jump to the conclusion that we don't keep certain goods because you don't see them mentioned in our advertisements. If you do you'll make a mistake. It's impossible, where we have so varied a stock of goods, to make mention of them all. We even may fail to mention some at all. So don't limit your ideas of our stock to our advertisements. As for what we get in them much more remains to be seen. There's nothing new, desirable or fashionable we aren't got. TRY US.

VERY EFFICIENT REASONS.

THE supporters of Mr. Mowat still pretend that no good reason has been given why he and his administration should be removed from power. We and other opponents of his Ministry have given ample reasons why he should be deprived of the power of doing further mischief, and we will briefly recapitulate some of the principal ones.

In the first place they have greatly increased the Provincial expenditure since the days of the late Sandfield Macdonald, who they then accused of extravagance, and this not only on account of the additional population and settlement, as is pretended, for the rate of expenditure per head has been raised enormously. To provide for this increased outlay they have spent for current expenses not only the money received from our land sales, our lands and timber, but also the receipts from these sources which Sandfield Macdonald had invented, thus trenching upon our capital for current expenditure. Much of this additional expense has been incurred not for additional work but to reward political supporters and partisan bosses.

They have invaded our ancient rights of municipal self government, and have usurped powers from the local authorities with the double purpose of rewarding political service, and maintaining an army of partisans who may use their official influence for the benefit of their masters.

They have studiously cultivated sectional jealousies, retarding legal and speedy settlement that would give us our rightful territory, and urging, for the purpose of making political capital, the acceptance of an irregular award which confidently denies us full justice.

They have invaded private rights, seizing upon the property of an opponent to reward with it a supporter, and placing upon the statute book the false declaration that their action was in accordance with the law as it has been always, though an overwhelming majority of our judges declare that such was not the law.

They have deliberately opposed the repeated decision in fiscal matters of the Dominion of Canada including the Province of Ontario, fighting it though not within their jurisdiction, by words placed in the mouth of the Lieutenant-Governor, by speeches in the House and on the stump, by the mutilation of public documents and by the influence of their partisan officials.

These are only general outlines, but if we went into particulars we might multiply the reasons why the administration of Mr. Mowat should be dismissed from a position which has been abused for party purposes to the great detriment of the Province.

A BEAUTIFUL METEOR.

TO THE Editor of the Review.
DEAR SIR.—When driving home on Thursday evening, 7th inst., I was startled by a bright blue light shining from behind me in the snow. I turned sharply around and saw the most beautiful meteor, a golden bright light with red and blue, apparently about three inches in diameter, moving rather slowly horizontally northwards. Suddenly it shot out four others, lessening in size, thus, O O O O the three middle ones closer together than the two end ones; the smallest appearing the size of a penny piece; then all disappeared in an instant. It did not die gradually away, but "went out" at once.
I saw it for, I suppose, nearly half a minute.
Yours faithfully,
Philip Harding.

The Christmas Letter Mission.

One of the best traditions of Christmas-tide is the universal heart-softening influence which draws man closer to man. It is humanity's great festival in which each man desires that all mankind may have the feast. The good wishes of Christmas find practical expression in charity and hospitality as various as the dispositions and tastes of the well-wishers. Among the kindly movements characteristic of the season, we are glad to notice that a branch of the Christmas Letter Mission has been established in Canada. The object of the mission is that each inmate of our hospitals, charitable institutions, gaols and refuges shall find upon his pillow on Christmas morning a friendly and sympathetic letter and Christmas cards, conveying the good wishes and the glad tidings of the season. The object may be too sentimental for some intensely practical people to appreciate, but we feel sure that the gratification afforded to the poor, the afflicted and the outcasts, by these tokens of human sympathy, must be altogether out of proportion to the cost, and that the influence of the good seed so broadcast is beneficial, who can doubt?—Montreal Star.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met pursuant to a call of the Reeve at 10 o'clock a.m. on December 4th. Present, the Reeve, Mr. Rutherford, and Councillors, Messrs. Lightfoot, Dawson, Riddell and Perrin, the Reeve in the chair. The Clerk stated that on the night of the 10th November, 1882, all the township books and other records belonging to the township on file in his office were destroyed by fire, together with the minutes of the last regular meeting of the Council. It was moved by Mr. Perrin and seconded by Mr. Riddell, that in consequence of the minute book containing the minutes of the last regular meeting of this Council being destroyed by fire in the Clerk's office on the night of the 10th November, 1882, the reading of the said minutes be dispensed with.—Carried. The Committee appointed to let and superintend the contracts for gravelling on lot and land and the same reported that they had advertised for tenders for the contract for gravelling certain portions of the roads on said concessions, but not receiving any satisfactory offer for the work, the Committee concluded to take no further action in the matter. It was moved by Mr. Lightfoot and seconded by Mr. Riddell, that the report of the Committee appointed to let and superintend the contracts for gravelling on concessions 1 and 2 be received and adopted.—Carried. Mr. Riddell introduced a By-law to provide polling places and appoint Deputy Returning Officers for holding the elections during the year 1883; also to appoint a place to hold the nominations. The By-law was read a first, second and third time and was finally passed, signed and sealed. Mr. Dawson introduced a By-law to re-enact the By-law appointing a Clerk and Treasurer in this municipality, the original copy of which was destroyed by fire in the Clerk's office. The By-law was read a first, second and third time and was finally passed, signed and sealed. It was moved by Mr. Lightfoot and seconded by Mr. Perrin, that this Council do now adjourn for one hour and a half for dinner.—Carried. The Council did then adjourn and resumed at 1:30 p.m., the Reeve in the chair. Mr. Perrin introduced a By-law to re-enact the By-law passed August 31st, 1882, appointing Mr. Morrison collector of rates for the year 1883, the original copy being destroyed. The By-law went through the different stages and was finally passed. A committee composed of the Reeve and Mr. Lightfoot were appointed to examine the Treasurer and collector's books. It was moved by Mr. Perrin and seconded by Mr. Riddell, that an order be drawn on the Treasurer for the amount of the assessor's salary for 1883.—Carried. An order was then drawn on the Treasurer for the amount of $50. It was moved by Mr. Lightfoot and seconded by Mr. Perrin, that the assessor receive five dollars for extra services rendered. The motion was carried. An order was then drawn on the Treasurer in favor of the assessor for $10. It was moved by Mr. Perrin and seconded by Mr. Riddell, that the Reeve and councillors be paid for their services at the rate of two dollars per day for attendance at the council meetings and on committees.—Carried. It was moved by Mr. Lightfoot and seconded by Mr. Perrin, that a committee composed of the Reeve and Councillors Riddell and Dawson be appointed to assist the clerk in preparing and drafting certain By-Laws to be passed at the next sitting of the Council in lieu of some that were destroyed in the Clerk's office.—Carried. Accounts were read:—

From Richard and Mignard, for seal... $ 5 50
" R. Fair, paid expenses on seal... 4 00
" J. Buchanan, for gravel... 4 00
" J. C. Barnard, for gravel & damage... 3 00
" Joseph Fisher do... 1 75
" Joseph Wood do... 4 20
" James Perrin do... 5 00
" N. McDonald, gravel for water boundary... 1 25
" A. Y. Goodfellow, vector for culverts on con. 6... 4 00

It was moved by Mr. Riddell and seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, that the foregoing accounts be received and paid, and that orders be drawn on the Treasurer therefor. It was moved by Mr. Lightfoot and seconded by Mr. Riddell, that a committee composed of the Reeve and Councillors Perrin be appointed to wait on Robert Weddell, with a view to purchase a gravel pit, and to report at the next meeting of the Council.—Carried. It was moved by Mr. Riddell and seconded by Mr. Perrin, that the Reeve be instructed to look after the wants of Samuel Bonon, an indigent, and to report to the Council from time to time.—Carried. It was moved by Mr. Lightfoot and seconded by Mr. Riddell, that this Council do now adjourn subject to the call of the Reeve.—Carried.

A Question in Etiquette.

IT is noticeable that the nice young man always takes care to walk next the curbside when he is walking with the nice young girl. He thinks it to be the proper thing to be next the roadway, and so he dodges around the nice young girl whenever it is necessary to get the outside track. But this is something that the nice young man should not do. It is a relic of the days when there were no sidewalks, and when powdered beaux put their lady charges next the wall in order to save them from the danger incidental to traffic on the highways. Nowadays, however, all this is changed. Our sidewalks protect us from the carriage traffic, and as pedestrians always pass to the right, the nice young man who undertakes his business should walk on the left hand of the lady in order to save her from being jostled.—Toronto Telegram.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.—Millions of bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have been given away as Trial Bottles of the large size. This enormous outlay would be disastrous to the proprietors, were it not for the rare merits possessed by the wonderful medicine. Call at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store and get a Trial Bottle free, and try for yourself. It never fails to cure.—Do not take pills or powders containing Calomel, at this time of the year, the result may be serious. If you require a dose of physic take Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters; it acts gently on the bowels, purifies the blood, improves the circulation, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and speedily cures Biliousness, Headache, Dyspepsia, Indigestion. Search the Drug Stores from one end of Canada to the other, and you cannot find a remedy equal to it. Try it and use it in your families. Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

CANADA'S

Famous Humorous and Satirical

Illustrated Weekly,

"GRIP."

Containing in each issue the cream of current original humor, by pen and pencil.

Grip is as well known from end to end of the Dominion as the Globe or Mail, and wields an influence second to neither.

Grip's Caricatures are found not only throughout Canada but in America and England, and, in the opinion of good judges, they are uniformly equal in point of wit and power to those of any comic paper in the world.

Lord Dufferin (who is still a regular reader of Grip)—with his subscription well paid up in advance testifies his warm appreciation of the ability displayed in this paper from week to week, and avows it a matter of admiration to him.

This opinion of England's leading diplomat is endorsed by Sir John A. Macdonald, Hon. Edward Blake, and other representative public men of Canada.

Grip has no politics beyond the public good. It seeks to deal fairly and impartially with both parties, and is never afraid to put the plain truth in black and white. We are at all times happy to receive suggestions for Caricatures on all political subjects; and provided such suggestions are founded on fact and of a suitable nature, we shall use them regardless of which party they may favor.

Grip is pure in tone and sentiment, and is, in every respect, a family journal. Hundreds of parcels throughout the Dominion declare that the weekly issue of Grip is looked forward to by their children most joyfully, and its power as an educator is heartily acknowledged.

Grip is now in its tenth year; and its circulation is large, though not so great as it should enjoy as a recognized National Institution. This grand young Dominion should earnestly support its only illustrated Comic Journal, especially as this Journal is in all respects a credit to Canada and its

FURS :: FURS :: FURS!

FIRST PRIZE FURS AND WHERE TO BE FOUND.

Not many houses in the Fur Trade possess the facility for manufacturing FURS as the subscriber. The large quantity of Raw Furs he buys DIRECT FROM THE TRAPPERS enables him to select the choicest material, leaving a surplus for export, hence his success. Who pays the highest price for raw furs? Let the Trappers answer that question, as all have been defeated and left the field who entered in opposition 22 years ago.

By importing European Furs direct, his name is as well known in Leipzig, Germany, as any of the wholesale houses, and noted for not offering dyed Marten for Sable, or dyed Goat Robes for Bear, nor using any fictitious name in his establishment whereby imitations are sold for real, at often treble their value. Continuing, as commenced, in the same old way of giving a GOOD ARTICLE FOR THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE, any order entrusted must give satisfaction or no sale.

On account of family changes, I have concluded to close the shop formerly occupied by S. Hyman, after New Year's. This stock will be sold at very low prices.

TALK CARE OF YOUR HORSES.

Never allow any one to team or tickle your horse in the stable. The animal only feels the torment, and does not understand the joke. Vicious habits are thus easily brought on.

Never beat the horse when in the stable. Nothing so soon makes him permanently vicious.

Let the horse's litter be dry and clean underneath, as well as on top. Standing on hot or freezing manure makes the hoofs soft, and brings on lameness. Change the litter partially in some parts and entirely in others every morning; and brush out and clean the stall thoroughly.

To procure a good coat on your horse naturally use plenty of rubbing and brushing. Flotsy of "elbow grease" opens the pores, cleans the skin, and promotes the animal's general health. Never clean a horse in his stable. The dust fouls the crib and makes him loathe his food. Use the curry-comb lightly. When used roughly it is a source of great pain. Let the horse be well brushed out every night. Dirt, if allowed to cake in, causes greasy and sore heels. Whenever a horse is washed never leave him until he is rubbed quite dry. He will probably get a chill.

When a horse comes off a journey, the first thing to walk him about until he is cool, if he is brought in hot. This prevents him taking cold. The next thing is to groom him quite dry; first with a comb, and then with a brush. This removes dirt, dirt, and sweat, and allows time for the stomach to recover itself, and the appetite to return. Also let his legs be well rubbed by the hand. Nothing so removes a strain. It also detaches thorns or splinters, soothes the animal, and enables him to feed comfortably.

Let the horse have some exercise every day. Otherwise he will be liable to fever and heat. Let your horse stand loose if possible, without being tied up to the manger. Pain and weakness from a confined position induce bad habits, and cause swollen feet and other disorders.

Look often at the animal's feet and legs. Disease or wounds in those parts, if at all neglected, soon become dangerous. Clean the hoofs and see if there is a stone between the hoof and the shoe. Standing on it all night, the horse will be lame the next morning. If the horse remains in the stable a few days, he will be hot and dryness cause cracked hoofs and lameness. The hoofs should not be "stopped" faster than twice a week. It will make the hoofs soft and bring on the animal to drink water which he refuses. It is probably hard and unwholesome. Never allow drugs to be administered to your horse without your knowledge. They are not needed to keep the animal in good health, and may do the greatest and most sudden mischief.—Stable Hints.

"Ston's New Metallic Gas." The Liverpool Daily Post gives some particulars of a new illuminating gas, introduced by Mr. John Dixon, a gas engineer. Mr. Dixon claims for his invention the production of improved gas for illuminating purposes by the decomposition or dissolution of the component parts or constituents of metals, carbon, acids, carbon, and hydro-carbon substances, the salts of alkalis, the dissolution of gas substances being caused by heat. Certain chemical substances, when strongly heated, produce flames of peculiar colors, which, when blended, produce a white light, and, depending on the nature of the gas, the inventor claims to have realized what he says has been the dream of his life, and to have produced an apparatus capable of manufacturing and storing a gas the result of the decomposition of the aforementioned chemicals, so that now he is prepared to supply a gas, which he says, is not only superior to, but easily cheaper than, any supplied by any other person or company in any part of the globe.

The new gas can, it is stated, be made at about one-tenth of the cost of coal gas, and another merit claimed for it is that it can be burnt without vitiating the atmosphere of apartments to anything like the extent which results from the combustion of coal gas. Its luminosity, as tested with the photometer, is stated to compare very favorably with that of coal gas. A limited liability company has been formed to work the patent, and model works capable of supplying gas for upwards of 1,000 ordinary burners, have been established in the Commercial Road, Liverpool.

Important Decision. At the last general session of the country of York Joshua P. Bissell was charged with desertion and neglecting to support his wife and family. The prisoner's counsel, Mr. R. S. Neville, objected to the evidence of Mrs. Bissell being taken on the ground that the offence was criminal, and that such evidence could not be admitted except in cases of desertion and neglect. The wife's evidence was admitted, and the prisoner found guilty, the learned judge, however, reserving the objection raised for the opinion of the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice. The reserved case was argued on the 24th Nov., Mr. Fenwick appearing for the Crown, and Mr. Neville for the prisoner, and judgment was given on Saturday. It was held, Aronson, J., dissenting, that the evidence of the wife was improperly received, and that the prisoner must be discharged. The importance of this decision lies in the fact that hitherto the wife's evidence has always been admitted in these prosecutions, and a number of prisoners now serving their sentences have been convicted chiefly upon such evidence.—Mail.

THERE are many foolish things done in this world, and one of the most foolish (and we may add wicked) things is to neglect a cold. Now we know that Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Catarrhs, and all Chest, Throat and Lung Troubles, if neglected, are sure to end in Consumption and Death. They may be easily cured by using as directed Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops, there is no remedy equal to it. It never fails. Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

NEVER GIVE UP. If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disorder of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & Macdonald.

Feeding Land Ores. A despatch from Kingston says that Dr. Horey, of Chicago, an old Kingstonsman, has obtained the use of the lead works directed by an English Company, but not used because the mine did not meet their expectations. In order to try its capacity and at the same time give a crucial test to galena brought from a mine in the township of Strathroy, not far from the Ottawa River. About a year ago the mine was opened and gave indications of being very rich in lead, showing about sixty per cent, and some traces of silver. The ore is reached seven feet from the surface. It is proposed to have a test made with 50 or 100 gallons of galena, the mill to be operated night and day, and the metal to be run off four times within the twenty-four hours. From each run a sample is to be taken and assayed, and at the end of all the samples put together and assayed. The works are designed for smelting only, and not over five tons per day. To save and refine silver in one there would have to be an expenditure of thousands of dollars. The silver is worth $1 per ounce, and in every five tons it is estimated there are 50 ounces, so that without the refining process great loss would be incurred. It is expected that the fire will be lit in the furnace next week, by which time the ore will have arrived. It has been drawn from the mine to Arrnprior, where shipped by Canada Central and Grand Trunk.

A Deserted City Discovered. The discovery of a deserted city sixty miles long, cut out of the rocky face of a winding cliff, rewarded the efforts of Mr. Stevenson's Smithsonian Institution exploring party during its researches in New Mexico and Arizona the past season. This is by far the most important find yet made among the ancient ruins of the cliff dwellers. Some of the houses contain four or five dwellings, one on top of the other, and in the plateau above the cliff were found many ruins of temples of worship built of well-cut square stones.

A comparison of the collections of pottery and implements gathered in the cliff houses by the exploring party with those obtained in the Pueblo villages strengthens the theory that the Pueblo Indians are the degenerate descendants of the once powerful race that had once built the cliff dwellings in the first place, and, retreating before more warlike races, carved out these singular dwellings on the sheer walls of the dizzy precipices, and fringed them, it may be for centuries, both fortresses and homes. Perhaps the hieroglyphic inscriptions seen by Mr. Stevenson will one day be deciphered and found to contain the tragic history of the wasting away by wars and famine of this ill-fated people, who, like the people of the Bible, made the rocks their refuge.

The Grief of an Arkansaw Editor. The average Arkansaw editor rarely fails to consult the intellectual tastes of his readers. The other day the Bluff Rock Mucic, a weekly paper of well-known ability and great political influence, contained the following:—"Our wife, who has been our companion and assistant for years, died yesterday, and we would give our numerous readers an interesting account of her life and public service, together with a brief obituary notice expressive of our grief, but as we have to condense and crowd in as much election news as possible this week, we must gratify business and dispense with pleasure until next week."—Traveler.

Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrhs and consumption in its first stage are treated at the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church Street, Toronto, where the Spirometer is used, an instrument invented by Dr. M. KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ THE FOLLOWING:

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Providing Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 30th, 1880.
Dr. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it cured a horse of mine who was troubled with a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is now better than the best horse I have ever owned, neither can the bunch be found.

Respectfully yours,

P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

St. Albans, Mass., March 18th, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used two bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bony to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, it will be very great.

CHAR. E. PARKER.

Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and penetrates every deep seated bone or bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callosities, swellings, and lamenesses, and all the ailments of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a treatment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best treatment for man or beast, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for honest as well as man.

Price four bottles, or six bottles for $5. All drug stores have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Fitchburg Falls, Vt.

THE LAKEFIELD DAM

MR. ALFRED BURNHAM, of the T. V. C. survey, has just returned from completing a survey of that portion of the route lying between Lake Couchiching and the Georgian Bay, and has instructions to proceed with all possible despatch with the survey of the channel between Lakefield and Young's Point, in order that the proper height for the Lakefield Dam may be determined, so that the work required upon it may be completed in good time for next season's navigation.

THE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR'S SPEECH

MR. MOWAT and his colleagues have made, by the mouth of the Lieut.-Governor, their annual address to the Provincial Legislature. The key note is struck in the very first sentence after the formal welcome, the prosperity of the Province being ascribed wholly to the abundant harvest. It is well known that the flourishing condition of other industries has contributed materially to this prosperity, but Mr. Mowat cannot allow any good to the Legislature of the Dominion government, nor can he yield to the national will as to its fiscal policy. The congratulations are to the establishment of the Bureau of Industries are in the main justifiable, but we cannot see how the gathering of statistics of "the factory" can be of service in attracting immigration if Mr. Hardy is to be allowed to mutilate them with his scissors for fear they should reduce to the credit of the hated N. P.

The admission of the great increase of immigration completely refutes the false and unpatriotic assertions that have been made that our tariff is driving people away to a country with higher duties.

It is satisfactory to learn that the lumber trade, which was to be ruined by the N. P., is flourishing. We cannot congratulate the Province that the receipts from Crown lands and timber amount to $1,000,000, since they are derived almost wholly from the sale of our property and are used to meet current expenses, any more than we could congratulate a farmer on selling some acres of his farm to pay his store accounts. Living upon capital is not a matter for congratulation.

The Federal authorities are wrongfully accused of disposing of the title of the Province to a part of its territory, though they are urging an amicable, speedy and final legal settlement by a competent Court instead of the acceptance of an irregular and ineffectual award.

The disallowed River and Streams Bill is upheld, with its false statement that the law has always been what the Supreme Court and their team of our judges declare it not to have been. An appeal is made to sectional feelings in favor of this corrupt act, and it is untruthfully declared that such legislation is indispensable to lumbermen, though they are already enabled by statute to take possession of such property upon payment of due compensation.

The legislation promised, consisting chiefly of amending, consolidating and general enabling bills, does not call for special remarks till the measures are before us. The Bill as to the election laws will call for close scrutiny, as we know by experience that Mr. Mowat can legislate on such matters solely for a party advantage.

The establishment of the Provincial Board of Health is justly made a subject of congratulation. We shall await with interest the report of the Board.

The determination not to relax the restrictions on the liquor traffic, undoubtedly exists, and is plainly shown by the condemnation of the neglect of their duty by political license officials, a neglect so gross as to have called forth a rebuke even from those who have appointed them.

As to the estimates for 1883, it is satisfactory to have the assurance that they have been framed with every regard for economy, consistent with the efficiency of the public service. If this promise is kept it will certainly be a change for the better, as past estimates from the same source have been framed not so much with regard to economy and the efficiency of the public service, as to rewarding supporters and strengthening the party.

LAKEFIELD. From Our Own Correspondent.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lakefield village fathers took place in the Council Room on Monday evening last, the 11th December.

The members present were Mr. R. C. Strickland, Reeve, in the chair, and Messrs. Hull, Hill, Cox and McWilliams, Councillors.

The minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Cox, seconded by Mr. McWilliams.—That a rebate of half the Drainage Tax charged against Park Lot C be made to Mr. Urquhart, as it appears that there has not been the amount of land drained in said park the surveyor intended, and that the Reeve issue his order for the amount.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. McWilliams.—That the petition of Mr. T. J. Nelson and others as regards the opening of Water street be received, and that the Council take steps to find out whether the corporation really owns or controls the reservation along the water's edge, and that the Clerk obtain the opinion of the village solicitor or other advice with a view of having the said reservation opened up to the public.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Hill.—That the following accounts be paid, and that the Reeve's order for the several amounts do issue, viz:—

Isaac Watson, wages.....$ 2 15
J. C. Curroth, grass on boundary..... 1 00
Total.....$ 3 15

—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Cox.—That this Council do now adjourn.—Carried.

ENTERTAINMENT.

The Church of England entertainment, held in the P.C.A. Hall, Lakefield, on Thursday evening of last week, was, considering the storm raging on that day, a very great success. The entertainment, which consisted of vocal and instrumental music and readings, and ended with the laughable farce "Ici on parle Français," was presided over by the Rev. J. F. Farnsworth, incumbent of Lakefield. The singing of Miss Clara and Miss Robson was excellent, but "Gen d'armes" by Messrs. Wright and Hilliard carried the house by storm. The piano was generally understood to be got up for the occasion by Mr. Wright himself, and was based on the various local topics of the day, and ended with the Trent Valley Cantata. The two readings by the Rev. Mr. Farnsworth and Mr. Strickland were well received. The farce at the end of the performance was well rendered by most of the characters. Mr. and Mrs. Wright, as Mr. and Mrs. Spriggins, of course, as usual carried off the palm. The programme was well and ably carried out, all parties well sustaining their respective parts. The piano, which was an excellent instrument, was kindly lent for the occasion by Mrs. R. C. Strickland. We understand the amount realized was about $200 which, no doubt, would have been at least doubled if the night had not been so stormy. All who were engaged in getting up the entertainment deserve praise for the manner in which it was got up and carried out, and it is hoped that they got up several more during the winter, as each moral and uplifting performance not only answers the end in raising funds, but have a beneficial effect on the public.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Lakefield School Board was held in the council room, Lakefield, on Tuesday evening last. Members present:—Mr. G. J. Oulvin, in the chair, in the chair, and Messrs. Isbister, Wilson, Caldwell, Sanders and Cox. The minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed. Communications were read from Mr. Sanders, master of the school, and Mr. T. J. Bird, which were received upon the motion of Mr. Cox, seconded by Mr. Wilson. Moved by Mr. Sanders, seconded by Mr. Caldwell.—That the following accounts be paid, viz:—

Isaac Watson, making gales and repairs.....$ 7 00
W. H. Cassment, wood..... 2 25
Corporation of Lakefield, Lumber..... 2 25
Total.....$ 11 50

—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Isbister, seconded by Mr. Wilson.—That Mr. Henderson's offer of supplies be accepted. It was moved by Mr. Sanders, seconded by Mr. Cox.—That the secretary be instructed to ask for sealed tenders for supplies.

The amendment was carried.

Moved by Mr. Isbister, seconded by Mr. Wilson.—That W. H. Cassment, the secretary, be appointed returning officer, and that the coming school election be held in the council room, Lakefield.—Carried.

ROBEY TRIBE'S CATCH.

On Tuesday evening Mr. Geo. J. Chalmers came down from Young's Point where two men had been endeavouring to sell a fine black horse, a good cutter, handsome robe, &c. for the very moderate sum of $75. As this seemed suspicious Mr. Chalmers made enquiries of them without obtaining a very satisfactory account. As one of them owned that he was from Port Hope Mr. Chalmers came to Lakefield and telegraphed to that town. An answer was received from Chief Constable Marshall requesting the immediate arrest of the men, as the description given tallied with that of a horse and cutter that had been stolen from Mr. Christopher hotel keeper. Our village Constable, Mr. Chapin, at once proceeded to the Point, arrested the men, and brought them both to the village. Subsequently Mr. Marshall arrived and took them to Port Hope.

A Protracted Siege.

The sheriff's officers are having rather a lively time in attempting to seize the chattels and effects of Mrs. Kate Campbell, on the corner of Queen and Fenwick streets. Some time ago the lady in question was involved in a suit against the late warden of the Central prison. After the termination of that celebrated case, Mrs. Campbell managed to procure $100 worth of furniture, which she has so far neglected to settle for. She also became indebted to her landlord for $50. These creditors not feeling satisfied with the security for their claims, put the matter in the hands of the sheriff's officer, and this official laid siege, ineffectually so far, with the intention of starving the occupants into an unconditional surrender of the premises. The following notice posted on the wall of the house, marks the appreciation of the force of the "joke," as viewed by the besieged lady. "Hold the fort; this house is besieged by bailiffs. The besiegers have entered in the fourth week of the week, and intend to stay there till their object is attained. Their stay may be protracted.—Mail.

Brutal Wife Murder.

OTTAWA, Dec. 12.—A rumor is current in the city of a brutal murder committed on the twelfth consecutive of Vitaroy. It appears that a former named Kerr had a quarrel with his wife and killed her to death, and then coolly sat down in presence of the corpse and ate his dinner. A warrant has been issued for Kerr's arrest; but owing to the fact that there is no constable for the county Kerr is still at large.

CANALS VS. RAILWAYS.

From the Star, (Wyo.)
 A glance at the canal map of England reveals an absence of system. All over the country these water veins may be seen distributed, but they often begin and end, so to speak, "nowhere." There is no systematic connection with main arteries, no communication with great common centres. Wars, in too many cases, where a canal is stretching out hopelessly from one port or centre in the direction of another, comes "crashing in" a moral of canal which is under the control of the worst enemies of a scientific and independent canal system—the railways. For example, the canal which runs through Manchester from the Mersey—the Mersey and Irwell and the Duke of Bridgewater's Canal—runs no further than Manchester. They are then cut off, for the canals which run from Manchester inland are in the hands of railways, and, for instance, the Rochdale on the one side, the Huddersfield and Manchester and the Manchester and Leeds on the other. In short, Manchester has been completely cut off from canal communication in the interior by the manœuvre of the railways. It is impossible to get from Manchester to Leeds by canal without the permission of a railway company. Equally and similarly impossible is it to send goods by the canal which connect Derby and Nottingham with Manchester and Liverpool. Birmingham has an independent route to London and the Midlands, but has not been able to prevent the railways setting upon its water communication with the North. Bristol has never been able to develop its canal communication with the interior, although an effort is now being made for that purpose. On looking round other parts of the country, we see here and there the beginnings of canals running inland, but the railways have promptly seized upon these beginnings and stopped them dead; or, if a canal of the kind is allowed to remain independent, care is taken to lay a railway alongside and to make arrangements for taking traffic inland from the terminus of the weak and defenceless canal, which has no other means of communication with the interior. With all these enemies besetting them on various sides, the independent canals of the country are still very extensive. There is a want of system which, if applied, would greatly cheapen and facilitate inland communication. Self-propelling vessels cannot venture far and wide into the interior, as they might wear the whole of the canals conducted on a uniform principle. There is no general authority for the improvement of canals. There is the natural tendency to improvement in the expense of widening and improving these waterways. There is the active opposition of railway and local interests to reckon with. Against all this the fact remains that a great canal system is possible within the country, if only a definite plan is set on, and a single authority is given with requisite powers for extending and unifying the materials for that system as they now stand.

Household Hints.

THE HOLIDAYS.—The ever-thoughtful housekeeper is now turning her attention towards a comfortable provision for the holidays, and for supplies for the needed furnishing of the requisite cakes and puddings, jellies and sweetmeats, to fortify the household table. And she is also looking for, and studying new ways of making all these delicacies in a better manner than ever before. We live and learn, and the older housekeepers may even get a few new and useful hints from the younger ones, who are perhaps more eager in their search after fresh ideas. The following hints for holiday cookery may be found useful to all:—

BAKED PLUM PUDDING.—Pour a pint of boiling milk over a pound of broken bread; when the milk is absorbed and cool, beat the bread smooth, adding as it is beaten a half pound of chopped raisins, twelve ounces of currants, half a pound of fine chopped suet, four ounces of powdered sugar, a large pinch of salt, grated nutmeg and ground ginger, and a glass of good spirits of wine. Mix all with four beaten eggs. Pour into a buttered mold or dish, and bake for two hours, and serve with rich sauce.

SAUCE FOR PLUM PUDDING.—Boil for twenty-five minutes in a quarter of a pint of water the contents of half a lemon and of a quarter of an orange, with two ounces of sugar; strain it into a quarter of a pint of melted butter and stir it over the fire with flour enough to thicken it; add a wineglass of brandy, white or black if desired, and mix it well over the fire for five minutes. Serve it hot.

CORN-MEAL PUDDING.—Beat a quart of milk and stir into it eight tablespoonfuls of fine Indian meal, four of sugar, and half a nutmeg; grate it over the fire for fifteen minutes and turn it out to cool; beat eight eggs well, and stir into the cold batter; fill buttered cups three parts full, and bake half an hour; turn out and serve with syrup, jelly or sugar.

STAN PUDDING.—Call three ounces of bread crumbs in a pint of new milk; add a grated lemon peel and three ounces of sugar; pour it out to cool; stir in three ounces of butter, and when quite cold, three well beaten eggs; put a heaped teaspoonful of jam at the bottom of a buttered cup and fill three parts full. Bake 20 minutes and turn them out, and serve with cinnamon flavored sauce.

An endless Variety of new Ties and Scarfs to select from, at Andrew McNeill's.

A CURE FOR CROUP.—There is no better remedy for Croup than Hargrave's Yellow Oil taken internally and applied according to special directions; this is the great household panacea for Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, Pains, Inflammation, &c.

NOTWITHSTANDING stringent sanitary rules to prevent the spread of diphtheria in Philadelphia, the disease is making alarming progress. One hundred and fifty-five new cases were discovered during the past week, and the deaths aggregate nearly one-third of the number of cases.

W. T. BEAT, Pharmacist, Wingham, Ont., writes that the sale of Burdock Blood Bitters, have very largely increased in that locality, and adds that he hears very favorable opinions expressed regarding it, and if time permitted could send many names of benefited patients.

The Belleville City Council has refused accede to the request of the Police Commissioners to pay the chief of police $1,000 per annum, on the ground that before the commissioners increased the salary to $1,000 the Council had placed the same sum in a fund paid last year, namely, $600, in the estimate.

A WISE MAXIM.—"A stitch in time saves nine," not only in making garments, but also in mending health. If Hargrave's Peppermint Balm is used in the earlier stages of Colds and Coughs, many a "stitch in the side," and many a case of lung fever might be avoided, thus, neglected, rapidly develop into irreparable Consumption.

THERE are many foolish things done in this world, and one of the most foolish (and we may add wicked) things is to neglect a Cold. Now we know that Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Catarrhs, and all Chest, Throat and Lung Troubles if neglected are sure to end in Consumption and Death. They may be easily cured by using as directed Dr. Caruso's Pulmonary Cough Drops, there is no remedy equal to it. It never fails. Sold everywhere in large bottles at 50 cents.

NEVER GIVE UP. If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Send for circular and testimonials of genuine cures.—For sale by John McKee, druggist.

On a Whale's Back.

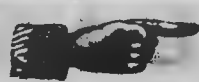

Captain Willoughby states that on Saturday, October 21, the Nash Bay Indians discovered the body of an enormous whale floating near Wasoda Island and a fleet of canoes put off in pursuit of blubber. On reaching the carcass, they found it surrounded by a great number of enormous bone sharks, from twenty-five to thirty feet long, who were gorging themselves with blubber and were very savage. Captain Willoughby's son Oliver was in one of the canoes to see the fun. A shark came rushing at the boat and, as he turned to take a bite at it one of the Indians, Billie Bales, fired a pistol into the open mouth, killing it instantly. Another big shark rose under the canoe, which frightened Master Oliver so that he jumped on the whale's back, from whence the Indians rescued him with his clothes saturated and ruined with the gurry of the whale. The Indians succeeded in lowering the carcass into Nash Bay river, a little creek two miles east of Nash Bay, where the head grounded in twenty feet of water, but a portion of the body and tail was exposed at low tide on the beach and the whaler taken off by the Indians, who were having a regular jollification over the feat of fat things.

Strange History of a Will.

One has heard of wills written on bed-posts, concealed in hay-lofts and flower-pots, and other possible and impossible places, but probably no will has ever passed through stranger vicissitudes than one admitted to probate by Sir James Hannen. The testator was an engineer on board a channel steamer, and made his will, giving everything to his wife, and gave the will to her. Some time afterward they had a quarrel, during which she tore the will up and threw the pieces into the fire. The husband picked up the pieces and put them into an envelope labelled "Poison," but said he would make a new one. However, several years afterwards he died of small-pox on his steamer, and on his clothes being searched before burning, the pieces of the will were found and given to his wife. This brand plucked from the burning building has now been pieced together and will be deposited at Somerset House as a lesson to all time to write not to lose their tempers too far if they do not wish also to lose also their husband's property, or to save it only by a law suit.—Full Mail Gazette.

thirteen.—On Sunday night, at the time within six weeks, Mr. Deady Doyle, cooper, Front street, was a sufferer from diphtheria. Six weeks ago one of his children, who stood in the rear of his hotel on the bank of the river, was burned; the second followed weeks ago; and last night at 9 o'clock were discovered burning out of his third.

The fire spread to a large frame building, by him owned, and he was left with Mr. Doyle's family, was easily done with the coal-oil. The stable owned by Doyle was owned by Mrs. Whitaker, and insured for $500. Mr. Smith's loss on his stable was $1,200, and on his cowshed $5,000. He had $2,000 in the Lancaster building, or $3,000 on the stock in the North British insurance. The fire was undoubtedly incendiary. Two men, whose names have been discovered, were seen to go out of the stable a few minutes before the fire got out.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Mr. Hay resumed the debate on the address on Monday. This time he was less bitter, and only making a vigorous and not a scolding speech. In regard to disallowance he was more "the right divine," not of him but of Mr. Mowat, "to give wrong." The great object of his speech was to show that the disallowance of the liquor license was a mistake. In regard to the liquor license he gave details of statistics, thus affording another proof of the fidelity of his friends' construction that he had to pay to politics in this matter.

Mr. Madill showed conclusively by the speeches of Reform leaders that the power of disallowance was expressly reserved for the Dominion with full approval, and that it had been repeatedly exercised by Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Blake. He also showed by the public statements of Mr. Laurier and Sir F. Hincks how little justice the boundary award did to, and how factions had been the action of Mr. Mowat in this matter.

Mr. O'Connor said that though the N. P. was dropped in the House they could oppose it outside. He denied the charge of centralization and repeated the Globe's statement about the liquor traffic.

Mr. Buchanan continued the tedious conduct of the Reformers and their attacks upon the judiciary. He showed that Sir John Macdonald ten years ago had signed the immediate settlement of the boundary question by the Privy Council, but his opponents had delayed the settlement.

Mr. Field repeated the state platitudes and slanders of the Reformers as to the liquor license, the N. P., the Boundary Award, disallowance, &c.

Mr. White of North Kent in a very able speech discussed the questions of the day. He told how the liquor impostor of his riding earned by threats one of his supporters to oppose him. He also showed how in the South-East election a small conservative party had been bribed to turn its coat by an official promise of official patronage.

Mr. Bates defended the "conversion" of the journal in question and the attempted conversion of Mr. McLar's property.

Mr. Bruden contended the neglect of the Government to have a settlement of the accounts between Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. DeLoach maintained that the late Dominion election turned upon the N. P. and not upon local questions. He defended the action of the Provincial Government generally.

Mr. Crichton on Tuesday resumed the debate on the address. In referring to the Bureau of Industries he called attention to the repeated mutilation of public documents by Mr. Hooley because they contained information too favorable to his purpose. He censured the Government for adopting the slanders of their press as to the liquor traffic. In answer to challenges to give specific instances of abuse of their powers by the license officials many such had been given, and more could be presented but that those who were coerced were under the thumb of the official threatening. He dealt ably with the Boundary and disallowance questions.

Mr. Parlee repeated the slanders of the Globe as to the liquor traffic and at great length charged with falsehood Sir John Macdonald and the delegation who interviewed him. He objected to Sir L. Tilly using his right, as an Ontario voter, of being present at the Conservative convention in Toronto. Then he attacked the Dominion Government for carrying on Mr. Mackenzie's Legislature as to timber lands. He made the old appeals to sectional feeling on the Boundary and disallowance questions.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Merrick and Bell on the Conservative side, and by Messrs. McLaughlin and Waters in defense of the administration.

The Toronto Evening Star thinks Mr. Gordon Brown is entitled to either a Regency or Sheriffship at the hands of Mr. Mowat, for his forty years of political service. Stranger things have happened than that he should prove the dark horse in the race for the Peterborough Regency.

THE GLOBE'S CURRENT.

The Province Begins to Move to New York.

The Toronto World has the following:—"That Gordon Brown has gone out of the Globe without a personal friend, that every one of the directors voted against him when the test came, that even the underling whom he had trusted announced with satisfaction five minutes after the vote that 'Gordon's gone,' that he retires a poor man and is unconsciously thrown out of a paper to which he gave all his energy, all his best years in building up, all those and other facts as they become known have suddenly changed the best of men in the city into a hero or rather a martyr. Sympathy is now running in favor of Mr. Brown, and the directors are regarded as his persecutors."

"Gordon Brown was a headstrong man, a man of some malignant qualities, but that he was on the whole a master journalist those who are competent to say will readily admit. Perhaps the best test of a successful journalist is that he makes no friends. All the great editors have been strict-minded men and would not take their eye from their inferiors. Henry Greeley, or Bennett the elder, or Thurlow Wood, or Borel, or George Brown of the latest part, or Dana, or Madill, or Whittemore of to-day taking their cue from a hard made up of a shopkeeper, a lawyer, a lumber-yard owner and a pulp maker! Perhaps Gordon Brown was not the equal of these, perhaps he was, but at any rate he was of much better moral and of a different calibre altogether, and he refused to bow. Both he and his brother were too much of the dictator to be dictated to, and when financial straits put their paper and themselves into the hands of a corporation they were still determined to hold to the imperious or go under. Gordon Brown went under. He had given all his energy to building up the Globe, and he thought the Globe, therefore, ought to be the medium of his views. And this has been the case with all the industrial journalists. Every paper of any account was made by the strong individuality of some one strong-headed man. By and by the paper comes to have an individuality of its own, inherited from the man that made it. The Mail, for example, is milk and water to-day without individuality, without opinion, mostly the chief spokesman of the John Macdonald and his followers. The Globe, while credited with being the Reform organ, was never anything but a Brown organ, and it spoke out the Brown ideas and the party toward it. At the time when some were forced to bow to the Brown rule. Then the trouble began. For seven or eight years it has continued. The Brown could not see the advanced views of the Reform party; where all they could not see Mr. Blake and Mr. Mills. And strong in their antagonism to these gentlemen both George and Gordon opposed them to the last."

"The great of Saturday may be claimed as a Blake victory, since the directors, but in hand, are knocking at Mr. Blake's door and imploring to be taken in. But it is not Mr. Blake's diplomacy that has brought this about; circumstances of a nature altogether different. 'Remember the Globe will collect the opinions of no strong-minded man, but nearly the whole of the Globe made up of the green, the attorney, the slab-mouthed sycophant, and all of whom are general jobbers in a general way. Politically it will have a Blake flavor, if it pays, but its policy it will be to keep the Globe and its grist mill for the parties concerned, and through it will be run various railway, land and other schemes which are already out, dried and ready for the reducing process."

"The directors have already a peak of trouble on their hands, and there is more to come. They don't want any strong-minded man in the editor's chair; they want a pliant one, and each thinks he will be able to 'point' him as he desires. The result will be disallowance, and then finding they have made a mistake they will be looking for the strong-minded man and they will not find him, or rather he will not take hold of a bad job."

"The old-timers in the back townships who have been reading the Globe for forty years and swearing by the Brown have not been heard from yet; and they were the backbone of the Globe; perhaps the directors will find their support weaken in their strongest prop when the old guard in the rural parts learn the reliable name of Brown has been erased from the title-page of the Globe, and that trained journalists have been warped by Tea, Mills and an Attorney's Quill."

A Natural Phenomenon.

BRETON, Ont., Dec. 18.—Last night while the driller was working at the derrick, the large boiler and drill, weighing over twelve hundred pounds, were suddenly ejected from the hole, about two hundred feet deep, followed by a shower of stones and gravel; then a stream of water six inches in diameter burst from the pipe, and has been flowing steadily since. This morning while a man was lighting his pipe in the derrick the gas bubbling out with the water, caught fire and still continues to burn, the water and gas issuing in a heavy column, making one of the most magnificent sights ever seen in this country, the flames rivaling the hue of the rainbow. It is estimated that the stream of water issuing from the pipe would drive a large water wheel. People are flocking in from the neighboring villages and country to witness this natural phenomenon.

Globe Being of the Comet.

Just what has happened to disturb the comet's equilibrium does not appear, but yesterday morning a curious phenomenon was carefully observed, the explanation of which is not here attempted. At about four o'clock, while the sky was so thickly covered with clouds that no stars were seen, at a point in the place where the comet has been visible at that hour of the evening, was seen a bright streak of light of the same apparent length and breadth as the comet's tail, that was perpendicular to the south horizon. The phenomenon was just what might be expected if the comet stood on its head and pointed its tail at the pole star. A curious feature of the phenomenon is that the light was considerably brighter than that emitted by the comet for several weeks. Was it the comet?

A Woman Without Hands.

There is now living in this neighborhood a negro woman who came after the close of the war had the misfortune to lose both of her hands, just above the wrist, who can sew, thread her needle, knit, spin, cook, clean up a house, write quite well and pick up a ten cent piece off a glass. I have seen a pretty patch-work comfort which she made without a hand or finger. She appears to be happy and contented with her lot. She dresses very neatly, and is always tidy. It appears that the fingers that were once used for the opening and closing of the fingers are now used in the place of hand and fingers to grasp and hold objects at her will. This is strange and wonderful; nevertheless it is so.

Fishes and Thieves.

The disgusting story of the connection between the police and the criminals of Washington is not news to anyone who has been enough in the capital city to see something of the inside of public affairs there. It has been notorious for years that the local police were more intelligence offices for thieves and foot-pads.—Sydney Herald.

For Gratitude.

"Nancy, why don't you wear the overcoat I gave you this wet day?" "Oh, ma'am, awin' your goodness, it's long carry I'd be to put them party shins' things on a day like this to trail them through the muddy slush of these roads. Here, isn't it keepin' time for fine weather I am?"

Barnard's Anti-Phlogistic.

FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

Dr. C. A. Barnard, Boston, says:—"I have used in cases of impaired nerve function with beneficial results, especially in cases where the system is affected by the toxic action of tobacco."

Personal To Men Only!

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belt and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

PROF. J. P. FOSTER'S! FOSTER'S! The great and true remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and Consumption. Have you tried "Foster's"? It is sold in 25 cent bottles. It never fails. If you cannot procure it from your dealer send $1.00 to J. P. Foster & Co., Toronto, and we will send you free by express 5 bottles. It may save your life.

A SURE THING.—In the treatment of Chronic Dyspepsia with that great system restorative and restorer, Dr. J. P. Foster's, there is no uncertainty as to its action. Its curative powers are speedily manifested by its marked effect upon the Liver, the Bile, and the Kidneys, and in performing its work in a perceptible manner.

A WISE MAXIM.—"A stitch in time saves nine," not only in making garments, but also in making health. If Hayard's Peppermint Cure were used in the earlier stages of Coughs and Croup, many a "stitch in the side," and many a case of torn lungs might be avoided, that, neglected, rapidly develops into irreparable Consumption.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Not West Ale.
The best made in this country "you bet," at Croft's Hotel.

The Murray Street School.
The examinations at the Murray Street Separate School will take place to-morrow at 10 o'clock a. m. Parents are invited to attend.

Least.
Santa Claus is on the way and promises to attend the little ones more than ever. His head quarters will be at CARTER'S. Look out for him.

The Nominations.
The nominations of candidates for the man-icipal office of Mayor and Councilors for 1893 will take place to-morrow, at the places formerly published.

Special Meeting.
A special meeting of the Oddfellows Lodge of Oshawa, No. 12, will be held to-morrow
(Friday) evening at 7:30 o'clock punctually.
Advancement.

Peterborough Orchestra.
The services of the above fine Orchestra can be secured on application to the following gentlemen: Bandmaster F. W. Miller, Mr.
Joseph Reynolds, and Mr. J. Butcher.

Christmas Entertainment.
There will be an Entertainment at the Town Hall, Ashburnham, in connection with St.
Luke's Church Sunday School to-night, commencing at 7 o'clock. Presents will be distributed to the children from a Christmas Tree. Songs, readings, and recitations will be rendered by our best amateurs.

Picture.
"A thing of beauty is a joy forever." There is nothing that you can buy that will give as much pleasure for the money invested as good pictures. A. Clegg has on exhibition a large assortment of fine engravings, handsomely mounted, and at extremely low prices. Call and see them. Nothing nicer for Christmas and New Year's gifts.

Twenty Lost.
Two gentlemen were sitting in Darcy's Hotel and each kicked aside a rough looking parcel on the floor to make room for their feet. Presently a woman nearly frantic came rushing in, saying if anyone had seen a parcel she had dropped. On search being made the despoiled parcels turned out to be the one in request. It was a roll of bank bills to a considerable amount.

The Registration.
The Belleville Ontario of Tuesday contains the following paragraph:—
"We understand that Mr. J. B. Stratton, editor of the Peterborough Examiner, is an applicant for the Registration of the County of Peterborough, made valid by the death of Col. Hamilton. Mr. Stratton has strong claims upon the Ontario government for service long and faithfully rendered the Reform party in the Province generally, and the County of Peterborough particularly. He is, too, in every respect well qualified for the office he seeks, and would discharge the responsibilities connected with it in a satisfactory manner. We hope to see his application favorably considered by the government, and his appointment granted soon. Too few newspaper men, who have done more and better for the political party they serve, and, as a rule, better than those for the proper discharge of official duties than most other classes, are rewarded as they should be when opportunities offer."

Lake Street Separate School.
The examination of this school took place this morning. His Lordship Bishop Jamet and the Rev. Father Conway were present, also Messrs. T. Cahill and D. Macdonald and a number of ladies. His Lordship and Father Conway expressed themselves as highly delighted with the way the pupils acquitted themselves, and complimented the teacher, Miss Sheehy, on the satisfactory manner in which she had discharged her duty. Mr. Cahill, as Chairman of the Separate School Board, on behalf of the Board complimented Miss Sheehy as a teacher. He said that the Board had to employ three teachers for the ensuing year, and he felt that the most difficult position to fill would be that occupied by Miss Sheehy, and he regretted very much on account of the children that she had decided to sever her connection with the school. The children of the school then presented Miss Sheehy with a very affectionate address and handsome present, which she acknowledged with evident emotion.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Dec. 21.—Four men, who had unfortunately partaken of too much liquor, appeared before the Magistrate this morning.

"Yes, sir." "John Connell," said the Magistrate, "you are charged with having been found drunk.
What have you to say?" "Yes, sir." "Are you guilty or not guilty?" "Yes, sir." "Have you just come out of jail?" "Yes, sir." "And do you want to go back?" "No, sir. If you give me this chance you will never see me in town any more." He was allowed to go with a caution.

SAD LANGUAGE.
James Murphy, charged with having used grossly insulting and blasphemous language, pleaded guilty, and was fined $2 or twenty days in jail.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.
John Carlton, in answer to the charge of having been drunk and disorderly, said he must have been doing something wrong, or he would not have been arrested. Fined $2 or twenty days in jail.

James Ward pleaded guilty to the same charge, and received a similar sentence—$2 or twenty days in jail.

Warrants of commitment were made out for the three who were fined.

A Run on Cards.

A very choice lot of Christmas and New Year's Cards are being sold positively at cost at the 8-cent store. New and beautiful designs.
Call and see them.

Holiday Supper.

The Church of England Mission Sunday School, on Sherbrook street, will have a holiday supper and entertainment on the evening of Thursday, the 23rd of December.

Breakfast Sausages and Fruits.

A beautiful set of Dinner Knapes and Forks with carved ivory handles, and engraved electro-plated blades of the best Sheffield manufacture, at R. W. Manoeuvre's.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is mild. There was a slight rain, and the snow is melting, but it would take a considerable period of warm weather to effect the melting. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m.
to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong winds, mostly easterly and southerly; cloudy to fair continued mild weather, with occasional rain or sleet.

The School Board.

The nominations for candidates to fill the vacancies in the Board of Education will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 27th. The terms for which the following Public School Trustees were elected, will expire this year:—Mr. J. R.
Stratton, First Ward; Mr. W. H. Wright, Second
Ward; Mr. D. Durham, Third Ward; Mr.
John Sowers, Fourth Ward. The retiring
High School Trustees are Messrs. A. R. Rath-ford and Henry Best, and a third vacancy is caused by the resignation of Mr. A. P. Pous-sette.

Press on the Prairie.

Windsor, Dec. 20.—During the cold snap two weeks ago Joseph Robinson started from Brandon for the Souris district, land hunting.
His long absence excited anxious friends, and a search was carefully instituted, manifested in the finding of his dead body last night frozen stiff thirty miles from Brandon.

Answer This Question.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by Indigestion, Consumption, Diabetes, Low Appetite, Cracking of the Food, Yellow
Skin, when for 75 cts. we will sell them Shillib's Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them. For sale by J. D. Tully.

Shillib's Catarrh Remedy.

A marvelous cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Croup, and all kinds of throat troubles. With each bottle there is an ingenious nasal injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cts. For sale by J. D. Tully.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.—Millions of bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have been given away at Trial Bottles of the large size. This enormous outlay would be disastrous to the proprietors, were it not for the rare merits possessed by the wonderful medicine. Call at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store and get a Trial Bottle free, and try for yourself. It never fails to cure.—5

Why The People Come
Back to Us!

In our trade in CLOTHING of that character that serving—no young man—once we never see him again! Not probable. Nor is it likely to take that character.

When a young man needs CLOTHING he wants something like a stock, a department, to select from. Don't you get that with us? He wants his clothes well put together and run no risk of anonymous ventilation, either; or at least have it come upon him unexpectedly. He doesn't care for some like whip-cords in his pants legs, or his coat collar.
showing inches to room behind his neck. This touching clothing. Another word here, we'd say, Don't jump to the conclusion that we don't keep certain goods because you don't see them mentioned in our advertisements. If you do you'll make a mistake. It's impossible, where we have so varied a stock of goods, to make mention of them all. We even may not mention some at all. So don't limit your ideas of our stock to our advertisements.
As for what we sell in them much more remain unsaid. There's nothing new, desirable or fashionable we haven't got. TRY US.

SULPHUR LOTION.—AN INTERNAL MEANS OF CURE FOR SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulphur" in a few days, and commences to fade away, even if it is some years old. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scars, eruptions, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, according to the disease, that have plagued the sufferer
for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulphur" will successfully attack them. It destroys the elements which cause them, and thus, the painful affection, and always produces a clear, healthy condition of the skin. "Sulphur" Lotion is sold by most Chemists, Druggists, and Bottle.

SULPHUR LOTION.—The first item of Sulphur was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Huxley, and every year it is used more and more favorably to its widely increasing reputation.
Anyone, however deeply and long-suffering afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulphur as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a further tendency to fade away, and complete oblivion of the eruption.

SULPHUR LOTION.—BOTTLES CON-TAINING EXACTLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1882.

BOLD ON MR. PARDEE.

In the debate on the address Mr. Pardee, Commissioner of Crown Lands and god-father of the Streams Bill, is reported by the Globe to have said:—

"Every man holding lands above whose improvements were made would be at the mercy of the power making improvements, no matter how small the expenditure might be. Every man holding land might be compelled to sell them to the owner of the improvements at the latter's price, as they would not be able to sell to any other. Not only would the owners of lands be at the mercy of those making improvements on the streams, but all the owners of lands would be at the mercy of those getting it to market if this Bill (the Streams Bill) did not become law. In this way millions of dollars of property would be confiscated."

Would it? It may be so, but it does seem to our mind that there is already a law on the Statute Book—a law passed by the House of Commons in 1845—which is all that a man would think necessary to enable him to get his land to market in spite of those who may have made improvements on streams below them. The law to which I refer is to be found in "the Timber Sale Commission Act of 1845," and in the Revised Statute of Ontario, Chapter 153.

Section 2 of the Act of 1845 provides that in case the Land-Governor in Council thinks fit he may confer upon any company formed for the purpose of acquiring or constructing and maintaining any dam, sluice, pier, boom or other work necessary for the transmission of timber down any river or stream in this Province, the powers authorized by Chap. 153 of the Revised Statutes.

Section 15 of the same Act provides that no such company shall construct any such works over or upon any private property without first having obtained the consent of the owner or occupant thereof "except as hereinafter provided."

Then Sec. 41 of Chap. 153 provides that if upon demand made by the directors of the company the owner or occupant of any land, over, through or upon which the company desires to construct any such work, or which would be flooded or otherwise interfered with, neglects or refuses to agree upon the price or amount of damages to be paid for appropriating the same to the use of the company, the amount which the company shall pay therefor shall be determined by arbitration.

And Sec. 51 provides that in the case of which exactly meets the McLaren-Caldwell case) that "in case there is already established by any party other than a company formed under this Act, or some other Act of the late Province of Canada or of this Province, any sluice, pier, boom or other work intended to facilitate the passage of timber down any water, for the improvement of which a company is formed, under this Act such company may take possession of the work, and the owners thereof " " may claim a compensation for the value of such works either in money or in stock of such company at the option of such owner."

"SUCH VALUE TO BE ASCERTAINED BY ARBITRATORS appointed in the manner hereinafter provided." How a gentleman occupying the position which Mr. Pardee does could bring himself to making the statements which we quote, in the face of the facts to which we have called attention, and of which it is impossible he could be ignorant, is beyond our comprehension. The Acts from which we have quoted make all necessary provision for taking possession of such works as those of McLaren, at a value to be settled by arbitration, and yet Mr. Pardee had the brazen effrontery to stand upon the floor of the House and declare unless his pet Streams Bill became law "millions of dollars of property would be confiscated." Could suddenly go further? But if he dared do such a thing on the floor of the House, what would not such a man venture upon in addressing an ordinary political meeting? The fact that such misrepresentations are indulged in is the best possible proof that the position of the most government with regard to the attempted robbery of McLaren is simply indefensible on its merits, and the best justification of the action of the Dominion government in disallowing a Bill, the parallel of which cannot be found in British legislation.

A WOMAN'S HOLDING.

There was a funeral of a woman near New Haven, Ind., yesterday, who came near being the cause of a deal of bloodshed at one hour of her existence. It is a fact well known to old soldiers that Southern women were very loyal to the Southern cause, and that their loyalty often led to difficulties between the Federal soldiers. Margaret Wilson was an Alabama by birth, and a firm believer in Southern rights. When the Union forces occupied Memphis she was to be seen at almost all hours of the day engaged in something which would exasperate the Yankees.

One day in the summer of 1863 many prisoners were arriving in Memphis from Arkansas, and were being guarded on the levee by some men of the Fifty-fourth Ohio. Mrs. Wilson came down in sight of the prisoners and their guards, having with her a little Rebel flag, which she waved over her head. The prisoners saw it and began to cheer. The Captain saw the cause of this sudden outbreak of loyalty, and, going up to the woman, ordered her not to display that flag again. But no sooner had he turned from her than she pulled the little piece of painted muslin from her bosom, where she had thrust it when the Captain came up, and flourished it again. The Captain turned to her, trembling with excitement and anger, and told her if she dared to show her flag again he should arrest her. By this time there were probably 5,000 persons on the levee, attracted by the cheering. Every one expected bloodshed and that the few Union soldiers would be mobbed and killed before assistance could come. The Captain bestowed some vigorous words on the offending woman and again turned to leave her. He had not taken ten steps before out came the little flag, and high above her head she flourished it. The Southerners cheered as if his horned majesty himself had arrived in their midst. The Captain turned to the offending woman, while with anger, and rushing up to her with clenched fist, had so far forgotten himself as to be about to strike her, and would have done so had not Lieutenant A. C. Gregory, of the Thirty-second Wisconsin raised his arm.

Lieutenant Gregory, who had just come up with about thirty men, then ordered the woman to raise the flag, and she raised it with all the tactics known to the ground-kicked, scratched, and yelled. The situation was critical in the extreme. The crowd, numbering many thousands, was now swaying men of yelling, angry men, and all sympathizing with the woman. A sergeant and private were trying to gather the women up in some shape in order to carry her, while the mob was closing in on every side. The Lieutenant, drawing his revolver, stepped toward the crowd, and shouted that he would shoot the first man who advanced a step nearer, ordering his men to do the same. Thus the angry men were held at bay for a moment, and then an Indian regiment came hurrying forward, and, at the command of the bayonet, cleared their way to their comrades, who had the offender now pretty well in hand. Mrs. Wilson was taken to headquarters, and the next morning was sent to the Union House. She passed through many scenes during the war, but she was never so near cutting death as on that morning when the Memphis mob surrounded Lieutenant Gregory and his thirty men of the Thirty-second Wisconsin. Cincinnati Enquirer.

CAMPBELLFORD.

SHEEP STEALING.—The Herald says that Joe Reid, of Seymour, has been committed for trial on a charge of stealing a sheep and some turkeys and geese from Mr. David Nelson.

NEW BOILER.—A new and very large boiler arrived by the G. J. Railway, on Thursday, and was afterwards hauled to the Trent Valley Woolen Mills. It is one hundred horse power, weighs eight tons, and was manufactured by Mr. John McDougall, of Montreal.

LARGE DEER HUNTER.—The party of deer hunters made up of Messrs. Bonyassie and Cassen, and Mr. Hunt—six in all—who have been living in the woods of North Hants, having returned on Saturday night last, with twenty deer. One of the company shot six of this number, and twenty-one were killed altogether. These old hunters, who go out every year, probably bring home more venison than any other company of deer-hunters within a large tract of country.

SCHOOL.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION.—A well attended school exhibition was given in the school room, 8, 8, No. 2, Dammer, on Wednesday evening, by the teacher, Miss Maggie A. Mark, and her pupils. The exercises consisted of dialogues, recitations and vocal music, which were all well rendered. The singing in concert by the whole school was exceptionally good, showing great painstaking on the part of the teacher, and well deserved the hearty given applause of the audience. At the conclusion of the interesting program, Miss Mark was pleasantly surprised by her scholars presenting her with a handsome work-box and a pair of vases. On behalf of the school Miss Ella McMillan, read the address, and Miss Cathy Kenzie and Miss Maggie Howden made the presentation. Miss Mark replied to the address, returning thanks briefly.

Hereditary Transmissions.

As past generations made us, so we are forming the age that is to be. As their sins have been visited on us, so surely shall our sins be visited on those who are to follow us. This is the great and awful and yet the wise and beneficent law of the economy under which we live. It has been ordained by the Author of nature that every human being who is born into this world, the lowest as well as the highest, shall bring with him one tremendous dowry, of which he cannot divest himself, which he must use for good or evil until he comes to be—the power of influence over others. To one illustration of this great truth I shall confine myself. One of the most startling convictions which early force themselves upon the student of human nature, and which grow in intensity as his observations widen, is the extraordinary extent to which his actions are modified by what is known as the law of hereditary transmissions. Briefly and simply expressed, that law is this, that the child takes after not only his immediate but his most remote progenitors. He is what they have made him. Perhaps nine-tenths, certainly more than half, of what he carries with him to the grave he brought with him to the cradle. Not merely along the great lines of his constitution, but down even to tricks of gait and gesture and manner, he takes after those who went before him. To an extent far beyond what we have any conception of, both the good and the evil that are in him come to him as an original inheritance: the good to be improved and increased, the evil to be lessened and conquered; but a mingled web of good or evil his life shall be till all ends here.—Phrenological Magazine.

Smallest Hands in the World.

American women have the smallest hands in the world. Gloves made in France for the American market are smaller and narrower than any other in the world, and the fingers made more slender, as any American woman will discover, who has to buy a pair of gloves in any provincial city in Europe. Probably no American with a smallish hand, which excites no remark, has travelled abroad without discovering that it is only large shops in big cities which keep gloves small enough for her, and a lady with the hand just below the American average (four) living in one of the largest cities in Eastern Europe, recently found herself forced to send regularly to New York for her gloves.

Affection and Business.

Even when actors and actresses indulge in the Henry V. line it is not always safe to think their devotion of affection has any sentiment back of it. Thus a writer in the New Orleans Democrat says he knew two actors of the opposite sex who positively disliked each other, but were forced by their parts into the most devoted tenderness of conduct. One night as he was playing at love she was to rush into his arms; being a true artist, she did her work with energy, and between speeches he muttered: "You need not swallow me." She replied: "You are too bitter a dose." While holding her in fond embrace, wrapped in delicious transport, he growled in a whisper: "Don't leave so hard against a man." With her head in tender repose upon his breast she retorted: "You are paid for holding me, and I intend you shall learn your salary." She married another actor, and claims still to be the dislike for the man with whom she plays.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

SATURDAY, Dec. 23.—M. Girvin, who said he was a British pensioner, pleaded guilty to a charge of having been drunk. The Magistrate was sorry to see a respectable soldier appear in the Court, and fined him $2 or twenty days in jail, so that he would be more careful in future. He is not likely to appear again for twenty days.

CHAUNCEY CLERK.

Orders left with B. Morrow, H. Rush or C. Schneider promptly attended to.

DESSERT KNIVES AND FORKS.

A beautiful set of Dessert Knives and Forks with carved ivory handles, and engraved electro-plated blades of the best Sheffield manufacture, at H. W. Munro & Alexander.

A REHEARSAL.

On Friday evening the Fire Brigade Band serenaded Mr. A. D. Brown, who is an honorary member of the band, and who was on Wednesday united in wedlock. The members of the band were hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

THE WEATHER.

Last night considerable rain fell, and to-day was soft though getting cooler. The probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Winds shifting to the west, partially clearing weather, becoming somewhat colder to-night.

THE BAND.

The Fire Brigade Band will on Tuesday night commence their usual round, visiting and serenading the citizens, as is their custom at this season of the year. During the past year the band has adopted much free pleasure, and as they have made an extra effort to improve their music by purchasing new and costly instruments, it is to be hoped that they will be treated with liberality. The band has long been a source of pride to the town, and they will hereafter be more so than ever.

THE CONVENT BAZAR.

A Two Days' Sale of Fancy Goods. Good Music by the Pupils.

The pupils of the Convent again provided music, and the pleasure of the evening was thereby greatly enhanced. The following young ladies contributed piano solos:—Misses A. Delaney, M. Lawler, A. Walker, May Calcutt, F. Lech, M. Henry, A. Henry, A. Lynch, B. Fairweather, Maggie Calcutt, E. Halpin, R. Mowry, A. Pigott, F. Noble, B. Lech, M. Green, M. A. Kelly, M. Watson, A. Giroux, E. MORFORD'S ARID PHOSPHATE.

FOR OVERWORKED PROFESSIONAL MEN. Dr. Geo. T. Mitchell, Canandaigua, N. Y., says: "I think it a grand restorer of brain force or nervous energy."

ANSWER THIS QUESTION.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Bileworms, Loss of Appetite, Coming up of the Food, Yellow Skin, when for 25 cts. we will sell them Shilo's Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them. For sale by J. D. Tully.

PRECAUTIONARY. There have been many precautions against fire published but let a person become accidentally burned or scalded, and few people know what to do in absence of a doctor. The very best remedy known is Haygarth's Yellow Oil, the best Household Panacea for all painful inflammatory diseases.

CHARLES T. CHAMBERS, Druggist of Chester, writes to the Proprietors of that Sovereign Tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters: "Your Burdock Blood Bitters give universal satisfaction. All your medicines sell well, and many of my customers will take to them."

Your Wife would like a Black Silk Dress for a Xmas. present. See Turnbull & Gray's.

Why The People Come Back to Us!

In our trade in CLOTHING of that character that nothing is so common as to see a man come in again. "Not probable," says it likely to take that character.

When a young man needs CLOTHING he wants something like a stock, a department, to select from. "Don't get that with us," he wants his clothes well put together and run no risk of unnecessary ventilation, either or at least have it come upon him unexpectedly. He don't care for seams like ship-carpenter in his pants legs, for his coat, showing inches of room behind his neck. This don't jump to the conclusion that we don't keep certain goods because you don't see them mentioned in our advertisements. If you do you'll make a mistake. It is impossible, where we have so varied a stock of goods, to make mention of them all. We even fail to mention some at all. So don't limit your idea of our stock to our advertisements. As for what we say in them much more remains unsaid. There's nothing new, desirable or fashionable we haven't got. TRY US.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST!

Oregon, Washington, and Idaho.

Offers the best field for emigrants, viz. a mild, equable, and healthy climate; cheap lands of great fertility, producing all varieties of grain, fruit, and grasses in wonderful abundance; an inexhaustible supply of timber; vast coal fields, and other minerals; deposits of cheap and quick transportation by rail roads and river navigation; direct commerce with all parts of the world, owing to its proximity to the Pacific Ocean. NO DROUGHTS, NO INSECT PESTS, NO HURRICANS, WHIRLWINDS, OR OTHER DESTRUCTIVE PHENOMENA. The lands of the Pacific Northwest show an average yield of wheat per acre largely in excess of that of any other section of the United States. No failure of crops has ever occurred. Oregon wheat commands a higher price than that of any other country in the Liverpool market.

An immense area of very fertile Railroad and Government Lands, within easy reach of the trunk lines of the Northern Pacific R.R., the Oregon Railway & Navigation, and the Oregon & California R.R. Co.'s and their numerous branches in the great valleys of the Columbia and its tributaries, are now offered for sale at low prices. Easy Terms, or open to pre-emption and Homestead Entry.

The great movement of population to the Columbia region now in progress will be enormously increased by the completion of the Northern Pacific R.R. and the Oregon Railway and Navigation Co.'s systems. This renders certain a rapid increase in the value of Lands now open to purchase or to entry under the United States Land Laws.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean to stop them for a time and then have them return as if by magic. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY, or FALLING SICKNESS, the long and tedious, and ready to cure the worst case. No other cure has been known for more than twenty years. I have cured a great number of cases for a trial, and I will cure you.
